You Be the Judge

Is the cream you are bringing to your co-operative creamery such as will make butter that will bring the highest price?

Taste your cream before starting to the creamery and then judge if it will?

The highest quality butter is made from cream that you could use in your coffee; cream that would be set on the table when friends come for Sunday dinner.

Do you deliver this kind of cream to the creamery?

You can do so and get a higher price.

1st, BY COOLING CREAM IN COLD WATER immediately after separating. Use a small can for separating the cream into, that can be set in cold water for cooling. Never mix warm and cold cream. Keep cream where air is pure. Use a cream cooling tank. Ask your creamery operator where you can buy one, and the price.

2nd, BY FREQUENT DELIVERY OF CREAM. Co-operate with your neighbors in hauling. Get the cream to the creamery while it is still fresh and sweet.

3rd, BY THOROUGH WASHING AND SCALDING of all milk utensils, pails, strainers, cans and separator. Use washing powder. Unclean flavors generally come from unclean milk utensils or separator.

4th, BY CARE IN MILKING, that dirt does not get in the milk. Barn flavors generally come from this source. Dirt may be strained out, but the bad flavor remains and will show up in the butter.

5th, BY TALKING WITH THE BUTTERMAKER about the quality of your cream. Learn to be a good judge of cream.

There is no work on the farm that pays so well as the work of getting cream to the creamery, PURE AND SWEET.

that is all the more reason why you should be satisfied with nothing but the best.

We have never skimped on quality. While building materials were at their highest point we preferred to maintain quality rather than aim at supplying something to meet a figure. Often the price asked did not leave anything in the way of profit, but our reputation for handling the best at all times was not injured. We told the truth concerning conditions at that time and will continue that policy.

We Urge You to Build Now— and for the Best of Reasons

Building materials of all kinds can be bought cheaper today than will be possible a year from now, according to all indications. The man who builds under present conditions will save money.

Community Club Opening.

The formal opening of the Girls' Community club on Horace avenue and Fourth street took place Saturday evening, and a large crowd viewed the rooms. Flowers and plants made the place attractive. M. The following numbers were given: Minuet, little Misses Mary Warner and Helen Johnson, with Miss Lois Nicholson at the piano; piano solo, Miss Pearl Weeks; vocal solo, Miss Meta Kiland, accompanied by Mrs. C. O. Erickson; violin duet, Leigh Anderson and Henry Arneson, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Shirley; baritone solo, Geo. McLeod. Mayor John Bratrud gave a very interesting address, lauding the club for the splendid work it is doing and thanking the girls for the hearty cooperation they have given civic organizations when called upon to help. He praised the club highly and stated that it is a wonderful influence for better citizenship among the younger generation in Thief River Falls. Mr. Bratrud announced that the rooms will be open to the public until June 1, and Miss Anne Tharaldson has arranged a program for every evening until then. Do you think it would help any for us that can't very well go to the hearing to send in petitions for it? The land in the Clearwater Valley is just fine when it don't flood. I am sorry to trouble you so much about this. I hope you will give me all the information you can.

WILL MEET TO TALK DRAINAGE WITH FARMERS

Chairman Selvig and Engineers of Conservancy Board to Visit Upper River Points.

Public Meeting to Be Held at Highlanding Pavilion Next Tuesday Afternoon.

Officials Prepared to Explain All Details Connected With Proposed Enterprise.

In order that the farmers most directly interested in the program of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy commission in Pennington county may have an opportunity to have all the details of this proposed undertaking fully explained without being put to the expense of coming to Thief River Falls or one of the other cities in the district, Chairman C. G. Selvig of the board has decided to hold a public meeting at Highlanding Pavilion, a quarter of a mile south of that settlement, on Tuesday, June 6, beginning at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. Selvig made a trip to Highlanding township last week and interviewed a number of the farmers whose lands will be effected by the proposed improvement. He found that while the project has the approval of a great many of the people in that locality there are others who are asking for more information on the subject before committing themselves. Mr. Selvig is not at all surprised at this. He realizes that the matter is one of vast importance to the farmers residing in the district and that the yare entitled to all the facts in any manner bearing on the subject. The project was undertaken primarily for the relief of the farmers and unless they are fully convinced of its feasibility and value they may be expected to enterpose objections which will have the effect of postponing the undertaking for the present at least, and may result in its total abandoment. This would be a deplorable outcome in view of the amount of work and money that has already been expended and could only be justified by opposition on the part of the farmers after the matter has been thoroughly explained to them. It is for the purpose of making such explanation that this meeting has been called.

Engineer Will be Present.

E. V. Willard, state drainage engineer, will be present at the meeting on the 6th to explain the plans which have been prepared by the state department in co-operation with the drainage board. Mr. Willard has been in close touch with every step taken thus far in the matter and will be in a position to set forth in detail everything connected with it. He will show just what proportion of the ultimate cost will be borne by the different industries and individuals affected, including the waterpower owners, Indian lands, municipalities and farmers. These are matters concerning which many of the latter are not as yet thoroughly familiar and this meeting should prove valuable in clearing them up to their entire satisfaction.

Is Wonderful Country.

Mr. Selvig, upon his return from Highlanding last week, stated that he was astounded at the evidence of progress found on every hand. He traversed a part of region of Pennington county he had never before had occasion to visit and had no hesitancy in saying that he found it equal if not superior to many of the older and more densely settled communities both in quality of soil and method of cultivation. "You have a wide-awake, progressive class of people on the farms in the district I visited," said Mr. Selvig, "and their holdings will rank with the best in the state within a very short time. Drainage is needed in order to insure them against loss by flood, but when this is provided the only drawback I can see will have been overcome. I have been very much impressed by what I have observed on this trip and shall make it a point to become better acquainted with what your farmers are doing."

Found Few Violators of Auto Tax Law in County

H. J. Carter, district inspector of motor licenses, was in the city last week for the purpose of rounding up those who have not yet paid their automobile taxes for the current year. He found a few who had been neglectful in this matter but the circumstances were generally such as to gain leniency from the inspector. He states, however, that further extensions are impossible under the law and that any person found driving a motor vehicle without the proper license hereafter will be subjected to the penalties provided. They have been given five months leeway and the department figures that this should be sufficient.

Mr. Carter complimented B. F. Umland, state road engineer, who has the license enforcement matter in hand locally, for the excellent work done in rounding up delinquents.

ALL PREPARED FOR CLOSE OF SCHOOL YEAR TOMORROW

Hon. J. H. Hay to Deliver Commencement Address For Graduates of 1922.

When the commencement exercises for the senior class of the Thief River Falls high school come to a close tomorrow evening about 70 young men and women will bid farewell to school work, at least so far as this applies to the common schools. They invite all the citizens of Thief River Falls and surrounding country to come to the auditorium, hear their farewell song and take part in the other exercises arranged for the occasion.

The students have been very busy all week finishing up on exams and attending the various functions incidental to the closing of a school year. The activities began with the presentation of the class play on Friday evening, followed by the baccalaureate address on Sunday evening by Rev. E. H. Kreidt. Then came the physical training demonstration at the auditorium on Monday evening. Tuesday was Memorial Day and the activities incidental to that anniversary took up part of their time. Yesterday and today were quiet, but tomorrow morning the interest will be renewed by the eighth grade commencement at the Central school.

J. H. Hay, for 13 years superintendent of the Thief River Falls schools, will deliver the commencement address, a fact which alone is sufficient to pack the big building. While Mr. Hay has severed his connection with public school work, he is still engaged in the extension of education, being a member of the state board of agriculture. He knows practically every graduate and every school patron personally and has repeatedly shown that his interest in their welfare is as keen as while he was a resident among them.

The program for commencement will be in charge of M. P. Rupacz, high school principal, and is as follows:

Boys and Girls Offered Turkey Eggs For Setting

The First National bank of this city has hit upon a new plan for stimulating interest among the boys and girls in poultry work, particularly turkey raising. President C. L. Hansen announces that a full setting of turkey eggs will be given to any boy or girl in the country who will agree to set the same for hatching. It is a little late to provide for Thanksgiving turkeys under this plan but the birds should be of fine size for the holidays. Mr. Hansen hopes, however, that the stock will not be sold off but that a sufficient number will be retained to give the owner a good start next spring.

The quantity of eggs to be furnished under this plan is limited and those who wish to take advantage of the offer should apply at the bank at once. Young turkeys require a lot of care until they are about a month old, after which time they are able to look after themselves more or less. The offer opens an opportunity to get started in a very profitable line of business as turkeys do well in this section and always bring a good price.

To Open New Cafe.

Chris Porter has purchased the building on Third street formerly occupied by the First and Peoples bank and is having the place remodeled for the purpose of putting in a first-class cafe. The location is ideal for an establishment of this kind and it is Mr. Porter's intention to make the place up-to-date in all appointments. No date has been set for the opening of the new eating house.

MARSHALL FIRM GETS CONTRACT; NAME ENGINEER

Coolsnat Bros., Marshall, Minn., Awarded Job of Laying Water and Sewer Mains.

R. E. Borrowman of St. Cloud Again Named as Engineer For Paving Project.

Preliminary Work Will Start at Once in Hope of Having Paving Done By Fall.

Coolsnat Bros. of Marshall were the successful bidders for the construction of practically two miles of sewer and water mains in this city this summer. Seven bids were received and opened by the council at the meeting Wednesday night, all being from outside of the city with but one exception, that of Holt & George. Mr. Coolsnat is not unknown in the city as he has done similar work here in the past and is well acquainted with local conditions. He has already taken steps to give the city the necessary bonds and will start actual work within a very short time.

The bids as submitted to the council ranged from a total of $32,918 for both pieces of work up to nearly $40,000 and the fact that the engineer's preliminary estimate was in the neighborhood of $34,000 indicates the interest being taken in the securing of such work this season. The bids presented to the council were as follows:

W. D. Lovelle, Minneapolis, sewer $19,841.

C. G. Jackson, Grand Forks, sewer $18,244.

J. M. Carroll, Grand Forks, sewer $19,744.

Borrowman Is Engineer.

The high standard of engineering work in connection with the paving laid in this city last year had much to do with the acceptance of the bid of R. E. Borrowman of St. Cloud for the preparation of plans and specifications for additional paving this summer, his bid being considered the lowest submitted at an adjourned meeting of the city council Wednesday night.

Nine other bidders were either represented in person or had bids in for the work and they ranged all the way up to five percent of the total cost as compared with 3½ percent asked by Mr. Borrowman. His figure is one half of one percent above last year but when taken in consideration with the other bids the council thought the figure quite reasonable.

Others who submitted bids were Druar & Milanowski of St. Paul; the Dakota Engineering and Construction Co. of Valley City, N. D.; J. H. A. Brahtz of St. Paul; Chas. L. Pillsbury Co. of Minneapolis; the Worthington Engineering Co. of Minneapolis; L. P. Wolff of St. Paul; Stevenson & Miller of Fargo and Toltz, King & Day of St. Paul.

Each bidder was given five minutes after the opening of bids to explain his offer and six of the ten bidders took advantage thereof, some of the others having taken the train for their respective homes when they heard the reading of the bids and discovered that they stood little show of landing the job.

Completed by Fall.

With the selection of Mr. Borrowman, who has become quite well known here since the inception of paving nearly two years ago, the prospects for even more paving this year than last are becoming brighter. Active work of the preparation of the plans and specifications will start without delay and every effort will be made to rush the entire work thru before snow falls. There is much preliminary work to be done such as sewer and water connections within the new paving district and this will take considerable time.

Warren Concern Awarded Contract For New Highway

The county commissioners at their meeting on Monday awarded the contract for constructing seven miles of highway west of St. Hilaire, the excavating work going to Anderson & Solberg of Warren, 17¼ cents per yard. Casper Weiner, Jr., was awarded the concrete culverts, his bid being $2,200, while the metal culverts went to the Lyle Culvert company of this city.

Outside of the letting of this contract the time of the board was taken up largely with routine matters.

Business Man Returns.

O. E. Jensen, formerly in the paint and wall paper business in this city but during the past two years a resident of Minneapolis, has returned and will re-engage in the same line at his old stand on Main avenue south as soon as the present tenant can find a new location.

Band Concert and Dance on Pavement Wednesday

At a meeting of the Wednesday evening entertainment committee of the commercial club held this noon it was decided to give a free pavement dance after the band concert next Wednesday evening. The concert will begin at 7:30 o'clock, dancing at 9:15 sharp. The entire block between LaBree and Main avenues on Third street will be kept clear so that dancers will not be interfered with.

A cordial invitation is extended to people living outside the city to come and enjoy themselves. A committee of ladies will have supervision of the dance and will see to it that everything is conducted in strict accordance with the most approved rules. Everybody come.

FILINGS CLOSE; 32 CANDIDATES FOR 10 PLACES

E. M. Stanton Entering Race For County Attorney is Last-Minute Development.

Seven Candidates Will Contest For Favor of Voters For Register of Deeds.

No Primary Contest For Auditor, Treasurer or Third District Commissioner.

Thirty-two candidates have filed for the ten county offices to be filled at the general election in Pennington county next fall. This is a low figure when compared with most other counties in Minnesota this year. In some instances there are almost that many running for the office of sheriff alone.

Only three filings were recorded on the last day—Monday. E. M. Stanton entered the lists for the position of county attorney, necessitating a primary decision, Jens Letness presented his name for county commissioner in the First district, and M. N. Benson filed for register of deeds.

Three Escapes Primaries.

While in most counties the sheriff's office seems to be considered the most desirable post, that of register of deeds holds the greatest attraction for Pennington aspirants. There are seven entrants for the place, this being more than twice the number seeking any other permanent position in the court house. The next on the list so far as numbers go is that of county commissioner from the Fifth district, five having signified their willingness to serve their constituents in this capacity.

There will be no primary contest for county auditor, county treasurer, coroner, or commissioner in the First district, there being but two candidates for each of these positions. For all other places there will be an elimination contest in which at least one man will find that his campaign for the time being has come to an end.

Following is a complete list of the filings for the different offices to be filled in Pennington county, the names appearing in the order of filing:

Auditor—T. P. Anderson and Thos. Bjerke.

Treasurer—John Gullingsrud and Nick Bundhund.

Register of Deeds—Elmer J. Ohm N. J. Anderson, W. A. Swanson, Fred Lorentson, Oscar J. Peterson, O. T. Stageberg and M. N. Benson.

County Attorney—G. Howard Smith, Theo. Quale and E. M. Stanton.

Coroner—H. W. Froehlich and H. M. Hicks.

County Commissioners.

First District—Frank J. Race, H.I. Finstad, A. W. Hanson, Elev Aakre and Jens Letness.

Third District—J. V. Patton and Emil Larson.

Fifth District—K. K. Austin, Carl G. Olson, J. R. Larson and Osmun Mundt.

All the present officials except County Commissioner Gust Naplin of the Third district and Oscar J. Peterson of the Fifth, are candidates for reelection. The latter seeks the position of register of deeds while Mr. Naplin has decided not to be a candidate for any office.

The primaries will be held on Monday, June 19.

Car of Fence Posts Cost $143; Freight Bill $145

County Farm Bureaus are gathering evidence on the effect of high freight rates inside Minnesota's borders. The Rock County Farm bureau has reported to the state federation that a car of posts, bought by Rock county farmers from farmers in Lake county, cost $143. The freight on the carload was $145.

ENTIRE NATION PAYS HONOR TO SOLDIER DEAD

Business of All Kinds Suspended in This City on Tuesday as Mark of Respect.

Glowing Tribute to Nation's Defenders By Rev. Sweger. Cemeteries Visited.

Citizens in every walk of life on Tuesday laid aside their usual business affairs and joined with the members of Elmer J. Eklund Post of the American Legion in honoring the memory of the soldiers and sailors who participated in the different wars through which the country has passed. Every detail connected with the observance of the anniversary had been carefully looked after by the committees in charge and there was not a hitch in the proceedings at any stage.

Following the parade in the forenoon, in which soldiers, school children and a number of civic and fraternal bodies took part, an appropriate program was presented at the auditorium, which was filled to capacity. The Women's Auxiliary of the Legion had decorated the big hall in a most tasteful manner, the stage being adorned with a profusion of cut flowers while boxed plants filled the window sills. The national colors were hung along stage and balcony, the whole combining to form a most appropriate background for the impressive proceedings. Commander Oscar Paulson presided.

The band, under the direction of M. J. Sorflaten, played a number of patriotic selections. The invocation was pronounced by Rev. Clinton Cook and an octette composed by Mrs. O. F. Mellby, Miss Maude L. Johnson, Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher, Miss Lucille Burns, Carl Sundahl, Dr. J. N. Nesse, E. M. Bennes and Kern Olson, sang "Land of Hope and Glory" and "We'll Keep Old Glory Flying;" Roy Prytz sang a tenor solo in a highly pleasing manner; Mrs. M. P. Rapacz recited "Flander's Fields" and "America's Answer," and Supt. I. T. Simley delivered Lincoln's Gettysburg address. Mr. Simley preceded his recital by calling attention to the circumstances under which the great emancipator first spoke the words which will live as long as the republic endures, thus giving many in the audience a clearer understanding of their meaning and a greater appreciation of their import.

The memorial address was delivered by Rev. T. E. Sweger of Trinity Lutheran church, and was without question one of the finest orations ever heard in this city on a similar occasion. The speaker paid a glowing tribute to the soldiers who have responded to the call of the republic in times of danger and to the spirit of the people behind them when it came to a test of their patriotism. America has never waged a war for aggrandizement, said Mr. Sweger, never will. Every battle fought has been in the cause of liberty and for the advancement of human happiness. Our country now stands and always has stood as the beacon light of peaceful progress toward which the entire world gazes with renewed hope.

Glorious as is America's past history and great though have been the men who have been leaders in days gone by, the future holds opportunities for greater glory and achievement, but these must follow the lines of peace, said Rev. Sweger. National as well as individual selfishness must yield their places to a more tolerant and intelligent understanding among the people of the earth in order that the horrors of war be forever banished. Selfishness in the last analysis constitutes the cause of all wars and this can only be eliminated by a clearer understanding of the fundamental truth that all men are created equal and belong to one vast brotherhood. It must be made impossible for one nation to grow opulent at the expense of another and weaker nation and this can only come about by a greater degree of toleration and a clearer understanding among men in all walks of life and in every section of the world.

At the close of the auditorium program the cemeteries were visited and the graves of departed soldiers decorated. The flowers were placed on the last resting places of the country's defenders by Gold Star Mothers and Sisters, a salute was fired over the graves and taps sounded.

The Mayor's First.

Mayor John Bratrud is passing around the cigars this week. While this is not the first occasion on which the head of the municipal government has "set up" the smokes he has never before been called upon to do so for the same reason. An exceptionally fine baby girl was born to Mrs. Bratrud last Friday evening and as this is the first arrival in the mayoral household more than the usual amount of importance attaches to the event. The young lady is doing nicely as is also Mrs. Bratrud and the mayor.

GAME WILL STAND SPITE OF PROTEST; DIRECTORS' FAULT

Red Lake Falls Manager Believed He Was Acting in Accordance With Rules.

At a meeting of the directors of the Red River valley league held at Crookston Friday night it was decided that the protested game played between Red Lake Falls and Thief Falls and in which the former club won, will remain as played, the directors assuming the blame for the misunderstanding between the two teams for not making the by-laws and rules clearer.

The directors decided as follows:

"A resolution entered and passed by the board of directors of the Red River valley league at a meeting held at Crookston on May 26, 1922, decided it was the opinion of the directors that in a recent Thief River Falls-Red Lake Falls baseball game that Dr. G. A. Penney, president of the Thief River Falls club, protested previous to the playing of said game, the eligibility of three Red Lake Falls players. Upon consideration of eligibility of said players, it was found that one was ineligible, the other two being declared eligible; that Dr. G. A. Penney protested these men in good faith; further that Mr. E. Nelson, manager of the Red Lake Falls club, played these men on the supposition that theey were eligible. It was further decided that the directors were at fault in not acting on the eligibiliy of players of the respective clubs and assumes the entire blame for the misunderstanding between the clubs.

"In order to correct the opinion that has been spread broadcast, the directors authorize the publication of this resolution."

R. A. Brown, president of the league has resigned, giving as his reason that he is to manage and play with the Crookston Queens and for that reason could not maintain a strict neutrality. Byron Gossman a newspaper man, was elected in his stead.

Half the distance between established towns was set as the limit from which towns in the league could draw local players. This distance was not to exceed ten miles.

The directors were enthusiastic in regard to the league prospects, and were determined that the league with its excellent start be continued throughout this year and in years to come. The next meeting of the directors will be held at Red Lake Falls. Every director was in attendance. Director Johnson of Gonvick, driving 70 miles in order to be present.

Candidates Who Delayed Filing Are Left in Lurch

Candidates for state offices who neglected to get their filings into the office of Secretary of State Mike Holm before the close of business on May 10 will not appear on the ticket, the court holding that such filings must be in said office 40 days before the primaries. It is not sufficient that the filing papers be mailed or in transit at that time.

Among those who will be barred off the primary ticket under this ruling are J. P. Mattson of Warren, J. E. Sundean of Kennedy, both of whom filed for the state senate at the last minute and did not get in under the time limit. Iver M. Kalness of Alexandria, who filed for congress on the farm-labor ticket in the Seventh, is likewise barred, together with a number of others.

To add to the general good feeling among these barred candidates, it is announced that it is impossible for the state to return their filing fees.

Duluth Steel Plant to Start Work at Capacity

Orders to start the Minnesota steel plant at capacity at once and to hire sufficient men to man it, were contained in a telegram on Friday from Samuel B. Sheldon, vicepresident and general manager. Mr. Sheldon is in New York. Orders are to start the second blast furnace, five open hearths, open pit, rail mills, merchant mill, the nail and wire mills. It is expected that probably more than 1,000 additional men will start work at the plant within the next month.

CITY WILL GET FIRST FACTORY FOR NEW FUEL

Patentees and Citizens' Representatives Reach Agreement on Amount to Be Produced.

Demonstration Shows Product to Have Excellent Burning and Heating Qualities.

Patentees of a process for providing a merchantable fuel from a combination of peat and lignite coal will be given an opportunity to show the merits of their product by the people of Thief River Falls. An agreement was reached between representatives of the company and members of the Commercial club on Saturday which insures the erection of an experimental plant in this city at once.

H. H. Hinshaw and F. W. McLean of St. Paul and H. S. Dickinson and Leslie Stinson of Grand Forks were in the city on Saturday for the purpose of giving a demonstration of the burning and heating qualities of the fuel, stoves being rigged at the Hicks furniture store. About 500 pounds of the product had previously been sent here and interested parties notified of the trial. Many persons visited the place during the day and all went away satisfied that the fuel will do all that is claimed for it. A hot, steady fire is produced, the product being about equal to coal of the same weight in the speed with which it is consumed.

Plant Here in Two Weeks.

The Commercial club representatives on their part offered to see that 1,000 tons of the product is sold locally, provided the owners of the process would give a bond guaranteeing to deliver that amount before the first of November. Business men and other residents have signified their intention of giving the fuel a trial and it is certain there will be no difficulty in disposing of the quantity stipulated. Mr. Hinshaw will arrive with the plant within two weeks and will have charge of its erection as well as the work of production.

Sufficient peat for experimental purposes will be brought to the city from the eastern part of the county by trucks, but when the plant is in full operation it will have to be supplied by the carload. This will mean the building of spur tracks off the Minnesota Northwestern railway and the employment of steam shovels in loading the raw material. The temporary plant will probably be located near the Soo roundhouse as this will provide the most convenient point. Fifty tons per day is the quantity set as output until the value of the commodity has been established, but the company is in position to finance the erection of a 500-ton plant as soon as there is a sufficient demand.

Men in this city who witnessed the demonstration on Saturday are enthusiastic over the possibilities of this combination fuel and believe the success of the enterprise will hinge entirely upon the company's ability to produce in commercial quantities. Those who have interested themselves in the matter in this city believe there are great possibilities ahead of the enterprise.

FORMER STARS TO APPEAR AGAIN IN LEGION "FOLLIES"

Famous Marine Camouflage Artist Will Present Novel Feature in Buddies' Show.

When the curtain goes up at 8:15 on June 13 and 14 two former stars of minstrel and musical comedy will be seen in the Legion Follies.

Charles Van, well known vaudeville artist, and L. C. Reedy, formerly of the 313th Engineers Minstrels, who made an extended tour of France and Germany, will be back in their former roles as mirth provokers.

G. V. Cannon, former camouflage artist of the Marine Corps, in a telegram to J. C. Kelly, consented to present his famous act of lightning speed camouflage work. This is the only act of its kind ever presented anywhere and never fails to score a sensational hit.

A canvass 15 feet in length and 10 feet in height is transformed into a complete picture in a myriad of color and detail in the short space of fifteen minutes. After seeing this one can readily understand how Mr. Cannon established the world's speed record in this work.

A complete list of all the acts and features of the show will be found in the next edition of this paper.

Public Recital.

Thief River Falls music lovers were given a splendid musical treat Monday evening, when a large audience gathered at the Princess theater to hear the instrumental numbers by advanced pupils of Mrs. C. O. Erickson, piano, and Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher, voice. Solo numbers were given by Miss Lucille Burns, contralto, and S. Carl Sundahl, tenor, and especially fine work was done by both. Miss Burns was in excellent voice and her full tones were pleasing in her airs for contralto. Especially effective was her singing of "At Dawning," (Cadman) and "By the Waters of Minnetonka," Leurance). Mr. Sundahl gave excellent tenor airs and his numbers made a stirring part of the program. Much credit is due Mrs. Fisher who has done excellent work in the advancement of her pupils. Mrs. C. O. Erickson, at the piano, lent the soloists splendid support in her accompaniments. The instrumental numbers by Miss Frances Wengeler and Miss Palma Langseth were played with precision and grace. Both pupils displayed remarkable ability, showing skill possible only through efficient training. Miss Langseth gave a program which was difficult and varied and interpreted her numbers with ease. Her technique was very good. The piano used for the recital was furnished through the courtesy of the Thief River Music Company.

Eastern Star Meeting.

Interesting reports of Grand Chapter were given by Mr. H. C. Durrin and Mrs. E. O. Mogenson, at the meeting of the local chapter held at the Masonic hall last evening. AT THE THEATRES

NEW YORK NEWSPAPERS A UNIT IN PRAISING CLASSIC

Similar favorable comments were made by the Monday evening papers, there being not a single bit of adverse criticism. It must be added that the verdict of the public in this case coincided entirely with the views of the press. This has not always been the case.

Time and again the public has rejected the pictures which were favored by the reviewers and vice versa. Whenever there is such a unanimity on the part of the press and public the success of a feature is as good as guaranteed.

POWERFUL HUMAN DRAMA UNFOLDED IN "THE ROSARY"

"The Rosary," a big, pulsating photodrama, is the screen attraction this week at the Lycum Theatre Sunday and Monday.

In the direction of this production Jerome Storm has gained new laurels for himself. And the work of the players interpreting the various roles makes it a new classic. Much credit, of course, must be given to Bernard McConville, who wrote the story, under the inspiration of the theme of the play by Edward E. Rose, and the song "The Rosary."

"The Rosary" is by no means a preachment. It is a strong, virile drama—a human document of the peaceful little fishing village of Sandy Bay, which is upset by the malicious activities of one Kenwood Wright.

There is a tremendous denouement when the cannery is blown up; Wright is discovered to be the perpetrator of the deed and a posse sets out to capture him in a blinding storm. He seeks refuge in the church. Father Brian Kelly, portrayed by Lewis Stone, tries to hold off the mob to prevent bloodshed. When a crazed man draws a pistol Bruce's mother jumps before Father Kelly and receives the fatal bullet intended for the priest. Wright makes his getaway through a rear window, continuing his escape by automobile. The mob, headed by Bruce, follows, and Wright, crossing the old bridge over the swollen stream, plunges to his death.

Other players who help to make this First National release one of the best screen entertainments seen in many months are Jane Novak, Wallace Beery, Robert Gorden, Eugenie Bessere, Kathleen Wilton, Dore Davidson, Pomeroy Cannon, Bert Woodruff, Mildred June and Harold Goodwin.

INITIAL NUMBER OF NEW ELKS MAGAZINE IS FINE PUBLICATION

The 540 members of Thief River Falls lodge No. 1308, B. P. O. E., this week received the first copy of the new Elk Magazine. It is the national publication of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, published under the direction of the Elks National Memorial Headquarters Commission, and begins its career with a subcription circulation of 850,000.

Its purpose as set forth in the opening pages, is to provide a medium through which the Grand Lodge, governing body of the Order, may bring home to each individual member the fact that he belongs not merely to a local lodge but to a nation-wide organization. By keeping the members in touch with the activities of their fellows in all parts of the country and by voicing the principles of the Order in word and picture. The Elks Magazine is intended to inspire and promote that spirit of unity which is the motive force of every fraternity.

Other similar bodies issue publications devoted to this same purpose but, for the most part, these are exclusively fraternal in editorial content. The Elks Magazine strikes a new note in this particular. To quote from the foreword to the June number just published: "It is not to be a mere bulletin or calendar of events, but a vigorous, high class, literary fraternal journal—to contain matters of interest and information to all the members of an Elk household."

Beginning with a letter of Godspeed from President Harding—who, by the way, is an Elk himself—and a message from William W. Mountain, Grand Exalted Ruler, to the Order at large, the first number swings into action and timely articles, followed by features which, though designed for Elk consumption, are scarcely less interesting to the outside reader. From the cover painting, a Flag Day subject, right through the magazine, one notes a strong infusion of the spirit of patriotism which is an integral part of the Elk creed. The general material that helps to differentiate this magazine from other fraternal publications all bears well known signatures. Among the contributors are Charles M. Schwab, Ben Ames Williams, Albert Payson, Torbume, William Almon Wolff and others. The whole magazine is lavishly illustrated.

For fifty-four years the Order of Elks has stood for all that is best in our National life. Its growth has been steady and substantial and has made it a stedily inceasing influence for good. The mission of The Elks Magazine is to interpert the spirit of the organization whose name it bears. If it continues to do this faithfully it can scarcely fail to maintain a position of honor among American peridicals.

THE STAMP YOU LICK IS ONLY ONE OF THE 14,000,000,000 MADE

Some startling and interesting figures concerning the immense business of the United States postal service was given by John H. Bartlett, fourth assistant postmaster general, at a banquet recently. Postmaster John Morgan has received a copy of the address and parts of it are worthy of being remembered, particularly whenever the public is inclined to find fault with the service.

According to Mr. Bartlett there are about 12,000,000,000 letters and 3,000,000,000 parcles handled annually. The number of postage stamps sold totals 14,000,000,000. There are besides 2,700,000,000 stamped envelops and 1,125,000,000 postal cards sold. One billion five hundred million dollars worth of money orders are sold. The postoffice conducts the largest savings bank in the world, having 500,000 depositors with a total of $125,000,000. The government owns 65,000,000 mail sacks and a factory employing 300 hands is emploed in mending them all the time. There are 500,000 miles of twine used every year to tie up the letters. This is enough to wrap around the earth 32 times. There is a fleet of 4,000 motor vehicles in the service. The annual expenditures of the department is about $600,000,000 and the annual business generally runs about $100,000,000 short of paying out every year.

Grout, Duluth, editor of the Stock and Dairy Farmer. These men are among the best known authorities on farming and dairying in this section of the country and are sure to have something of more than ordinary interest to impart.

City Council Meets.

When the city council met last night in adjourned session the council room was well filled with bidders for the sewer and water mains and for the paving work, the opening and reading of the bids and decision thereon occupying the time of the aldermen for nearly three hours.

In addition to the above there was a little regular business, consisting of the granting of a building permit to H. M. Hicks, who is remodeling a structure for a residence at an estimated cost of $1,000; the approval of the bond of the Union Heating & Plumbing Co., and the discussion of the advisability of taking out tornado insurance on the various city buildings which at this time are covered as to that risk. This matter was left with the building committee.

Delivered Memorial Address.

Rev. J. B. Smith of the Methodist Episcopal church in this city, on Tuesday delivered the Memorial Day address at Goodridge. There was special music by the Goodridge band and later in the day the ex-service men went to Torgerson, Erie and Germantown where the graves of former soldiers and sailors were decorated and short services held.

Beautiful Memorial Display.

Among the many fine window displays arranged in honor of the soldier dead on Memorial Day, that of the Oen Mercantile company deserves special mention. The display was the work of Roy Prytz, who has proven himself an artist in this line. Against a background of foliage was placed a soldier monument surrounded by a white picket fence. Dummy figures attired in mourning garb and carrying wreaths were shown as approaching this spot for the evident purpose of placing the flowers on the grave of the soldier. The whole produced a striking effect and was commented on in a highly complimentary manner by all who saw it.

Visitor Struck By Auto; Warrant Out For Driver

P. H. Carey, a film salesman, is wanted by the police authorities of this city to answer to a charge of reckless driving. Anton K. Hagenson of Iowa, a brother-in-law of T. P. Hamre of this city, was struck by a car driven by Carey on Sunday afternoon and for a time it was feared he was seriously hurt. The car belonged to John Brumund and had been taken by Carey without the former's knowledge or consent. It is stated that Cary was coming west on First street and was on the wrong side of the road. Hogenson was crossing the same street at LaBree avenue. It is claimed that the car was exceeding the speed limit and that no warning was given of its approach. Hogenson was taken to Physician's hospital but was able to leave within a short time. Carey, it is claimed, made no attempt to get away, staying in the city until Monday evening.

Simple Rules Mean More Real Cash For Dairyman

In another place in The Times today will be found an advertisement of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association, a persusal Times today will be found an advertisement of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association, a persual of which will be found worth while by the dairyman. While it is doubtless true that a large majority of those who bring cream to the creamery have studied the importance of following certain methods in the care of their product, many are losing money because well-established rules are not followed. A. J. McGuire, dairy expert and organization manager for the association makes a number of suggestions which will be found of value. Their observance will mean dollars and cents to the producer and will help keep the output of the creamery at a high level. Nothing is required that cannot easily be provided by the dairyman and the suggestions are thrown out for his sole benefit. It pays to read them over.

Maintenance of Way Men Face Reduction in Wages

Maintenance of way employes of the nation's railroads, face a $48,000,000 wage reduction July first, as the result of an order by the United States Railroad Labor board. The order, the $400,000,000 slash of last July, and pending orders affecting other classes, if they carry the same ration of reductions, will place railroad labor back where it was before the $600,000,000 increase of May, 1920.

Pending decisions on wages of 600,000 railway shopmen; 200,000 clerks, telegraphers, station employes and other classes are expected to follow closely this order, which cuts the pay from one to five cents an hour.

THE PROPER MEETING PLACE.

The decision on the part of Chairman C. G. Selvig to hold a public meeting for the discussion of drainage matters right among the people most vitally interested ought to meet with the approval of all concerned. A great deal has been said and written on the subject of deepening and straightening the Red Lake river and of providing controlling works at its headwaters and it is probable that every farmer in any manner affected by the proposed improvement has a general idea of its intent and purpose. With him, however, it is a matter of dollars and cents—quite a few of both undoubtedly—and he cannot be blamed for wishing to go ahead with care. He wants the drainage but he asks to have some assurance that it will function as promised when once it has been provided and he is forced to demand that the cost shall not be so great as to constitute a heavier burden than he can stand. Saving crops from damage by flood will prove of small benefit if the cost of so doing bankrupts him anyway.

It is for the purpose of explaining all these things that a meeting is to be held at Highlanding on June 6. While some may contend that it should have been held before this, it should be remembered that the project has not until very recently progressed sufficiently far to enable the men at its head to present a comprehensive program to the farmers. Now all the preliminaries are out of the way, costs have been estimated, the amount of land involved carefully considered and everything is in readiness to proceed without further delay. The board can now lay all the cards on the table and show the farmers facts and figures.

State Engineer Willard, one of the foremost drainage authorities in the country, will be present for the purpose of explaining in detail everything connected with the project, so far as his office is concerned. Chairman Selvig will tell of what has been done to date and just how soon the actual work may be started. The apportionment of assessments will be fully gone over and anything else the farmers may wish to know elucidated for their benefit.

There should be a big turnout. It is more important that those who object to the improvement be present than it is to have its supporters on hand. It is the former who must be brought to see the benefits to be derived from this undertaking. Unless this is done there will always be obstructions thrown in the way of its accomplishment. If there is well-defined opposition it is doubtful if any attempt will be made to carry it through. The farmer in the party most vitally interested and unless he can see where it will prove a benefit it is not likely the water power interests, who will have to stand a very heavy share of the cost, or the Indians on the reservation, who are willing to foot their bill, will carry sufficient weight to force the matter. For this reason every farmer in any manner interested should be at Highlanding on June 6. No matter what his attitude toward the undertaking may happen to be—he should be there.

ONLY ONE WAY TO START.

The most important sale of purebred and high grade cattle to be held in northwestern Minnesota this year will take place on the Pennington county fair grounds in this city on Thursday, June 8. The sale will bring buyers from all over this section of country and it is more than likely that a considerable number of these exceptional cattle will go to help build up dairy herds in some other locality. This is a fact deeply to be regretted as Pennington and its immediate neighbors need this class of stock as badly as anyone.

Many farmers who would very much like to make a start at herd improvement keep away from these sales for the reason that they expect the prices of foundation stock to reach a level far beyond their means. Such is not always the case. Very often just the animal wanted can be secured at figures and on terms that make it easy for the purchaser. He cannot, of course, buy an animal such as Langwater Cleopatra, bought the other day by R. J. Benson of Princeton, N. J., for $19,500, but he can make a start toward owning a cow worth that much if he will take advantage of the opportunity offered. It is said that Mr. Benson started very low in the scale of breeders but has steadily kept improving until now he is able to pay a small fortune for a cow that strikes his fancy. The Langwater herd brought a total of $262,930, or an average of $2,738 a head. While it is not likely northwestern Minnesota dairymen will care to aim this high, the incident shows what can be accomplished when one works steadily toward producing the best.

The sales of the Red River Valley Guernsey Breeders association held in this city for three years, last past, have proven events of great interest. No better Guernseys are to be found anywhere in the state and buyers are attracted from long distances by the offerings. Too many of these animals are going out of the county, being eagerly snapped up by men who know a good thing when they see it. It is too bad that a larger percentage cannot remain right here.

Encouraging Prospects.

(Bemidji Pioneer.)

As agriculture is the backbone of prosperity in Northern Minnesota, so it is throughout the entire Northwest. If the crops harvested next fall are abundant, there must be a distinct improvement in all lines of industry. Because that is true, it is of more than ordinary interest that authentic information concerning the crop prospects is studied. Reliable reports from all over the Northwest are encouraging.

Wheat seeding has been completed, although two weeks late. Reports from Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana show that the farmers themselves believe the crop next fall will be considerably above the average.

Potatoes, sweet clover and alfalfa show large prospective acreage, especially in Northern Minnesota and the Red River valley.

Fluctation in relative acreage sown retain corn as the principal crop in Southern Minnesota.

Ideal conditions from moisture and growing weather standpoint, have resulted in a great start for all crops now in the ground.

"The crop outlook is bully," says John H. Rich, agent of the Ninth District Federal Reserve bank. "The ground is in splendid condition and, though wheat seeding is a little late, the few days of abnormally warm weather that we have had has had miraculous results."

To this testimony might be added the opinion of N. J. Holmberg, Minnesota commissioner of agriculture, who says:

"Crop conditions look favorable. Corn is going in at a normal time and the only crop that is seeded late is wheat. There is no indication at this time that the late planting will diminish the wheat yield. Reports which we have been able to get lead us to the conclusion that the growing season starts out in favor of the growers."

Our own growing conditions have been ideal and there probably will be a third more land under cultivation here than ever before. It looks like a good year for the farmers, and that means a good year for everyone.

HIGHWAYS AND TAXES

Keep always before national and state officials the fact that this country and this community needs hard roads, and that there is no other way in which we can pull ourselves out of the mud and onto the highway of progress. If hard roads are worth having they are worth going after, and if we don't go after them it will be a long time before we get them. Sporadic kicking won't do any good, but quiet and determined insistence will eventually produce results.—Wykoff Enterprise.

There should be the largest possible economy in the conduct of public business, whether city, county, state or nation, but we protest that the chief items that contribute to the increase in taxes is beyond the power of either city or county officials to remedy. The people are being given what they want in the way of better roads, better schools and better living conditions. If they are willing to go back to the conditions of 20 years ago, some relief might be afforded, but we will venture to say that the city that takes such step will soon be depopulated.—Redwood Falls Gazette.

Whatever may be said about the hoggishness of Minnesota's large cities, it cannot be said that they are taking any advantage of the country districts in the matter of road funds. Of the one mill tax Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis counties pay one-half of the whole tax, and get back less than ten per cent of it, or about one-fifth of what they contribute. As to the auto license tax they pay a big share of it and the big cities get none of it back, the Babcock amendment prohibiting the expenditure of any of the fund in the three largest cities of the state. It is admitted, of course, that the cities get no little benefit from good roads over the state, but directly they share but little in its disbursement.—Litchfield Independent.

Pennington—and Huntington.

(Minneapolis Journal.)

The recent retirement of Edmund Pennington from the Presidency of the Soo Road, and the succession of George R. Huntington to that position, affords a double illustration of the value of being born in the United States.

Mr. Pennington did not begin life with assured position. He was an American boy who found his opportunity on a railroad train and he enlisted for the service that appealed to him fifty years ago. In the early days, when the winter snows lay heavy, it fell to his lot to operate a snowplow out of Sioux Falls. He did not complain of wages or hours, but he did his work well, realizing that somebody would take note of it. Years might pass, but sooner or later the call would come.

It came, and it kept coming. He filled every position successively up to President of the road. It is a record that could be duplicated in Canada, no doubt, but where else in all the world?

Mr. Huntington's career parallels that of Mr. Pennington. He went to work as a boy, he did not complain, he took bitter with sweet—and he rose to the Presidency.

These men are not exceptions. Over and over such stories can be told of men now filling high place here in Minneapolis. The thing that stands out in every story of such a man is that as a young man he worked. The clock was no guide. Hours did not count. It was the record of work done that counted. It has never failed to count in the after-life of every boy that has acted on this rule. It will never fail a boy, whatever his capacity for growth may be. If he has not the capacity to become a railroad president, still he will better his life job by honest, hard work, when he is young. Some one will discover him for better things.

Mr. Pennington and Mr. Huntington may well permit themselves to be taken as a text for every young man who is driving a car that his father owns. The boy has not yet earned the right to drive a car. He has not worked, and he has not saved. Well may he pause and consider just what the future will bring him, if as a boy he does not learn the great secret of success—hard work.

Newspaper Advertising Salesmanship in Print

Stressing that one of the fundamentals of a successful retail establishment is continuous newspaper advertising, W. F. Brennan, business expert of the National Cash Register company, lectured in Janesville, Wis.

"Among the important things to which many merchants give too little time because of press of details," stated the lecturer. "Is advertising. It is safe to say that ten merchants have failed because they advertised too little, to every one that failed because they advertised too much. Hundreds of stores have remained small because of this neglect.

"Newspaper advertising travels far and wide. It takes the message of the merchant to the people in their homes. The customer gets his store news and the general news together.

"The average retailer finds it difficult to write ad copy. There is no part of the business that is more interesting when understood. It is not enough to have desirable merchandise for sale. You must let people know you have it.

"The cheapest, quickest and most extensive way is by newspaper advertising. Every live merchant has news for his customers and they like to read the news of his store as well as of the community.

"An advertisement is merely the protection of personality. It is the way to talk to a person in places where the merchant cannot freely go. Newspaper advertising is good salesmanship in print. It is best to use simple words and short sentences; big words and involved sentences will not be read.

"To make a firm impression the ad must have contrast in type and color, strong headlines and few of them, and massed white space. Some people only glance at ads. If the headlines are schemed to make a complete impression and the ad gets both the glancers and the readers. Ads should be illustrated. The right picture tells the story quicker and better.

"Your ad should take the reader over the five steps of selling—through attention, interest, desire, confidence and action. Confidence is built by telling the whole truth about your goods. The surest way to get maximum value for every dollar spent for advertising is to keep at it."

Exchange Echoes

A LAND OF OPPORTUNITY.

Duluth Herald: Northern Minnesota has other things besides its stimulating climate to congratulate itself about this spring. One of them is that the collapse of land values that has been and is causing so much distress in Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin, Nebraska, and even parts of Southern Minnesota, is not felt at all. Newspapers from those sections contain an unprecedented number of auction sales, mortgage foreclosures and bankruptcy proceedings this year, indicating that the tremendous rush of the farmers and others in those sections to buy land at highly inflated values two and three years ago has brought misery and ruin in its wake.

Some complaint was heard once because the land boom did not hit Northern Minnesota, but what a relief now that instead of an artificially stimulated flurry there has been a steady growth and permanent development in town and country alike!

Those other sections may have their good points, and their present misfortune awakens deep sympathy, but Northern Minnesota is progressing, slowly, perhaps, but steadily, towards a real prosperity that in time will attract the eyes of the world.

IT'S VERY SIMPLE.

Exchange: Live merchants advertise because they want the people to know of the goods they have to sell, especially when more than ordinary values are offered.

People read the ads because they want to know where they can buy to the best advantage, and this can only be determined by knowing what the merchants have to offer.

The local paper is the medium between seller and buyer. The one should use it, and the other read it.

AND STILL THE RUMOR GREW.

Grand Rapids Herald-Review: A story current around town last week indicates the tendency to improve upon a tale as it is passed from one to another by word of mouth. The story was to the effect that a Greek section hand at Island Farm had borrowed a gasoline track car, and had started up the Great Northern tracks on a wild ride, the supposition being that he had obtained possession of some moonshine. According to the tale, the Greek was overtaken by the midnight passenger train, his vehicle smashed and thrown to the side, and said Greek strewn all over the right-of-way. The train crew is supposed to have discovered the torn fragments of the unfortunate man sticking to the blood-smeared pilot of the engine after the train had reached Grand Rapids.

The real truth of the matter is that the section hand did take the speeder and start up the track, on a perfectly legitimate errand. A sheepskin lined coat that he was carrying on the car fell off, and the midnight passenger did strike the coat, cutting off one sleeve. The engineer feared that he had struck a man and stopped the train. Examination revealed the coat, which was left in the depot at Grand Rapids. The Greek came up to Grand Rapids the next day and secured the garment. So stories grow.

FAVORS A LEAGUE.

Norman County Herald: The forming of the Red River Valley league appears to meet with general approval with every town in the organization and will undoubtedly put more enthusiasm and pep into the lovers of the national sport than ever before. It is perhaps needless to say that the local fans are already feeling big to think that Ada will have a league team in the field this year and are boosting the proposition every way possible.

TOO MUCH INSPECTION.

Springfield Advance Press: The state sends out an inspector from the labor department. One comes to Springfield every year. He calls at our office every year to see if our machinery has become more dangerous since the pervious visit. We are so ignorant that we are not supposed to know enough to protect ourselves from injury. Then comes a woman inspector to find out whether we are paying our women employees enough salary. The first inspector didn't know enough to find that out; a woman has to be given a job. Then comes a hotel inspector to find out if the hotel where the other two inspectors stopped was a safe place and whether the restaurant served meals on cracked dishes. The other two inspectors could not do this while they stayed at these places; they were too busy eating, reading the papers and waiting for the train to come. A job had to be provided for another person.

SENSIBLE SUGGESTION.

Montevideo News: That the cow be substituted for the gopher as a state emblem has recently been suggested by Speaker W. I. Nolan. While perhaps not intended seriously there is considerable merit in the idea. The dairy cow is already known as an emblem of steady prosperity and stable farming in the state. She enriches the soil while the gopher digs holes in it.

NOTHING TO WORRY ABOUT.

Warroad Pioneer: The Pioneer will venture the opinion that there is nothing radically wrong with the financial affairs of the school board, except that the expenses have exceeded the income for several years past.

THE ONE EXCEPTION.

Elks' Radio Set in Place; May Meet Saturday Night

Because of the commencement exercises at the auditorium, Exalted Ruler L. G. Larsen will suggest that an adjournment be taken to Saturday evening immediately upon opening of the Elks lodge on Friday evening. It is the regular meeting night but many of the members are directly interested in the school program and therefore unable to be present.

The new radio set has arrived and the probabilities are that some plans for the future in connection with this feature will be proposed on Saturday evening. For this reason it is hoped that there will be a large attendance.

From now until the first of September there will be but one meeting of the Elks lodge each month, this taking place on the first Friday. This is the customary procedure during the summer months.

Twelve Million Dollars Loaned to State Farmers

Loans for agricultural purposes, granted in Minnesota by the agricultural loan agency of the War Finance corporation, have reached a total of more than $12,000,000. Applications from Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota have been approved for more than $64,000,000. Bankers are quoted by the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation as saying that if it had not been for the loans obtained from the War Finance corporation, thousands of farmers' loans would have had to be "called," instead of being carried over into another season. The agricultural loan agency was created by a law backed by the Farm Bureau.

Spraying Favored Over Dry Applications For Treatment of Potatoes

A great deal of interest has been aroused of late over the comparative merits of dry and wet sprays for potatoes. The majority of growers in the Red River valley have been using the liquid sprays. However, an increasing number of growers are using dry sprays exclusively, according to potato experts.

Comparative tests made by T. M. McCall, horticulturist Northwest Experiment station, Crookston, of the dry and wet sprays disclosed that pound for ppound paris green was as effective dry as when applied wet. It has been demonstrated that the success of spraying is dependent more on the thoroughness of the application than upon the type of machine used.

Liquid sprayers should be able to discharge the spray under high pressure (150 lb. to 200 lb. per square inch.) With high pressure and two or three nozzels per row, the sprays should reach both sides of every leaf and settle on the leaves as a fine fog. Liquid sprayers which deliver the solution in large drops at low pressure cannot give perfect insect or disease control.

Dust sprayers should deliver the spray with a good blast so that the spray will adhere to the leaves. The dust sticks to the leaves best when applied when dew is on. However, on a still day sufficient dust will stick to give good control. With a good dusting machine there is generally enough rebound to the dust to coat the lower sides of the lower leaves.

There are two types of dust sprayers on the market, namely the top and side dusters. But little if any difference in insect control has been noted between the two types of machines.

Spray machines today must be able to give perfect insect and disease control. Dust and liquid sprayers when properly operated control potato beetles. Experimental evidence obtained in the Red River valley demonstrates that a liquid fungicide such as Bordeaux mixture when applied in season gives profitable returns, but experimental data has not been collected as to the value of dry fungicides.

The Northwest station is securing evidence of the value of dry sprays for disease and insect control of conducting comparative demonstration tests throughout the district. The spray demonsrations include the testing of low and high pressure liquid sprayers and dust sprayers with fungicides and other spray materials for the control of insects and leaf diseases.

Thief River Boy Making Good With Famous Band

Roy M. Flattum, formerly of Thief River Falls, and a sophomore at St. Olaf college, Northfield, has just returned from a highly successful two-week tour with the St. Olaf Concert band, of which he has been a member for two years. He plays the French horn. The band gave concerts in leading cities of Wisconsin and Minnesota, including Milwaukee, Madison, Green Bay, La Crosse, Winona, and Red Wing, and also took a prominent part in the annual Music Festival held at St. Olaf on May 20 and 21. This is a celebration which yearly draws very large crowds to Northfield to hear the world-famous St. Olaf choir and the almost equal band.

To be a member of the St. Olaf band has been a coveted distinction during the thirty-one years of its history, but this year the requirements for membership are even higher than ever, since that organization accomplished a feat demanding a high degree of musicianship from its members: the rendition of its entire program from memory. This innovation everywhere captured the admiration of critics, because it made possible a greater degree of perfection since it was possible for the men and women composing the band to give their conductor their undivided attention, thus improving their technique.

DRAINAGE BULLETIN CALLS ATTENTION TO DANGER FROM FLOODS

Indications Are That Dry Period of Past Few Years is Drawing to a Close—Drainage, is Crop Insurance.

Floods that have destroyed millions of dollars of crops and property in Louisiana, Illinois and southern Minnesota followed by floods in Manitoba last week, leads weather observers to believe that the comparatively dry period of the past few years is drawing to a close. The rainfall last week of from four to five inches in many sections of the Red River valley seems to bear out this conjecture.

The last very heavy rainfall in this section came early in July, 1919. Hundreds of thousands of dollars of crop and property damage resulted. Coming that year in the midst of the growing season the damage was greater. The rains last week did less damage but careful observers have noticed that rains follow each other with a regular frequency in such years. As soon as the ground is saturated and the low places filled, the outlets are overflowing and the damage begins.

The United States Department of Agriculture has recently issued a bulletin on Red River Valley drainage needs. In it are summerized the enormous preventable losses incurred by flood waters. The farmers living in the Red Lake and Clearwater basis of the Red River Valley are afforded means to prevent staggering losses in the future, according to this report, as relief can be secured at a comparatively low cost.

Relief is in sight according to George W. Walker, Thief River Falls, drainage engineer who has prepared plans for both the Red Lake and Clearwater projects. The lands in the Clearwater and Red Lake basins can readily be reclaimed, which will remove a serious hazard from farming in those localities. This will greatly increase the value of these lands also and result in bringing in new settlers who will come when the drainage work is ordered. No one can foretell when the next heavy rainfall will come, causing losses much greater in one year than the cost of the entire ditch construction. Drainage is a form of crop insurance that every farmer must avail himself of if he is to succeed.

In both the Clearwater and Red Lake projects the United States government through the Indian Bureau stands ready to co-operate by paying for the drainage work on the Indian lands. In the Red Lake project water power interests will pay for the benefits that accrue to them. This form of co-operation will result in mutual advantage to all concerned.

It's the last word in coffee blending—a perfected blend based on exhaustive studies and research. It is so blended and roasted that it neutralizes hard or alkaline water and brings through the true coffee flavor. Whether you use hard or soft water, it makes a delicious, smooth, satisfying and refreshing cup of coffee.

Mountain plantation coffees are bought at premium prices for this special blend because of their better flavor, body and richness of sap. Only a few of the thousands of offerings of coffee beans made to us pass our exacting tests and meet our strict requirements.

Always the same. By constant care in buying our raw coffee beans, and by making careful tests throughout every process of its manufacture, we always maintain the same perfected blend—the same high standard in every batch that goes out of our factory. Nash's Delicious Coffee is the same today as a month ago, and will be the same a year hence, always delicious.

Air cleaned. Chaff and coffee dust are removed by air suction during the process of steel cutting in our special machines—leaving a clean clear-cut coffee. The result is a crystal-clear cup of coffee, free from all stale and bitter flavors, free from "coffee mud."

"Hot Roasted" Freshness. Nash's Delicious Coffee is shipped on the same day as roasted and cut—or not later than the following morning. We roast only enough each day to fill orders on hand.

Packed in moisture-proof, hermetically-sealed "Napacans"—which protect its crispy freshness and pleasing flavor from dampness—dampness being one of the greatest enemies of coffee flavor.

Sold by grocers in one and three pound containers. Whether you enter the contest or not, you will be well rewarded if this advertisement induces you to try Nash's Delicious Coffee.

Baccalaureate Sermon

For the Graduating Class of 1922 of the Thief River Falls High School.
Delivered by REV. E. H. KREIDT
of St. John's Lutheran Church at the Auditorium, Sunday Evening, May 28.

My young friends, this is a serious moment in your lives. The future stretches before you with vast and varied possibilities. As these future possibilities develop into present opportunities you must be able to recognize and grasp them as such; utilize them as material for the building of your life. The proper choice means ultimate success and enduring value; unwise selection will terminate in failure and wasted effort. The question arises: Has a standard been found according to which a possibility may be adjudged an opportunity, or not? A standard which will determine the correct valuation of each and every possibility? I answer, yes.

It is this standard which I would now submit to your thoughtful consideration.

The Enduring Value of Christianity.

In that portion of the Bible which was read before we have the record of king Nebucadnezzar's dream and its interpretation by the Prophet Daniel. In his dream the king had seen a great image of excellent brightness and terrible form. Its head was gold, its breast and arms of silver, its belly and thighs of brass, its legs of iron and its feet part of iron and part of clay. Thus the image stood before the king, until a stone cut out without hands, smote the feet of the image, and broke them in pieces. The entire image fell and was crushed to chaff and powder; the dust was blown away, and the rock grew to a great mountain which covered the earth.

The interpertation of the dream was this: The golden head is the kingdom of Nebucadnezzar; it shall be succeeded by three other world-kingdoms, always of inferior value, but still strong, magnificent, and universal. In the days of the fourth kingdom, that of iron and clay, The God of heaven shall set up a kingdom which shall never be destroyed. It will destroy and take the place of all these monarchies.

Let us follow this interpretation in the history of the world. First is the world-monarchy of Nebucadnezzar and his immediate successors. Theirs was a reign of magnificence and splendor, the nation of the known world paying tribute to them. Their kingdom was supplanted by the Medes and Persians under Cyrus and Darius about 538 B. C. For almost 200 years the Medes and Persians reigned supreme. But their end came with the conquests of Alexander the Great of Macedonia in 323 B. C. Already then the fourth empire of iron, strong and powerful, was in process of formation. It was Rome, which reached its greatest expansion under Pompey, Caesar, and Augustus. Rome ruled the world with a hand of iron. Every nation paid tribute to the Caesars. The Assyrians, the Persians, and the Macedonias had flourished in unsurpassed splendor and power. Still they faded and vanished, crushed under the iron foot of the Roman legions. Surely Rome would endure! Surely there was at least a lasting value.

It was not so. While proud Augustus gazed from the Seven Hills of Tiber upon the conquered world at his feet, the God of heaven was carving hat stone, which was destined to crush the power of Rome and grow into the everlasting Kingdom.

In the 17th year of Augustus' reign was born Jesus Christ of Bethlehem. Thirty-three years later Jesus laid the foundation of His kingdom on Calvary's Cross. His conquering army were twelve Apostles, who went to the ends of the world, preaching the Gospel of Salvation through faith in Jesus, the crucified and risen King. The number of His subjects grew in spite of the bloody efforts of Rome. Fire and sword could not stay the onward march of the Kingdom of Christ. When Constantine the Great about 300 years later proclaimed Christianity the religion of the empire, Christ had won. Christianity had triumphed over Paganism.

The glory of Rome had faded and vanished. The power of the Caesars, their huge, magnificent building of world-empire, seemingly constructed for eternity; it had crumbled to dust and chaff. What of the Kingdom of Jesus Christ? It still is marching triumphantly over the nations of earth. Its enemies have fought it in vain. They will fight it in vain. The Kingdom of Christ is the enduring value. Christanity is the standard of correct evaluation.

We still laud and appreciate the achievements of the ancients, for example, their literature, their painting, their sculpture, their architecture, their science. They have accomplished great things. We may and do find pleasure in the wonderful buildings of pagan India and China. Where is there anything more beautiful than the gorgeous temples of India? But were they of real enduring value to the people that built them? Have they been an instrument for the uplift and advancement of humanity? No. They have not taught the people to show mercy and love. They have not given to the world the true estimate of a human life and its usefulness. Theirs was a doctrine of selfishness. What prompted the building of the Babylonian Empire? The glorification of the one Nebucadnezzar. All others were steppingstones for his personal aggrandizement. Which was the force that drove Alexander to his conquests? Personal ambition and pride. When the world lay at his feet he wept because there were no more worlds to conquer. He wept because there were no more nations to enslave, no more cities to burn, no more people to kill. What motive led to the expansion of Rome? The pride and vainglory of the Romans. They did it not to help the world, but to help themselves. The world was laid under merciless tribute to appease the appetites of the few hundred thousand in Rome. The doctrines of the world, both ancient and modern, are doctrines of selfishness, seeking the benefit of the few to the disadvantage and detriment of the many.

How different the doctrines of Christianity. It lays down the most perfect code for a life of universal usefulness and value. Christ has summed it up in the brief sentence. "Do unto others as ye would that they should do unto you." That is the call to service and away from selfishness. As a general rule for life you will find nothing better. This rule is universal, applying perfectly to every possibility. What a peaceful and agreeable world this would be if it were universally accepted and consistently followed. Practically all of our difficulties in the home, the nation, and the world would solve themselves, if we would do unto others as we would that they should do unto us.

Let us apply it to the home. Divorce is threatening the ruin of American home-life. The husband breaks faith with the wife or the wife breaks faith with the husband; the husband neglects the wife or the wife the husband. Torn and broken homes are the result with children robbed of their dearest possession. Would these divorced parents have had their childhood home destroyed? Would the faithless husband have a faithless wife? Would the neglected wife have a neglected husband? Would either partner in the home have the other to be harsh, unkind, rough, and cruel? Most assuredly not. Then they should practice these desires in their own conduct. Follow the basic precept of Christian conduct, and the opportunity for divorce would be reduced to a minimum.

Next let us apply this rule to various relationships in our national life. Probably the greatest disturbing factor today is the contest and war being waged between capital and labor. Under the term capital I would have understood not only the great moneyed interests and corporations, but every employer, whether he be the master of one or ten thousand employes. The relationship is the same though the scale be enlarged. Why this continued feud between the laborer and the employer? There's a reason for it. Which is the fundamental reason? One word tells it: Selfishness. And that applies with equal force to the laborer and to the employer; one is no better than the other. The worker is seeking shorter hours with more pay. The employer is seeking greater production at a smaller cost. Labor accuses capital of unfair methods; capital accuses labor of the same. Both are looking to their own interest, and only that. Now, let the laborer place himself in the employer's position and the employer in the laborer's place. What would be the result? Capital would be paying their help a living wage, giving them decent working conditions, doing all in its power to give them an opportunity to get the most out of life. Labor would be giving the employer its best service seeking to promote his interests, and advance his cause. Would there be any cause for strife and discontent? None whatever, because justice would prevail in, and govern, their relationship.

Another evil which threatens our national life is the lack of respect for all authority, be it in the home, the school, the church, the city, or the state, on the part of both young and old. Children sass and disobey their parents and teachers. The grown-ups abuse their government officials and transgress the laws of state and nation without a qualm of conscience. Do unto them as ye would that they should do unto you. Children and grown-ups, place yourself in the position of your superiors as parent, teacher, police, mayor, governor or president. How would you like to be treated? With deference, respect, and obedience, not so? Well, go and do thou likewise.

In business you would like to receive a square deal; then give a square deal. In play you like to be treated fairly; then treat your opponent fairly. You like to receive kindness; then give kindness. You appreciate courtesy; then show courtesy and thus we could proceed indefinitely. Friends, show me one relationship in our complex society where the Golden Rule does not apply perfectly. It is the perfect rule for association between husband and wife, parent and children, capital and labor, government and subjects; it is the perfect rule for conduct in business and play, among friends and among strangers.

Going a step further, it is the perfect rule for conduct between the nations. If this rule had been followed, would the great war have come to pass? We confidently answer, NO. Had the Europena nations in 1914 been intent on treating each other as they themselves preferred to be treated, they would have found a way out of the dilemma, for none of them wanted the devastation and destruction of war in their own borders. Why was the Genoa Conference a failure? Because of selfishness; because they were not willing to do unto others as they would have the others do unto them. Why are the men of affairs fearing the defeat of the Paris conference of bankers? Because they fear this same selfishness. Wars will continue to darken the horizon until the nations adopt the Golden Rule as the standard of their relationships.

Though this precept of Christianity has never been universally followed, and though it never will be, still enough people have made it the rule of their lives to accomplish immeasurable good. The greatest of men and women are they who have forgotten self in the service of their fellows. I merely call to your remembrance Florence Nightingale and the Red Cross; Herman-Franke and the Orphanage at Halle; Livingstone in Africa; Cary in India; Egede in Greenland; George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. In the self-forgetful service of others they have best served themselves. In these men and their lives we find only those things which call forth our admiration and love. Alexander the Great, Neubucadnezzar, Julius Caesar, and Augustus, have indelibly written their names on the pages of history. We admire their genius and ability; we celebrate them as illustrious examples of manhood; but when we begin to study and contemplate the purpose to which they applied their powers and genius, must not our enthusiasm cool and our admiration wane? Ponder these lines from Milton's Paradise Regained:

"They err who count it glorious to subdue
By conquest far and wide, to overrun
Large countries, and in field great battles win,
Great cities by assault. What do these worthies
But rob and spoil, burn and slaughter and enslave
Peacable nations, neighboring or remote,
Made captive, yet deserving freedom more
Than those their conquerors, who leave behind
Nothing but ruin whereso'er they rove,
And all the flourishing works of peace destroy;—
Then swell the pride, and must be titled Gods,
Great Benefactors of mankind, Deliverers,
Worshipped with temple, priest and sacrifice?
One is the son of Jove, of Mars the other;
Till Conqueror Death discover them scarce men,
Rolling in brutish vices, and deformed,
Violent or shameful death their due reward."

Faithful devoted service to others, and not the service of self, is the mark of true greatness; and choosing the possibilities of such service is grasping the opportunities of enduring value.

The brightest example of this precept I have reserved to the last. It is Jesus Christ of Nazareth, the Founder of Christianity. He, the Son of God came to earth not to be served but to serve. What a life of service He gave! Honor and obedience to His parents, respect and obedience to His government, love and kindness to His fellowmen: truly a living example of His precept: "Do unto others as ye would that they should do unto you."

Was Christ a failure? By no means. The world could have done without a Neducadnezzar, a Caesar or an Augustus; these labored for themselves and their successes have vanished as chaff before the wind; their building has not endured; it lacked the lasting value. Christ labored for others and today, after 2,000 years, He still is the most vital force in the world. While all else perishes, Christ lives. Yea, when the world itself has come to its end in utter destruction and annihilation, Christ and His kingdom shall remain, for Christ built primarily for eternity. His life and His death was for the purpose of saving sinners, bringing the fallen race of men back to its God. He has and is accomplishing this aim by bringing men to accept Him as their Savior from sin and everlasting death, by leading men to seek forgiveness for their sins and acceptance with God because of the substitutionary sacrifice of His death on Calvary, Jesus Christ, true God and man, the willing and obedient servant of God and man, has established the true and enduring value for time and eternity.

My friends, you who are about to enter the battle of life in earnest, consider well your attitude toward Christianity. I hope that all of you are Christians now. If you are, make the resolution today that your adherence to its principles of living shall be lifelong and firm; that with greater fervor and sincerity you will translate those noble precepts into your every-day life; that with a more constant honesty you will carry those enduring values into your associations with men, your work and your play. If any of you are not Christians, then let today be the beginning. Do not begin the building of your life without this enduring value.

The cry has often been raised, especially in the past years, and it may have been stirring in your heart just now: Christianity has broken down, Christianity has failed. Is this true? Nay! Christianity has not failed men, but men have failed Christianity. By taking the Christ out of Christianity, by changing it to a man-made and man-altered religion, by making it a religion for this life only and not the next as well, the would-be leaders of Christian thought have robbed the world of true Christianity, leaving them the name without the substance and power. Then they cry: The Religion of Christ has lost its power over men; it has outlived its usefulness but is no longer adapted to our needs. The folly of those who are wise in their own conceit! Proclaim the true religion of Christ, proclaim it in its pristine purity and glory, proclaim it as the Son of God and the Apostles proclaimed it. Proclaim it as the power of God unto everlasting salvation for lost and condemned sinners and the power of God unto sanctification and holiness for the corrupt and perverted nature of man: Proclaim it as it should be proclaimed, and its power will not be lacking! Christianity is still the enduring value, the standard for correct evaluation of every opportunity.

Go forth, young men and women, into the several walks of life and take Christianity with you. Go to and build your life with well-chosen opportunities. Build for eternal life by faith in the Crucified Christ. Build for this life by following the precept of Christ: "Do unto others as ye would that they should do unto you." Thus choose your materials and opportunities and you will attain the values that bless and endure here and hereafter.

We close with the words of Goethe:

"Heard are the voices,
Heard are the sages,
The world and the ages.
Choose well; your choice is Brief and yet endless."

Let Christianity guide your choice.

Political Announcement

(Prepared and ordered published by H. P. Rued, personal campaign committee for Geo. M. Gunderson, County Superintendent of Schools, candidate for re-election. Amount to be paid, $4.50.)

To the Voters of Pennington County:

This announces the candidacy for re-election of Geo. M. Gunderson, County Superintendent of schools.

He has a record as a progressive rural superintendent of schools, in recognition of which he has at three different times been honored by the Northwestern Minnesota Educational Association; first, by being elected Leader of the Rural School Section, second, as Secretary, and he is now serving as Chairman of the Executive Committee. This association employs only the very best of school men.

He was, even before the organization of this county, and is now a resident tax payer. He has and is receiving a lower monthly salary than several of the teachers under his supervision. He has the lowest traveling expense account of any county official traveling full time in the interest of the county.

He is a member of the Committee of Finance of the State Education Association.

Outside of the duties connected with the above named honorary positions, he has given his entire time and attention to our rural schools.

He asks your vote and support in the Primary Election, pledging himself, if nominated and re-elected, to give the same service to our schools in the future.

Political Announcement

(Ordered inserted by O. R. Sande, candidate in the primaries for county superintendent of schools. Address, Thief River Falls, Minn. Amount to be paid, $5.00 for each insertion.)

To the Voters of Pennington County.

I wish to announce that I am a candidate for the office of Superintendent of Schools of Pennington county. I was graduated from the State Teachers' college at Moorehead in 1914. I am 30 years of age and I have had ten years' of actual experience as a teacher in elementary and semi-graded rural schools. I served approximately one year in the United States army, nine months overseas. I have filed as a candidate for this office because I believe that I can give the people of the country real service and an efficient administration. I shall appreciate your vote and support at the primary election to be held June 19.

Very respectfully,
O. R. SANDE,
Town of North.

Political Announcement

(Ordered inserted by Oscar J. Peterson, candidate in the primaries for register of deeds. Address, Hazel, Minn. Amount to be paid, $2.20 for each insertion.)

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for nomination to the office of register of deeds at the primary election to be held on Monday, June 19.

I have resided in the county since 1904 and all my interests are here. For eight years I have served as a member of the board of county commissioners and for five years have been honored by my colleagues with the chairmanship.

In case of my nomination and election I promise to give the office my entire attention and will endeavor to serve the people efficiently and impartially.

I respectfully solicit your support.

Yours for service and reliability.
OSCAR J. PETERSON.

Political Announcement

(Ordered inserted in his own behalf by N. J. Anderson, Thief River Falls, Minn., candidate for Register of Deeds. Amount to be paid for each insertion, $5.00.)

To the Voters of Pennington County:

I am a candidate for re-election for Register of Deeds of Pennington county. During the years I have served the people of the county as Register of Deeds I have made many friends, but I am not asking support in the present campaign merely by virtue of this friendship. Rather, I would have the voters consider my candidacy on a purely efficiency basis as the only proper method of electing officials to public office. In regard to my fitness for the office of Register of Deeds, both as to honesty and capability, I prefer to rest my case with the people of Pennington county, whom I served in past years.

Yours respectfully,
N. J. ANDERSON.

Political Announcement

(Inserted in his own behalf by W. A. Swanson, candidate for register of deeds, Rhoda, Minn. Amount to be paid, $4.40 each insertion.)

To the Voters of Pennington County.

Having filed for the office of Register of Deeds, I want to say that should I be elected I will serve the public and all concerned to the best of my ability in an honest, upright manner.

I am no stranger to the people of Pennington county. My name and what I have stood for is well known to those who have resided here for the past fifteen years or more.

The welfare of any community, city or country rests upon the shoulders of those who have and who are willing at all times to sacrifice time, thought and energy towards the welfare of the public in trying to bring about better laws, better conditions under which to live. Neither our wishes nor demands can be rightly adjusted nor satisfied unless the outside world knows something about our troubles. Do not judge men simply by what they have been able to do for themselves and for their own good, but rather by what they have sacrificed and tried to do for others.

Time and the shortage of funds prevent me from carrying on the customary political campaign. I must rely upon my friends and any past record as a citizen for results, subject to the will of the voters. I am

Yours respectfully,
W. A. SWANSON.

HICKORY

Another Story.

We promised you something uplifting this time, and here it is: The home team won Sunday's game from the old rival, Johnson, to the tune of 13 to 14. The game was hard fought throughout, with the outcome uncertain until the last inning. At no time did either team lead with more than two or three scores.

Due to the intervention of the weather only six innings were played. Several errors were made during the first part of the game on account of the slippery condition of the ball and field.

Engelstad again occupied the box for the Johnson aggregation, while Hanson acted as receiver. For the home team the first three innings were pitched by Good, whose place was taken by O. Bjornarua during the last three, while D. Bjornarua performed behind the bat.

Quite a number of Johnson and Hickory people were in attendance, encouraging their respective representatives. However, the performers would like to see a larger number of spectators at the coming games, as they promise a brand of baseball proportional to the enthusiasm shown in the side lines. If all the regulars stay by the team throughout the season, Hickory will have a promising team according to present indications.

CREAMERIES OPEN NEW YORK OFFICE

State Association Takes Over Manager and Entire Establishment of Producer.

The co-operative creameries of Minnesota at last have their own direct representative on the eastern market.

The Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association, Inc., announced today that M. Sondergaard American manager for the United Danish Butter Associations, Inc., has become its New York representative. The Minnesota association has taken over the entire establishment of the Danish organization, at 105 Hudson street, New York City.

For the first time in history, the dairy industry of Minnesota as a whole has its own agency to protect its interests on the important markets of the east. Prices, freight charges, scorings, supply and demand and every other phase of marketing in which the incomes of Minnesota co-operative creamery patrons are concerned will be watched by the New York office.

The new eastern office already has done service for Minnesota farmers, according to A. J. McGuire, manager of the state association. Mr. Sondergaard has reported the arrival in New York of the first carload of eggs shipped co-operatively by Minnesota farmers under the statewide egg marketing plan worked out by the creameries association at a conference last month. The carload came from Glencoe. The possibilities of this marketing plan were indicated, Mr. McGuire says, in the report from the New York office.

"The carload of eggs from Glencoe is receiving many favorable comments here because of the fine quality of the eggs," Mr. Sondergaard said. "I am informed that these eggs are some of the finest that have ever arrived in the market at this time of the year. If Minnesota can furnish this grade of eggs, I see no reason why we should not be doing a big business in eggs as well as butter."

Never before, Mr. McGuire said, have Minnesota farmers been allowed to find out, as a whole, that their eggs were recognized as a high class product on the eastern markets. The new office of the Minnesota dairy farmers on the New York market, he said, will protect the interests of the producers by seeing that Minnesota products are marketed at the highest price their quality commands, and that the farmers get the full benefit of higher prices for high quality.

TO HELP YOUR TOWN.

Wadena Pioneer-Journal: Sell all you can and buy all you can at home. Every dollar that is sent or carried away from town makes it that much poorer. If you have the means invest in something that will give somebody employment. Always cheer on the man who goes in for improvement. Do not kick against a proposed improvement simply because it is not at your door. A town that is improving, is also spreading itself out. If a rich man starts a project encourage him. If a poor man starts, help him. Do not be afraid to thrust your hand down in your pocket to help out a public enterprise. More towns have been killed by such refusals than in any other way. The citizens of any prosperous town are always public spirited and united. Stand together. Work together for the interest of the whole town, and always stand ready to do your part. Dont' spend your time grumbling and prophesying failures, but help to make every enterprise a success. Every man owes something to the community for his own success, be it great or small. Be energetic, be enterprising, and your example will be imitated.

Service Rendered by Co-operation
ONE of the most perfect forms of industrial service is that which results from co-operation between manufacturer and consumer.
Recognizing this, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has developed a service bureau headed by lubricating engineers of wide experience whose business it is to co-operate with designers, manufacturers and users of all types of machinery that they may get a maximum of correct lubrication at a minimum of cost.
In developing this service the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) had a two-fold motive—first that Standard Oil products shall render the utmost of service and second that the user shall get full value for the money he spends.
As a result of this service the customer finds it unnecessary to carry on costly experiments. The lubricating specialists of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) will, upon request, study his problems and tell him the exact oils and greases needed to insure correct lubrication of his machinery.
This highly specialized service is rendered without cost. It is one of the underlying principles of this Company that the customer must be given the benefit of our wide experience, that his lubricating costs per year may be as low as possible.
In the individual plants, large and small, which the lubricating engineers of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) have served, this principle is well recognized.
Plenty of oil does not necessarily mean good lubrication. Correct lubrication consists in applying the right oil in the right place in the right way.
To enable its patrons to achieve correct lubrication is the busines of the lubricating engineers of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).
This lubrication service is but one of the many specialized ways in which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) serves industry and hence serves society.

TWO SHUTOUTS IS REDS' RECORD FOR THE SECOND WEEK

Fertile and McIntosh Trimmed 4 to 0—Thief River Falls Plays at Fertile Today.

The Thief River Falls Reds hung two scalps on their belts during the past week, defeating Fertile on the home grounds of the latter team on Thursday afternoon and taking McIntosh into camp in this city on Memorial Day. Both opposing teams were whitewashed while the locals made four scores in each instance.

The Fertile game was an excellent exhibition of baseball. Federolf pitched a sterling game, the Fertile batsmen failing to find him at all except for a short spasm during the fourth inning. He stopped their nonsense with the bases full and kept them from scoring in spite of the fact that but one man was out when they managed to occupy all the sacks.

Bundy, who started in the box for Fertile, was relieved by Knutson in the seventh although the former had performed very well in the early stages of the game. His successor at any rate fared no better so far as decieving the Thief River Falls contingent went. In the same inning Schroeder was sent in to relieve Federolf as it was apparent that it would be safe to let up on the latter during the remainder of the matinee. It was the first time Schroeder has appeared in the box this season and he gave a good account of himself. One of the features of the game was the batting of Schutt, a young recruit with the Thief River team. He is credited with two safe hits out of four times up, which is a fine performance considering his age and experience.

Following is the box score:

Repeated the Dose.

McIntosh received exactly the same kind of treatment from the Reds in this city on Memorial Day. Federolf was opposed by Narveson and both had an equal strike-out record—12 men. The third inning proved disastrous for McIntosh, Thief River Falls scoring four runs. At no time were the visitors at all dangerous although they were credited with five hits to seven for the locals. Close fielding resulted in nine McIntosh men being left on bases while only four of the Reds were thus stranded. But one man received a pass, this being issued by Federolf. Manager Morse shook up his team somewhat, playing Halbert in center and sending Hudrath on second for the first time. Stenhoff was the only Red stealing a base, he purloining two. The visitors had the same number, Jansen and Melquist turning the trick.

Dr. Crandall Returns.

Dr. C. R. Crandall, who a short time ago left this city for a tour of the West, returned Tuesday evening for the purpose of packing up and settling his personal affairs preparatory to definitely moving to Napa, Cal., where he will engage in the practice of his profession—dentistry. The doctor has been in Louisiana, Texas, Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee besides California, but has decided on the latter state as a permanent location. He will be in Thief River Falls for a week or ten days.

Plenty Succeeds Sterns as Local Telephone Manager

John Plenty will on Monday succeed G. L. Sterns as manager of the Northwestern Telephone company's exchange in this city while Mr. Stern's will assume the management of the Fergus Falls exchange. Mr. Plenty has been wire chief at the last named city for some years.

The Northwestern company is making a lot of changes in Minnesota at the present time and managers of local exchanges are not certain from one day to another just what the intentions are so far as they are personally concerned. Mr. Sterns was first slated to become manager of the St. Cloud exchange, but the men at the head of affairs evidently saw fit to make other arrangements. Mr. Sterns is rather pleased than otherwise over the switch as he considers Fergus Falls as good a town to live in as St. Cloud. The exchange of which he takes charge is about twice the size of that in this city.

Mr. Plenty has had many years experience in all branches of telephone work and comes with the very highest recommendations as an executive.

Big Attendance Expected At Annual Guernsey Sale

According to County Agent J. J. McCann the attendance at the annual consignment sale and picnic of the Red River Valley Guernsey men's association will be the largest in the history of that organization. The sale takes place at the Pennington county fair grounds in this city on Thursday, June 8, at which time 30 head of purebred and high grade Guernseys will be offered.

The event will be made the occasion for a big outdoor picnic and those who attend are urged to bring their families and lunch baskets. Among the well-known breeders who will place cattle on sale at this time are Jean DuLuth farms, Duluth; L. Jensen, Clearbrook; Paul Engelstad; Albert Johnson & Sons and H. C. Woolson, Thief River Falls, and other well know breeders. W. J. LaBree will officiate as auctioneer and the sale will be in charge of Perry Johnson, Stuart McLeod and Eber Conklin.

This sale will be the most important event of its kind held in this section of the state this year.

Dairymen Saving $4,500 Weekly By Co-operation

Patrons of Minnesota co-operative creameries composing the statewide co-operative creameries association are saving $4,500 every seven days.

The association just announced that 45 carloads of butter are being shipped by Minnesota farmer-owned creameries every week, under the consolidated marketing plans worked out by the state organization. The difference between freight rates on carlots and on less-than-carlots amounts to about $100 on every carload shipped, according to A. J. McGuire, manager of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association, Inc.

The $100 saving in freight on each car is a net gain, he said, after all expenses of assembling the butter at a central point have been paid.

Will Present Comedy.

"Only a Country Rose," a thrilling comedy drama in three acts, will be staged at the auditorium Thursday evening, June 8, by the Dramatic Club of Argyle, assisted by local talent. There are 12 people in the cast and the presentation received high praises at Crookston and other places in which it has been presented. Some of the best musical talent in the city will take part in the play.

A dance will follow the comedy, the music for which will be furnished by Yost Harmony Kings. This orchestra will also play at the performance.

American Legion Corner

(By Hanford MacNider, Legion National Commander.)

Each Memorial Day through the past years we have watched the column of gallant men pass by—proudly bearing their battle flags, fifes swirling, drums rolling—thru the streets of the old town. A quiver has run up our backs, we've stepped a little brisker, our chests out a bit further even though our eyes dimmed for a minute after they had passed. These men marching reverently, proudly to do honor to their fallen comrades, have reminded us that we had many things to be proud and grateful for—that we were citizens of the United States of America and that these men had handed down to us a free nation.

To us, fellow Legionnaires, this glorious day is a direct inheritance, not only as Americans, but as veterans of a war fought victoriously for a righteous cause and a better world. Each man and woman whom we honor on this day won the war for us—their part may have been small and unsung but to all of them equal honor is due. They gave their all. And as we line up with our post, in our old regimentals—the proudest raiment any American can ever wear, the uniform of his country—think of those buddies who did not come back, of their mothers and fathers who are watching you, grateful for this little tribute to their boys—our comrades who gave heir lives that we might enjoy he citizenship of this nation.

And when Memorial Day has passed, let us, Legionaires, continue to dedicate ourselves to the great task remaining before us—"that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion." To give, in life, to our communities, our state, our nation and our disabled comrades, all that these loved ones gave in death, is the ideal of every true Legionaire.

STATE, NATION SHOULD SHARE SCHOOL BURDEN

Hon. J. H. Hay, in Commencement Address, Says This Must Be Next Step.

Turning Out Good Citizens For Entire Country Principal Aim of All Education.

Capacity Audience in Attendance at Farewell Exercises For Class of 1922.

With the graduation of 63 members of the senior class of 1922 last Friday evening the school activities for the term came to a close. The auditorium was packed to capacity by those who wished to witness the farewell exercises in honor of these young men and women.

M. P. Rapacz, principal at the high school, officiated as chairman and in his introductory remarks complimented the members of the class very highly on the record made. Particularly did he praise Bertha Hastad and Johanna Wedul, valedictorian and salutatorian respectively, for having gained the distinction of heading their classmates on this important occasion.

Hay Delivers Address.

The graduation address was delivered by J. H. Hay, former superintendent of schools in this city and at present deputy commissioner of agriculture for Minnesota. Mr. Hay's talk differed somewhat from the general run of addresses on such occasions, dealing in a large degree directly with educational problems in Minnesota and the correction of certain inequalities which have the effect of handicapping many districts while others have more funds available than can be made use of without waste.

Mr. Hay called attention to the general tendency toward centralization now evident in nearly all governmental activities and said the next great step in this direction would be the placing of education in the hands of the state and nation. The town meeting is the same now as it was a hundred years ago and school districts are still largely governed in the same manner. The most important function of government—education—has not been taken over by the state or nation for the purpose of equalizing opportunities for the young in every section of the land, this matter being left to small districts governed by men and women who are admittedly well-meaning but whose training and outlook has been such that they are incapable of realizing the importance of the kind of schooling necessary for the young American of today. In this respect centralization of control has not been sufficiently exercised, said Mr. Hay, no matter what may be said of governmental activities and interferences in other directions.

Sole Purpose of Education.

The idea of our schools is not to take children and make out of them men and women for some specific purpose, said Mr. Hay. The main aim of education is to make good citizens for the perpetuation of the ideals of this republic. Nor are citizens being turned out for any particular section or district but for the state and country as a whole. These boys and girls have been trained for 12 years to appreciate the value of American citizenship and yet the cost of this training must be borne by a few people who can ill afford the expense. Parents should not be compelled to assume this entire burden, said the speaker. The state and nation being the beneficiary, the greater part of the cost of education should be assumed by them.

Mr. Hay commended the people of this part of the country for the patience with which they have borne the heavy costs incident to maintaining their schools. He also congratulated the graduates on their success, praised them for working hard and said he hoped they would continue to do so.

Co-operation Appreciated.

Supt. I. T. Simley, who followed Mr. Hay, spoke briefly and said he heartily seconded everything said by that speaker. Character, health and willingness are qualifications for which students should strive, said Mr. Simley, and these are the things our schools are trying to develop. He thanked the people of the district, the school board and the faculty for the excellent co-operation during the past year and said he believed all had reason to be proud of the results of their efforts.

Music by the high school orchestra under the leadership of Miss Maude L. Johnson, a song by the Girls Glee club, two songs by the octette and the singing of Alma Mater by the class were pleasing features of the evening.

VOLUNTEERS BOOST FOR JUDGE BISHOP AS THE RIGHT MAN

Support of Candidate For District Bench Keeps Coming in From Every County.

Perhaps the most noticeable development in the political situation in this section of Minnesota is the interest taken in the campaign of Judge J. M. Bishop of this city as a candidate for the district judgship. While the fitness of Judge Bishop for the position is generally admitted, the fact of his being a resident of Thief River Falls is urged as an additional and most important reason for his selection. Volunteer committees have been formed in nearly every country in the district for the purpose of boosting his candidacy and these are meeting with much encouragement.

The voluntary committee of Roseau county, for instance, has sent a circular letter to the voters in which the reason for supporting Judge Bishop is clearly set forth. Among other things the letter says:

"Owing to the geographical location of the city of Thief River Falls it is important that one of the judges shall reside at that point. Considerable time and money will be saved the people of the district by having J. M. Bishop elected, due to the fact that the city of Thief River Falls is our main transportation center."

The letter also contains the following paragraph: "Mr. Bishop is well known to a great number of the voters of the judical district, having resided in Thief River Falls for over 20 years. He has practiced law continuously for 30 years and his experience together with his reputation for fairness and justice will make him especially qualified to fill the office.

Local Attorney Helping Mennonites in Mexico

W. J. Brown of this city, who is one of the legal advisors of the Mennonites who were formerly residents of Canada but who have lately settled Mexico in considerable numbers, left the first of the week for the southern republic on business connected with their affairs. According to Mr. Brown there is some difficulty with reference to land titles and it would seem that the newcomers are in a serious mixup. Mr. Brown expects to be away at least three weeks.

Large Number Pay Taxes With Coin of the Realm

Wednesday of last week was the last day for the payment of real estate taxes for the current half year and there was a rush of business at the office of County Treasurer John Gullingsrud. One of the surprises of the last few days was the amount of cash handled by the treasurer and his assistants this time. As a rule practically all payments are made by check but on Tuesday and Wednesday more than $4,000 in cash was taken in, undoubtedly a record amount. Mr. Gullingsrud has not yet finished checking up but he si of the opinion that tax payments at this time are the best in some years.

Albert Moen of Middle River Successful Bidder on 10½ Miles of New Highway.

Contract Price is $12,870.10, Only One-Half of Which Has Yet Been Provided.

Local Citizens Have Promise of Commissioner Babcock That Balance Can Be Had.

The contract for building 10½ miles of highway from the ridge south of Thirhult to the east peninsula of the Red Lake was let yesterday to Albert Moen of Middle River by the commissioner of Beltrami county.

Mr. Moe's bid totalled $12,870.10, divided as follows: Clearing $30 per acre; grubbing, 40 cents per yard; excavating, 22 cents per yard; overhaul, 2 cents; hand ditching, 24 cents per yard, and $4.50 for turnpiking. The bid was considered an exceptionally good one and there was no dispute over award.

L. R. Johnston of the Red Lake Road committee of the Thief River Falls commercial club, and Isaac Helseth of the Minneapolis Bridge company, were Thief River Falls men present when the bids were opened. The commissioners seemed inclined to let only so much of the contract as was covered by the money available at present for the job, this being about $6,500, but Mr. Johnson made a strong argument for the letting of the entire contract, assuring the commissioner that the balance of the money would be forthcoming. Local men have been promised by State Highway Commissioner C. M. Babcock that a total of $13,000 will be available for this highway by the time it is completed and people are banking on this. The Beltrami commissioners, however, wished to be assured that their country would not be made to foot the bill or any part of it in the end and when satisfied on this score granted the road on motion of commissioner Hays of Wilton, seconded by Commissioner Ellis of Blackduck.

Mr. Moen stated that he would begin work on July 10, but this did not suit the Thief River Falls representatives, who are anxious to have the job under way at once. The contractor stated that there was nothing to prevent his going ahead at this time except the uncertainity of getting his money at the completion of the contract. All that is necessary in order to do this is to secure assurance from the state highway department that the remainder of the $13,000 promised for this job will be forthcoming. The county commissioner also wished to be gauranteed that about $1,000 already expended for surveys would be taken care of and the Thief River Falls men said they would promise to collect amount in this city by popular subscription if necessary.

No Time Limit Set.

Should Mr. Moen carry out his intention of not starting the work before July, or perhaps even later, it would mean no road to the lakes for at least a year. No time was set for the completion of the contract and this allows of a lot of leeway. Mr. Moen stated, however, that he would be very glad to begin operations as soon as the hitch over the money question is definitely settled.

No bids were submitted by Thief River Falls contractors.

Boys Caught in Act of Robbing Print Shop Till

Two boys, 11 or 12 years of age, were on Sunday evening caught in the act of robbing the cash drawer at the Tribune office. Chief of Police Erickson searched the lads and found a bunch of keys of different styles and sizes, which it is believed the boys have been using to gain entrance to various places of business as well as residences. These keys are now in the possession of Chief Erickson and await identification by the owners.

Newspaper offices seem to be particularly favored by this band of juvenile housebreakers. Only a short time ago one of these same boys was detected in the act of removing the change from the desk drawer in which the cash from street sales on Thursdays is temporarily kept in the Times office. He was allowed to go with a warning, but it would seem as if this did not meet all the requirements. The juvenile court has the matter in hand and the boys will probably be placed on probation.

Is Association Officer.

At a meeting of the Otometrists of Northern Minnesota held last week at Bemidji, Olaf Neset of Thief River Falls, was elected as a member of the board of directors. An association for closer co-operation among the optometrists of the section was formed with the following officers: George E. Spofford, Long Prairie, president; J. L. Engleson, Wadena, vice president; C. L. Larson, Bemidji, secretary-treasurer.

R. P. CHASE.

CHASE AND NOLAN TO ADDRESS VOTERS TOMORROW NIGHT

State Auditor and Speaker of House Are Attractions at Big Republican Rally.

The first political rally of the 1922 campaign will be held in this city on Friday evening, June 9th, with State Auditor R. P. Chase and W. I. Nolan, speaker of the house of representatives, as the drawing cards. The meeting will be held in the auditorium beginning at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Chase is one of the best known and most popular officials at the state capitol. As chief assistant to Governor Preus while the latter was state auditor, he brought to the office a knowledge of its business such as has been possessed by none of his predecessors at the outset of their incumbency. He is the business head of the state government and knows more about where the money collected comes from and goes to than any other person connected with it.

Mr. Nolan is one of the foremost orators in the state. As presiding officer of the lower house in the legislature at the last session he was directly connected with the passage of every measure and is in a position to explain its purpose and effect from first hand knowledge.

It is probable that this will be the only political address delivered in Thief River Falls before the primaries and it is certain to bring out a great crowd.

PROMINENT EDITOR IN CITY TODAY ON INSPECTION TOUR

Dan Wallace of The Farmer is Visitor—Kelley's Article Appears in The Farmstead.

Dan Wallace, editor of The Farmer, one of the big agricultural papers of the Northwest, is in the city today for the purpose of looking over the farm land situation in this neighborhood. Particularly is he interested in the work being done by the New Settlers Association of the Thief River Valley and will be an interested spectator at the Guernsey sale here at the fair grounds. Mr. Wallace is a brother of the secretary of agriculture in President Harding's cabinet and is regarded as fully as great an authority on farming. It is understood that he will devote considerable space in the next issue of his publication to a write-up of this region and the aims of the Settler association.

Over two pages of the Northwest Farmstead were devoted to Pennington county and the association in the June 15 issue of the Northwest Farmstead, edited by Geo. W. Kelly, who paid a visit to Thief River Falls and vicinity a short time ago. The writer was greatly impressed by what he saw here and tells his readers of the advantages offered those who are in search of a place to locate, where good land is still low in price and farming conditions of the best.

Mr. Kelly found that one of the drawbacks to rapid settlement of this section is the mistaken notion that considerable stretches of Pennington, Marshall and southwestern Beltrami county are in the timbered region and that the land is of the "cut-over" variety on which were formerly heavy forests. He takes pains to show that this is a prairie county and ready for the plow with a little or no work on the part of the settler. The article goes into detail on the subject of soil, topography, drainage, roads, railroads, water, schools, towns and crops. Nothing seems to have escaped the writer's notice and he has a good word to say for nearly everything. More thorough drainage is one of the necessities, but this will shortly be brought about, in the opinion of this observer. The clover and alfalfa fields come in for particular praise and a considerable section is devoted to cattle. Mr. Kelley finds that the country needs more hogs but believes these will come within a very short time.

LEGION FOLLIES PRESENTS MANY FINE FEATURES

Finishing Touches Being Put on Biggest Production Ever Attempted in the City.

Artists Nationally Known to Be Assisted By Local Talent of Recognized Ability.

Cast Contains Sixty People and Acts Are All New, Clean and Novel in Character.

A sure cure for the blues is promised in the American Legion Follies to be presented at the auditorium, Tuesday and Wednesday, June 13 and 14 at 8:15.

The Follies show is being presented by Elmer J. Ecklund Post, No. 117, American Legion of this city. Producing and staging is under the direction of the Modern Productions of St. Paul.

Instead of fifty people, as originally planned, the cast will number approximately sixty, not including twenty additional people in the orchestra and stage forces.

The production is being brought intact and will be presented exactly the same as in the larger cities. The full quota of mechanical and electrical effects will be used.

The show is crammed with hearty laughs, catchy music, pretty costumes and beautiful scenic and lighting effects. From the first snappy strains of the opening number until the last curtain falls and the last note of the finale has died away there is not a dull moment.

The stellar roles have been divided among the leading singers and entertainers of the community. Numbers in the big modern minstrel act will be given by Charles Van, C. Prichard, Dave Robinson, Darby Anderson, L. C. Reedy, K. Olson, Jos. Cloutier, Herbert Hanson and Karl Sundahl.

As an added feature G. V. Cannon, holder of the world's speed record in camouflage painting, will positively appear in person in his sensational lightening-speed painting act. This distinctively novel feat has seldom been seen anywhere and to miss it will be to regret it.

Novel vaudeville sketches will comprise the four acts of revue, all of which are beautifully costumed and set to sparkling music. The oriental scene laid in an Arabian temple courtyard with the city of towers in the background is a scenic masterpiece with fascinating lighting effects and the characters in the same are elaborately costumed. Four young ladies have been very carefully trained in a native classic dance for this scene.

Three very novel scenes depicting a young man leaving his home to join the colors, later shown in a shell-torn French church used as an emergency dressing station, and finally his return home, in which he is seen receiving a decoration, are included as appropriate Flag Day features. These scenes are presented with incidental music and the clever lighting makes them appear and fade out right before your eyes.

The widely known bungalow scene from the Passing Show, an old plantation sketch and the musical hit from the season's most successful show, The Greenwich Village Follies, will complete the programme. The closing scene in which "Three O'clock in the Morning" and "Old Fashioned Girl," with three groups of novelty dancers numbering over thirty-five persons in vari-colored costumes are introduced, present a colorful picture of great beauty. These groups are later joined by the entire cast for the closing number.

DANCING PARTY ON PAVEMENT PROVES MOST ENJOYABLE

Hundreds of Young Couples Enjoy Themselves in the Open Air to Music By Band.

The weather man finally let up on his disagreeable spell long enough to permit of a pavement dance being held in Thief River Falls. Last evening was the third date fixed for an affair of this kind and the first at which it has been possible for the Merchants association to carry out its plans.

The block between Main and LaBree avenue on Third street was selected as the most centrally located for the purpose and this seemed to suit everybody. The band concert before the dance was well attended and the usual excellent program under the leadership of M. J. Sorflaten was presented. Dancing was begun promptly at 9:30 o'clock and continued for about two hours, when the musicians called it a day although it is likely the dancers would have been willing to keep going.

Seldom has there been a larger crowd in the city on the evening of a week day. The fact that the stores were open and bargains were offered by many had the effect of bringing people in from the country early. These stayed for the concert and dance after completing their purchases and helped materially in swelling the crowd. Anyone of the opinion that it would prove next to impossible to dance on asphalt pavement would have had a bad kink put in their opinion had they been present to see the way the younger set went at things.

Now that it has been proven that really enjoyable dances can be given on the pavement it is certain that even larger crowds than that in evidence last evening will attend. The party was more decorous perhaps than if held in a hall and the dancers had the added advantage of being out in the fresh air. There are those who object to dancing on general principles, but any one who sees no harm in the passtime is bound to admit that this plan of conducting the parties has distinct advantage over many others that might be mentioned.

Bagley Store Robbed.

Robbers entered the Bagley Mercantile store last Wednesday night and escaped with between $300 and $400 worth of silk goods, in addition to some cash.

To Firemen's Convention.

Chief Paul Midderigh, H. L. Schuster and Morris LaSalle will leave Sunday evening for the meeting of the Minnesota Firemen's association at Rochester. They will be gone about a week.

Flag Day Picnic.

The Highlanding Community club will hold a picnic at the pavillion on Wednesday, June 14, the program beginning at 10 o'clock. Good speakers have been secured. Band music, baseball game and dance during the afternoon and evening. Bring picnic baskets and stay all day.

NOTHING TO RUMOR OF SOO REMOVING MEN TO SHOREHAM

Small Number Temporarily Out of Work Here Given Opportunity at Another Point.

Reports gained considerable circulation last week to the effect that a number of men employed at the round house or on the repair tracks of the Soo railway in this city had been ordered to Shoreham for work. The subject was brought up at a meeting of the commercial club and a committee appointed to make an investigation. The rumor was to the effect that quite a number of men—heads of families in most instances—had already gone to Shoreham and that more would follow.

Mayor John Bratrud, Math Barzen and F. H. Herrick were appointed by president L. H. Larson to wait on the officials of the Soo in this city to see what could be done about the matter. They were informed by Division Superintendent W. A. Barnard, Master Mechanic John Hendry and Roadmaster H. D. Keene that so far as they knew there was nothing much in the report. It developed that a number of Soo employes who have not been working since last fall were offered jobs at Shoreham, where there is a rush of business at the shops. The arrangement is to be temporary, the men taking their places in this city as soon as conditions again make it advisable to do the usual amount of repair work here. None of those who have gone contemplate moving their families to Shoreham and this city will continue to be their home.

Numerous shifts and changes are being made by railroads at this time as a part of the program in getting back onto a pre-war footing. This is only to be expected and so far as operations of the Soo in Thief River is concerned, the matter has no particular significance. At least such is the opinion of the men most likely to know what they are talking about.

Give Testimonial Picnic at Highlanding Pavilion

A community harmony festival will be held at the Highlanding pavillion grounds on Sunday, June 11. It is to be an all day affair with the program starting at 1 o'clock. The picnic will be in the nature of a testimonial to a worthy woman residing in that section of the county who has been having rather a hard time of it lately. Julius Olson of Warren, E. M. Stanton of Thief River Falls, and Charles Roughton of Red Lake Falls, will be among the speakers. Those who attend are requested to bring along picnic lunches and come prepared to spend the day.

All who attend are assured of a good time. The affair is in the hands of a committee composed of W. A. Swanson, Bj. Bjornaraa, Ben Kveste, H. T. Hanson and Oliver Howard.

Auxiliary Lunch Tuesday At Club Room of Legion

The Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion will serve lunch at the Legion club rooms from 3 to 6 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, June 13. A regular business meeting will also be held from 7 to 8 o'clock.

DRAINAGE COST IS ISSUE WITH UP-RIVER FOLKS

Considerable Opposition Voiced at Highlanding Meeting on Tuesday Afternoon.

Majority Will Favor Enterprise if Expense Can Be Kept at Reasonable Fgure.

Most Speakers Opposed But Many Privately Express Desire For Improvement.

VIEWERS START TODAY

It is announced that the viewers for the Red Lake river project will begin their work today and carry it through as rapidly as possible in order that a hearing on the assessments may be had at an early date. The viewers are O. L. Ihle, Thief River Falls; Andrew Christianson, Mentor, and F. S. Erdman, St. Hilaire.

There is no denying the fact that a large number of those present at the drainage meeting held at Highlanding on Tuesday afternoon are opposed to the carrying out the plans of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy board. At least the majority of those who spoke on the subject gave unmistakable evidence of their opposition.

There was a large crowd present but it is doubtful if the results warranted the trouble. Those who were opposed to drainage before the meeting are of the same mind still and those who favored it before have not changed their position.

E. A. Aubol of the conservancy board acted as chairman and did very well in a difficult position. Many things were touched upon by speakers that had no bearing on the matter in hand, but Mr. Aubol allowed everybody to talk as long as they wished, being determined evidently that there should be no charge of partiality.

Many Express Views.

There were a lot of speeches made for and against the proposition. The farmers were not of one mind on the subject, as was proven by expressions heard in private conservation. The majority of those who did speak, however, were opposed to going ahead with the work at this time while admitting that they did not know anything about what it was going to cost them.

Charles Boughton of Red Lake Fall, attorney for the commission, was the first speaker. He said that the time when each community can solve its drainage problems for itself has gone. Now the first aim when drainage is undertaken is the providing of an adequate outlet. This said Mr. Boughton, was the principal task of the present commission.

Mr. Boughton explained that a hearing will be held later at Thief River Falls at which time objections may be presented. The plans must, however, be approved by congress before Feb. 1, 1923, if the Indian lands are to bear their share of the costs. He told those present that the first payment on the principal sum raised to defray the cost of the work would not be due for five years after the date of issuing the bonds and that 20 years time would be given on the payment of the entire sum.

Objections Are Raised.

E. V. Willard, state drainage engineer, explained the distribution of costs and said that the report of the engineers would be filed within ten days. People residing to the east and north of the Red lakes, said Mr. Willard, are fighting for a lower level of the water in the lakes in order to provide more drainage in that region, but compliance with their demands would mean no help from the water power companies along the stream as there would then be no benefit accruing to them. This would leave the farmers and Indians to stand the expense alone. He also stated that the district board had nothing to do with fixing the lake levels, this being done in Washington. He said they would gladly eliminate the water powers if the farmers so wished, but this would greatly increase the cost to the farmers, municipalities and Indians.

The lake will be lowered 1½ feet from its level in the state of nature and the river will be 60 feet wide at the bottom with an average depth of 12 feet if the project goes through.

Assessments of costs cannot be made until the viewers have finished their work, said Mr. Willard, and it will be impossible to assess waterpowers where these have not yet been developed.

Annual Rental Best.

Chairman Selvig of the board stated that the organization was formed at the request of farmers who had suffered from floods in the past and realized that something would have to be done to prevent their recurrence. The directors are for the most part farmers and are appointed to act in accordance with the wishes of the people. It is for those interested to say whether or not this matter shall

(Official Paper, Pennington County)

A STATE RESPONSIBILITY.

According to Hon. J. H. Hay, who delivered the commencement address for the graduates of Lincoln high school in this city on Friday evening, school districts now handicapped by reason of low valuation and a consequent shortage of funds are to fare better in the future. The legislative program outlined by Mr. Hay and which he said would undoubtedly be enacted at the next session, is full of interest for school districts situated as is No. 18 in Pennington county.

Mr. Hay contended that education is more than a local matter. He said that beyond a certain stage it should become a state and national responsibility, being too important a subject to be left to local units. As matters now stand townships and school districts are depended on to turn out citizens for the state and nation and no regard is paid to the ability of those supporting the local schools to maintain the required standard. The result is that in some places more money is collected for educational purposes than can be used without waste while in others the children of school age are denied that full measure of education to which they are entitled. It is this inequality the next legislature will be asked to remedy.

Mr. Hay was not referring to District No. 18 of Pennington county particularly in his address, but included all others similarly situated. In this section of the state school costs have mounted until they now constitute about one-half of all taxes collected. When it is recognized that these last are always high enough in a new section under the best of conditions it becomes evident that the total constitutes a heavier burden than the people are able to bear.

Education above a certain point—say where the tax levy for the purpose totals 30 mills—should become a matter for state control, according to Mr. Hay. All moneys collected for this purpose could then be distributed on a per capita basis and the children in all sections of the state given the same opportunities at approximately the same cost to the taxpayer. This would provide equal advantages for all and work a hardship on no one.

It is probable that objection to the plan will be forthcoming from the iron ranges and some of the older settled districts, but a little consideration of the subject should convince the people residing there that the proposition is just. The function of schools is to turn out useful citizens—useful to the state and nation. The probabilities are that only a small proportion of graduates remain for long in the locality in which their education is secured and the value of such education therefore redounds to the benefit of the communities in which they locate.

There is sufficient wealth in Minnesota to provide every child with the best education obtainable without the cost thereof becoming a burden to the taxpayers of any one section. The trouble all lies in the distribution. A situation which permits of unlimited expenditures for education in one portion of the state while people residing a few miles distant find it next to impossible to meet the standards set by the school authorities of the same state, is unjust and unscientific. A reasonable and more equitable distribution must be made and this can only be done through the state's taking over the responsibility for all education above a certain well defined point.

HAS VAST POSSIBILITIES.

The possibilities of combining lignite coal and common peat into a briquet which will provide a cheap and highly valuable fuel product is a matter which should receive the most serious consideration on the part of the people of this city. The patent owners wish to erect an experimental plant here and will do so providing certain conditions are met.

The people of Thief River Falls are decidedly skeptical when it comes to giving a bonus to any enterprise for the purpose of having it locate in the city. This is the attitude of most cities at the present time. It is contended that any concern of standing will locate at the most advantageous point and that anything in the nature of a bonus offer will have but little weight in the final selection. There is also opposition to the purchasing of stock in new and untried enterprises merely for the purpose of securing their location in this city. Our people figure, and rightly, that if the product has any merit its stock will be sufficiently in demand to make peddling it unnecessary.

In these respects the proposition of the owners of this new fuel process is different. They do not ask for donations of any kind nor will they sell any of the company's stock. Evidently they are thoroughly convinced of the merit of their product and do not care to share its success with anyone. Their main aim seems to be getting the public to give the briquet a trial. For this reason they require that the people of Thief River Falls purchase the first 1,000 tons manufactured at the plant to be located here. The price to be paid has not yet been definitely fixed but it is certain that it will be far below that of the cheapest coal.

The demonstrations given here last week proved that the briquets have a high fuel value. Samples left with a number of citizens have given the utmost satisfaction. It burns up cleanly, gives off but little smoke and handles as conveniently as any other form of briquet.

Every development thus far goes to indicate that something of tremendous value has been discovered. The supply of raw material is well nigh inexhaustible and located in a section of country far from known coal deposits. The cost of production will be very low and the freight rate to points west of Thief River Falls but a small fraction of what the consumer is now compelled to pay on the coal coming from Eastern or Central districts. The possibilities opened up indicates that something of tremendous value has been discovered. The of the patent owners must be given the most careful attention. Should it prove possible to provide a cheap and dependable fuel in this section of the country it would mean industrial development such as no one can at present even imagine. The possibility is certainly one which cannot be lightpassed over.

There should be no difficulty in disposing of 1,000 tons of fuel of proven value in this city at once. Delivery is gauranteed on or before November 1, which will be satisfactory to everyone. The county of Pennington and the city of Thief River Falls are both heavy users of coal during the winter months and the authorities would probably be perfectly willing to place a good sized order with the new company. Owners of large buildings can also be depended on to take a considerable quantity. It is among the householders that the company wishes to distribute the bulk of this supply, however, as this will insure its being tried out under a variety of conditions. This will help in advertising the product. The company figures that after the first 1,000 tons have been delivered the demand will necessitate the erection of a much larger compressing plant at once and the making of arrangements for handling the peat in large quantities. Securing the lignite is merely a matter of railway transportation for a short distance.

It is to be hoped that everyone who uses coal will try at least a small quantity of this fuel. Its success means a great deal to the Northwest in general and Thief River Falls in particular.

Every man has his price and every woman has her figure.

NEAR THE DANGER LINE.

The action of the Railway Labor board in permitting a reduction in the wages of the poorest paid among all the workers connected with the operation of railroads is not meeting with very enthusiastic approval on the part of the people of the country. To a great many it looks as if a serious error has been made.

The new rate of pay approved by the board will give section hands and other maintenance of way employes a weekly wage of about $11.50 for eight hours work. No matter how convinced a person may be that a general reduction all along the line is advisable and necessary, it will have to be admitted that no one can under present circumstances maintain a family on any such sum. It is doubtless true that the work performed by this class of laborer calls for no great technical knowledge and no long period of preparation, being what is classified as common labor, but even so the wage proposed is ridiculous in this day and age.

The country's business demands a reduction in freight rates but it is certain that this method of bringing about a lowering of transportation costs will not be approved. If the system were to be followed all along the line in dealing with laborers there would be but slight need for transportation systems of any kind for the simple reason that people would be unable to buy anything. Reduction of wages beyond a reasonable point means distress and stagnation. Plenty of work at a wage which permits of providing only the barest necessities does not spell prosperity. The railroads themselves will be the first to suffer because of this enforced curtailment of buying power on the part of the people.

It would seem as if the business men of the country do not fully realize the importance of this subject Many seem to think that a simple reduction in freight rates will work wonders for them, no matter by what means this is achieved. They should be able to see that cutting wages to a point which means that the strictest economy has to be practiced in order to insure a bare living is not going to help in getting the country back onto a sound business footing. The saving of a few cents in freight is a matter of small importance if it is to result in practically removing from the list of consumers the families of half a million men.

Wage readjustments are no doubt necessary but starting with the poorest paid men on the entire list and reducing their pay from one to five cents an hour in readjusting things altogether too far in one direction. Such action will make conditions worse instead of better for the railroads as well as everybody else.

OBSERVATIONS

Skeeters and candidates are very numerous these days.

A reader suggests "Adam" as the name of our new county, on the ground that we can refer to it as Adam fine county.

Good times have been on the way for some time, but we fear that they have taken a detour.

This new fashion of women wearing knickers is a sensible one, but it is tough on the youngsters. A boy used to wear his father's pants after his pop got through with them, but now he will have to wear his mother's.

Lived Here 30 Years and Visits Warren First Time

Municipal Judge N. W. Tarrant, accompanied by Mrs. Tarrant, made a trip to Warren by auto last Sunday. There is nothing very remarkable about this exploit were it not for the fact that this is the first time the judge has visited the Marshall county seat in the 30 years he has resided in this neighborhood. He resided at Red Lake Falls before coming to this city but had no occasion at that time to pay a visit to our neighbor to the west. The judge found the roads in excellent condition and had a very pleasant visit.

It should not be inferred from the above that Judge Tarrant never gets away from Thief River Falls. It simply so happened that Warren is one of the places he missed.

Attending State Meeting.

County Auditor T. P. Anderson and Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund are in St. Paul this week attending the meeting of the grand lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. Mr. Anderson drove down with his car while Mr. Eklund was satisfied to patronize the railroad. Deputy Auditor Alex Risberg is looking after the business of both offices during the absence of the chiefs, which gives him plenty to do even if this is the dullest season of the year in those particular departments.

MANY HOMESTEADS IN N. W. MINNESOTA WILL SOON REVERT

Filed on Before the War By Young Men Who Have Never Proved Up on Entries.

Quite a number of persons are going to be given an opportunity for filing on government lands in this section of the state under the homestead law, according to Martin Widsten, who has just assumed his duties as register of the land office at Crookston. The war is indirectly responsible for this state of affairs.

During the months of June, July and August, 1917, hundreds of filings lying to the north and east of Thief River Falls were made by young men. While it is probable that some of these entrymen were influenced by the fact that farmers were exempt from war service, yet by far the larger number made entry because of the clause in the law which provided that the time spent in the army or navy would count the same as continuous residence on the land when it came time to prove up.

Some there were who lost their lives in the struggle and their land automatically reverted to the government but a great many others paid no further attention to the matter. In some cases they have returned to this section of the country at all.

Now the five years have elapsed at the end of which final proof must be made and unless the original holders prove up their rights will be forfeited and the land again thrown open to entry. Mr. Widsten says that by fall there will be hundreds of tracts thus left without a claimant, some of the pieces being of very good quality.

Anyone filing on these abandoned lands must pay the ditch taxes to date when application is made, and any further accumulations along this line at the time of proving up. The government insists on this being done in order to protect the entryman, otherwise holders of the ditch liens might be able to close him out for non-payment.

An apple a day may keep a doctor away, but it depends on where you hit him with it.

be carried farther, but it will be necessary to be impartial in the matter and give all sides a hearing. Mr. Selvig said the cost of the work on the Red Lake river was estimated at $560,000 to $570,000, while the Clearwater project would cost in the neighborhood of $519,000.

The question of assessments per acre came up but these can naturally not be given until after the viewers have completed their work. One man present stated to The Times that he was at the top of the assessment list for the Clearwater project and that the cost to him had been placed at $4.47 per acre and that the average was $2.60 per acre. It has since been claimed that these figures are incorrect and that the maximum cost is somewhat greater than this.

Good Land Going Fast.

Mr. Selvig stated that this was the first time in history that any person paid for water he did not himself want. Not only will the proposed drainage program save the farmers vast sums by preventing floods, but the district and indirectly the same farmers will always have a large revenue from the sale of flowage to the water power companies. This has been found a better plan than making direct assessments, said Mr. Selvig. By the direct cost the companies would pay a lump sum at once or for 20 years, after which their responsibility in this direction would cease. If a yearly rental is charged, on the other hand, the revenue will be continuous and will constitute a fund for upkeep, extension and improvement.

Some day this work will be done, said the speaker, as not only will the farming interests demand it, but there will be continuous pressure from all sides for the harnessing of the river and providing cheap power and heat. Benefits to the section accruing by reason of the added opportunities for manufacture and industrial development generally will be greater than that for drainage direct, in the opinion of Mr. Selvig. He further stated that the farmer here cannot stand competition with men in he same line of business who have not periodical crop destructions to contend with.

Recounts History of Movement.

Peter C. Wold, former county commissioner, was asked to express his opinion. He circulated the first petition for the improvement of the river and said he still favored it if the cost did not prove greater than the farmers can stand.

Daniel Shaw of Thief River Falls told how 30 years ago a bill was introduced in congress asking that the Red Lake river be straightened and deepened at government expense. This measure was lost. The same proposal was later made to the state but turned down for the reason that if such action could be taken in case of the Red Lake river there was nothing to prevent the plan from being extended to every stream in the state.

Over 300,000 acres on the reservation are now included in the lands benefitted by the proposed improvement and unless the present movement is successful it is not likely that this favorable arrangement can be made again for many years, if ever, said Mr. Shaw. He urged that a hearing on costs be held after these have been ascertained as nothing much can be accomplished before that time.

Dick Kolestrand, neighborhood farmer, said that if they had to wait another 18 years for this river improvement it would come too late as all would long before that time be in the poor house. He said it stands to reason that a section cannot forever keep turning drainage ditches into a stream withotu making some provision for taking care of the added volume.

Opponents Have Inning.

Peter Hedeen said he was a progressive but feared the people were trying to progress too fast. He admitted that additional drainage might benefit the farmers in the eastern end of the county but did not see how they were going to pay for the improvement at this time.

Mr. Erlingson of Mayfield township accused the board of deliberately deceiving the people with reference to the cost of the work. He said the expense connected with the Clearwater project proved to be much greater than the first estimate and urged his hearers to make certain of all the facts connected with the proposition before going on record as favoring it.

One or two other speakers expressed similar sentiments and it was very evident that a majority of those present were with them. During Mr. Hedeen's talk he made a request that all those who favored the project as at present contemplated raise their hands. Quite a number indicated in this manner that they were in accord with the program of the board but a far greater number voted the other way.

Martin O'Brien of Crookston was among the last speakers. He called attention to the damage done every year to the poor people residing on the low lands in the neighborhood of Crookston by reason of the floods which sweep down the valley of the Red Lake river at that season and said this easily amounted to a quarter of a million dollars every year. He maintained that these people also were entitled to some consideration and demanded flood control with as good grounds as many of the farmers along the upper stretches of the river. He urged that people in the country and city alike join forces in asking that drainage under a comprehensive plan be undertaken before further loss of property results.

AT THE THEATRES

"SMILIN' THROUGH" GREATEST OF ALL TALMADGE PICTURES.

"Smilin' Through," Norma Talmadge's screen version of Allen Langdon Martin's famous stage play, will be the piece-de-resistance at the Lyceum Theatre next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

According to all advance reports, this is the biggest screen achievement of Miss Talmadge. The production has been filmed on a lavish scale under the direction of Sidney Franklin.

A cast of unusual excellence appears in support of the star and includes Wyndham Standing, Harrison Ford, Alec B. Francis, Glenn Hunter, Grace Griswold, Miriam Battista and Eugene Lockhart.

Miss Talmadge plays a dual role in a dramatic story of great heart interest. She is seen as the beautiful Monyreen, who is killed by a rejected suitor on her wedding day and as Kathleen, niece of Moonyeen, who falls in love with the son of the man who caused the death of her aunt.

The role, it is said, gives Norma a great opportunity to exercise her extraordinary talents as a wonderful emotional and dramatic actress.

The production is a First National attraction.

The Chicago Tribune devoted a long editorial to praise of this picture —a most unusual proceeding. Newspapers in every city in which the picture has been shown are unanimous in stating that it is without exception the finest thing ever done by this really wonderful actress.

Says the Minneapolis Tribune: "No longer can critics hammer Norma Talmadge for her lack of good stories for her pictures. This week at the State in Smilin' Through, Miss Talmadge presents such pleasing celluloid performance of the stage play that her admirers declare it the best she has done yet. To miss Smilin' Through is to miss one of the best treats of the year."

A Meeting of Voters.

Voters residing in the eastern section of the county will hold a meeting in the school house of district No. 11 on Saturday evening for the purpose of discussing political issues and candidates. This school is located in the southwest section of Kratka township. All candidates for county office are invited to be present and all will be given a hearing.

PROVE FERTILITY BY CULTIVATING SMALL TRACTS OF PEAT LAND

In a letter to The Times this week E. M. Hinchman of Cincinnatti, who owns considerable land in Pennington and Marshall counties, suggests that the present holders of lands combine in defraying the costs of cultivating small plots in the peat section of these counties in order that prospective settlers may get an idea of what the soil is capable of producing. Mr. Hichman believes this would help greatly in getting the country settled up.

Peat lands in the Golden Valley district of Marshall county have produced excellent crops when treated with phosphate. Mr. Hinchman encloses a letter from C. O. Yost of the division of soils, university of Minnesota, in which attention is called to the excellent results obtained on lands thus treated. Mr. Yost's letter is as follows.

"Your letter to the University of Minnesota regarding peat land in the vicinity of Golden Valley has been referred to me. The results obtained at Golden Valley in 1921 were similar to those obtained in 1919 and 1920. So that it appears fairly certain that we can expect similar results for the next few years. The question of how soon a potash fertilizer will need to to be added as well as phosphate can only be determine by the continuation of experiments at Golden Valley. At the end of three years there still appears to be no lack of potash. There is no question but that these lands can be made to produce good grain and hay crops WHEN once they have been properly drained, subdued and fertilized. Just how soon we may expect them to be in demand for settlement is a question I am unable to answer. The sale of land could be hastened a great deal perhaps by breaking and fertilizing a portion of each farm and putting in one crop in order to encourage someone to take it up. Minnesota has a large area of cheap upland soil so that the demand for peat land has not been great, as most farmers are unaccustomed to handling it.

"In the vicinity of Golden Valley it is evident that all that is needed to make it productive is an application of phosphate and this is so cheap that it seems that as soon as farm products are a little more in demand there ought to be some demand for land of this class."

Reaching the Farmer.

The kind of advertising that will reach the farmer has long been a fruitful subject for debate. The uselessness of such discussion has generally resulted from the fact that everybody was permitted to take part except the farmer and he is the only person who really knows anything about the subject.

Out in Abilene, Kansas, which is surrounded by representative American farming community, they have laid aside the arguments of the advocates of real media and the knickknacks of advertising and carried the question direct to the farmer with rather startling results.

A questionnaire to farmers on which kind of store and manufacturer advertising was most likely to be read by them, and where they preferred to find advertising appeals directed to them, brought 310 replies.

Some made second choices, as will be noted by the totals that follow: Newspapers, 270; circulars, 143; billboards, 110; movie slides, 16.

Farmers, like their city cousins, prefer their advertising in the newspaper that comes into their homes regularly and is known and trusted as a true friend, and in the country, as in the city, the newspaper is more nearly 100 per cent efficient in reaching prospects than any other of the usual advertising media.

Federation Will Fight Freight Increase on Grain

The American Farm Bureau federation has protested to the Interstate Commerce commission against re-opening the hay and grain rate case, in which the commission ordered rate reductions averaging 10 per cent. The reductions took effect in January. They established rates on corn and coarse grain 10 per cent lower than the new rates on wheat. Now the railroads have asked the commission to abolish this differential between wheat and coarse grain in the territory west of the Mississippi river and east of El Paso and Denver.

The coarse grain differential involves approximately $6,000,000 and it is this amount that the American Farm Bureau Federation is trying to save the shippers of hay and grain.

It is the position of the American Farm Bureau Federation that rates on coarse grain were generally lower than on wheat throughout this territory prior to federal control and that the commissioner's decision restored the old relationship.

Saving and Serving

THE Standard Oil Company (Indiana) stands squarely on the principle that the man who saves and invests is a better citizen as well as a happier and more useful employee than the one who lives "from hand to mouth" and spends his income as fast as he earns it.

To promote the habit of saving, and to insure that feeling of security in the future, which frees a man's mind from worry, enabling him to give all his energy to creative activities, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) a year ago put into effect, for its employees, a stock investment plan.

Under this plan an employee may save as much as 20 percent of his yearly wage. To every dollar thus saved the Company adds 50c. This money is invested in stock of the Company as fast as sufficient money accumulates to buy one share; for instance, a man or woman saves $560.00 a year the Company adds thereto one-half that amount, or $280.00, which will buy 10 shares at the established price for 1922.

Whether or not he takes advantage of this plan is optional with the employee. The fact, however, that the majority of the employees who have been with the Company one year, or more, have availed themselves of the opportunity is convincing evidence that the plan meets a definite need.

Since the plan went into operation it has been apparent that the employees take a greater interest, not only in the work which engages their attention, but what is more important, in the service the Company renders the public.

This is not surprising, for a man with money invested has a stronger interest in a business, and a keener appreciation of his value to the community than a man who has never assumed this responsibility.

Therefore, this stock investment plan for employees of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is an important factor in continually improving the service rendered the public by the Company.

It is but another evidence of the care and forethought exercised by the management in its endeavor to perfect an organization which shall render to the public a maximum of sustained service.

For Mrs. Erickson.

A number of local friends have entertained the past week favoring Mrs. C. O. Erickson, who left last night for Minneapolis to remain during the summer. Among those who entertained Mr. and Mrs. Erickson at dinner were: Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. G. Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Rolland, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Froseth, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Brink, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Quale, Mr. and Mrs. O. Erickson and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Bakke. On Friday afternoon Mrs. C. E. Hellquist entertained a few ladies at five o'clock luncheon at her home Duluth ave. Places were arranged for Mrs. C. O. Erickson, Mrs. F. E. Hunt, Miss Lyda Batten and Miss Ida Tandberg. On Thursday evening twenty young folks pleasantly surprised Mr. and Mrs. Erickson at their home, 914 Duluth ave. Music and games were enjoyed until the lunch hour when the ladies served delicious refreshments.

Pupils of Mrs. Erickson entertained in honor of Mrs. Erickson at Lovers Lane Saturday afternoon. A picnic lunch was served. Mrs. Erickson left last night for Minneapolis, where she will visit her father, Mike Holm, secretary of state and family, and sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Provencher. During her stay in Minneapolis she will attend MacPhail School of Music and Dramatic Art, and will study under Glenn Dillard Gunn.

Miller-Pabst.

The following item of news taken from the Minneapolis Sunday Tribune will be of particular interest to the many friends of Miss Dorothy Miller, here. Miss Miller graduated from the local high school a few years ago, and is at present attending the University of Minnesota:

Miss Dorothy Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Miller, 509 Fifteenth avenue SE., has chosen Miss Helen Woodruff for her maid of honor and Misses Mary Prichard and Dorothy Capstick for her bridesmaids. Her marriage to Henry A. Pabst of Hibbing, will be solemnized Wednesday evening, June 14, at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Carlson, 325 Otis avenue, St. Paul. Dana L. Butchart of Hibbing will attend Mr. Pabst as best man.

"Mrs. J. M. Shearer, 4713 Third avenue S. was hostess at a bridge party and lingerie shower yesterday afternoon at her home in compliment to Miss Miller. A color motif of orchid and pink was carried out with pink and orchid colored sweet peas, bridal wreath and pink daisies. There were 20 guests.

Miss Miller shared honors with Miss Emma Bailey, Friday evening at a kitchen shower which was given by Misses Mary Prichard and Dorothy Capstick at the home of Miss Capstick, 1316 Sixth street SE. There were 25 guests.

Entertains For Mrs. Ebbighausen.

Mrs. E. L. Rolland entertained several ladies Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Henry Ebbighausen who left Saturday for Fergus Falls, where the family will make their home. After an hour of social chat a two course luncheon was served. The guests included Mrs. C. G. Mattson, Mrs. E. B. Bakke, Mrs. W. L. Hall, Mrs. John Rolland, Mrs. B. G. Rounds, Mrs. J. H. Kuecks, Mrs. George Bakken, Mrs. Emil Rausch and Mrs. Ebbinghausen. The honor guest was presented with a vase as a token of friendship.

Miss Barstad Honor Student.

Friends of Miss Engeborg Barstad will be pleased to learn that she is an honor member of the June graduating class of West High School, Minneapolis. This is a distinct honor as only those are called honor students whose average is 93 or above. There are between 250 and 300 studnets to graduate this spring and but 13 of these are on the honor roll. Each of whom was presented with a key pin by the Parent-Teachers association of West High School. This is the emblem of a society made up of all the honor students, past and present of West High. Miss Barstad took three years work at Lincoln high school and made a very creditable record.

Steen-Shumway.

James S. Steen and Mrs. Valeria Shumway were married at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gasow on Thursday, June 1, at 6:30 p. m., Rev. J. B. Smith of the M. E. church officiating. Mr. Steen is an employe of the Soo railroad, is a member of the Masonic fraternity and well known in Thief River Falls. The bride comes from Bottineau, N. D., and has been for some time identified with the O. E. S. The wedding took place in the presence of a few intimate friends of the contracting parties and was followed by a wedding repast. Mr. and Mrs. Steen left on the flier for parts unknown but will be back to their home in the city.

Whether the ceremony will be conducted in the open air or at the lodge room will depend largely upon the weather. In either event the public is invited to join with the Elks in paying this tribute.

American Legion Corner

The Essence of Legionism.

The preamble to the Legion Constitution, often referred to as "The Legion's Ten Commandments," contains the essence of Legionism. Here it is:

For God and country we associate ourselves together for the following purposes:—

1. To Uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America.
2. To maintain law and order.
3. To foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism.
4. To preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War.
5. To inculcate a sense of individual obligations to the community, state and nation.
6. To combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses.
7. To make right the master of might.
8. To promote peace and goodwill on earth.
9. To safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom, democracy.
10. To consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.

Minnesota Legionaires were proud to have their National Commander with them on Memorial Day. McNider has repeatedly declared that "The American Legion must be fine, clean, straight and American," and in the minds of Minnesota Legionaires, no one could more truly typify this ideal than McNider himself. To see him, so big and straight and fine, to hear his deep magnetic voice, to feel his wonderful personality, is to wish to be like him—big, fine, straight, clean and American. Here's what this wonderful leader had to say to his Gopher Gang as he left us Memorial Day.

"Legionnaires of Minnesota, I am happy and proud to have been with you on this Memorial Day and to have seen the American Legion in two of your great cities join hands with their comrades of other wars in honoring the memory of those who are gone and in pledging undying loyalty and devotion for the future. The American Legion is the cradle of the future of America and my greatest wish is to see every Legion department show the spirit with which your Legion of Minnesota springs to every task and puts it across.

"I want to congratulate you on the way Minnesota took hold of the unemployment situation and the Legion's part in that work. There is no better way of expressing the Legion spirit than by helping the buddy who is down and out, and no better way of helping him than by giving him a job. And in the good that our Legion has been able to accomplish in Congress for our disabled, the American Legion of Minnesota may rightly claim a large part. Though the American Legion is not in politics, it is going to see that the country stays American. In this it will have the help of its Auxiliary. During the war we know where the women who are now members of our Auxiliary were, but they never knew where we were. The Auxiliary is aiding us wonderfully. It is the backbone of the Legion.

"We of National Headquarters have come to look on Minnesota as one of the states which may be counted on to give prompt and complete support to all our undertakings. 'If every department will only do like Minnesota,' has come to be a National Headquarters slogan. Right now, I am going to ask Minnesota's five hundred Legion posts to surpass their total paid-up membership of last year by July 1st and to see that every veteran with a just claim against the government has his claim filed and adjusted.

"Fellow Legionaires, the Legion has a big horse to ride. National, department and post officers will come and go but the Legion will go on until the last of those who sprang to the colors in 1918 has gone to his long sleep. Therefore, every Gopher Legionaire must strive to keep the Legion clean and straight, to keep the flame of patriotism burning brightly, to pass on to future generations the fine heritage which our comrades of the Grand Army have handed on to us. No race, no creed, no sect, no class or rank, no politics; one for all and all for country and comrades—is the platform of the Legion for the years to come."

The Week's Sermon

(By Rev. E. H. Kreidt, Pastor St. John's Lutheran Church, Thief River Falls.)

"God."

There are many deities but there is only one God.

Man naturally feels the existence of God. The entire universe, the heavens, the stars, the storm, the mountains, the springs, the trees, the flowers, the animals, the insects —everything proclaims the presence of God. The Mexican king Nezahualcoyotl (ca. 1400 A. D.) devoted much time to the study of astronomy, botany and zoology. He exclaimed: "Verily, the gods that I am adoring what are they but idols of stone without speech and feeling? They could not have made the beauty of the heaven, the sun, the moon, and the stars, which light the earth, with its countless streams, its fountains and waters. There must be some God, invisible and unknown, who is the universal Creator." Aristotle, prince of Greek philosophers, declared: "So much may be understood concerning God, who is of surpassing power, and of eternal life * * * for being invisible to every mortal creature, He is seen in the works themselves." Creation is the conclusive argument for the existence of God.

Who is this God who is recognized in the works of creation? Can it be those idols of wood and stone, silver and gold to which men in all ages have bowed the knee and addressed their worship? Can it be those mystic images and beings which figured so largely in the history and literature of Greece and Rome? No, they cannot be the true God, for they had no life, no will, no power. Men made them and men destroyed them. They were not Gods; they were idols.

The true God is revealed to man in the Bible, the Word of God.

Here is His description: "Hear O Israel: The Lord, our God, is one Lord." Deut. 6:4. "I and my Father are one" (in essence) Jn. 10:30. Those passages clearly express the unity or oneness of God.

"Go ye and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost." Matt. 28:19. Jesus' baptism in Jordan; the Son standing in the water; the Father speaking from heaven; the Holy Ghost descending on the Son in the form of a dove. Matt. 3:16. There is the undeniable statement of the personal Trinity. This God, One in essence, is Three in Persons. Hence the term: The Triune God.

This Triune God says, Is 42:8 "I am the Lord; that is my name and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images." "Thou shalt have no other gods before me." Ex. 20. This is the only God. He stands alone.

Here are some of His attributes: "Thou art the same," Ps. 102. "From everlasting to everlasting, Thou art God," Ps. 90. God is eternal without beginning and without end.

"Do not I fill heaven and earth, saith the Lord." Jer. 23. "With God nothing shall be impossible," Luke 1, God is omnipresent and omnipotent.

"Thou knowest my downsitting and mine uprising, Thou understandest my thoughts afar off," Ps. 139. God is omniscient. "Ye shall be holy, for "I, the Lord Thy God, am a jealous 19. God is holy, sinless.—

God is just, punishing iniquity, and God is merciful, forgetting offences: "I, the Lord Thy God, am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me; and showing mercy unto thousands of them that love me and keep my commandments," Ex. 20, "The Lord God, merciful and gracious, keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin," Ex. 34.

Truly a wonderful God, worthy to be feared, respected, loved, and worshipped. What if we do not understand all that the Bible tells us of Him? Is that cause for refusing to accept Him? You may be able to understand perfectly the nature and being and powers of a wooden idol; is that a reason for worshipping it?

Because God is so infinitely higher than we, just therefore is it possible for us to look up to Him and call Him our God, which means the SOURCE OF ALL GOOD.

Is the Triune God of the Bible your God? Or have you fashioned one to suit yourself? There is no other God but He.

Worship Him, all ye ends of the earth!

Obituary

Anna Moravic.

Miss Anna Moravic was born at Milan, this state, on May 25, 1886, and passed away in Minneapolis on May 31, 1922. The funeral services were held from the Larson undertaking parlors and were largely attended by the friends of the bereaved family. Rev. J. B. Smith of the Methodist church conducted the services. Mrs. Andrew Bottelson and Mrs. W. W. Prichard, Jr., rendered two suitable duets, accompanied by Mrs. N. K. Harris, and the numerous floral offerings attested the esteem in which the family is held in the community.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to extend our heart felt thanks to the many friends who gave us sustaining sympathy and assistance during our late bereavement in the death and interment of our beloved daughter and sister, Annie.—Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Moravec and family. J8p.

Growing Chicks.

The universal interest taken in chicken raising means much to the Northwest. H. E. Hoberg, poultryman at Northwest Experiment Station, Crookston, gives the following up to date hints that will be valuable to growers.

Hens will successfully brood 12 to 16 little chicks early in the breeding season, and 19 to 28 in warm weather. Hens should be given feed as soon as the eggs are hatched as feeding keeps them quiet and holds them on the nest. It is best to leave the mother hen on the nest with her brood fully 24 hours before removing.

The hen should be dusted with sodium fluoride before setting; also three days before the chicks are due to hatch.

Just before the little chick comes out of the shell, the yolk is drawn into its body, and supplies the chick with nourishment for 48 hours. Part of this yolk stays with the chick throughout the first week. For the first 48 hours all food should be withheld from the new hatched chicks, with the exception of pure fresh water and fine sand. If the chicks appear weak, withhold food 72 hours.

Hard boiled eggs and old dry bread, mixed into a damp mash, makes an excellent chick starter. After the chicks are three days old, a good grade commercial feed can be gradually worked into the ration.

Little chicks should be fed often and sparingly on account of their small digestive systems and their heavy feed requirements. If over-fed, white diarrhoea will get into the flock.

Practice feeding five times a day during the first week, and gradually diminish the number of feedings toward the end of the second week.

After the second week the little chicks can be fed a cracked grain ration three times a day. This ration should be composed of 2 parts corn, 2 parts wheat, 1 part millet and 1 part pin head oat meal. A mash should be kept before them in open hoppers. This should consist of 2 parts bran, 2 parts flour middlings, 1 part corn meal, ½ part sifted beef scraps and ½ part powdered charcoal.

Oyster shells, ground fine, should be kept before them as the lime which it contains is essential in the formation of bone. Plenty of pure fresh water is very essential, since young chicks gain in weight rapidly; much of this rapid gain is water. Fresh water can be constantly kept before them in siphon fountains, thus eliminating dust and dirt which would furnish a foundation for disease germs. Succulent feed in the form of lettuce, sprouted oats, tender wild grass or rape should be kept in the chicks daily ration.

It is very important that the chicks get all the exercise possible to keep in good physical condition. Exercise can be furnished by feeding the scratch feed in a thin layer of chaff, also by letting the chicks have access to free range. Sour milk fed daily in fountains will keep the chicks healthy and promote rapid growth.

Chicks should be watched for the appearance of body or head lice. If lice appear, they can be eradicated by applying a pinch of lard or vaseline on the head, neck, under the wings and around the vent. Never let chicks out in the wet grass or rains, as they are apt to get chilled and contract a cold, thus lowering their vitality and stunting growth.

A Statement to the Public.

In appreciation of the splendid efforts made by Archie H. Vernon, of Little Falls, Minnesota, past state commander of the American Legion, on behalf of ex-service men and his devotion in assisting them in obtaining their rights, the following ex-service men of Pennington county, Minnesota, desire to publicly express their appreciation and express their feelings towards Mr. Vernon, and are forming a committee to assist him in his endeavor to become associate justice of the Supreme Court, a non-political office, and desire to present to their friends and those interested, a man who is thoroughly qualified for the position that he aspires and in whom they have the highest personal regard and for whose ability, they have great respect.

Mr. Vernon was educated in the public schools of St. Paul and studied his profession in Harvard College, St. Paul College of Law and the University of Minnesota, practicing, first in St. Paul and for the past thirteen years in Little Falls, Minnesota, during which time the people of his city have shown their regard for him by making him their city attorney for the past six years.

Mr. Vernon is forty-two years of age and left his business to enter the military service for which he asks no consideration but his friends are of the opinion that that is the type of man thy have confidence in to fill the highest of public positions.

In all matters pertaining to the organization, at whose head Mr. Vernon has been for the past year, his counsel has been most highly appreciated and in the opinion of his fellow workers on matters demanding extreme good judgment, he has the reputation of having been chronically in the right and we believe that he can be as valuable to the State of Minnesota as he has been to his organization.

The following ex-service men of Pennington County heartily endorse Mr. Vernon and are acting as his committee in Pennington County.

ROSEWOOD

Celebration Planned.

A number of the community's live wires and the village business men met at the Farmers State bank last Friday evening to consider the prospects of staging a Fourth of July celebration at this place. The project was hailed with delight and it was unanimously decided to immediately go ahead with the work. Rosewood has not celebrated the nation's holiday since 1914 and it seemed only fair that another celebration be staged this year. With the present indication and enthusiasm the event has every promise of success. While no definite plans are as yet worked out, the day's program will be mostly along the usual lines.—Street attractions during the day time, a base ball game in the afternoon, and fireworks and a bowery dance for the evening. Committees to have charge of the different lines of work will be appointed later.

Miss Esther Leyden, from Thief River Falls, arrived here last Saturday evening and will visit among friends for a few days.

Next Thursday evening the boys will go to Viking for a game in place of the one a week ago which had to be postponed on account of rain. Next Sunday Rosewood will again meet Thief River Falls, but at that time on the fair grounds at Thief River. Owing to the inability of Adolph Haugen to pitch at last Sunday's game his place was taken by Hjalmer Blomberg, a player from Numedal township. Catcher Sevaldson broke a bone in his right hand.

Miss Carrie Nelson came home from Bemidji last Friday and will remain until the twefth for a vacation with her home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Christensen and daughter, Miss Ruth, Mrs. Matt Brude and Mrs. Guri Olson from Thief River Falls were pleasant callers at the Mrs. Sor home.

Levi Vixie returned to Warren last Monday morning after a weeks visit with his brother, Oscar Vixie, and family here.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Vixie and family motored to Thief River Falls on Wednesday afternoon in shopping interests.

She was accompanied by her sister, Miss Esther Myers, from Steiner, who will visit at the Sorenson home for a few days.

Miss Edna Rye returned on Monday morning from an over-Sunday visit at Thief River Falls.

A neighborhood surprise party was staged at the Mrs. Thea Nelson home last Sunday afternoon and despite the disagreeable weather was well attended and enjoyed. A purse containing over $60 was presented to Mrs. Nelson in commemoration of the event. Refreshments were brought along by the ladies and was served to all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Gullseth motored to Middle River last Monday to visit with the former's brother, Mr. Simon Gullseth, and while at that place were caught in the heavy rain and were forced to stay over until Monday before returning.

Last Sunday's base ball game with Viking at the latter place had to be called off owing to the rain. This Sunday Rosewood will meet Hazel in a game on the local diamond.

The state road west from this place is rapidly taking on form, and the contractor has a large number of teams on the job. The mile between the school house and John Whitman's farm will soon be ready for travel. Farther west there is another gang doing a fine stroke of business. This will make an elegant road to Warren when finished.

Roscoe Batten drove to Thief River Falls Saturday after his sister, Miss Nettie, who has just closed her ninth year teaching in the city schools. She says she is glad to get a lay-off but doesn't like to see the checks stop.

A good many of the farmers of this vicinity have planted their corn the past week. The ground is pretty wet but owing to the lateness of the season they are crowding things a little.

FRED D. LORENTSON FOR REGISTER OF DEEDS.

County Superintendent of Schools.

To the voters of Pennington County

The undersigned begs leave to announce his candidacy for County Superintendent of Schools for Pennington County.

I respectfully solicit the vote and support of the voting citizenry of the County at the approaching primary election, June 19.

If nominated and elected, my aim, as ever, shall be efficiency and economy in the administration of our Rural schools.

Political Announcement

G. M. GUNDERSON.
"George Made Good."

To the Voters of Pennington County.

George promised enforcement of the school laws and school supervision. The first year of his term in office livery rates as well as other things raised in price. His salary of $129.17 per month was not adequate to pay expenses of supervision and the support of his family. He had his salary reduced to $110.00 per month and the traveling expenses paid by the county. This shows his interest in our schools by a sacrifice in salary at a time teachers' salaries were increasing. He was offered a higher salaried position but declined the offer upon request of the rural school officers.

He promised the introduction of vocational training in our schools. Results? A Pennington County rural school girl won first prize at the State Fair on a booklet on "Bread Making."

He promised organization of Boys and Girls clubs. Results: Every school has its "Little Citizens League."

He promised organization of school boards and teachers for better rural school co-operation. Results: Pennington County School Officers Assn. and Teachers Progressive League.

"He stayed by us, let us stay by George."

Sincerely,
H. C. WOOLSON.

To the Voters of Pennington County:

I am a candidate for re-election for Register of Deeds of Pennington county. During the years I have served the people of the county as Register of Deeds I have made many friends, but I am not asking support in the present campaign merely by virtue of this friendship. Rather, I would have the voters consider my candidacy on a purely efficiency basis as the only proper method of electing officials to public office. In regard to my fitness for the office of Register of Deeds, both as to honesty and capability, I prefer to rest my case with the people of Pennington county, whom I served in past years.

Yours respectfully,
N. J. ANDERSON.

J. M. Bishop
For District Judge

I announce my candidacy for Judge of the 14th Judicial District, and refer you to my record of over twenty years as a practicing attorney in Thief River Falls, nine of which I served as Municipal Judge of this city.

In making this campaign, I ask that EACH candidate be judged solely upon his personal merit and the convenience for the people of the district as to location. I ask for only one of the two judgeships for which you will vote, although I note that two of my opponents are asking that you support them jointly. They evidently are "Two souls with but a single thought, two hearts that beat as one." I feel that it is up to the voters to pick each of their candidates and have therefore linked my name with no other.

I pledge myself, if elected, to conduct the office to the best of my ability.

WITH JUSTICE TO ALL AND MALICE TOWARD NONE.

Yours very truly,

Good fielding was responsible for the Reds' victory over the Crookston Queens on Sunday at the latter city. The teams were even so far as hits went, each being credited with six, and there was only a difference of one in the strike-out record and the teams made the same number of errors. Following is the Crookston Times version of the happenings at the matinee:

"There were seven innings of good ball played by the Crookston aggregation, but misplays in the other two innings were enough to let Thief River Falls win. Raines presented the visitors with a run in the first inning when he hobbled an easy throw, and Trainor with one out in the third threw wide to first. The same inning Gorman fumbled one at second.

"Thief River Falls played better ball, although they made as many errors as Crookston. The Queens, however, failed to take advantage of the errors.

"Thief River scored first. Stenhoff hit for two bases in the first, and after Halbert went out, Morse made another two-bagger, scoring Stenhoff. Schroeder struck out and Federolf knocked an easy one. Raines muffed an easy throw, Morse scoring.

"The Queens started out with a winning stride in their half of the inning. Schuler knocked a safe one and Daily bunted one over the third baseman's head as he came in. Trainor sacrificed, Schuler going to third and Daily to second. Sampson knocked a hot one and Daily got in the way and was hit for an out, Schuler scoring. Gorman popped out. The game went nip and tuck until the fifth, when Crookston faltered again and Thief River Falls ran in four runs. A three-base hit off the bat of Federolf added much toward the scoring. Crookston scored one in the fifth without a hit. Murphy was walked, stole second, went to third on an error, and scored on an infield out.

"That finished the scoring, although Crookston proved dangerous in several instances."

The box score follows:

Drop One to Fosston.

Delbern of Fosston pitched a "whale" of a game and the Fosston Maroons won from the Thief River Falls Reds three to nothing last Wednesday. The game was well played and fast.

Fosston scored its first run in the first inning when Stadsvold walked, was sacrificed to second and Sampson drove him home with a hit. The next two runs came in the sixth. E. Wynne doubled. Peterson walked. Stadsvold walked, filling the bases. An error of Tagland's hit ball scored Wynne. Sampson walked, forcing in a run.

Boy Struck By Automobile Recovering From Injuries

Robert, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Oden, who was struck by an automobile at Red Lake Falls on Sunday and seriously injured, is rapidly recovering at the Physician's hospital and the doctors now consider him out of danger.

The Oden family, with Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Frissell, were returning from the ball game at Crookston and stopped at Red Lake Falls for refreshments. The requirements in that city are that all cars must be parked in the center of the street. All had returned from the refreshment parlor and were seated in the car when Robert started back for an ice cream cone. On the return trip he was struck by another automobile and knocked against the curb. First aid treatment was given after which the injured boy was rushed to the hospital in this city. An examination showed a fracture of the skull and for a time grave fears were entertained for his recovery. He remained in an unconscious condition until Tuesday morning but has gained steadily since that time.

Market Day at Middle River.

The merchants of our neighboring village of Middle River will hold a market day on Tuesday, June 13, this being the first affair of its kind ever attempted by them. The merchants have joined hands in making reductions in the price of goods handled and there will be a free auction at which articles of different kinds will be offered by the people of the city and surrounding country. Preparations have been made for making the event a big success and people from far and wide are expected to attend.

SHOP CRAFTS AND SECTION MEN HIT HARD BY DECISION

Railroad Labor Board Orders Wage Reduction of Seven to Nine Cents an Hour.

Over the strong protest of the three labor representatives on the United States railroad labor board a new wage cut of seven cents an hour for railroad shop mechanics and nine cents for freight car men, cutting 400,000 shop men approximately $60,000,000 a year was ordered Monday by the board. The new wage reduction brought an estimated added saving of $59,669,347 annually to the railroads, following on the heels of the $50,000,000 cut in the wages of maintenance of way laborers last week.

The shop craft decision is effective July 1st, the same date as last week's order.

Under ordinary conditions there are about 150 men employed in Thief River Falls in the crafts affected by these orders. The Soo road employs in the neighborhood of 20 section men and the Great Northern half that number. Eighty car repair men and 30 round house mechanics are also carried on the Soo rolls as a regular crew.

The minority report of the labor members pointedly states the majority decision gives no consideration "of human needs" and charges that it fails to carry out the function of the board for a "just and reasonable wage." The supervisory forces of the railroad shops were not decreased.

The reduction for mechanics averages a little more than 8 cents. All machinists, blacksmiths, sheet metal workers, carmen (except freight car men) moulders, cupola tenders and core makers and the regular and helper apprentices receive a cut of seven cents an hour. The freight car men, commonly known as "car knockers," and the objects of some of the heaviest assaults by the roads in their battle for lower wages, were cut nine cents.

Car cleaners, who now receive an average of $3.18 a day, were cut five cents an hour. Mechanics, whose daily rate now averages $6.11 for electrical workers to $6.28 for blacksmiths, will lose 56 cents a day under the new decision, bringing the daily wage to approximately $5.70.

The board's latest decision, which will be followed shortly by railway clerks, telegraphers and all other classes of railway employes except train service men, was brief and offered no explanation as to how the rates were arrived at.

H. L. Brumson, special representative in Washington of the International Association of Machinists, declared a strike vote will be taken immediately among the 40,000 machinists affected by the decision of the railroad labor board.

Methodist Hospital For Northwestern Minnesota

The Methodists of Northwestern Minnesota are projecting a campaign for the erecting of a strictly modern hospital to be located at Wadena. The first unit of the institution will have capacity for forty beds and is expected to cost, with best equipment for service to patients, the sum of $100,000.00.

The undertaking has been endorsed by the Board of Hospitals and Homes, the Northern Minnesota Annual Conference and Bishop Charles Bayard Mitchell, of Minneapolis. The enterprise is also highly commended by Governor Preus, and Congressman Knutson of the Sixth District.

Methodist hospitals are credited with the remarkable mortality record of both one to five percent, which means that ninety-five to ninety-nine persons of each one hundred patients cared for were started on the road to recovery.

Tuberculosis

May attack any part of the human body. It is generally considered a germ disease, with no remedy except fresh air.

Chiropractically we do not consider the germ the cause but rather an occasion being attracted by good feeding ground, which is decaying matter.

Lungs or other parts where the germs gather are always found to be in a weakened condition for some time before the germs are found to be there.

Chiropractic adjustments are able to build up the weakened condition by relieving the pressure and the nerves leading to organs affected in nearly all cases can be restored to health before they have passed the second stage in a matter of a few months.

I personally have had dozens of such cases and have seen them get well from adjustments.

X-Ray pictures are valuable for a perfect examination.

FUEL FACTORY PLAN DROPPED; CASH LACKING

Buyers Do Not Take Kindly to Proposition Calling For Payment in Advance.

Amount Required Could Easily Have Been Disposed of, to Be Paid For on Delivery.

Too Large a Sum to Risk on Experimental Proposition, is Opinion Expressed.

Thief River Falls citizens are not prepared to advance $12,000 to the men who offer to erect a plant for the manufacture of a fuel product of peat and lignite coal as an inducement to have said plant located in this city. Negotiations covering a period of some weeks, during which time the proposition was discussed in all its details, resulted in the parties being informed that the money could not be raised on the terms submitted and that they have quitted the field for good.

This does not imply that anything was wrong either with the men at the head of the concern or their product. On the contrary, it is freely admitted that both are all right in every way and regret is expressed by many over the outcome.

Two of the men at the head of the concern proposing to experiment with this class of fuel arrived in the city on Monday and a mass meeting was called at the commercial club rooms that evening for the purpose of discussing the matter. The promoters again advanced their original proposition, to-wit: That the people of Thief River Falls purchase 1,000 tons of the new product at a maximum of $12 per ton, the money to be paid over at once with a guarantee to deliver the fuel by the first of November. The company was willing to enter into a bond for the faithful performance of their part of the contract and it was decided to appoint a committee to solicit orders for this amount of fuel. While many of those present were willing to admit that this peat-lignite combination might prove all that was claimed for it, they doubted very much if enough persons could be found who would pay now for fuel to be delivered next November, no matter how good the gaurantee might be.

The proved to be right. It would have been an easy matter to dispose of twice the required amount of the product if the purchaser were given until time of delivery to pay for it, but a large majority of those approached balked when it came to paying thus far in advance. The men representing the company said they wanted this money for the purpose of putting up the experimental plant and had to have it before any deliveries could be made or even before the factory was started. The proposition was too indefinite for the fuel buyers and they decided they would rather not take the chance.

It is understood that the business men of Fargo stand ready to meet the conditions rejected here and it is probable that the plant will be erected at that point.

Highlanding Community Picnic a Great Success

The community picnic held at the Highlanding pavilion yesterday—Flag Day—was a success in every respect. It was given by the Highlanding Community club and the committee in charge had prepared an interesting program and other features for the day. Community singing was led by J. R. Nelson of Northwest Farm Station, Crookston, and the Goodridge band rendered several selections in the course of the day.

Speeches were made by James Barnett of Thief River Falls, candidate for Congress, on the "Careful Selection of Officers." Rev. J. B. Smith, also from Thief River Falls, spoke on the "Value of Citizenship and the Exercise of It." G. Howard Smith and C. L. Hanson of this city, discussed the "Nineteenth Amendment" and "Community Organization" respectively. Bj. Bjornaraa of Wanke, talked on "Americanism and Citizenship."

Following the program a baseball game was played between Highlanding and a "pick-up" nine from Thief River Falls, resulting in a victory for the former team.

Attends Class Reunion.

Rev. T. E. Sweger of Trinity church, left Sunday evening for Northfield where he will attend the reunion of his class, that of 1902. From there Rev. Sweger will go to Minneapolis for the annual conferential meeting of the Lutheran Church of America. He expects to be gone about ten days.

East Side Residents Ask Additional Street Outlet

The city council transacted considerable business at the regular meeting Tuesday night, the more important matters up for discussion being that of additional paving, building permits, and the bath house or swimming pool, all of which are covered elsewhere in this issue of The Times.

In addition there was a request for the opening of a new street providing for a new outlet for residents living in the Horseshoe district south of the old saw mill. This was signed by fifteen residents and property owners who ask that Horace avenue on the east side be continued northward to a point where it will meet the river and thence following the river bank to the intersection of Bridge street.

No action was taken in the matter as the council wished to make investigation of what steps will be necessary to provide this outlet. The property it will traverse is the old mill site and belongs to the Soo railway and would have to either be purchased or condemned, it was thought.

The various monthly reports were submitted to the council and were ordered received and placed on file. The bond of the Union Pluming & Heating Co., was also accepted and the list of monthly bills allowed. P. J. Keating was allowed $200 as a part of his salary as assessor.

TWO-DAY SESSION OF NORDLANDSLAG HERE NEXT WEEK

"Norlandslaget," an organization of people from a certain part of northern Norway, will hold its annual convention in this city Friday and Saturday, June 23 and 24. The "Norlandslag" has members in practically all the states of the Union and meets once a year, usually during the latter part of June, for the purpose of renewing acquintances and friedships, enjoying entertaining programs and exchanging reminiscences. The meeting places are generally in parts of the Northwest as the members are largely located in the Northwest and Northcentral states. Last year it was held a Detroit, Minn.

An interesting program has been arranged for the occasion including addresses, choir selections, music, readings, singing and other worth while numbers. Prof. O. E. Rolvaag of St. Olof college, president of the "Lag," will be here to give several addresses which will be of special interest. Other speakers will be J. B. Bauman, Rev. Svare, Rev. A. M. Arntzen and G. A. Grystad.

Friday evening at 6 o'clock the Ladies Aid of the Trinity Lutheran church will be hostesses at a banquet at which will be several various kinds of "Old Country" dishes.

The committee of arrangements, of which Bernhard Knudsen is chairman, is busy making the necessary preparations to make the festival a success. Communications received by the committee from various parts of the country indicate that many out of town visitors will be here during the convention.

As these visitors will be in the city for two nights there is going to be a scarcity of lodging quarters. Anyone having spare room to rent during these two nights will confer a favor on the committee by notifying J. J. McCann, secretary of the commercial club, giving location and prices. Call phone 586.

Famous Singer Coming.

On Saturday evening, June 24, Sofie Hammer-Moeller, the song-bird of the north, will appear in the city in a concert which will be a rare treat for the people of Thief River Falls. Sofie Hammer has won national fame, particularly among the Scandinavians, for her wonderful singing, and has sung in all the large cities of the country, where she has received praising comments. She is a Lyric Coloratura Soprano, and sings in English, French, Italian, Spanish, Russian, Finnish and Scandinavian languages. She is particularly popular as a singer of Scandinavian folk-songs in costume.

LaBree a Good Official; Reader Gives Him Boost

As the date for holding the primaries approches interest in county politics seems to brighen somewhat, although there is nothing like the excitement of former years yet in evidence. The voters refuse to get warmed up over the candidacy of any man it seems, but once in a while one comes forward with a good word for some particular person. A valued subscriber of The Times submits the following with reference to Sheriff W. J. LaBree with the request that it be published and as a testimonial to a highly competent official his wish is complied with:

"In re-electing W. J. LaBree as sheriff of Pennington county, the citizens will be returning an excellent official to office.

"Sheriff LaBree is a competent man and while he has no doubt made enemies, as every honest official will, his friends should realize that in giving LaBree their support they are voting for a thoroughly dependable, honest, fearless, law-enforcing man.

"Mr. LaBree is not an autocrat. His law enforcement is tempered by common sence. Pennington county needs a good sheriff. LaBree is such a man. He is familiar with every square mile of this county of Pennington. The reputation of the county at large and its future prosperity is safe with W. J. LaBree. Put him back in office. He has made good."

B. Tveitbakk of Neptune, was a business caller here Friday.

CONTRACT FOR STATE PRINTING AWARDED TIMES

State Printing Commission Yesterday Designated Times to Do Class Three Work.

Will Add Large Amount of Printing to Volume of Local Institution.

The Minnesota State Printing commission, consisting of Ray P. Chase, state auditor; Mike Holm, secretary of state; Sam Y. Gordon, state printer, and Henry Rines, state treasurer, in session yesterday, awarded a large amount of the state printing contract under class three to The Times. The contract covers the period from July 1, 1922, to June 30, 1923.

The securing of this contract from the state of Minnesota is a very desirable business transaction for the local printing institution and is recognition of the completeness of the equipment of this establishment. One of the requirements given serious consideration by the commission is ability to produce the work properly and give service. For this reason alone the awarding of the contract to The Times is particularly gratifying to the management.

All other printing for the state was awarded to printing establishments located in the twin cities, The Times being the only outside shop in the state to share in the work.

GREATER ECONOMY ONLY REMEDY FOR INCREASING TAXES

Reductions Must Start at Home, Says State Auditor in Address in This City.

If the people want their taxes lowered they will have to begin the reduction process right at home. They cannot have the best there is in the way of schools, roads and conveniences generally without paying for them and the sooner this is understood the better it will be for everybody.

This is the gist of the addresses made by State Auditor R. P. Chase and Speaker W. I. Nolan at the auditorium last Friday evening. It was the first political rally of the year and under ordinary circumstances speakers of the rank of these two men would have filled the hall to overflowing, but nothing seems able to stir the voters from their lethargy this season.

Mr. Chase was the first speaker and his talk on taxation was the most interesting and instructive ever heard in this city. He showed what a comparatively small part of the tax money is received by the state and pointed out exactly where all of it goes. All the smaller counties of the state receive more in return as appropriations and apportionments than they pay out in the shape of taxes. This is made possible by the vast property holdings of the commonwealth, principally iron ore lands, from which there will be a steady and ever-increasing revenue for centuries to come. The school children of the state have an inheritance greater than those of any other sate in the Union, said Mr. Chase, a condition for which wise management on the part of the state governments, past and present, is almost wholly responsible.

Mr. Nolan, who was speaker of the house at the last session of he legislature, more nearly meets the general conception of what a political stump speaker should be. He is a splendid talker and knows his subject. His remarks were largely devoted to a review of he accomplishments of the last legislature and he maintained that the session had been responsible for the placing of more progressive, constructive legislation on the statute books of the state than any of its predecessors. The great forward stride made in the matter of co-operative marketing alone through laws enacted two years ago would cause the session to stand out as an example of progressive achievement. Mr. Nolan said the farmer was in a position at the present time which makes his case one for special consideration by the lawmakers of the state and he pointed to many new laws already enacted for his benefit and a larger number under consideration.

F. F. Haynes, cairman of the Republican county committee, introduced the speakers. Following the addresses an informal reception in their honor was held at the Evelyn Hotel at which many of the city's business and professional men were present. A number of short addresses were made in which the speakers expressed the hope that the division existing in the ranks of the Republican party in the state during the past few years would soon be a thing of the past and that those who had been led to believe that their welfare might better be intrusted to other hands will again assemble with their neighbors under the regular party banner.

CONRAD H. CHRISTOPHERSON

Assistant Attorney General of Minnesota, who has filed as a candidate for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, is a native of this state. He was born at Albert Lea in 1875, is a graduate of the Albert Lea high school and the University of Minnesota. He completed the academic course at the U. of M. in 1898, was superintendent of schools at Long Prairie from 1898 to 1902, re-entered the University in the latter year and completed the law course. He was admitted to the State Bar in 1903, and to practice in all federal courts. After being admitted to the bar he located at Luverne, and shortly thereafter was elected county attorney of Rock county, which office he held for 14 years, retiring voluntarily. In June, 1920, he was appointed assistant attorney general, which position he now holds.

SWIMMING POOL PLAN SUBMITTED TO CITY COUNCIL

Proposal Calls For Expenditure of About $5,000 For Construction—Site Chosen.

A rough sketch of the proposed swimming pool was submitted to the city council Tuesday night by Math. Barzen of the park board, who briefly outlined the steps which will be necessary to provide bathing facilities of a proper nature in this city.

The site which will probably be secured for the bathing house and swimming pool is the island just south of the Hanson & Barzen mill and which is connected with the mainland by a bridge at present. This will have to be rebuilt to be perfectly safe for those visiting the pool and will be one of the first expenses the board will have to meet.

The property in question is owned by the Schreiter interests but can be obtained on very favorable terms by the park board, it is understood. This would bring the swimming pool under full park control and with Lover's Lane park in close proximity the plan will work out admirably.

The plan submitted calls for an expenditure of about $5,000 for the pool alone, which will be built this summer if possible. A railing would be put in at the same time and also the conduit for an ample supply of fresh water from the dam a short distance above. Later the dressing rooms, toilets, etc., could be constructed.

The aldermen laid the matter over till the next regular meeting, June 27, and in the meantime will ascertain what funds are available for this much needed improvement.

One Candidate in Which Some Interest is Taken

While campaign committees and managers have been raking their collective brains to discover something which would have the effect of putting some "ginger" into the voters during the primary campaign just closing, there are instances in which plenty of interest has been, and still is, manifested. This is particularly the case with the district judgship situation in the Fourteenth district. There are five candidates in the field, three new men have filed while the two present incumbents are also candidates. Of the new candidacies, that of J. M. Bishop of this city has without question gained the greatest momentum and reports from nearly every section of the district are to the effect that he will receive a heavy vote on Monday. A considerable amount of hard work has been done for Judge Bishop by voluntary committees in every county and if reports can be relied on it is probable he will prove the surprise of the campaign.

JUDGE J. M. BISHOP.

Senator Naplin Back.

State Senator O. A. Naplin returned this morning from St. Paul, where he attended the meetings of the executive council of the Augustana Synod of America, of which body he is a member.

QUIET CAMPAIGN NEARING CLOSE; BALLOT MONDAY

Most Uneventful Contest in State's Entire History Will Soon Be at an End.

Result in Minnesota is Foregone Conclusion and Voters Refuse to Enthuse.

Voting Hours.

For the primary election on Monday, June 19, the polls in the city of Thief River Falls will be open from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m. All other places in the county from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Monday is primary election day but no one would think so to judge by the interest taken in the outcome. There is a contest on for most places on the state ticket in the Republican party but it looks like smooth sailing for the regular convention nominees. United States Senator Frank B. Kellogg has two opponents—Ernest Lundeen and Richard E. Titus, but the outcome is a foregone conclusion. There are also three aspirants for this position among the Democrats and something in the way of interest has been added to the fact for the reason that one is a woman. Anna D. Oleson has the distinction of being the first of her sex to be named for a position of this kind in the state and she will have as opponents Homer Morris and Thomas J. Meighan.

Franklin J. Ellsworth will have the honor of being defeated for the gubernatorial nomination by J. A. O. Preus while Lloyd Ahlstrom will be similarly distinguished in his race against Louis L. Collins for lieutenant governor. Margaret Kellar is Mike Holm's opponent for secretary of state and George G. Magnuson will try conclusions with State Auditor R. P. Chase. Attorney General C. L. Hilton is opposed by John C. Larson, while Gebard Bundlie will try conclusions with Ivan Bowan for a place on the railroad and warehouse commission. Grace F. Kearcher is the regular Republican candidate for clerk of the supreme court, her opponent being Herman Mueller, present incumbent.

There are six candidates for the nomination of associate justice of the supreme court, four of whom will be eliminated on Monday. Five candidates are in the field for the two places to be filled on the district bench of this district, the two present judges, William Watts and Andrew Grindeland, being candidates for re-nomination and having as opponents J. M. Bishop, G. Halvorson and George M. Wilson.

There is a primary contest on for the nomination for congressman on the Farmer-Labor ticket in the Ninth district, while Halvor Steenerson, Republican, has no opposition. J. S. Barnett of Thief River Falls, and Knud Wifald of Hawley, are the Farmer-Labor candidates.

The legislative field is clear, there being but two candidates for the state senate—O. A. Naplin, present incumbent, and C. L. Hansen, both of this city. There are three filings for representative with only two to be finally chosen, and this takes the contest out of consideration at the primaries.

In the county there will be no fight for place on the final ballot by candidates for auditor or treasurer, there being but two filings in each instance. For sheriff there are three—W. J. LaBree, Ole L. Ihle and A. W. Crown. Seven are in the contest for register of deeds, five of whom will be relieved of their worries on Monday night. As there are three candidates for county attorney, one will be eliminated on Monday. They are Theo. Quale, present incumbent, G. Howard Smith and E. M. Stanton. G. M. Gunderson, county superintendent of schools has two opponents—E. A. Mostue and Ole R. Sande, one of whom will be dropped by the voters in the preliminaries. There is no primary contest for the office of coroner although there are two candidates.

Five seek the county commissionership in District No. 1—A. W. Hanson present commissioner, Frank J. Race, H. I. Finstad, Elev Aakre and Jens Leiness. No contest in the Third where J. V. Patton and Emil Larson are seeking the place now held by Gust Naplin. In the Fifth there are four—all new men: K. K. Austin, Carl G. Olson, J. B. Larson and Osmund Mundt.

Polls in the city open from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m. All other places, 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

"Legion Follies" a Good Show and Well Received

"The Legion Follies," presented under the auspices of Elmer J. Eklund post, American Legion, by the Modern Productions company of St. Paul, at the auditorium on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, brought out good crowds on both nights and was worthy of even better patronage. The production was staged with a wealth of beautiful and appropriate scenic effects and every feature of the long program was thoroughly enjoyed. Local talent assisted artists carried by the company and all acquitted themselves in a highly creditable manner. The minstrel numbers by Charles Van, C. Prichard, Dave Robinson, Darby Anderson, L. C. Reedy, K. Olson, Joseph Cloutier, Herbert Hansen and Carl Sundahl were particularly well received, while the camouflage painting by G. V. Gannon was a feature of unusual interest.

J. C. Kelly, who was in charge of the production and preparations is entitled to a large share of the credit for the success of the show. He has worked untiringly for two weeks to get things in shape and did a remarkably good job when the size of the undertaking is considered. Elmer J. Eklund post may not be very much to the good financially on the enterprise but the boys furnished something different in the way of amusement and deserve great credit. The company goes from this city to Bemidji to put on the Follies under Knights of Columbus auspices.

WORK STARTED ON NEW BUILDING FOR SONS OF NORWAY

Contract Awarded to Elling Larson of This City—Two Other Permits Granted.

The contract for the construction of the Sons of Norway lodge building on Red Lake boulevard, east of Soo depot was awarded to Elling Larson of this city on Thursday, and work has already commenced, the building to be completed in ninety days. Mr. Larson was the lowest of eight bidders, his bid being $9,938 and the highest $12,175.

The structure will be a one-story stucco, 36 by 100 feet and used as an exclusive lodge building with club rooms and hall. As there is considerable ground around the building it will be surrounded by a park which is intended to be made a beauty spot of the city.

This Sons of Norway lodge building is the first of its kind in the city and will add a great deal to the civic beauty and attractiveness of the section in which it is located.

A fine residence to be built this season will be that of W. R. Patterson at the northwest corner of LaBree avenue and Seventh street. The permit calls for an expenditure of $6,500 and this may run considerably more before completion. The basement will be 26 by 32 feet in size and the structure two stories in height.

Permit for a store building on the east side under construction to be used as a paint shop by Soren O. Berglander was granted by the city council Tuesday night. It will cost in the neighborhood of $700 and is to be 20 by 40 feet.

TRUNK ROUTE MAPS FREE FOR READERS AT TIMES OFFICE

This Newspaper Receives Limited Amount From State Department For Distribution.

The Times has secured a shipment of maps of the Minnesota trunk highway system for local distribution free of charge. Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, publishing the map as directed by law, adopted the plan of distribution through newspapers believing that the saving on postage will pay for more maps and serve a larger number of highway users without added expense.

They will be given away free of charge to anyone who applies in person at the Times office.

The maps are printed on good quality of paper about the size of this page. They show all state trunk highways—so-called Babcock roads—with the official numbers corresponding to those on the yellow star markers along the routes to enable the traveler to find his way easily. Surfacing and other improvements are shown and used with the weekly condition bulletin issued by the highway department and published in daily newspapers furnish a valuable road index.

Many hotels, garages and business houses are putting the maps under glass and fastening the condition bulletin each week in the space left for that purpose.

On Summer Visit.

Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Froehlich and two sons, Clifford and "Bill", leave this week for Paynesville where Mrs. Froehlich and the boys will sojourn at the lakes while the doctor goes to Rochester for a short course at the Mayo clinic. They expect to return in about ten days.

Supt. and Mrs. I. T. Simley and children will leave at the same time for Albert Lea where they will visit for some time with Mrs. Simley's folks. Both families are making the trip by car.

Had Good Meeting.

A nice crowd was present at the services and Young People's society at Bethania church last Sunday. The officers of the society are the following: President, Elina Angell; vice-president, Miss Newton; secretary, Miss Byalnger; treasurer, M. Peterson. The society meets once a month. The next meeting will be July 9.

NEW CREAMERY WILL BE TOPIC AT BIG PICNIC

Stockholders to Have Outing on Tuesday at Which Important Matter Will be Aired.

Present Plant No Longer Adequate to Requirements of Fast Growing Business.

Equipment Originally Intended For Output About One-fifth That of the Present.

Stockholders of the Thief River Co-operative Creamery association will hold a picnic and general business meeting at the Pennington county fair grounds on Tuesday, June 20, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning, at which it is hoped all the stockholders will be present and bring their families. While the latter will perhaps be principally interested in the picnic feature of the meeting, the stockholders will have matters of far greater importance to consider.

According to the notice sent out by Secretary Peter Englestad, two subjects will come up for discussion—changing the articles of incorporation relating to capital stock and the limit of indebtedness, and the construction of a new creamery next year. The second proposition holds by far the greater amount of interest, for the general public at least.

Working Under Handicap.

The present plant of the association has for some time failed to meet the requirements of the rapidly developing business. Buttermaking facilities are the same today as when the plant was manufacturing about one-fourth of its present output. To date the situation has been met by puting on the night force during the rush seasons, but this method will no longer answer. Last year the creamery barely managed to get along in this manner and those who were in a position to fully realize the handicap under which the management was then working saw that further increases in the amount of butterfat produced in the neighborhood would make a larger and more modern plant necessary. There is insufficient vat room and often large quantities of cream must stand for 24 hours or more before being given the proper attention with the result that it deteriorates. This means a lowering of butter test and a consequent loss both to the creamery and the dairyman.

Not Keeping Pace.

Everyone has been boosting the production of butterfat in this section for many years past while little or nothing has been said about improving and enlarging the manufacturing division of the business. The local creamery is at present meeting the requirements of the producers with a plant deemed but little more than adequate at a time when the supply of butterfat was about one-fifth what it is today. Present indications are that 800,000 pounds of butter will be manufactured this year as compared with 625,000 pounds last year. When it is realized that the plant was taxed to the utmost in order to get by in 1921 it will be seen that it must fail to do so with this increased business. As an indication of what may be expected in the way of added butterfat a comparison of the receipts for the first five months of 1922 with those of last year will be of interest. In January this increase amounted to 42 per cent, February 35, March 27, April 20 and May 20 per cent.

Will Grow Still Faster.

It is certain that next year's increase will be greater in proportion. More silos are being built this summer than existed in the country before. The fodder crop acreage will also be increased to an extent previously unknown. All of which means that more dairy cows will be fed and a larger quantity of butterfat produced.

A new plant would pay for itself within a very short time. With the proper equipment the same quantity of butter could be handled with two less men than at present and there would be a considerable saving in the amount of ice and fuel used. These items alone would help materially in paying the interest on the necessary investment.

Successful Picnic.

A decidedly successful picnic or community harmony festival was held at the Highlanding pavilion Sunday, June 11, which was attended by several hundred people. During the course of the day addresses were delivered by E. M. Stanton and Gay Halvorson of Thief River Falls, and Bj. Bjornaraa of Wanke. The speakers discussed various phases of public welfare and community spirit. A reading was given by W. A. Swanson of Rhoda.

As one purpose of the gathering was to aid a young lady, Mrs. G. Gunderson, who has gone through rather trying experiences lately, a collection was taken up and a considerable sum of money was given her as a token of sympathy and good will.

The committee, W. A. Swanson, Bj. Bjornaraa, Ben Kveste, H. T. Hanson and Oliver Howard, did a great deal in making the affair a success.

Total Paid For 33 Head Offered Over $42,000, With Females in Greatest Demand.

Average Price For Entire Lot Was $128.86 Per Head, the Grades Bringing $86.52.

Thirty-three head of purebred and grade cattle were sold at the annual picnic and consignment sale of the Red River Valley Dairymens association at the Pennington county fair grounds last Thursday. The sale totalled $4,252.50 of which the purebreds represented $2,520 and the grades $1,732.50. Thirteen head of the former were disposed of at an average price of $194 per head, while the 20 grades averaged $88.62. The lot average was $128.86.

The top price was $305, brought by a cow consigned by L. Jensen of Clearbrook and purchased by Paul Englestad of Thief River Falls. The last named breeder in return disposed of a cow to E. M. Satre of Bemidji at $300. The heifer Rosemary of Jean DuLuth II, consigned by the famous St. Louis county farms of that name, brought $295 and was purchased by G. L. Short of Angus. A young bull out of the same herd brought $130. The highest price among the grades was paid for a cow consigned by A. M. Lando of Swift, and purchased by John Edgar of Warren. The animal brought $145. Following is a list of the transactions together with the price paid in each instance:

Purebreds.

Jean DuLuth farms, bull purchased by A. D. Reese, Park Rapids, $130.

L. Jensen, Clearbrook, bull, purchased by G. L. Short, Angus, $105.

The sale was the most successful event of its kind ever held in this section. Improvement in the financial situation was evidenced by the fact that all sales were for spot cash. W. J. LaBree of this city officiated as auctioneer.

A number of very good addresses were delivered. Prof. Otto I. Bergh of the North Central Experiment station, Grand Rapids, spoke on "Use of Purebred Guernsey Sires." Supt. C. G. Selvig of the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, had for a subject, "The Development of the Red River Valley." "General Sale Conditions of the Guernsey Dairy Cow," was the topic of an interesting talk by Perry Johnson of this city. L. Jensen of Clearbrook, one of the foremost among the Guernsey breeders of this section, spoke on "The Quality Cow."

A quartet composed of Carl Sundahl, Guy and Perry Johnson and Roy Brown, sang "Direct from Guernsey Island," and a number of other parodies on popular songs.

GONVICK SWATTERS TURN BAD; LOCALS LOSE IN SEVENTH

Reds Meet Defeat in Sunday's Game—Chance to Even Up Things Here Today.

Results Last Sunday.

Crookston 9; McIntosh 10.
Fertile 0; Fosston 2.
Gonvick 11; Thief River 7.
Red Lake 7, Ada 3.

Games Today.

Gonvick at Thief River Falls.
McIntosh at Crookston.
Ada at Fertile.
Red Lake Falls at Fosston.

Games Next Sunday.

Fosston at Thief River Falls.
Ada at McIntosh.
Crookston at Red Lake Falls.
Gonvick at Fertile.

After keeping Gonvick scoreless for six innings last Sunday, the Reds went up in the air for no apparent reason and were walloped to the tune of 11 to 7. Federolf pitched a great game until the fatal seventh when Gonvick managed to bunch hits which netted seven runs. When the Clearwater county bunch once got into action it seemed as if nothing would stop them. In order to make certain that the game should go glimmering the Reds made about as many errors as their opponents made hits.

There will be an opportunity to wipe out the defeat when Gonvick shows up for a game here this evening.

Fosston, one of the league leaders, comes here for a game on Sunday and this should prove one of the big attractions of the season. The Fosston team has been at the head of the list since the opening of the season, having thus far lost but one game.

They're Busy in Polk.

The Polk county grand jury which reported to Judge Watts last week found a total of 19 indictments, 15 of which were for violations of the liquor laws.

CONGRESS MAY CUT AID FOR HIGHWAYS, DELAYING PROGRAM

Fear That There May Be Reductions of 50 Per Cent in Total For Present Year.

Both branches of congress desirous of credit attaching to federal highway aids, the proposed legislation is tied up in a conference committee, according to advices from Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, and J. H. Mullen, assistant commissioner and chief highway engineer, after a visit in Washington.

Thief River Falls and vicinity are interested because of the direct bearing of federal highway aid on the plan to improve trunk routes in this and all other sections of Minnesota. Minnesota has received for the present federal business year $1,420,000 of highway aid voted last November and used in the winter work to relieve the unemployment situation. Hope was entertained that another like appropriations might be made available this year, but that is doubtful now, officials report, and may depend upon action this month in congress. The Senate is disposed to make a direct appropriation for this year, it is said, but the House is determined to only authorize one to come in next year. The result may be that Minnesota's federal aid allotment this year may be $1,420,000 or only half of that of other years and the road program will be delayed.

Traveling east by automobile, Commissioners Babcock and Mullen inspected highway improvements and methods in Iowa, Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Maryland and New York. They report that Minnesota must fight to keep in the front rank of good roads maintenance states. This state is paying more attention to adequate drainage, wide, elevated curves and other modern construction details than is the average state, they add.

THE LOGICAL LOCATION.

The state board of control will ask the next legislature to provide for a seventh hospital for the insane in Minnesota. The necessity for such an institution is not questioned and there is no doubt but that it will be provided.

There is a large and rapidly developing section of the state in which no asylum of this kind is now located and this fact should be taken into consideration when the site is selected. The six insane asylums already in operation are at Fergus Falls, Anoka, St. Peter, Hastings, Rochester and Wilmar. It will be seen that the southern and central sections are well supplied while the convenience of the people in the northern part has been entirely overlooked. Up to a comparatively recent date this distribution was perhaps the best that could be made but with the increasing population of the northern countries more convenient provisions should be possible.

Thief River Falls is the logical location for the seventh asylum. It is the point most conveniently reached from all directions in the northwestern part of the state and the recognized transportation center of a vast region. It has all the advantages which can be offered by any other city which might be considered and a number many of these lack.

While it is not a matter which will likely enter into the decision of the board or the legislature, yet the claims of this city for recognition from another standpoint might be pointed out. It is the only town of its size in this region which has not now a state institution of some kind. Duluth has an experimental farm and normal school; Moorhead and Bemidji have normal schools, Grand Rapids an experimental farm, Crookston the Northwest farm college. It is the turn of Thief River Falls to be recognized in some manner and the location of this new asylum furnishes the opportunity.

It is certain that the claims and advantages of the city will be set before the proper authorities when the time comes.

NO WONDER THEY KICK.

The disclosures connected with the Twin City Rapid Transit company, in which it is shown that the concern has paid out many thousands of dollars in what can only be termed as graft, are not calculated to make the people feel any more kindly towards public service corporations nor have any great amount of faith in officials of a certain class. The thing is a scandal and the proceedings so shameful as to make even the most generous-minded person hope something will happen to make the guilty parties answer to an outraged community.

No wonder street railway companies ask permission to force the public to pay higher fares when a large part of their revenue goes for such purposes. Councils and commissions have granted these requests time and time again on the presentation by the companies of their expense accounts, which showed that it was impossible for them to operate under the former fare. Now the public knows the reason and the knowledge is not setting very well.

Those who have openly charged the companies and the men involved with this kind of thing have been called muckrakers and sensationalists whose only purpose was setting the people against the corporations. It now turns out that matters are even worse than they claimed. Men high in the council of the state are involved any many citizens heretofore looked up to as a model have fallen to almost the lowest degree in the people's estimation. It is one of the nastiest messes ever brought to light in the state and it is to be hoped that the investigaion will continue until the whole truth is known.

AN UNUSUAL ENDORSEMENT

More than 100 women voters in the city of Luverne have issued an open letter to the voters of the state asking support for the candidacy of Conrad H. Christopherson as justice of the supreme court. The signers of the letter say, among other hings:

"We have known Mr. Christopherson for nearly 20 years with the intimacy characteristic of life in a small city and we know that he is not only a very successful lawyer and a hard worker, but a man whose honor and integrity are above reproach—such a man, in short, that every woman should be glad to see elevated to positions of great trust."

This is worth-while praise. Any man who can attain such standing among he women of the community in which he resides must possess both character and personality. It is one of the most unusual endorsements ever presented in this state.

Men acquainted with Mr. Christopherson are as strong for him as are the women of his home town. He was recognized as one of the ablest lawyers in the southern section until appointed assistant attorney general of the state. In this position he has added to his reputation as well as gained in experience. It is not in the least belittling the abilities of other aspirants for the position to say that Mr. Christopherson possesses in a rare degree all the qualifications necessary in the important place he seeks.

New Member of Staff.

Dreng Bjornaraa, a graduate with the 1921 class at the Thief River Falls high school, who has been teaching in the eastern part of the county during the past term, has joined the staff of The Time in the capacity of local reporter. Mr. Bjornaraa is a young man well and favorably known to many in this city and he will prove a valuable addition to the force. Any courtesies extended him will be greatly appreciated.

Base Ball League's Service.

(McIntosh Times.)

In thinking of the Red River Valley Base Ball League one is prone to consider it merely a creation of the fan.

It is more than that.

The League necessarily stands for clean base ball, and therefore is a promoter of sportsmanship. The league is placing the winning of games as a responsiblity of winning solely on the individual ball clubs in the league, while the umpires have become real officials whose ruilings are obeyed.

The League is also doing service in that it limits outside players and so encourages development of home base ball talent.

Base ball is a good game and deserves to be kept on a high standard.

GOVERNMENT JOB FOR D. B. C. GIRL

The U. S. Veterans' Bureau of Fargo, needed a stenographer. Bertha Moe, a graduate of Dakota Business College, Fargo, N. D., got the place. They knew she was well trained, having already employed 4 D. B. C. graduates. The Western Newspaper Union needed help at Minneapolis. Stella Wallman, a D. B. C. girl, got the job. They knew "Dakota" efficiency, from 7 previous experiences. This tells you what school to attend.

School year begins in June. "Follow the SucceSSful." Write F. L. Watkins, Pres., 806 Front St., Fargo, N. D.

The Latest Out.

The latest style is called "The Prodigal Skirt." It brings out the fatted calf.

Chivalry.

He rose with much alacrity,
And offered her his seat.
The question was if she or he Should stand upon his feet.

Kind Words.

Business may not be very good but it is well spoken of by every one on the program at a chamber of commerce banquet.

Little Willie was enjoying a play with his kittens on the street when a gentleman passing by asked him the names of the kittens.

"Joe and Jerry," was the prompt reply.

"Why not call them Cook and Peary?" the man then asked.

"Go on, man," Willie said, "these ain't no polecats!"

Abide With Me.

Credo (Colo.) Candle: There has been a good deal of agitation for the past few years aueut a new motto for the coin of the realm. Personally, we have leanings toward "Abide with me."

Epitaffy.

He lies sleeping here
Name was Hal Hake—
He heard the bell
But had no brake.

When a girl discovers she can't make a fool of a man, she decides there is no use wasting time with such a fool.

We notice where a girl named Onions has secured a notary commission in a neighboring town. Here's hoping she may be strong enough for the job.

Get the Hooks.

Far more than for the movies, the speaking stage or the bizarre dance halls is there a need for a censor of those newspaper stories exploiting the super-tramp who is traveling on a wager from Jackville to Jerusalem, or some other specified points, with no means save those of his own mooching.

This miserable species of the hombre happens into Kokomo and hogs a column or so of space that might more profitably be given over to liver-pill propaganda. Why inspire the youth of the land, already prone to the dissipation of wanderlust, to emulate this peripatetic panhandler?

Is it a particularly proud achievement to break the laws of the land by cheating the railway conductor or by laying on the sympathetic landlord for an unearned meal? Let the newspaper lads give the hooks to this sublimated hobo.

Why, the typical tramp with protruding toes, rent shirt and the badge of tomato can strung over his shoulder is far and away the more picturesque figure. His rags are royal raiment, to borrow from the melodramatic Hal Reed, compared with the more reputable castaways which foolish folks bestow upon this ingratiating beggar and usually four-ply liar.

There! That's off me chest. It may not be "funny"; but there's more sound hoss-sense in it than in anything that is at all likely to follow it.

G. M. GUNDERSON.
"George Made Good."

To the Voters of Pennington County.

George promised enforcement of the school laws and school supervision. The first year of his term in office livery rates as well as other things raised in price. His salary of $129.17 per month was not adequate to pay expenses of supervision and the support of his family. He had his salary reduced to $110.00 per month and the traveling expenses paid by the county. This shows his interest in our schools by a sacrifice in salary at a time teachers' salaries were increasing. He was offered a higher salaried position but declined the offer upon request of the rural school officers.

He promised the introduction of vocational training in our schools. Results: A Pennington County rural school girl won first prize at the State Fair on a booklet on "Bread Making."

He promised organization of Boys and Girls clubs. Results: Every school has its "Little Citizens League."

He promised organization of school boards and teachers for better rural school co-operation. Results: Pennington County School Officers Assn. and Teachers Progressive League.

"He stayed by us, let us stay by George."

Sincerely,
H. C. WOOLSON.

To the Voters of Pennington County:

I am a candidate for re-election for Register of Deeds of Pennington county. During the years I have served the people of the county as Register of Deeds I have made many friends, but I am not asking support in the present campaign merely by virtue of this friendship. Rather, I would have the voters consider my candidacy on a purely efficiency basis as the only proper method of electing officials to public office. In regard to my fitness for the office of Register of Deeds, both as to honesty and capability, I prefer to rest my case with the people of Pennington county, whom I served in past years.

Yours respectfully,
N. J. ANDERSON.

J. M. Bishop
For District Judge

I announce my candidacy for Judge of the 14th Judicial District, and refer you to my record of over twenty years as a practicing attorney in Thief River Falls, nine of which I served as Municipal Judge of this city.

In making this campaign, I ask that EACH candidate be judged solely upon his personal merit and the convenience for the people of the district as to location. I ask for only one of the two judgeships for which you will vote, although I note that two of my opponents are asking that you support them jointly. They evidently are "Two souls with but a single thought, two hearts that beat as one." I feel that it is up to the voters to pick each of their candidates and have therefore linked my name with no other.

I pledge myself, if elected, to conduct the office to the best of my ability.

WITH JUSTICE TO ALL AND MALICE TOWARD NONE.

Christy Brothers Shows Coming Next Wednesday

Wednesday afternoon and evening, June 21 will not be complete without a tour of the colossal canvas equerry. Even though you are not a lover and admirer of blooded stock, it is claimed you will find an hour of genuine pleasure and much to interest you inspecting the beautiful horses and ponies. For the last year agents have been in different parts of the world making purchases for this department, with the result that today Christy Brothers possess one of the largest, most varied and costliest collection of representative members of the equine family which wealth can procure, and it is doubtful if anywhere near the like has ever been exhibited before by any traveling shows. There are powerful, blocky Normans; sturdy western and Canadian drafts; coquettish Arabian stallions; English bred long distance jumpers; fleet footed Kentucky runners; wild speeding Roman chariot flyers; tiny Shetlands; Welch and native ponies; and other high grade specimens of earth's finest horse flesh. Ladies and children are particularly invited to visit the horse fair, which all may safely do without escort as uniformed and courteous attendants are always present to look after the welfare of the callers. Every child visiting the afternoon performance will be given a free pony or elephant ride; special attendants to care for the kiddies.

A man will smoke eight cigars in one evening and then blame his indisposition next day on one ripe olive which he ate for dinner.

Why Standard Oil Company (Indiana) Gives Better Service

WHEN you drive up to a Standard Oil Company (Indiana) Service Station you find a man in charge who is competent, quick, agreeable—at your service. The farmer finds these same qualities in the man who drives the dark green tank wagon to his door.

If you were to enter any one of the refineries of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) you would be astonished to note the air of absorption with which each employee is devoting himself to his job.

The same interest may be observed at any point where you come in contact with employees of this Company. This condition is not a matter of mere happening — chance. It is because the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) recognizes the fundamental interest of labor in the business to which it is devoted.

Throughout the years, it has been the continued policy of this Company, to compensate its employees fairly; to give them steady work; to insure them so far as it is possible against unemployment.

To protect the employee who has grown old in the service, the Company has devised and put in effect an annuity plan whereby the employee who has given his best years, or who has become incapacitated in the service, is insured an income for the balance of his life. In no case is this annuity less than $300.00 a year and it may be as high as 75 percent of his average yearly wage for the 10 years preceding retirement.

This policy gives the employee a sense of security respecting his future. It enables him to do better work and gives him a more vivid interest in his work.

Long experience has convinced the management, the employee, and the stockholder of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) that this policy of recognizing the rights of the employee is one of the factors which enables this Company to give to the public a superlative grade of service in the manufacturing and distributing of petroleum products.

Public Forum

The sample ballot that appeared in the local papers last week showed that each candidate who was indorsed by a convention had a notation to that effect in small print behind his name, with the exception of James Barnett, who was indorsed by the Farmer-Labor district convention. Nevertheless Barnett was properly indorsed though not by a convention elected under the new pre primary election law, and should be supported by all progressives.

Notice.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Thief River Falls Co-op. Creamery association will be held at the fair grounds on the 20th of June, at 10:30 a. m. for the following purpose:

1st.—To change the Articles of Incorporation relating to Capital Stock and Limit Indebtedness.

It is apparent to anyone, who is familiar with conditions that our business has outgrown our quarters and that it can not be considered wise from an economical point of view to postpone building beyond next year.

Meeting will be in a form of picnic. Bring your lunch along.

On behalf of Creamery Board,
P. ENGELSTAD,
Secretary

McCann-Thill.

A beautiful morning wedding on Saturday, of interest to a host of friends of the young people here, was that of Miss Kathryn Thill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Thill, to J. J. McCann, county agent of Pennington county. The event was solemnized at 7:00 o'clock in the morning at St. Bernard's Catholic church in the presence o fa company of relatives and friends.

The church had been beautifully decorated for the event with various summer flowers. Mrs. Mae Rowan at the piano, played "Lohingren's Wedding March", as the bridal party entered the church and proceeded to their places at the altar. Mendelsohn's Wedding March was used as the recessional. Two little flower girls, Marian Holznecht and Marie Hensel, cousin of the bride, both in white ruffled frocks, led the way, dropping rose petals from pretty baskets which they carried. Misses Marie and Madeline, sisters of the bride acted as bridesmaids and F. E. McCann and Louis Hensel of Red Lake Falls, cousins of the bride were the best men. Both young ladies were gowned in pink and green organdy dresses respectively, simply fashioned and wore picture hats to match. Their flowers were carnations. The bridal robe was a charming creation of white georgette crepe over satin. She wore a veil of silk illusion which hung from a cap arrangement with a bridal wreath. Her flowers were an armful of ophelia roses. The choir furnished music for the occasion. Rev. M. J. Noesen performed the ceremony, at the conclusion of which the bridal party and a few friends repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where a wedding breakfast was served. Miss Mae Rowan, Miss was served. Mrs. Mae Rowan, Miss Holznecht were those present besides the bridal party. The other car, however, suffered no damages.

PAVING PLANS ABANDONED FOR KNIGHT AVENUE

Horace Avenue Project Also Failed of Endorsement By Council Tuesday Night.

Residents Insist Sewer Lift Be Changed Before Anything is Done to Street.

Councilmen Absent Themselves Before Bridge Street Petition is Reached.

Present indications are that there will be no paving done in Thief River Falls during the present season. At any rate it is certain that the original program which provided for the surfacing of about 25 blocks has been definitely abandoned.

At a special meeting of the city council called for the purpose of considering bids for paving on Tuesday evening, the council chamber was crowded with interested property owners. Residents along Knight avenue objected to paving that thoroughfare this year because of the cost. The matter was given due consideration by the council and a motion to lay the original petition on the table carried unanimously. There is a large amount of property located on the street which is not of a revenue producing nature, being as yet unoccupied, while in a number of other cases any increase of taxes would prove a hardship to property owners at this time. The abandonment of this project is generally regarded as a good move.

Horace Residents Object.

Persons owning property on Horace avenue were also well represented. These did not come to the meeting for the purpose of objecting to the paving program, their mission being to insist on the changing of the sewer lift at Horace and Seventh before anything in the way of street improvement is undertaken. They were assured that this matter had already been taken up with the engineers and would be attended to as soon as possible. Councilman Carl Froseth, in whose ward the section under discussion is located, refused to give his sanction to any kind of paving program until after this sewer lift is changed and as there was no way of giving him any greater assurance of this than had already been given, the matter was dropped. This will kill the paving as effectively as formally laying the petition on the table as Tuesday was the day set for its consideration and it cannot again be taken up until the same preliminaries have been gone through. Changing this sewer lift, it was stated, will cost anywhere from $5,000 to $10,000, and the cost must be borne by taxpayers in the sewer district.

Bridge Street Hung Up.

It was also the time for considering the petition of Bridge street residents for paving, but before this matter could be brought up Councilmen Froseth, Ihle and Ness left the meeting and further business was held up for lack of quorum. Ness stated that he was opposed to the paving of Bridge street alone, as this would mean a much higher cost than if there were a larger contract. This action also automatically disposes of Bridge street paving for the present, although this may be revived. Applications for pavement on Riverside avenue are still to be acted upon and the Bridge street job can be included. LaBree avenue residents are circulating paving petitions and if these are granted it will leave quite a stretch of paving even with Horace and Knight left out. It is getting rather late in the season to begin this work, however, and it is likely the entire program will be dropped.

Attended Firemen's Convention.

The local fire department was represented at the convention at Rochester, held last week, by Chief Paul Midderigh, Harry Schuster and Morris LaSalle. Mr. Midderight returned Monday, while the others remained to attend the three days college for firemen. Mr. LaSalle also visited in Minneapolis and Milaca, returning Tuesday evening.

BORGEN MURDERED WHILE PREVENTING ROBBERY IN N. DAK.

Ex-Service Man Whose Home is in This City, Victim of Yeggs at Michigan City.

Fred Borgen, ex-service man and son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Borgen, 514 Kendall avenue, was murdered at Michigan City, N. D., some time last night. His body was found at an early hour this morning back of the store in which he was temporarily working.

Nothing definite can be learned concerning the circumstances surrounding the death of Borgen. He was manager of a store at Whitman and on the day previous to his death had gone to Michigan City for the purpose of helping in the straightening out of certain business matters. This kept him in the place until a late hour and during his stay there an attempt was made to rob a bank cross the ally or across the street from where the young man was working. Whether he heard the noise and attempted to raise an alarm and thus called the attention of the robbers to himself, or whether he tried lone handed to prevent the robbery, is not known. He was found dead in the rear of the place with a bullet hole through his body and the bank had been entered and robbed. The rest is merely conjucture on the part of the authorities.

Fred Borgen was among the first to enlist from this section at the outbreak of the war. Because of his previous training along commercial lines he was made supply keeper at Long Island, N. Y., and remained at that post until the close of the war. He was a member of Elmer J. Eklund post of this city and that organization is mking every effort to discover the facts connected with his death.

Returning from war, Borgen married and has one motherless child, Mrs. Borgen having died shortly after its birth. Both parents also survive, besides seven brothers and four sisters. For some time Borgen was employed at the Zeh & Curran grocery, in this city and his former employers speak in the highest terms of his ability and integrity. He was physicially a splendid specimen of manhood and his untimely death at the hands of assassins is everywhere regretted.

Two brothers residing at Grand Forks, were at once notified of the occurrance and left for Michigan City as soon as possible, but other members of the family have not heard from them.

REGULARS WIN EASY IN STATE; FEW SURPRISES

Ticket Endorsed By G. O. P. Convention Sweeps All Opposition Out of the Way.

Watts and Grindeland Lead For Judicial Nominations With Halvorson Third Man.

Barnett Carries County Three to One But Seems to Have Lost District to Wefald.

The regular Republican organization ticket, endorsed at the party conventions, was nominated without exception in the primary election on Tuesday. In most instances the result was not even close, although Ellsworth for governor, made a surprising showing.

Edward Indrehus of Foley, was nominated by the Democrats for governor, while Mrs. Peter Oleson of Cloquet, was nominated on the same ticket for United States senator, being the first woman in the country to be thus honored by a major political party. Senator Frank B. Kellogg was endorsed on the Republican ticket by a large majority.

Congressman Halvor Steenerson had no opposition for the nomination, but there were two candidates for the place on the Farmer-Labor ticket—James A. Barnett of this city, and Knud Wefald of Hawley. The latter seems to have been nominated, although exact figures are not at this time available. Mr. Barnett carried his home county by more than three to one and it may be that the official count will show that he has been nominated. The vote in Pennington county was: Barnett 991; Wefald, 318.

Halvorson Runs Third.

In the contest for the district judgeship, Judges William Watts and Andrew Grindeland are in the lead with G. Halvorson of this city as third man, he running about 1,000 votes ahead of J. M. Bishop in the district. The latter made a remarkable showing in Pennington county, his home, receiving 1300 votes to 1042 for Judge Grindeland, his nearest competitor. Judge Bishop also ran second in Mahnomen county and made a good showing in Marshall. The latter county was carried by Halvorson, he running nine votes

COUNCIL TO HEAR ASSESSMENT KICKS STARTING MONDAY

This is the Time to Have Changes Made if You Don't Agree With Assessor.

The city council will sit as a board of equalization at the council rooms on Monday, beginning at 9 o'clock, at which time any taxpayer is privileged to have his assessment gone over and make application for any reduction to which he may consider himself entitled.

There is always a kick on assessments but it is seldom that any one shows up at the meeting of the board of equalization with a petition to have them reduced. The board cannot very well act in this matter unless all the facts are laid before the members and this can be done only by the taxpayer himself. After the assessment books have been closed and notice of the amount of taxes published it is a hard matter to have the subject reopened, whereas it is easy to have the board of equalization make a correction at this time if it is found that such charge should be made.

If you have an idea there is anything wrong with the assessor's figures, be on hand Monday and tell the council your troubles. Doing so may save a lot of misunderstanding and vexation in the future.

Holstein Breeders' Meeting.

An important meeting of the Pennington County Holstein Breeders association will be held at the commercial club rooms on Saturday evening, June 24. Plans for the big consignment sale to be held some time later in the summer will be discussed and other matters of importance considered.

Plans for a pure bred sire campaign is also under way and the association wishes to do something definite in eliminating the scrub bull from the county in the very near future.

Mr. Bratrud in Charge of State Bank at Holt

Mayor John Bratrud of this city, has been appointed special deputy state bank examiner in charge of the affairs of the Holt State bank, which has been in difficulties for some time because of depleted reserves. Mr. Bratrud says he believes the institution will be back on its feet and open for business in a short time. There are good substantial men on the directorate and the depositors seem willing to help things along in any manner within their power. The bank is located in a good section of the country, and with the promise of the best crop yield in years there is every reason for hoping that its affairs will finally be straightened out without anyone standing a loss. Mr. Bratrud is devoting all his time to the bank's business.

Dr. Milan Honored.

Dr. M. Geo. Milan returned the first of the week from St. Paul, where he attended the meeting of the Minnesota Sanatorium association. This organization is composed of the medical directors and superintendents of all sanitoriums in the state. Dr. Milan was honored by being elected as first vice president of the association.

Conducted Regional Meeting.

Mrs. J. M. Bishop spent Friday at Detroit, where she conducted a regional child welfare conference. Delegates were present from Polk, Clay, Mahnomen, Wadena, Becker and Norman counties.

1,200,000 Railroad Men Expected to Strike Soon

Executives of 11 large railroad unions have been authorized to order a strike by vote of their 1,200,000 members.

Information in railroad union circles here are to the effect that more than 90 per cent of the vote canvassed favored a strike. Balloting started over a week ago and the official canvass is expected to be completed in time to order the walkout for July 1 or July 15, if the union heads desire to make use of the strike vote at that time.

The vote was taken on three propositions:

Whether wage reductions would be accepted, as have been ordered or expected from the United States Railway Labor board.

Whether the unions would consent to "farming out" of shop work to contractors to escape rulings of the railway board.

Whether unions will accept the revised working rules as set forth by the labor board.

Most of the unions which are balloting, are connected with the railroad employees department of the American federation of labor. The largest single group is the shop men with approximately 500,000 members.

VOTE TO BUILD NEW CREAMERY HERE IN SPRING

Stockholders of Thief River Co-Operative Association Decide on Model Plant.

Will Retain Present Building and Use Same in Handling Poultry and Eggs.

The Thief River Co-operative Creamery association will begin the erection of a new creamery building to cost $50,000 next summer. It is quite possible that excavation work may be begun and the foundations built during the present season in order to have everything in readiness for an early start in the spring.

This decision was reached at the annual picnic of the association held at the Pennington county fair grounds on Tuesday. There was a good attendance of stockholders who had come for the purpose of discussing this building proposition. President Hans Anton, Secretary Peter Engelstad and others directly connected with the operation of the plant explained the necessity for larger and more modern quarters, pointing out the fact that the present creamery facilities are inadequate and that large quantities of cream which should be turned into butter here are being shipped to points farther south.

Question of Cost.

Very few votes were cast in opposition to the proposition when the question was put. The matter of costs naturally entered largely into the discussion and a number who have been opposed to a new building in the past stated that their objections no longer held good now that building costs have again reached a reasonable point. The general opinion seemed to be that a creamery such as is needed here will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000 and practically all those present were willing that an investment of this size should be made. A committee from the board of directors will make a tour of inspection to a number of new creameries in this and neighboring states for the purpose of getting first-hand knowledge of the best there is to be had in the way of machinery and equipment. The new creamery at Fergus Falls will be looked over with particular care as it is one of the best in the entire country and is serving as a model for progressive co-operative associations everywhere. This plant cost in the neighborhood of $100,000, it is understood, but was built at a time when materials and labor were at their highest point. For this reason is it believed a creamery similar to that at Fergus Falls can be erected and equipped at this time within the limit of cost set by the local association.

Means Branching Out.

The new building will be erected on the lots at the northeast corner of Second street and Atlantic avenue, now occupied by two ancient wooden structures. The present creamery, just across the street, will be retained and used as a produce and storage house, it being the intention to handle eggs and poultry in connection with the butter making business. Milk products other than butter will also be added to the output, it being the intention to make the creamery as far as possible a clearing house for practically all farm products except grain.

Architects will be selected as soon as possible and the work of getting out the plans rushed, everyone being anxious to get started now that the improvement has finally been decided upon.

Will Entertain Visitors.

The Young Peoples society and Ladies Aid of Trinity church will entertain the delegates in the city to attend the Normandslag convention at a picnic at the R. M. Johnson place near Kratka on Saturday afternoon. Lunch will be served, consisting of various Norwegian dishes and there will be plenty of other refreshments. A general invitation is extended.

No Big Fourth Celebration Being Contemplated Here

There will be no formal celebration of the Fourth of July in Thief River Falls this year, it having been decided to allow the smaller communities in the neighborhood to stage their celebrations without doing anything to attract people to this city.

The American Legion post at Newfolden will sponsor a big celebration to which the neighborhood is invited. City Attorney H. O. Chommie of Thief River Falls, will deliver the address on this occasion. Rosewood is also advertising a big blowout at which State Senator O. A. Naplin will be the principal speaker. Middle River is also advertising a great time on the nation's birthday anniversary.

County Agents Here.

There was a meeting of county agents from the northwestern counties in this city on Tuesday in connection with the poultry demonstration school. F. E. Balmer, state leader of county agents, was also present and talked over matters pertaining to the work with his associates. Those present were: W. V. Longley, Kittson county; J. W. Taylor, Roseau; L. M. Bond, Red Lake; E. Linde, northern Beltrami, and also the boys' and girls' club leaders from Marshall and Clearwater counties.

Drug Addict Committed.

Mrs. Emma Dixon, a drug addict, who has been staying in this city since September last, was sent to the institution for inebriates at Willmar, last week. The probate court investigated her case and found that she would be best taken care of by the state authorities and took action accordingly.

Are University Graduates.

Misses Miriam Bishop and Mary Von Prichard, were among the graduates with this year's class at the University of Minnesota last week, both receiving their bachelor of arts degrees.

DEER PARK FARMER A SUICIDE; MONEY MATTERS IS CAUSE

Goes Out Behind Barn, Points Shot Gun at Head and Pulls Trigger With String.

Jens Bolstad, farmer, about 55 years of age, committed suicide by shooting at his farm home in southern Deer Park township yesterday afternoon. Two sons were attending the circus in Thief River Falls during the afternoon, and Mrs. Bolstad had stepped over to a neighbor's for a short visit, leaving the husband and father at home. Upon their return they missed him from around the place and a search revealed his dead body a short distance behind the barn in a clump of bushes. A single barrel shot gun was found beside the body and every indication pointed to suicide. The unfortunate man had evidently tied a string around the trigger of the gun, pointed the muzzel at his head and used his foot as pulley. The end of the string was still grasped in his hand when the body was found. The entire right side of the head was blown off.

Deceased had been brooding over financial difficulties for some time and this is believed to have been the cause of the rash act.

Sheriff W. J. LaBree and Deputy Coroner Carl B. Larson left at once for the scene of the suicide and decided that an inquest would not be necessary. No note of explanation was found anywhere about the body.

Charlie Knox Married.

Charles J Knox, a prominent resident of Thief River Falls in days gone by and in whose honor the Knox school is named, was on June 19 married to Miss Helen McGrath, in Minneapolis. The bride will perhaps also be recalled by the old-timers as she was a school teacher in this city about the time Mr. Knox was a resident here.

Special Scout Meeting.

A. W. Jardine, scout master, announces a special meeting of the boy scouts to be held next Monday evening at the American Legion Rooms. It is planned to reorganize the old troop and if possible organize a second troop. Plans will be made for the ensuing work. All members and all who wish to join be sure to come. 7 p. m., June 26, at the American Legion Rooms.

PIONEER DEAD AS RESULT OF SAD ACCIDENT

William Herron, Old Resident, Killed in Fall From Loaded Dray Wagon Monday.

Died Within Few Minutes After Reaching Hospital, Without Regaining Consciousness.

William Herron, aged 70, a pioneer resident of Thief River Falls, died at Physicians hospital at 7 o'clock Monday morning as the result of injuries sustained in a fall from a load of tile a few minutes previous.

Mr. Herron was hauling tile from the Great Northern tracks for Colsant Brothers, contractors, and had just left the car with a load. Arriving at a point directly in front of the Kiewel building, on Main street, he was seen to topple to the ground although the horses had evidently not changed their pace and there was no other evidence of the load receiving a jar. Al Fontaine, who was also hauling tile a few paces ahead of Herron, says he is certain the horses did not start trotting until after Herron had fallen from the load.

The unconscious man was picked up by Adolph Amundson, who happened to come by in his car, and was taken to his home at the corner of Fourth street and LaBree avenue and from there to the hospital, where he died a few minutes later without having regained consciousness. An examination showed that the skull had been fractured.

Deceased had been a resident of this city for 23 years and was a citizen most highly regarded by everyone. He was head sawyer at the mill here during the old lumbering days and engaged in the dray business when the mills shut down.

Mr. Herron was born at Grand Rapids, Wis., in 1850. In 1883 he was married to Miss Augusta Brooten at Stevens Point, in the same state, which city continued their home for some years. Later they lived at Hurley for a short time, after which the family moved to Thief River Falls. The house built at that time was among the early homes in the city and has continued their place of residence ever since.

Deceased is survived by a widow and six children, the latter being: Mrs. Joe Jensen, Viking; Mrs. H. B. Purdy, Four Corners, N. Y.; Miss Eileen, at present attending summer school at the Bemidji Normal; Ray, residing at Deerwood, this state; Orville and Charles at home. All the children were here for the funeral, which was held this morning from St. Bernard's Catholic church, Rev. M. J. Noesen officiating. A large number attended the funeral, many coming from out of town. The pallbearers were old friends and neighbors of the Herron family and men who have associated with the dead pioneer for many years. They were: Robert McGinn, W. J. LaBree, C. A. Nason, Al Fontaine, Romeo Louise and George Parenteau.

THE TIMES WILL MAKE SURVEY OF PENNINGTON COUNTY CONDITIONS

Times to Foster Publicity Campaign in Keeping With National Policy to Give Publicity to Resources of United States—Campaign to Last Fifteen Weeks.

Exhaustive Survey of Retail and Financial Conditions, Agriculture, Stockraising, Good Roads, Schools and School Facilities, Dairying, Etc., to Be Made.

In keeping with the national policy to give publicity to the resources of the United States, showing business on a sound foundation and to show the vast field of possibilities in Thief River Falls and Pennington county, and at the same time foster a substantial publicity campaign which will be the most constructive published in this section of the state for some time, The Times will make every issue for fifteen weeks, a Feature-Industrial issue.

A constructive industrial article, properly illustrated, outlining some one individual phase of possibility, well written, based absolutely on facts and conditions, and carrying through the theme of optimism, will be published in each of these industrial issues. The campaign will serve to lay the groundwork for a prosperous summer and fall business in Pennington county as well as serving as an educational medium for the residents of both the city and country.

Exhaustive Survey Planned.

An exhaustive survey will be made of such subjects as retail and financial conditions, agriculture, stockraising, good roads, schools and school facilities, dairying, tourist travel and health possibilities, etc., until every phase of industrial life and business activity in the city and country has been thoroughly covered, one article at a time, instead of all being in one edition, which the average reader would not take the time to read and properly digest. It will serve to promote the right phychology, this being all that is needed to hasten a period of normalcy in a business way.

Supervised By R. K. Evans.

R. K. Evans has been employed to supervise this work. He has spent many years in publicity work and is well known in the west and northwest for the effective work he has done. He is assisted by C. Clinton Sidle, a statistician, who will gather most of the material around which Mr. Evans will weave his stories of this county's advancement. Every article will be clear and concise and not a line of stereotyped material will be used.

Many extra copies of these issues will be circulated throughout the county and state, for the purpose of extending trade territory and to carry the message of advancement and progress into the city and country homes.

Will Write Up Local Business.

An attractive feature of the campaign will be the writeups of local business institutions. This plan will be explained in detail to those interested. These writeups are used to show the class of firms Thief River Falls has from a standpoint of being able to care for the business that comes to the city and as one of the leading commercial and distributing centers in northern Minnesota and the metropolis of a wide range of territory.

(Official Paper, Pennington County)

HE NEEDS A LIVER PILL.

John W. Weeks, secretary of war in the cabinet of President Harding, thinks this country is in a bad way and fears greatly for its future. John is not concerned particularly over the unemployment question, nor does the bonus or tarff cause him any great uneasiness. The trouble is more deeply rooted than any of these things.

The secretary finds there has been a woeful decline in the American government of late years and lays the blame on the people's progressive tendencies. These have had the effect of undermining the constitution and sweeping away party responsibility, he thinks. Particularly does he view with alarm the activities of the farm bloc in congress, the havoc worked by the direct primary law and the country's readiness to accept amendments to the constitution. All these are bad signs and will, unless checked, eventually change the character of our government, he thinks.

All of which is inexpressibly sad. That anyone should find it advisable to make additions or alterations to a constitution adopted about 150 years ago when the United States consisted of a strip of land along the Atlantic coast and had a population of five or six millions, is something that should be dreaded by all patriots. If conditions no longer fit the constitution, change the conditions even if it is necessary to turn the wheels of progress backwards. Such wasn't Roosevelt's idea, but that doesn't matter. Wilson and Harding likewise seem to think present needs rather than past traditions should be given some consideration. They are all wrong, according to Mr. Weeks.

Remarks such as were made by the secretary of war are not good for the country at this time. There are too many willing to agree that the United States is going to the dogs, but for altogether different reasons. These latter claim that we are holding too tightly to things that have passed and are not responsive enough to present needs. They would change the entire system of government, paying no attention to constitution or anything else. Their position is but little more impossible than that of the secretary of war. The facts are that we are moving ahead slowly and progressive tendencies decried by Mr. Week's are responsible for the movement. Out here people do not fear the farm bloc any more than Mr. Weeks seems to fear the older and better understood blocs. We are also getting along pretty well under the primary, although there is admittedly room for improvement. Somehow very few of us feel as if the country is a total loss and if our crops turn out as well as they promise there will be still fewer of this opinion. We don't worry near as much over the country's constitution as we do our own.

PURE BRED SIRE CAMPAIGN.

O. M. Kiser, secretary of the Red River Valley Livestock association will devote the next three months to the work of organizing co-operative bull associations in "A Pure Bred Sire For Every Herd" campaign sponsored jointly by the association and farm bureaus. This move has the sanction of W. E. Morris, district leader of county agents, the county agents and the officers and directors of the Red River Valley Livestock association.

Grade and scrub sires are found at the head of nearly three-fourths of the valley herds. The tremendous annual loss from this source alone is not fully understood or it would soon be overcome. Mr. Kizer will push this campaign among the farmers themselves as they are the ones who will benefit.

Bankers and breeders will cooperate in extending credit where this is needed. In most cases the farmer sells his scrub bull and makes a first payment from the proceeds. The breeders selling the pure bred sires will be asked to accept notes for one-half the balance and the banker to loan the buyer the other half.

The first township to boast a full quota of pure bred sires will be recognized in some suitable way by the Red River Valley Livestock association, C. G. Selvig, president of the association, said at a recent conference. It is expected that the eleven counties of this section will speed up in this work to see which one secures this premier honor.

For Better Citizens Better Service

TO promote the safety first movement, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has created within its own organization 24 separate and distinct inquisitorial bodies to investigate accidents involving Company motor equipment.

These bodies are called "Safety Courts."

The primary purpose of these courts is to reduce the hazard of automobile accidents on the public highway. This is directly in line with the policy of the Company to help the employee to a better understanding of his obligation to his fellow citizens.

The Court meets weekly and before it must appear any employee, whether manager or truck driver, who has been involved in an accident during the preceding week. The employee comes into court as defendant with his immediate superior as his attorney. The Chairman of the Safety Council is the judge. Other members of the Council serve as jurors.

When the investigation shows that the employee has been guilty of carelessness in observing traffic laws, penalties are fixed and punishment assessed by the jury. The punishment is often as novel as the plan itself. For instance, a truck-driver recently convicted of carelessness was removed from his position and sentenced to work for two weeks in the Company warehouse as a common laborer.

The plan is in operation throughout the 11 Middle Western States served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and has been responsible for reducing automobile accidents approximately 50 percent.

The spirit which pervades the "Safety Court" is to inspire employees with a sense of their responsibility to the community. As in the case of the Annuity System, which gives the employee a feeling of security regarding his future, and in the case of the Stock Investment Plan to promote the desire to save, the "Safety Court" has as its object the making of better and more responsible citizens who will render continuous and greater service to society.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is continually studying methods for improved service through adjusting its organization to the constantly changing needs of the people of the Middle West.

HE NEEDS A LIVER PILL.

John W. Weeks, secretary of war in the cabinet of President Harding, thinks this country is in a bad way and fears greatly for its future. John is not concerned particularly over the unemployment question, nor does the bonus or tariff cause him any great uneasiness. The trouble is more deeply rooted than any of these things.

The secretary finds there has been a woeful decline in the American government of late years and lays the blame on the people's progressive tendencies. These have had the effect of undermining the constitution and sweeping away party responsibility, he thinks. Particularly does he view with alarm the activities of the farm bloc in congress, the havoc worked by the direct primary law and the country's readiness to accept amendments to the constitution. All these are bad signs and will, unless checked, eventually change the character of our government, he thinks.

All of which is inexpressibly sad. That anyone should find it advisable to make additions or alterations to a constitution adopted about 150 years ago when the United States consisted of a strip of land along the Atlantic coast and had a population of five or six millions, is something that should be dreaded by all patriots. If conditions no longer fit the constitution, change the conditions even if it is necessary to turn the wheels of progress backwards. Such wasn't Roosevelt's idea, but that doesn't matter. Wilson and Harding likewise seem to think present needs rather than past traditions should be given some consideration. They are all wrong, according to Mr. Weeks.

Remarks such as were made by the secretary of war are not good for the country at this time. There are too many willing to agree that the United States is going to the dogs, but for altogether different reasons. These latter claim that we are holding too tightly to things that have passed and are not responsive enough to present needs. They would change the entire system of government, paying no attention to constitution or anything else. Their position is but little more impossible than that of the secretary of war. The facts are that we are moving ahead slowly and progressive tendencies decried by Mr. Week's are responsible for the movement. Out here people do not fear the farm bloc any more than Mr. Weeks seems to fear the older and better understood blocs. We are also getting along pretty well under the primary, although there is admittedly room for improvement. Somehow very few of us feel as if the country is a total loss and if our crops turn out as well as they promise there will be still fewer of this opinion. We don't worry near as much over the country's constitution as we do our own.

PURE BRED SIRE CAMPAIGN.

O. M. Kiser, secretary of the Red River Valley Livestock association will devote the next three months to the work of organizing co-operative bull associations in "A Pure Bred Sire For Every Herd" campaign sponsored jointly by the association and farm bureaus. This move has the sanction of W. E. Morris, district leader of county agents, the county agents and the officers and directors of the Red River Valley Livestock association.

Grade and scrub sires are found at the head of nearly three-fourths of the valley herds. The tremendous annual loss from this source alone is not fully understood or it would soon be overcome. Mr. Kizer will push this campaign among the farmers themselves as they are the ones who will benefit.

Bankers and breeders will cooperate in extending credit where this is needed. In most cases the farmer sells his scrub bull and makes a first payment from the proceeds. The breeders selling the pure bred sires will be asked to accept notes for one-half the balance and the banker to loan the buyer the other half.

The first township to boast a full quota of pure bred sires will be recognized in some suitable way by the Red River Valley Livestock association, C. G. Selvig, president of the association, said at a recent conference. It is expected that the eleven counties of this section will speed up in this work to see which one secures this premier honor.

JINX IS FOLLOWING REDS; TWO LOST AND ONE VICTORY

Win From Gonvick Only to Lose to Fosston and Red Lake Falls a Second Time.

The Thief River Falls baseball team is made up of a pretty good bunch of players but they are losing altogether too many games that should have been won. They are being defeated by poorer teams and there must be a jinx connected with the outfit somewhere.

Out of three games played during the past week they lost two and should have won both. The luck at times broke somewhat against them, but even so it looks as if they should be able to pull off more victories. One trouble is that it has been found necessary to keep shifting men around. This keeps the entire organization guessing and is not productive of good team work.

Gonvick was defeated here on Saturday in a good game, the score being 8 and 5. The visitors from Clearwater county are good stick men and at one time it looked as if they were going to stage a batting rally that would prove distastrous. Federolf pitched himself out of the corner, however, and really put up a very good game. Both the Thief River Falls man and Burman, the Gonvick moundsman, did well, striking out five and eight men respectively.

Thief River 0, Fosston 3.

Person, center fielder for Fosston, spoiled the game for the Reds in the first inning on Sunday. Tagland, Fosston first baseman, was the first man up for the visitors and he was hit by a pitched ball. Person was next and he proceeded to clout one for a circuit trip, making the first home run on the local diamond this season. The fact that the ball should have been back in the field long before he reached third has nothing to do with it. He made the rounds and drove Tagland in ahead of him. Another run was made by the visitors in the second, after which time all scoring stopped. The Reds were unable to put a man across in spite of the fact that they made four hits off Delbert, who is perhaps the most dreaded box performer in the league. The game closed 3 to 0, Thief River Falls being handed its first shutout. Schroeder pitched this game and struck out nine men to Delbert's 12. He acquitted himself with credit but was somewhat unruly, hitting three batsmen.

Thief River 3, Red Lake 4.

Red Lake Falls seems to have the Indian sign on the Reds. For the second time this season the Indians administered a drubbing on Tuesday evening, the score being 4 and 3. There were the same number of earned runs, three-base hits, strikeouts and passes, but the luck was with the visitors and they nosed out ahead. Stenhoff is credited with making two of the three runs for his team, while Fahey made the other. Federolf and Skye were the opposing pitchers and both put up a fine game. Slow footwork and a bonehead play or two were responsible for the defeat, although the teams are perhaps the most evenly matched within the league. While the general impression was to the effect that the Indian southpaw had the best of the argument the record does not bear this out. The Reds also had one less error than the visitors but none of this availed. It was undoubtedly the best game played here thus far this season.

AT THE THEATRES

THE LITTLE MINISTER.

Simplicity and charm make "The Little Minister" one of the best pictures of the year.

Nothing has been left undone to give the production the atmosphere of the Scotch hamlet of Thurms. The thatched roofs, the whitewashed walls, the simple country folks, and even the red coated soldiers are all true to life.

David Smith has achieved great success in pictures of this kind, and adds another gem to his long string of successes by his work with "The Little Minister."

Alice Calhoun, a rising star, who has rapidly come to the forefront in screen productions, has never had a role in which she adequately illustrated her ability as an actress. Her personality, her physical fitness and her charm lend themselves well to the character of Lady Babbie. She is a living embodiment of the heroine in James M. Barrie's story. The scene where she matches her wits with those of the little minister, he role assumed by James Morrison, whose work as a screen player is well known, is exceptionally good. Her struggle with Rob Dow, village drunkard, a role assumed by William McCall, is one of the most realistic pieces of acting ever presented on the screen.

Little Richard Daniels, a child actor, who has recently came into the forefront, proves his claim to the rights of being included among the screen prodigies of the present generation. His work is exceptionally good, and he shows marked ability.

The storm scene and the flood are spectacular, yet natural. Realism has been the aim rather than massive construction. The same touch is present in the Castle scenes, which, although original, are not gaudy and are in keeping with the period and nature of the sturdy Scotch race. Even in the gypsy camp scenes the effort has been for realism rather than the spectacular. The gypsy life is enacted as it exists, shorn of the bizarre effects which are found in fiction and screen stories.

ROSEWOOD

Budge P. Bulden, Carl Nelson, R. R. Wassgren, E. J. Carlson, Harold Christersen, Andrew Anderson and Harold Blawd, a carpenter gang of the Soo, was in town last Wednesday doing repair work on the company property, laying in new planks in the platform, re-roofing part of the depot. They also had along two 16 foot culverts which will be placed at the street crossing at a future date. This crossing has been very narrow for years and several accidents has happened to cars and vehicles.

The east side residents along the Main street at Rosewood have decided to lay a cement sidewalk the entire length from the railroad property up to the street going east, and work thereon commenced this week. This improvement for the village has been planned for years and its realization will be a great satisfaction. Quite a bunch took in the ball game at Radium on Saturday afternoon.

Politics cause little excitement in this vicinity as only about fifty percent of the voters were present at the primaries on Monday. This seems to be a good proof that everybody is well satisfied with present candidates.

Thure, Miss Sve and Mrs. A. Blomberg and Tommy Joringdal were pleasant callers at the Joe Joringdal home on Tuesday evening.

(Prepared and ordered published under the direction of U. P. Rued, personal campaign committee for George M. Gunderson, candidate for re-election for the office of County Superintendent of Schools. Amount to be paid, $2.00.)

To the Voters of Pennington County:

I hereby wish to express my hearty thanks to you for the generous support given me at the past primaries.

It is most encouraging to me to learn that I have, in all of my endeavors, proven of some value to our rural elementary schools and that thru your support and vote, I am nominated as one of the aspirants for the office of county superintendent of schools.

Yours very truly,
GEO. M. GUNDERSON,
County Superintendent of Schools

To the Voters of the 14th Judicial District.

I wish to thank you for the support given me at the primary election. There were five candidates for district judges, Judge Watts of Polk county, Judge Bishop and G. Halvorson of Pennington county and Judge Grindeland of Marshall county. Judge Bishop carried his own county of Pennington by several hundred votes and also carried Marshall county, where Judge Grindeland and I reside. As a resident of Marshall county, which has expressed its preference, I feel that myself and Judge Grindeland should abide by it, in view of the fact that Judge Bishop also carried his own county of Pennington. Our personal ambitions should give way to the expressed wish of our people in the counties of our residence.

GEORGE R. WILSON,
Esplee, Minn.

Card of Thanks.

We wish hereby to express our sincere thanks to the kind friends and neighbors who assisted us during the illness and after the death of our late mother, Mrs. Iver Peterson.—Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. J. Ott, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hazelton.

Werstlein-Giefer.

A wedding which is of interest to a large number of people of this city took place yesterday morning, when Miss Teresa Giefer and George W. Werstlein were united in marriage. The simple but pretty wedding took place at St. Bernard's Catholic church at 9 o'clock, Rev. M. J. Noesen reading the ceremony.

The bridesmaid was Miss Christine Giefer, sister of the bride, and Gregory Werstlein, brother of the groom, acted as best man. A. H. Dorn ushered. The church was beautifully decorated with ferns, moccasins and daisies. Mrs. Mae Rowan at the piano, played Loghengrin's march. The double ring ceremony was used.

The bride was gowned in combination crepe de-luxe and georgette, trimmed with hand-made flowers and hemstitching, with hat to match. Her maid wore a honey-dew organdie dress, also trimmed in hand-made flowers and a touch of blue satin and wore hat to match. A boquet of lilies-of-the-valley and white roses were carried by the bride, while the bridesmaid carried ophelia roses.

Following the ceremony a 1 o'clock dinner was given at the home of the bride, 302 Conley avenue south. The rooms were handsomely decorated in a color scheme of pink and white and center of the bridal table. Thirty-center of the bride's table. Thirty-six of the immediate friends and relatives of the couple were invited. Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Peter Neth and children of Grand Forks, Mrs. J. E. Misen, Lidgerwood, N. D., and Mr. and Mrs. T. Tandberg, Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Tvedt and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McDonald of Goodridge.

The bride is a daughter of Peter Giefer, who has lived in this city for eight years. She has been engaged as domestic sceince teacher in the school of Goodridge during the past six years, having graduated from the high school of New Ulm, where she formerly resided. She has been actively engaged in school and community work of various kinds and has a host of friends in this city and Goodridge. The groom, who is a son of Mrs. Mary Werstlein, has resided here nearly all his life and is one of the popular young men of the city. He is at present with the First National bank as assistant cashier.

Mr. and Mrs. Werstlein left the same day for Bemidji, near where they will spend an indefinite time at a summer resort. They will make their home at 612 LaBree Avenue N.

Erickson-Blair.

A wedding of interest to people of this city occurred last Thursday evening, when Miss Belle Blair became the bride of George Erickson. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Erickson, 941 Duluth avenue N., with Rev. Chas. Gerlinger of the Presbyterian church officiating in the presence of Myrtle Blair, sister of the bride, and Roy Erickson, brother of the groom. The ring ceremony was used and took place under an arch of ferns and daisies. The bride wore a dark blue traveling suit with hat to match.

Following the ceremony a three-course supper was served at 8 o'clock by the bride's mother. The table decorations were pink and white peonies and candles. The wedding was attended only by relatives of the bride and groom.

The bride is well known in this city and has a host of friends. She has been engaged in teaching in the schools of Carlos, this state, during the past year. The groom is also very favorably known and is employed at the Soo shops as boilermaker.

The newlyweds left the same evening for Sioux City, Iowa, for a short visit with relatives. They will also spend part of their honeymoon at Lake La Hamodo. They will be back in this city the first part of July, to make their home here.

Franzman-Lutz.

A wedding of interest to people of Thief River Falls, was that of Miss Ida Franzman of Grygla and Rev. H. Lutz, pastor of the German Lutheran church of Goodridge. The bride is well known in this city, having graduated from the Thief River high school a few years ago.

The following taken from the Grygla Eagle gives further particulars:

"At the farm home of the bride's parents southwest of this village on Wednesday, June 14, 1922, by Rev. Kreidt of Thief River Falls, Miss Ida Franzman of this place, was married to Rev. Henry Lutz of Goodridge.

"The ceremony took place under an archway decorated with paper ornaments and a large wedding bell, in the afternoon in the beautiful grove near the residence.

"The bride is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Franzman, progressive farmers living southwest of this place. She is one of the most popular young ladies of this community. The groom is pastor of the German Lutheran church in this district, and is an able young man, well known and highly respected throughout his charge. Rev. Kreidt delivered an excellent sermon full of good sound advice, closing with an especially fine marriage ceremony.

"The bride was given in marriage by her father and the wedding march was played by her sister, Miss Alice Franzman.

"The maid of honor was Miss Hofer of Tenstrike, a Bemidji classmate of the bride and the bridesmaids were: Mrs. Alfred Franzman and Miss Mable Johnson. The best men were Herman Lutz, brother of the groom, Alfred and John Franzman, brothers of the bride.

"Mr. Carl Lutz of Dennison, Iowa, father of the groom, was present besides a large circle of friends and acquaintances. They were the recipients of a very large number of valuable present as a token of the high esteem in which the bridal couple are held. After the ceremony a most delicious lunch was enjoyed under the shade of the trees, after which all departed for their homes wishing them a long, happy and prosperous life.

"Leaving next Monday they will make an auto tour through Iowa, Mr. Lutz's home, South Dakota and Illinois, and also visit many other places of interest, returning at the expiration of his vacation to Goodridge, where they will make their fuure home."

We were forcibly reminded of the land of the midnight sun where the gifted artist was born and raised. She has a natural interpretation combined with a wonderful personality reminding us of our own Farrar."

TAKE STEPS TO PROVIDE PURE WATER SUPPLY

City Council Instructs Engineers to Draw Up Plans For Million Gallon Plant.

Deep Well Giving Out and Supply Is Again Being Pumped From Red Lake River.

Public Warned Against Using Water in Mains For Drinking Purposes at Present.

Wolf & Shephard, St. Paul engineers and experts in the construction of filtration plants, have been instructed by he city council to draw up preliminary plans for a filtration system for Thief River Falls. Members of the city council met with Mr. Shephard on Wednesday and matters were gone over thoroughly with the result that the preliminary steps for providing a pure and adequate supply of water for the city have been taken.

The tentative plans call for the construction of a building 60x100 feet next to the power house on Second street, with a capacity of a million gallons per day. In order to make room for the proposed plant it may be necessary to condemn that stretch of Atlantic avenue between Second street and the river, but as this serves no good purpose and has never been put in shape for traffic the matter is of no particular importance.

Action on this matter was hastened by the fact that the deep well from which water has been pumped during he past year shows signs of giving out and it has been found necessary to fall back on the river supply. An agent of the state board of health was in the city the first of the week and recommended the installation of a filtration plant at once in order to safeguard the health of the people. Supt O. L. Legvold has also warned everyone against using water from the mains for drinking purposes as it may carry contamination.

Mr. Legvold states that the present time the consumption of water in the city is about 250,000 gallons per day. This keeps the pumps working 16 hours out of 24 and means a heavy expense for power. A filtration plant with the recommended capacity would cut this expense in two and besides furnish an absolute pure supply of water. The proposed plant will be larger than is necessary in order to take care of the present needs of the city but it is considered wise to provide one of sufficient capacity to meet any probable demand of the near future.

Several attempts have been made to secure a pure water supply by means other than the construction of a filtration plant, but none have been entirely satisfactory. Experts have maintained that other methods would prove a waste of money and that the city would finally decide on filtration. The council seems to be unanimously of the same opinion and have taken steps to solve the problem once and for all. This action will meet with general approval as it has been the contention of many that the city should get along without less needful things in order to remedy this important defect.

Wefald Leads Barnett By 400 Votes in the District

Official returns show that Knud Wefald of Hawley, was nominated over J. S. Barnett of this city for congress on the Farmer-Labor ticket on June 19. Wefald received 4,632 votes to 4,144 for Barnett. The latter carried his own county by a wide margin but Wefald was the favorite in the more populous counties in the southern part of the district.

The vote by counties was as follows:

County—	Wefald.	Barnett.
Becker	428	278
Clay	1,331	311
Clearwater	220	202
Kittson	100	113
Mahonomen	159	265
Marshall	309	335
Norman	217	196
Otter Tail	438	357
Pennington	318	981
Polk	417	627
Red Lake	82	111
Roseau	284	194
Wilkin	177	176

Another close race, the result of which was not known until after the official returns were tabulated, was in the Third district, where Congressman Davis was opposed by Reuben Thoreen of Stillwater. Davis was nominated with 20,013 votes as against 19,760 for his opponent.

Henry Oen New President of Produce Association

The Pennington County Produce association held its annual meeting on June 24. Henry Oen was elected president, R. J. McKercher, secretary and treasurer, J. J. McCann, manager. Following are the directors: F. T. Satre, S. E. Hunt, and O. K. Svere. The members present were strongly in favor of again marketing with the Minnesota Potato exchange and declared their intention of shipping only No. 1 grate potatoes.

The growers signified their intention of having a good exhibit at the local potato shol held in the Citizen State bank this season. The winners from there will exhibit in Crookston and also at the state potato show.

Visit Creameries.

Hans Anton, Peter Englestad, S. O. Lee, and Thor K. Rynestad, board of directors of the local creamery and Harold Olson, manager, returned Tuesday from a extended trip to various parts of the state, looking over creameries and creamery machinery. They left Monday and stopped at Detroit, Pelican Rapids, Fergus Falls, Barnesville and other places. A $100,000 co-operative creamery erected at Fergus Falls last year is supposed to be the largest co-operative creamery in the world. A great deal of information was derived from the investigation of various creameries for the construction of the new structure in this city.

GRAND JURY FINDS FOUR INDICTMENTS: TWO DAMAGE SUITS

Young Woman, Injured in Auto Spill, Blames Driver—Mrs. Erickson Sues Soo.

The June term of the district court for Pennington county convened on Tuesday morning with Judge Andrew Grindeland presiding. The grand jury, with nine women members and Louis Nelson of Smiley township as foreman, completed its duties Tuesday afternoon, after finding four indictments, as follows:

The civil calendar opened with the case of Miss Bertine Gysland against Oscar Carlson and Joseph Johnson, in which plaintiff asks personal damages because of injuries sustained when an automobile in which she was riding with the two men ran over a pig, causing the machine to turn turtle. Miss Gysland alleges that her nose was broken and that she was otherwise injured at the time and that the defendants are responsible through having driven the car while intoxicated. Bratland & McLaughlin of Ada, are attorneys for plaintiff and H. O. Chommie of this city for defendants. The case is expected to reach the jury this afternoon.

The next action of the calendar is that of Mrs. E. O. Erickson against the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Soo St. Marie railway company, in which damages in the sum of $5,000 are asked. Plaintiff alleges that she slipped on the floor of the depot in this city last November and broke her arm in falling.

Fine Clothing Stock is Offered at Big Reduction

A clothing sale of more than usual interest to the buying public is now on at the store of the Palace Clothing company, announcement of which will be found on the back page of today's Times. Mr. Cohn has decided to make a clean sweep of all summer goods and has marked things down to a point where they should move in a hurry. The Palace stock is one of the very best to be found in this section, being new and up-to-date in every particular. All the new suits bought specially for the summer trade will be included in the cleanup and at prices which should prove most attractive to the careful buyer. The shoe bargains are particularly interesting while high-grade underwear, trousers, overalls, shirts, sox and other articles of mens' wear have been subjected to really remarkable reductions. This sale will afford an opportunity for stocking up on dependable merchandise at prices that will mean a big saving to the buyer. A glance at the announcement will prove that this is a genuine markdown sale and that nothing in the store has been reserved.

Meet at Middle River.

The Young People's District convention of the Norwegian Lutheran church will convene at Middle River on Sunday, July 2. Large delegations from all parts of the district are expected to attend. The event promises to be both entertaining and educational as many excellent speakers have been secured for the occasion. ASSURED MANY FINE FEATURES IN CHAUTAUQUA

Entertainments Will Cover Period of Five Days, Beginning on Tuesday, July 19.

Representative Here Last Week and Made Important Changes in the City's Contract.

Advance Ticket Sale Will Probably Be Placed in Hands of Girls' Community Club.

Miss Hallie Kuiney a representative of Vawter Chautauqua was a visitor here last week and awakened a lot of new chautauqua enthusiasm, by voluntarily offering a revised contract for this season that the local supporters and backers feel a much better prospect for success, and a more favorable basis upon which to operate.

There will be a reduction in the price of the season tickets, which will be $2.00 for the total cost. The contract itself is of a co-operative nature, and is considered by the backers here to be the most favorable ever offered.

Briefly speaking, this new contract provides for an equal division between the management and the local backers, of all receipts in excess of $750. This includes receipts from both the advance sale of season tickets and the gate money.

A wonderful program has been arranged for, with the usual profusion of good music, plenty of entertainment, and some strong lectures. The Junior Chautauqua for the children has undergone some decided improvements.

Program Features.

Among the musical features are The Mercedes Melody Quartet, four winsome girls, of fine voices and entertainment instincts in a great variety of offerings. The Premier Artists Quintette is composed of five finished vocal artists, seasoned to the concert platform, and furnishing programs of exquisite beauty and charm, from the great classics of musical literature. Then there is the Joymakers Quartet, which, as their name would indicate, are equipped for the funfest by the use of all the known arts of musical entertainment in vocal music, insrumental selections and novelty stunts galore in which they propose a jolly good time for the Chautauqua patrons.

A Rousing Comedy.

A popular play entitled "A Pair of Sixes," considered by many the greatest American comedy, which enjoyed a long run on Broadway, will be staged by a competent company, and the Vawter people promise a most delightful evening's entertainment in this. The plot is interesting and abounds in comedy situations, ringing all the changes in love, adventure, romance, sentiment and pure comedy. The press reviews indicate that this is a truly wonderful production, and as well played comedies are universally popular, this will certaily prove to be a winner.

Another play, along a different line and more in the nature of a drama, will be enacted by Mr. and Mrs. Glen Wells. "Atonement" is the title, and it is said to deal with the price that must be paid for wrong doings in social and business deals, the price that is often exacted right here in this life. It is said to be strong and gripping, a play that leaves a lasting impression.

The Lecturers.

Amng the lecturers are Hon. Edward Taylor Franks, member of the Federal Board of Vocational Education, a nationally known character who discusses practical phases of that great subject in a popular way. Mr. Alex Miller, a westerner, who has discovered the secret of happiness, and is said to be able to make people fall in love again with the community where they live, by pointing out the local advantages which they have overlooked.

REPLACING SCRUBS WITH PUREBREDS AIM OF BREEDERS

Campaign Will Be Launched in One or Two Townships During Month of August.

The Pennington County Breeders' association, at a meeting held last Saturday, decided to put on a purebred sire campaign in one or two townships of the county during the month of August. Purebred bulls of the Holstein, Guernsey, Shorthorn and Hereford breeds will be placed on farms not already having a purebred heard head. Scrub bulls will be taken in exchange for the purebred animals and sent to market in order to get them out of the country entirely. A day will be named for gahering them up and they will, so far as possible, be shipped out all at one time. Townships or neighborhoods wishing to secure purebred sires as a community proposition should make application at the farm bureau office at once in order that their needs may be met. M. T. McFarland, Hans Anton and Casper Weiner were named as a committee to have charge of this particular branch of the association's activities.

The Holstein men at the meeting also took steps to have exhibits at he county fair during the first week of August. Those who will exhibit purebreds of this class at the big show are: J. H. Hardesty & Son, Fred Beerbower, S. E. Hunt, M. T. McFarland, Casper Weiner, Hans Rued, V. C. Noper, Oscar and Gust Wilson. Frank Hardesty, Mr. Beerbower and Mr. McFarland were appointed to have charge of the exhibit.

DAKOTA PRIMARY RESULT

At 5 o'clock this (Thursday) afternoon it looks as if McCumber has been defeated for renomination on the Republican ballot for United States senator in North Dakota. With 830 precincts in the state heard from he has a lead of 7,000, Nestos for governor has a lead of 23,000 and is probably safe.

BASKET PICNIC TO MARK OPENING OF NEW GOLF COURSE

Public Invited to Visit Club's New Links North of City on Sunday Afternoon.

The Thief River Falls Golf club will hold a public opening of the new links just north of the Soo roundhouse on Sunday afternoon and everybody is invited to come out and assist in celebrating the event. Four holes will be ready for play at this time and it is the intention to increase this to nine next season. The site selected for the course has been chosen with a view to enlargement and it will be a comparatively easy matter to add more holes now that a start has been made.

A basket picnic will be held during the afternoon and those who attend will have the privilege of going over the course with their golf equipment, being taken in hand by President W. A. Barnard of the club, R. M. Shelton, Don Gamble and Nels Christianson, who have volunteered to act as instructors for those who may be beginners at the game.

The men at the head of the golf club are entitled to a lot of credit for having provided this course. In time it will mean a great deal to the city, as summer tourists greatly favor plans in which a golf course is located. The game is almost as much a national pastime as is baseball and is gaining in popularity every year.

A golf course is also a good business proposition. Bemidji, Detroit and Alexandria are cities in this section which have benefitted greatly by the fact of having a course located near at hand. There are no links located north of Thief River Falls in this state and this fact will prove of importance in holding tourists who are traveling either to or from Canada.

The general public has a great interest in the success of this enterprise than at first appears. In order to find out just how great this interest is everyone should make it a point to visit the links on Sunday. They will be made welcome and may discover that there is more to golf than they have heretofore suspected. It is particularly desired that there be a good attendance of ladies as they often become even greater golf enthusiasts than the men.

Marshall County Farmer Shot By Holdup Artists

Charles Bucholz, a farmer living 20 miles northeast of East Grand Forks, is in a hospital at Warren recovering from a bullet wound sustained early Sunday morning when he was shot in the back by two holdup artists near Warren. The shooting occurred while Bucholz was driving from his farm to Warren. Two shots were fired at Bucholz after he failed to stop and give two pedestrians a lift. One of the bullets took effect.

Phosphates Double Yield at N. W. Experiment Farm

An acre strip across a thirty acre alfalfa field was fertilized with 135 pounds of treble superphosphate. Yields were taken from this strip and the unfertilized alfalfa along side of it. The soil is uniform and both strips received the same care aside from the application of the phosphate. The phosphate was applied last year but due to the extremely dry weather no appreciable effect was noted last year.

The red clover is grown in a rotation of wheat, clover, oats, and a cultivated crop. Rock phosphate was applied at the rate of 480 pounds per acre once in four years immediately preceding the cultivated crop.

MEN HELD FOR BORGEN DEATH ARE SET FREE

"Red" McCarthy and John Menzel, Arrested By Sheriff LaBree, Establish Alibi.

Arrived in Thief River Falls at 7:25 on Night Crime Was Committed.

Robbers Surprised While Looting Bank—No Trace of Criminals Has Been Found.

"Red" McCarthy of Cando, N. D., and John Menzel of Warroad, held in jail in this city suspected of being implicated in the murder of Fred Borgen and robbery of the Lamb National bank at Michigan, N. D., early last Thursday morning, were released on Tuesday afternoon after the authlties were satisfied that they had proved a complete alibi. Testimony going to prove that these men could not possibly have had anything to do with the double crime was furnished by Conductor G. H. Nicholson of the Soo, who stated that McCarthy and Menzel had boarded his train at Bisbee, about 55 miles from Michigan, at 1:28 o'clock last Wednesday afternoon and remained on board until the train pulled into the city at 7:25 that evening. Both paid cash fares. It was also shown that after their arrival in this city they purchased a shirt at the clothing store of E. O. Mogensen. As the crime of which they were suspected was committed about 2 o'clock in the morning of last Thursday, it would obviously have been impossible for them to have been anywhere near the scene. As soon as these facts became known the prisoners were released.

When arrested at Red Lake Falls by Sheriff W. J. LaBree the men stated that they were in a hotel at Bisbee on the night of the crime. It has been maintained that the hotel register at Bisbee had been altered and that it was on the night previous they stopped at that place, but evidence to sustain this contention was not deemed sufficient and the men were let go.

A woman, said to be the wife of one of the men and alleged to have been deserted at Bisbee, was brought to this city for examination. She arrived on Tuesday in custody of Sheriff Tom Oakland of Towner county, N. D., and while she furnished Sheriff LaBree with considerable information concerning the two men, none of it was of such nature as to in any manner connect them with the murder and robbery.

Michigan authorities are continuing their search for the wanted parties. It is now known that besides killing Borgen they robbed the Lamb National bank of $5,000 in cash and securities. Borgen, whose home is in this city, surprised the robbers while they were looting the bank and was shot, his body being found near the scene early the next morning. So far as the bank authorities can learn the robbers have as yet made no attempt to dispose of the bonds and securities which formed part of their loot.

"Pick-ups" Defeat Highlanding.

A bunch of fellows from the city motored to Highlanding Sunday afternoon and played the Highlanding nine. The local boys were given the short end of the story, being defeated in a score 12 to 13. As may be seen by the score, the game was very close and at several instances a little argument marred its happy procedure. But for the pinch hitting of a Goodridge man the locals claim they would have clinched the victory. They were well represented by Arneson and Lane as pitcher and catcher respectively.

The same bunch expect to play Goodridge at the latter's diamond next Sunday.

To Attend Conference at Lancaster.

Rev. Albin Larson of the Ev. Luth. Augustana church left yesterday for Lancaster, where he will attend the Lutheran League conference which will be held there Friday, Saturday and Sunday. A large delegation of young people are also expected to be there during the sessions on Sunday. The regular delegates left today.

CROP OUTLOOK IN STATE VERY GOOD; RYE HARVEST SOON

Barley, Oats, Wheat, Corn and Potatoes Coming Along Fine, Says Commissioner.

There has been no deterioration in crops in Minnesota during the past week and weather conditions now are the most favorable of the year, according to the weekly crop report issued by Oscar H. Smith, state immigration commissioner.

"In Southern and Central Minnesota," he said, "the rye harvest will begin in many localities the first of next week with indications that the rye crop will be one of the largest in years. Barley and oats are heading and filling in good shape and barley cutting will be in progress about July 10.

"The condition of wheat is very promising with some starting to head. Corn is growing rapidly, is in good condition, excellent stand and color and has been well cultivated. Some potatoes are starting to blossom and all show fine growth. Rumors of the appearance of black rust are exaggerated.

Reports from different localities throughout the state show the summary report of the immigration department holds good for practically every section.

Crandall Family to California.

Mrs. C. R. Crandall and three children left Wednesday afternoon for Columbia Falls, Mont., to spend a brief period visiting with relatives. From there they will go to Napa, California, where they expect to make their home.

Dr. Crandall left today and will join them in California. The Crandall family has resided in this city for a number of years and will be greatly missed by a large circle of friends. Dr. Crandall practiced here as dentist for about twelve years and was connected with various civic affairs of this city.

THIEF RIVER FALLS WITHDRAWS FROM RED RIVER LEAGUE

The Distance Between Playing Points Too Great to Make Success Possible.

The Thief River Falls baseball team has withdrawn from the Red River Valley league, this decision being reached by the management last Saturday. There will be a meeting of those interested held at the commercial club rooms this evening to discuss what future action is to be taken.

It has been found that it is impossible to carry the team along as a league unit because of the expense. The towns represented in the league are too widely scattered for economical management and the attendance at some of the smaller places has not been sufficient to meet actual expenses. It costs considerable to take a team from this city to towns as far away as Gonvick or Ada and the amount of money taken in at the gate in these places has thus far fallen far short of meeting the running expenses of the team. The arrangement is that receipts shall be split fifty-fifty between the opposing teams and this gives those from the smaller towns much the best of it. These come to cities like Thief River Falls and Crookston, where the attendance has been fair, receiving one-half of the money taken in, while the teams from the larger places must be satisfied with the same arrangement when visiting towns where the turnout is very small.

Just what effect the withdrawal of Thief River Falls will have on the league is not known. It is probable, however, that other towns will follow the same course as none of them have been meeting expenses. The three hired players on the local team have been released by the organization is otherwise intact and a strictly home team for playing independent ball is talked of.

ORDER TO STRIKE RECEIVED HERE BY RAILWAY SHOPMEN

Will Go Out All Over the Country at 10 O'Clock Next Saturday Forenoon.

Unless something unforeseen happens the railway car men and shopmen will go out on a strike all over the country Saturday forenoon. Officers of the local union received the strike order this morning and are preparing to comply, deeming any kind of a compromise next to impossible. All shop crafts are involved, including the car repairers, boilermakers, stationery firemen, engine tenders and practically every person employed in round houses and on rip tracks.

This strike was called as a protest against the award of the railway board ordering a cut in the pay of these men. Negotiations looking towards a compromise have been going on since the men refused to accept a decision but these have apparently come to an end without accomplishing anything.

While the number of men occupied in Thief River Falls at present is not as great as during some seasons of the year, a considerable number will be affected.

Breaks Collar Bone.

Rolf Rasmusson, employed in Daniel Shaw's office, had the unpleasant experience of breaking his collar bone last Saturday. He started on an outing trip to Red Lake together with three other fellows and when they were about forty miles out they stopped at a farm home to get a drink of water. It happened that the car was parked on the edge of a little ditch and in stepping out of the car Rasmusson accidentally slipped and hit his shoulder against a rock with the above result. He was taken back immediately and brought to the hospital where the bone was set. It was necessary however, to perform a little operation as a piece of the bone had broken off and had to be removed. He is improving rapidly and is expected to be out of the hospital tomorrow.

NORSE VISITORS HAVE BIG TIME AT LAG SESSION

Most Successful Convention in History of Organization Closed Here Saturday.

Julius D. Bauman of Carlton Elected President, Succeeding Prof. Rolvaag.

Nordlandslaget of America ended its annual two-day convention here Saturday. A large number of the visitors, however, also took part in the picnic arranged for their entertainment at Squaw Point Sunday.

The convention is said to have been one of the most successful ever held by the "Lag," weather conditions and accommodations being ideal throughout the meeting. It is estimated that between five and six hundred members attended the sessions, largely out of town people. Approximately 800 people were present at the program Friday evening. There were visitors from all parts of the country. One man stated it cost him $90 to get to this city to be present at the Lag. There were people from Canada, Iowa, Washington, Oregon, Montana, the Dakotas and other states and a large number from Minnesota.

The visitors began gathering in the city Thursday, some making the trip via the Great Northern or Soo and others by cars. The committee, ably directed by Bernhard Knutson and Anton Langseth, did all in their power to make the visitors comfortable and succeeded in furnishing every one with good lodgings during their stay in the city. The delegation highly compliments the committee in general for their successful efforts.

Friday morning the "Norlandingmaal" could be heard in every corner of Thief River Falls.

Program Opened on Friday.

The greater part of Friday morning was taken up in registration of the Lag. Each one was given a badge stating what particular part of Nordland that person came from. Thus a great many happy reunions were made as many old time friends unable to recognize each other, were brought together simply by discovering that they hailed from the same town or community. Friends who had never met since they left "the land of the mid-night sun", renewed acquaintances and exchanged happy reminiscences.

The program proper opened Friday afternoon at the auditorium with singing by the audience and a few opening remarks by that able Nordlanding, Prof. E. O. Rolvaag of St. Olaf college, Northfield, president. In the absence of Mayor Bratrud, a hearty welcome to the city was extended to the visitors by City Attorney H. O. Chommie in the "Norsk" language. President Rolvaag responded and also welcomed the members to the convention. Prof. Rolvaag has a way of saying everything that puts every one in a good humor. An address was also given by the "Lag" poet, Julius B. Bauman of Carlton, Minn.

Banquet at Trinity Church.

Many of the delegates stated that the most delightful feature of the gathering was the banquet given by the Ladies Aid in the Trinity church parlors Friday evening. A very elaborate menu had been prepared, consisting of strictly Norwegian dishes including "Kvelte" (halibut) "Rommegrot" and other delicacies particularly appealing to the palates of the Nordlandings. The parlor was effecively decorated and the waitresses were dressed in national costumes to complete the "old country atmosphere."

The Friday evening sessions were very well attended, about 800 people being present.

The numbers on the program consisted of singing by the audience, a fitting welcome by Bernhard Knudsen of this city, selections by Brage Male chorus, directed by Dr. P. L. Vistaunet, solo by Roy Prytz accompanied by Mrs. O. F. Mellby, and addresses by Rev. T. O. Svare, Bj. Bjornarna and Prov. Rolvaag.

Bauman Elected President.

The outcome of election of officers Saturday forenoon was as follows: President, Julius B. Bauman of Carlton, succeeding Prof. Rolvaag; Vice Presidents, H. Borgen, Duluth, J. Jorgenson, Minot and Rev. E. G. Eitnes, Woodville, Wis.; Secretary, S. W. Davidson, Minneapolis; finance secretary, Mrs. A. Smeby, Northfield; Treasurer, L. Strauman, Minneapolis, editor of "Nord Norge," J. B. Bauman, Carlton; business manager of "Nord Norge," Rev. J. Skagen, Superior, Wis., and executive committee of "Nord Norge" Prof. O. E. Rolvaag, Northfield, J. B . Bauman, Carlton, and Rev. J. Skagen, Superior, Wis. A greeting was delivered to the Lag from the Satesdala Lag by their representative, Bj. Bjornarna. A subscription of about $400 was solicited finance "Nord Norge," the official publication of the organization. Mrs. Sofie Hammer-Moeller, who gave a concert in the evening, sang two selections, which met with a hearty applause. Her husband, Dr. T. Moeller, also gave an entertaining reading.

Saturday afternoon about 90 cars made the trip to the R. M. Johnson farm, where the visitors and a large number of local people enjoyed the day picnicing, the Young Peoples' Society and Ladies' Aid having made arrangements for the occasion. Very interesting addresses were delivered by members of the Nordlandslag, and C. L. Hansen of this city was among the local speakers who paid tribute to the Nordlandings for their share in the development of the Northwest.

The following resolutions were passed at the convention:

"To the City of Thief River Falls:

"Nordlandslaget of America, assembled in convention in your beautiful city, wishes to convey its appreciation of the hearty and warm welcome extended to us by your representative, Mr. H. O. Chommie. We wish to thank your citizens for all kindness and hospitality shown us."

"We wish to thank the city government for the use of the beautiful auditorium.

"May your ciy and its people continue in prosperity and happiness.

"Nordlandslaget assembled in convention in Thief River Falls, hereby wishes to extend its heartiest thanks to the Nordlandslags of this city for their hospitality and willing accommodations. They solved their problems as hosts in a most satisfying manner.

"We wish to thank the Ladies' Aid of the Norwegian Lutheran church for their splendid serving at the banquet.

"Our warmest thanks to R. M. Johnson for the accommodations enjoyed at the picnic at his farm home.

"Allow us to thank the Brage Male choir for its splendid choir numbers.

"May happiness and success always follow the Norwegian people of this city and vicinity."

ASSURED MANY FINE FEATURES IN CHAUTAUQUA

An Armenian scholar, Bagdasar Baghdigian, is coming with a lecture on the fundamentals of pure "Americanism," and is said to be a whirlwind. As Brice, a foreigner, was able to write the best treatise on the American Commonwealth, so Baghdigian is said to be able to press the claims of undiluted Americanism in a new and more forceful way than even our own patrons and scholars. Then there is John E. Aubrey, on "The One Mile Town" in which he shoots the pep into us all and arouses us out of indifference and lethargy to incentives and ambitions for a bigger and better place to call our home. He is a booster and a builder whose influence for progress is a matter of record.

In addition to new and novel ways of making practical as well as interesting, the activities of the younger folks, in operating a miniture town in all its departments, the Junior Chautauqua, made up of all local kiddies, will stage a magnificent pageant, in colors and splendor, entitled "The Conquest of Peace."

With the new and better contract, and such an array of high-class platform attractions, the chautauqua this season should take on new life in a decided way, and take its real place as the biggest thing of the entire year.

These Chautauqua entertainments will cover a period of five days—July 19 to 23 inclusive. Those sponsoring these attractions as underwriters are the following business and professional men: C. L. Hansen, A. S. Sapero, R. M. Sheldon, W. A. Hall, Jr., Scott Laird, W. W. Prichard, Jr., W. A. Barnard, Dr. H. W. Froehlich, Dr. A. W. Swedenburg, E. M. Stanton, Sr., S. Karl Sundahl, Carl B. Larson, J. H. Hermanson, H. W. Protzeller, John Bratrud, Dr. G. W. Booren, T. M. Thronson, L. M. Rayson, Nels Christianson, E. O. Mogensen, Geo. Streeter, P. O. Myhrum, C. A. Nason, R. H. Ross.

The local committee in charge has offered the Girls' Community club anything there may be in the way of profits if that organization will take over the advance sale of tickets. This means that the club will receive one-half of whatever sum is realized over $750.

BASE ADVERTISING ON RESULTS ALONE, ADVICE OF EXPERT

R. K. Evans, in Charge of Publicity Campaign For County, Makes Statement.

A peculiar phase of commercialism which has to be faced by every business man is how to spend his money, appropriated for advertising in the most effective manner. There is not a week goes by but that every merchant is offered some wonderful method of advertising. Many of these plans are good, some better than others, and then again some plans have no advertising value whatsoever.

Too many merchants, who have been solicited to a point of vexation, are prone to class all advertising and publicity plans as on the same plane. This should not be done any more than all automobiles, all merchandise, all cattle or horses should be classed together.

The average advertiser who gives thought and consideration to the commodity he buys gets better results than the man who buys promiscuously and figures his advertising as a donation. All advertising is based strictly on psychology. Four principles are involved in preparing copy, choosing the medium and reaching the reader. First, he must have attractiveness and be identified with some medium which as a whole will be read and enjoyed. Thus we have Interest. Again, his copy should be clear and to the point so that every reader, educated and uneducated alike, can understand it. This feature gives Comprehension. These first two features will create a Desire and the three will bring about Purchase. Therefore we have Interest, Comprehension, Desire and Purchase.

Many things go to make up a successful medium and in inaugurating the publicity campaign for Thief River Falls and Northwestern Minnesota these features have been carefully studied out by the management of The Times and the men employed to handle the work.

Instead of one big edition, which, in the rush of today's commercialism, it is impossible for a reader to read and digest thoroughly, the Times will make its regular issues industrial issues for fifteen weeks. In a series of constructive articles an educational program will be carried out. This will be the first constructive compilation of facts and statistics which has been gotten up in twelve years. It follows the organization of New Settler's association and published apropos to a "Contented Family On Every Farm."

In securing the services of R. K. Evans, an experienced publicity man, to compile this material and write the articles portraying the trade territory as a whole in word pictures as well as exploiting the local business institutions to show a well organized commercial and distributing center, The Times secured the very best talent available. In support of this statement the following excerpts from letters and publications showing what effective work has been done in other communities, are quoted:

From M. V. Atwood, professor of Agriculture in Cornell University, Ithaca, New York, commenting on a similar campaign handled by Mr. Evans in Steele county, Minnesota, comes the following: "I believe that such a series of articles, prepared as it is with the idea of giving honest and helpful information, is of great value to the community. Too many industrial editions which I have seen have been so full of fulsome flattery that it seemed to me they were of no great value. But none of this appears in your series." The interest alone of this great state college is evidence of the value of such a campaign.

W. E. Skinner, general manager of the National Dairy association, Chicago, says: "There is an excellent story in the Dairy Record of May 24, written by R. Kenneth Evans, and taken from the Owatonna Journal-Chronicle." This is to show that the work attracts the interest of national publications which is the greatest recognition that could be given a publicity campaign.

From Pipestone, Minn., Ralph S. Hart, editor Pipestone Star. "We are pleased to state that his plan gave satisfaction in every way. It certainly attracted a great deal of attention from our readers and gave the industries of this community a great amount of valuable publicity. We commend Mr. Evans and his work."

From A. L. Clark & Son, Hays, Kansas: "All the merchants, forty-five in number, are more than pleased and everyone a booster for the campaign."

From Hon. L. S. Whitcomb, Albert Lea, Tribune: "For once we have struck a hundred percent plan with a hundred percent man back of it."

From the Sioux Falls Argus Leader: "He told the story of Sioux Falls as it perhaps has never been told before, succinct, accurate and thoroughly readable, grasping the essential facts and weaving them so carefully aand well into a delightful panorama of this region that the Argus-Leader is glad of the opportunity to give them publicity."

From the Aberdeen, S. D. American: "Mr. Evans not only furnishes more in work, publicity returns and satisfaction to the individual contributor of the financial budget under which he works but is also entirely free from the slackness and leaving of things undone than any other publicity promoter with whom we have had dealings in the past eight years."

From the Keith County News, Ogallala, Nebraska: "I am sure the great mass of our readers appreciate the great work we did for our community and for the western part of the state. Changes and developments will come which will make it advisable to repeat the performance within the next three years."

Mr. Evans is in possession of dozens of similar letters of commendation, both local and national, which is conclusive evidence that no efforts are left undone to make his both thorough and effective.

The same spirit will enter into the work to be run through The Times and the management assures everyone that a treat is in store for them in the way of industrial exploitation of the resources with which dame nature so generously endowed this section of the great continent.

AT THE THEATRES

THE SHEIK'S WIFE.

The coming week will see produced at the Lyceum theatre two of the greatest pictures ever produced. On Sunday and Monday "The Shiek's Wife" will be he attraction and it is said to be fully as fine a picture as its predecessor, "The Shiek," The Chicago Herald and Examiner has the following comment on this great production:

"The Sheik's Wife" is every bit as interesting as its famed and far-reaching predecessor, "The Shiek." There is a capital story based on the love of an English girl for an Arab Prince. A story that has every thrill an unusual combination like that can produce. The girl loves the dusky Arab, and plots and plans for his affection. That she eventually succeeds goes without saying.

"The Sheik's Wife" is one of the year's best cavemen films. A temporary relief from the everyday drawing room dramas. A picture you will enjoy.

"THE FOUR HORSEMEN"

The public has been pretty well fed up on "million dollar masterpieces" in the way of motion pictures, but on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights there will be one presented at the Lyceum which is even greater than its press agents make it out to be. "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" is regaded by press and critics as without question the greatest picture ever produced. Newspapers in New York, Boston, Detroit, Chicago, Pittsburgh, and Los Angeles are agreed that as a stupendous production this picture, taken from the great story of Ibanez, is in a class by itself. The cast is the greatest ever assembled and the scenic effects so stupendous as to make descripion impossible. "The Four Horsemen" is the supreme expression of the great war. Certainly no novel has stirred the universal appeal created by the Ibanez masterpiece. The book, now in its 186th edition, has been read throughout the world. Below are only a few hundreds of flattering press notices received by this great production:

Los Angeles Examiner—"Another epic has been presented to the world."

Pittsburgh Post—"The picture deserves all that has been said about it in advance."

Chicago Tribune—"Go and see he Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse. It is worth your time and money."

Life, New York—"The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse is a living, breathing answer to those who still refuse to take motion pictures seriously."

Must Be.

It is said that a fool is born every minute, but when you notice the chances that are taken at crowded crossings the average seems to be higher.

Gave Farewell Party.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Holt was the scene of a pleasant party last Wednesday evening, when Alfred St. Onge, who leaves shortly for Minneapolis, where he will be ememployed was honor guest. Miss Wold formerly lived in Warren with her mother, Mrs. Cora Wold, about six years ago. She attended school in the public schools of Warren and gained many friends who all wish to extend congratulations to her.

"Mr. Melby is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Melby of Grand Forks. He is employed in The Northern State Bank of Grand Forks.

"The newlyweds left by auto for a honeymoon to the Twin Cities and Itasca Park."

Entertain at Dinner.

Dr. and Mrs. Thor Moeller of Devils Lake, N. D., delightfully entertained a group of friends at a dinner Saturday at the Evelyn Hotel. The Hammer-Moeller Concert.

Those who heard the Sofie Hammer-Moeller concert held in the Auditorium last Saturday evening were not disappointed in their expectations. Madam Hammer-Moeller is a lyric soprano and the opinion of those who heard her previously was upheld by her appearance Saturday night. The praises given her for the wonderful rendition of Scandinavian folk songs in particular are entirely justified. She has an unusually pleasing personality and her interpretation of music is such that the listener cannot help but be thrilled by it. if Mrs. Moeller's appearance in her national costumes especially brought volumes of applause. Her program consisted of English and Italian numbers.

Mrs. Moeller was assisted by her husband, Dr. Thor. Moeller, who gave several effective readings and had to respond to several encores.

The accompaniment was furnished by Miss Lyda Loftness, who also rendered some piano selections in the most pleasing manner.

It may be of interest to many to note that Dr. T. Moeller at one time was a resident of Thief River Falls, having practiced here back in 1897 and is known to several old residents of this city.

The Next Band Concert.

The largest crowd seen this year turned out for the band concert last evening. The band improves with every appearance and is now furnishing some reall yexcellent music. Band Leader M. J. Sorflaten announces the following program for next Wednesday's concert:

Here From Golden Valley Station.

R. S. Dunham, agronomist at the University Experiment station at Crookston, was a caller here between trains Monday enroute to Crookston from Golden Valley. Mr. Dunham has spent a short time at the experiment station which is being conducted at Golden Valley and states that the trials carried out there are very favorable. Clover and winter rye are particularly good. It is being proven that clover seeded in soil not plowed, but which phosphate has been applied, produces a perfect stand. This will be a great aid to the farmers in acquiring a good hay hay meadow without plowing the land. It can easily be detected what parts of the fields have been fertilized with phosphate and which have not. This fertilizer increases the yield many fold.

F. J. Alway, who has also been at the Golden Valley Station, returned Tuesday.

TO THE VOTERS:

To the Voters of the 14th Judicial District:

I filed as a candidate for district judge at the request of many voters, and on the last day of filing. The other candidates had their campaigns going for a long time.

Within forty days thereafter, without making a campaign for me, you have registered a marvelous vote. Such, in fact, that I am the only candidatte for district judge in this district who carried his home county at the primary election, excepting Judge Wattts, who carried his home county of Polk.

I thank you.
J. M. BISHOP.

NOTICE.

To the Voters of Pennington County.

I want to assure you that I appreciate most highly the splendid vote given me in the primary election. I hope that I may continue to merit the confidence and high esteem that your votes express. Thank you!

Very respectfully,
OLE R. SANDE.

Great Vacation Offer For Thief River Falls Youths

Mayor John Bratrud has received a request that he use his best endeavors to see that one young man from Thief River Falls attend military training camp at Fort Snelling this summer. At least one young man is wanted but the number of candidates is not limited. The government provides food, clothing, medical attention, religious services, traveling expenses, athletics and in fact everything needed to make a valuable and enjoyable vacation lasting one month for as many young men as can be provided for by the government appropriation.

Those taking advantage of this offer are under no obligation to join the army. The plan is simply to provide a short period of physical and military training for those who wish to take advantage of it. Those in charge—World War officers for the most part—assure parents that their boys will return better citizens, improved in health and in every way a credit to their sponsors.

Bring Eggs in Often, is State Inspector's Advice

J. A. Leonard of Crookston, inspector in this district for the State Dairy and Food commission, was in the city the first of the week. Mr. Leonard stated that as the egg season opens about May 15 of each year there are a number of things the producers should bear in mind. He often finds that there is a disposition on the part of farmers to blame produce dealers for candling the eggs brought in, but this is required by the state law which makes neglect of this precaution on the part of the handler punishable by a heavy fine. This law was enacted for the protection of the egg producer as well as the public and can work no hardship on those handling fresh eggs.

It is suggested that eggs be brought in as often as possible during the hot weather and that the roosters be sold off in order to reduce the fertility. Fertile egg spoil much more quickly than infertile ones and there is no value in having the roosters run with the hens at this time.

Mr. Leonard was also looking for violations of the law which prohibits the sale of cigarettes to boys under 18 years of age. He found no offenders in this city but he wished to remind boys of the fact that they are liable to arrest if caught smoking the same as the man who sold them the "pills."

Co-Operative Livestock Agency Sets New Record

Minnesota farmers have set a new record for co-operation in the United States.

The surplus set aside by the Central Co-operative Commission association at South St. Paul in the first five months of 1922, and just reported to the local shipping associations throughout the state, exceeds every former achievement in co-operative marketing of livestock.

Since Jan. 1, the farmers' sale agency at South St. Paul has set aside a surplus of $48,183, after paying the entire cost of operation, and handling the largest volumn of business on the market at rates considerably below the prevailing commission charges. The company already has paid back to its patrons in patronage dividends more than $19,000, a sum larger than the total amount invested in its capital stock.

The investigation department of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation has compiled figures showing that the money invested by livestock producers to establish their own sales agency on the terminal market amounted to less than 45 cents apiece.

In the first five months of 1922, the Central association has handled 5,849 carloads of stock; the total volume of business on the market amounted to only 23,087 cars. The co-operative firm's business so far this year has been more than four times as large as that of its nearest competitor.

First Circus Here.

The first circus of the season gave two performances in this city last Thursday and a good crowd turned out. The attraction was Christy Brothers' show, featuring dog, pony and other animal acts as well as some very good ring stuff. The outfit is not as large as Ringling's but it puts on a highly satisfactory performance.

The Week's Sermon

(By Rev. E. H. Kreidt, Pastor St. John's Lutheran Church, Thief River Falls.)

"Thou Shalt Not Kill."

Ex. 20:13.

Murder is the taking of a human life by any person outside of the constituted authority. The government has not only the right but the duty to take the life of its subjects on due provocation. The God Who said: "Thou shalt not kill," has also said: "Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed"; and "The government beareth not the sword in vain: for he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil." Capital punishment by constituted authority and according to the laws of the land is not murder, but justice.

All other taking of life is murder, whether it be committed by an individual or by a group. There is no difference in the act. It is well to recall this to mind in view of the finding of the jury at Herrin, Ill., which was called to judge the massacre perpetrated among the miners of that place. It returned a verdict of murder against only one man.

Does that verdict exonerate all the others? Does that mean that they who took of all the others killed were not guilty of murder? Many people may think so, but it is not. This one was the only clear case which the jury could find; in all the others the proper evidence was lacking. Clear testimony to the guilt of other individuals could not be obtained. The jury could not act otherwise than it did.

That fact, however, does not clear the others of their guilt. In fact, every member of that mob, whether on the Union or Non-union side, was a potential murderer. They had armed themselves to kill. They went forth to kill. They shot to kill. Whether or not their bullets found their mark, whether or not a dead and resulted from their individual acts, they are all guilty of murder.

This fact must be borne in mind. This thought should govern public opinion. In only too many cases will these murderers receive sympathy, will their lawless, bestial acts be condoned and excused. Must we then be astonished at the frequency of such outbursts of passion and lawlessness? Not a bit. The disregard for fundamental law and mortality, the foolish sentimentality which grips the people at such times is nothing less than an encouragement to dissatisfied spirits to take the law into their own hands.

These outbursts are deplorable and should fill every true American with deepest shame. But not that alone. They should stir our hearts to seek the causes for such un-American and un-Christian occurrences.

There are many contributing causes. The root of them all is to be found in the home. The parental authority is the foundation of all other authority. "Thou shalt honor thy father and thy mother" is the Creator's command to all people. In the primitive stages of the world, there was no other authority. The father was lawgiver, judge and executioner. When society became complex, when it had expanded, then these other forms of government became necessary. But the home is still the foundation.

As authority in the home is respected or disregarded, so will the other forms of authority be respected or disregarded. The child that tramps roughshod over the will of father and mother will have no compunction of doing the same with the will of state and nation. He who does not respect father and mother will not respect governor or president.

This respect and obedience to father and mother is fast disappearing in the American home. It is a fact not to be denied, that the American child is self-willed and disrespectful. Some may call it freedom, but it deserves a harsher name. This is not very flattering to us parents, but flattery as never done anybody any good. Let's face the facts and strive to remedy them.

Parents, your children are the future citizens of this nation. In the building of your child's character you are building the future of America. Raise an obedient, respectful child and you will have given to your country a law-abiding citizen. Let a child follow its own whims and wishes, and you are sowing the seed for future lawlessness and crime.

Oh, that parents would fully realize their responsibility. That all fathers and mothers would wake up to their glorious opportunities. And unless we do, unless we set ourselves to the task of training our children, we may expect just such occurrences as disgraced the name of Herrin, Ill.

Do not pass by this deplorable event with a harsh condemnation of its perpetrators of a maudlin sympathy for its victims, but rather let it be the cause for asking yourself the question: "Am I doing what I should to make such things, if not impossible, at least exceptional?" A partial answer is given above. Ponder it.

Public Forum

Concerning Ditch No. 1.

My dear Editor Times:

I hope that you will again be so kind as to print a few words in regard to the coming hearing on Consolidated Judicial Ditch No one (1), in some conspicious place in your paper, so that the people of Marshall and Beltrami counties may have their attention called to the matter. This hearing will be held before the Court at Thief River Falls, on July 18, 1922, and will be concluded at Warren on July 25. Every land owner affected by this ditch proceeding, should make it a point to be present at the hearing in Thief River Falls, if he feels that he has anything to say one way or another, or if he has any grievance of which he wants to complain. Be present at the hearing and say what you think should be done. That is the time to speak, and not after the matter is all disposed of and setled.

In the meantime talk things over with your neighbors, and with the people of your community so that you may understand it thoroughly, and know what is best for the territory affected. Write in and find out just how much your assessment is.

One of the most important questions to come up at the hearing is that of the benefits. Will the proposed ditch system benefit your land? If so how much? Will it benefit your land as much as the assessment? If not, how much will it benefit your land? Will it benefit your neighbors or the rest of the community? Consider these questions carefully.

Another question is this: Do we need any more ditches? Are the ditches we now have sufficient to take care of the ordinary rains? The amount of the benefits will of course depend largely upon the answers to those questions.

The proposed ditch proceeding was started about three years ago, right after the big rains. It is therefore clear that one of the important questions will be whether or not we need these proposed ditches in times of extraordinary rains such as we had three years ago. Would these new ditches have been of any appreciable help in times of such extraordinary rains as we had then? Would your crops have been saved in 1919 during the great flood, if we had had these proposed ditches? Discuss this question among your neighbors, so that you may know just how much these ditches would help you in times of extraordinary rains.

Still another important question is this: Can we afford any more at the present time? Taxes of all kinds are now high. Can the people of this territory stand the burden of having them increased for more ditching?

These are the questions to be settled. Think them over carefully and make up your minds as to what is best for the country as a whole. Then let every taxpayer who has any particular preference for or against this proceeding, be present in Thief River Falls on July 18, and say what he thinks should be done.

Yours very truly,

H. O. BERVE.

Economical Manuring.

In an experiment carried on at the Northwest Experiment Station, Crookston, to determine the best rate of manuring, clover hay this year yielded 1875 pounds per acre on the unmanured land, 2025 pounds on land manured with 4 tons per acre, 2187 pounds with 8 tons of manure, 2100 pounds with 16 tons of manure, and 2837 with 32 tons. Although the 32 ton application gave the largest yield, it did not make the biggest increase per on of manure. The increase in yield per ton of manure are as follows: 4 tons application, an increase of 37½ popunds per ton; 16 ton application, 14 pounds; and 32 ton application 9 4-5 pounds.

ROSEWOOD

Big Day Here July 4th.

The nations largest holiday is drawing near, and nearing completion are the plans for making it one of the largest days in the history of Rosewood. The various committees for the different lines of amusements are viewing their work with a smile of satisfaction and nothing has been spared to secure amusements for both young and old and of a nature which must please the different tastes of a mixed public, which can be expected to arrive on a day like this. And unless the weather man should become funny and decide to dampen the joys of the day, Rosewood promises to give each visitor a variety of both out and indoor amusements which must please, and invite everybody cordially to come and help them celebrate the 139th anniversary of the United States Declaration of Independence. The day's activities will commence with an outdoor patriotic address by State Senator O. A. Naplin of Thief River Falls at 11 o'clock. After a brief noon recess for lunch the afternoon program will commence with the races at 1 o'clock and will include men's and boy's foot races, woman's and girl's foot races, potato race, three legged race, wheelbarrow race, kid's pop drinking contest, pie eating contest, women's nail driving contest, suit case races etc. At 3 o'clock the Rosewood Tigers will meet the Thief River Falls Seconds at a snappy base ball game at the new diamond west of the Hanson & Brazen property. Simultaneously, to afford pleasure for the hopping youngsters, a large bowery dance will be staged at the H. B. Lumber yards, and music will be furnished by Wengeler's four piece orchestra from Thief River Falls. Dancing will be continued both afternoon and evening. A grand display of fireworks will also form part of the entertainment. Confection stands and shady resting places will be scattered through the village for the comfort of the visitors, and Mr. Remmem will have a shooting gallery with both noise and fun. The leading stores already have on hand large supplies of celebration novelties, fireworks and toys, which will be on sale at very moderate prices during the day. The Sorenson garage will be open all day for any eventful car mishap and for the filling of thirsty gas tanks. Plan to attend, bring your family, and give all a day of rest and pleasure and sociability before the increased work and responsibilities of the late summer commences.

Serving a Food Empire with Petroleum

IN maintaining its extended and thoroughly organized system of distribution, which reaches every farm in the 10 Middle Western States served, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is rendering a distinct service, not to the agricultural district interests alone, but to all the people.

The importance of this service may be visualized when it is known that 48% of the wheat

65% of oats
53% of the corn
41% of the hay

grown in the United States during 1921 came from this territory.

The farmers of this great area (approximating that of Great Britain and Ireland, France, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Holland, Denmark, and Germany combined) use large quantities of petroleum products in producing this vast amount of food stuffs.

They have come to depend upon the regular visit of the dark green tank wagon of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to supply their needs.

Power-driven machinery is essential to modern farming operations, and it is the responsibility of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to see to it that the gasoline, kerosene, and lubricating oils and other petroleum products are in the hands of the farmer when he needs them.

To render this service requires an enormous organization of highly trained men under efficient management. It requires a tremendous capital investment; refineries; bulk service stations; tank wagons; and service stations to cope with the need of supplying an agricultural area of the size and importance of these 10 Middle Western States.

In undertaking the responsibility of supplying the needs of the farmer for petroleum products, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has assumed a job of magnitude and importance.

Because it knows that its organization will not break down under stress; that its facilities will enable them to meet the demands made upon it; that its personnel has a deep interest in seeing that every manufacturing and distributing schedule is maintained, the Company is able to guarantee an adequate and sustained service.

TRUNK LINES OF THE BELL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

Nation Wide!

The telephone was at first only a community affair. Later on, devices were perfected which made conversation possible to nearby villages. But not until 1915 could conversations be had from coast to coast.

In less than fifty years a nation-wide telephone organization known as the Bell System, composed of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and eighteen Associated Companies such as this, has been built up.

The Companies of the Bell System, co-operating with the Independent telephone companies, have made nation-wide telephone service possible; by connecting over 12,000,000 American telephones. This is more than two-thirds of all the telephones in the world.

COUNTY HOLSTEINS GET GREAT BOOST IN DAIRY WRITEUP

Minneapolis Tribune Devotes Part of Sunday Department to the McFarland Herd.

The Minneapolis Sunday Tribune has lately been publishing some very good articles on the dairy development in Minnesota. Last Sunday Pennington county was given a part of the space allotted to this purpose, the Holstein herd of M. T. McFarland being particularly singled out as an object of approval. The article follows:

"Thief River Falls in Pennington county, where dairying is rapidly advancing but is still in its infancy, furnishes an example of what a business man is doing, with others, to advance the doctrine that "prosperity follows the dairy cow." M. T. McFarland of the McFarland Auto company, selling automobiles, tractors and farm implements, says: "I realize that if our farmers here do not get into dairying, we will not have anybody with any money to sell our goods to.

"Ever since I came to this country in 1913 I could not help but notice the wonderful feed growing wild along every road. I was born and raised on a farm, worked on a dairy farm, and knew that this section, by proper methods, could be turned into one of the best dairy regions of the world. Almost every cow feed known grows here, with no more effort than putting the seed in the ground. I noticed, too, that the farmer who is receiving a cream check every month was the only one we could do business with on time, as the average farmer who has no cows up here has nothing he can bank on.

"I established my own farm to convince myself and the public that a good dairy herd would pay in this country better than any other investment of time or money. I have been more successful than I ever thought I would, and have been responsible for bringing in some of the finest dairy animals that we now have in the country. If conditions are right, a great many more will be brought in this fall, as I am working on a sale for that time. Every good breeder will be asked to consign at least one good registered cow, and I know they will do this, for this county offers one of the best markets for good cows in the state.

"My farm now has 32 head of registered female Holsteins, and is managed by Roman Paulson, who was raised in this county, and has raised dairy cattle nearly all his life."

Active in Promotion.

Mr. McFarland has also been active in every public movement in the county which has promoted dairying and diversified farming. He has assisted in forming the cow-testing association, the boys' and girls' calf clubs, and has been active in the co-operative creamery organization, and in getting milk into the public schools and drinking places in town. He is now working with the Holstein Breeders' association to get every scrub bull of the county and replace it with a good dairy bull. His business takes him all over the county, and he is co-operating with the county agricultural agent in talking to younger farmers about good dairy cattle, and in getting them interested in pure-bred sires and high-producing cows.

Farm Club Contest Will Feature Next Market Day

The next Wednesday open night staged by the Thief River Falls Merchants association will be on July 19, it having been decided that it will be best to have but one such event during July and August. These will be regular market days with unusual attractions in the way of entertainments added. On July 19 here will be a contest among the farm clubs of the county for prizes awarded on general farm club work. This will be under the direction of County Agent J. J. McCann and should prove one of the most interesting features ever put on here. The usual postal cards announcing these two special market days will not be sent out at this time.

A big pavement dance will feature the July 19 market day in addition to the farm club contest.

Second Team Plays Red Lake Falls; Victorious.

The fast Red Lake Falls Seconds were taken into camp by the local second team here Sunday afternoon, when they were defeated by a score of 14 to 4. Although judging by the score, one would be inclined to think that the game was rather ragged, such was not the case—it was an exciting game throuout. The battery consisted of Sternes and Thompson, the latter taking the position formerly played by Lane. A return game will be played July 9. July 14 the locals meet the Rosewood aggregation and a fast game is assured.

CAN'T TELL BY NAME.

Princeton Union: A name is often misleading. In the list of candidates for associate justice of the supreme court appear the names of William A. Anderson and William H. Anderson. Now the voters unless they are personally acquainted with these men will probably think they are Scandinavians, but they are not. As the Rock County Herald remarks, both men are sturdy Scotchmen. Anderson and Johnson are quite common Scotch names but in this vicinity we are apt to assume immediately that a man with the name of Anderson or Johnson is of Scandinavian extraction.

LARGE CROWD AT ANNUAL PICNIC OF SONS OF NORWAY

Dan Wallace Delivers Address; Musical Features of Exceptional Interest.

It is estimated that 1,500 to 2,000 people attended the Sons of Norway annual picnic at Squaw Point Sunday. Nordlandsings, in convention here Friday and Saturday, had been invited as guests of honor and a large number stayed over Sunday for the event. The gathering was one of the most successful of its kind ever held in this city. The crowd was provided with a splendid program throughout the afternoon. The Thief River Music company furnished a "Magnavox" and popular music could be heard all over the large picnic grounds during the entire day.

The program of the afternoon was in the hands of Bernhard Knutsen, who made a short address. He then introduced Dan Wallace, editor of the Farmer and brother of the secretary of agriculture, who happened to be in the city. Mr. Wallace is an agricultural expert and knows whereof he speaks. His address dealt with the great possibilities of this section of the country, particularly in the line of dairying, and he urged the farmers here to devote themselves to that industry in particular. He also discussed the marketing ills of the farmer, which he though would be most logically remedied through co-operation.

Julius Bauman of Carlton, president of the Nordlandslag, spoke in his native tongue. Mr. Bauman is a man with a pleasing personality and has an appealing way of speaking. He discussed various phases of modern life and advised his hearers to have more faith in the young people of today and they would be more likely to meet our expectations and requirements.

An address was also delivered by Hans Anton, which was well received. Mr. Anton is one of the most successful dairy farmers of this section and asserted that every man who farms his land intelligently and wisely will eventually succeed.

The most pleasing feature of the day was no doubt the many selections rendered by Sofie Hammer-Moeller, the "Song-bord of the North." She entertained the audience several times with whateevr they demanded, giving a number of Scandinavian folk songs in a most charming manner. Her singing was so well received that she had to respond to several encores.

At the close of the program a tug-of-war between local citizens and members of the Nordlanslag was won by the locals. Christian Stene was captain for the winners and Ole Gylvold for the Nordlandings. A great deal of excitement was created by this event which was shown by the fact that at one time those on the sidelines also grabbed in on the rope to assist their favorite team. The races resulted as follows:

Boy's race—Cecil Collins, first, Elmer Helgeland, second.

Three legged race—Dahlen and Larson, first, Gunderson and Schile, second.

Jack rabbit race—Walter Johnson, first, Luther Johnson, second.

Thanks.

I desire hereby to express my sincere and heartfelt thanks and appreciation to the voters of Pennington county for their loyal support at the late primary election.

E. A. MOSTUE.

Ladies Aid of Silverton will hold an auction sale on the 4th of July. Romme Grat dinner will be served at 12:00 o'clock.

To the Voters:

I hereby wish to express my sincere appreciation to the voters for the splendid support given me at the primary election. If elected next fall, my aim will be to merit the confidence you have thus expressed.

Sincerely yours,
J-29 FRED D. LORENTSON.

Rheumatism

is an acute or chronic affection of nerves, muscles, articulations, membranes or bones, characterized subjectively by pain and objectively by fever, local redness, swelling, stiffness and sometimes deformity.

There are many varieties of this disease. The kidneys are the organs at fault. They are not cleaning the blood properly. We always find a nerve impingement leading to the kidneys. Chiropractic adjustment will restore normal function to the kidneys by relieving the pressure on the nerve. There are many cases called rheumatism that are only caused by a local nerve impingement and local adjustments are sufficient.

DRAINAGE COST WILL AVERAGE $1.55 PER ACRE

Long-Awaited Engineers' Report Ready For Presentation at Next Board Meeting.

Commission Members Silent as Yet on Introductory Statement of Mr. Willard.

Program Calls For Lowering of Natural Lake Level By 1½ Feet—Cost $570,000.

The long looked for engineer's report of the Red Lake flood control project prepared by W. Meyer, Minneapolis, consulting engineer of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District of which C. G. Selvig of Crookston is president, was issued this week. Mr. Meyer's report will be submitted to the board at its next meeing when the board recommendations will be made. Officials of the board are reticent in expressing an opinion regarding the introductory statement by E. V. Willard, as that part has not yet been formally presented to the board. Through the efforts of Mr. Selvig and Minnesota River Valley groups an appropriation was secured from the state for the surveys of both the Clearwater and Red Lake projects, which is the basis for the present report.

The plan is to control the outflow of water from the Red lakes to control floods and regulate drainage and to conserve water for development of waterpower on the river below the lakes.

Estimated costs for the entire project including damages to lands for right of way, are given as approximately $570,000. It is recommended that this amount be assessed to agricultural lands, water powers and municiplities, and that a small portion be met by an appropriation from the federal government. A board of appraisal is recommended to allot the costs.

The investigations were completed through the co-operation of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy district which was organized by the district court to carry out a plan of flood prevention in the valley.

The project contemplates establishment of the ordinary high water level of the lakes at 1,174 feet which means the lowering of all natural lake stages of about 1½ feet.

The proposed control dam is to be built about 3,400 feet below the outlet of the lake. A main outlet channel from the lake is to be excavated for a distance of approximately 2,000 feet into the lake, to be protected by loose rock jetties to prevent filling in.

To provide an outlet for lateral drainage, it is proposed to widen, deepen and straighten the Red Lake river for a distance of 45 miles below the lakes.

It is estimated that there are approximately 250,000 acres of land in the basin of the Red Lake river which will receive direct benefits, either by total reclamation from flooding or through better drainage.

Alfalfa and Clover Cut; Rye Harvest Begins Soon

The cutting of alfalfa and sweet clover is pretty well advanced in the county and a few days of good weather will see the large crop all taken care of. The yield this year is one of the best in the history of the section, plenty of rain in the early part of the season having given the crop an excellent start. Alfalfa particularly has had a good season, nearly every field breaking all previous records.

Rye is rapidly reaching the cutting stage and harvesting will begin next week. There is more of this cerial raised in the county this year than ever before, a large part of the diminished wheat acreage having been given over to rye.

Picnic and Barbecue to Celebrate Ditch Decision

There will be a picnic and barbecue at Squaw Point on July 18, in celebration of the dismissal of proceedings in the matter of Judicial Ditch No. 1. This picnic is not alone for those who are interested in this particular project, but all who have ditch problems on the hands are invited to be present. Nor is it all essential that those present be opposed to ditching as others will be given just the same chance to express their views. It is hoped that people from all over the 14th judicial district will be on hand with their basket lunches. Chefs who know just what to do at a barbecue will be on hand to see that everything served is of the very best. There will be addresses on ditching subjects by prominent speakers from many sections of the district.

Two Business Houses to Make Change in Location

Two business houses in Thief River Falls this week announce their removal to new quarters in the near future. Charles Lieberman is making big reductions in his stock in order to save moving it to the building at present occupied by Laird's Specialty Shop. Mr. Lieberman's business has outgrown the present quarters and he finds it necessary to provide for even more rapid expansion. Rather than move the stock he has decided to cut prices to a point where it will move of its own accord. A perusal of his advertisement will prove of interest and profit to clothing buyers.

Elsewhere in this issue of The Times will be found the removal notice of Laird's Specialty Shop from the Giller building on LaBree avenue to the Hicks' building on Main avenue, next to Stebbins' drug store.

The building has been entirely renovated and greatly improved since it was vacated by the Army and Navy store recently. This building was originally used by Mr. Stebbins before he moved into the structure he now occupies. It will give Mr. Laird a store room better adapted to his stock and his patrons will find it almost as convenient as the old place.

VETERANS TO QUIT SCHOOL BOARD AT CLOSE OF TERMS

Judge Backe and Dr. Mellby Decline to Again Become Candidates—Long Service.

Two new members of the school board of District No. 18 will have to be chosen at the annual meeting on Saturday, July 15. The terms of two veteran members expire at that time and neither will be a candidate for re-election.

Judge Lars Backe, who has served as a member of the board for 22 years, or ever since the independent district was organized, has decided it is time he was relieved and in spite of urgings declares that he will not again enter the race. He has seen the school system of the city grow from two buildings to the five modern structures now necessary in order to meet the demand and has had an active part in every move for better education which has been started for nearly a quarter of a century. During the greater part of his incumbency he has been treasurer of the board, a position in which he has given the most satisfactory service.

Dr. O. F. Mellby, the other member whose term expires, has served 13 years, having been three times re-elected after his first appointment to fill a vacancy. Dr. Mellby has been president and vice president of the board and has given educational matters in general and the advancement of the district along these lines particularly his most conscientious consideration.

The retirement of these two men from the board will be generally regretted as they have been public officials of unquestioned ability, possessing the vision and confidence necessary to meet the many exacting demands of their position.

No filings of candidates for the positions have been made and as the time for such declarations expire 10 days before election the names will have to be written on the ballot.

Fire Totally Destroys Farm Residence in Kratka

The farm residence of William Parnow in Kratka township was burned to the ground on Saturday. The fire was discovered shortly after noon and originated in a defective kitchen flue. Mrs. Parnow, who was sick, was home alone with two small children who were asleep upstairs. She managed to get these out of danger but was unable to save anything in the way of furniture or household furnishings, all of which are a total loss.

Bemidji Drops Two Out of Three to Thief River Reds

The Thief River Falls baseball team won two out of three games played against Bemidji in the last named city this week. The first contest resulted in a victory for the Bemidji team by a score of 2 and 1. It was one of the best contests seen there for many a day. In the second game, played on the Fourth, the tables were turned and Thief River Falls carried off the honors by a 8 and 7 score. The last game was not so interesting from a scoring point, Bemidji getting the short end of a 10 and 4 tally.

Brazel, the one-armed heavyweight, officiated in the box for Thief River Falls in the first and last games while Federolf was moundsman in the second.

The boys who made the trip say they had a good time and were well treated by the Bemidji fans.

GOLFERS HOSTS TO LARGE PARTY WHEN LINKS ARE OPENED

Many Enthusiasts of Both Sexes Turn Out to Make Rounds on New Course.

The public opening of the Thief River Golf club's links on Sunday was well attended, at least 100 persons being present during the afternoon. Everybody had a most enjoyable time, the affair being in the nature of a picnic party. Many of the visitors took advantage of the club's permission to use the grounds and went over the course with a great deal of enthusiasm if not always in the best of golfing form. The officers and members are much pleased over the interest shown and announce that in the near future a regular tournament will be held at which there will be prizes such as golf clubs, balls and other peraphernalia awarded to the most proficient.

The ladies particularly showed much interest in the proceedings and their work on the links gives great promises for the future. Among those who made exceptional scores in this preliminary exhibition were: Mrs. L. H. Lawrence, Mrs. P. W. Mabey, Mrs. Nels Christianson, Mrs. G. Howard Smith and Miss Irma Johnson. Instructions to beginners were given by W. A. Barnard, president; R. M. Sheldon, Don Gamble and Nels Christianson, who made it a point to see that all who so desired were given an opportunity to swing a club at the elusive pellet. An afternoon of wholesome outdoor enjoyment was provided and a considerable number of people who formerly saw nothing of particular interest in the game are in a fair way to become enthusiasts.

The club starts off in excellent shape, both as regards interest and financial condition. All work on the links has been paid for and there is a surplus for further improvement. Next year the number of holes will be doubled and in a surprisingly short time the links will be among the best known in this section.

CALF EXHIBIT AND STOCK JUDGING IS NEXT ATTRACTION

Merchants' Association Offers Prizes for Adults as Well as Boys and Girls.

The Thief River Falls Merchants association will be put on a stock judging contest as the feature of the Wednesday open night on July 19, paying particular attention to boys' and girls' work in this important branch. An exhibit of calves under one year old will also be held at the same time in which there will be two classes, one for the older people and one for junior club members. Substantial premiums are offered for the best exhibits and all boys and girls in the county are invited to enter the contest.

Class A will be for men and women residing on farms and Class B for boys and girls under 20 years of age. The premiums will be the same for Guernseys and Holsteins—First, $5.00; second, $3.00; third, $2.00 and the next three $1.00 each.

It is stipulated that boy and girl exhibitors shall not previously have taken part in any state or district contest in stock judging.

This action on the part of the Merchants association is in line with the decision to do everything possible to encourage farm development of all kinds, particularly stock raising. Later in the season a similar plan will be followed as regards beef calves, but these will not be included among the prize winners on this occasion. The plan may also be extended so as to include sheep and hogs if interest in the matter proves sufficient to warrant such move.

There will be the usual band concert in the evening and the stores will hold out exceptional market day inducements.

Serious Injury Result of Accident With Slingshot

William, the 11-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Froehlich, on Friday evening was the victim of an accident which will cost him the sight of one eye. With a number of other boys William was playing in the Froehlich yard when he was struck in the eye by a stone propelled from a slingshot in the hands of Kenneth Ohm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer F. Ohm. The missle struck him squarely in the eye and he fell to the ground, screaming with pain. Examination showed the injury to be of a very serious nature, the eyeball being seemingly split and a bad gash cut from one corner of the organ and toward the temple. The boy was taken to St. Paul the same evening by his father, to the Miller hospital and placed under the care of specialists. Mrs. Froehlich followed the next evening to be near her son.

Dr. Froehlich returned this morning and states that specialists hold out hope that sight in the injured eye will be regained at a later date, all danger of its having to be removed entirely being now past. Mrs. Froehlich and son will probably not return until Sunday morning.

District Auxiliary Meeting.

Mrs. J. M. Bishop, president of the Ninth District Association of Women Auxiliaries, announces that there will be a district meeting of the organization held in this city on July 28. It is expected that delegates will be present from all parts of the district and that many matters of importance to the auxiliary and legion will come up for consideration. A complete program will appear in the next issue of The Times.

Locals Win at Rosewood.

Several local people who participated in the various events at Rosewood, the Fourth, were winners of first prizes. Jim Paranteau got first honors in the men's foot race; Miss Dorothy Grundhaus won in the egg race for girls and the horse race was won by Grindeland, also of this city.

MORAN CASE IN HANDS OF JURY; RAPID PROGRESS

Man Charged With Statutory Rape Expected to Know Fate Within Short Time.

Young Woman Awarded $2,500 Damages for Injuries Sustained in Auto Spill.

Civil Calendar Being Cleared Away Rapidly and Short Term Seems Probable.

The jury in the Peter Moran case returned a verdict of not guilty this afternoon after being out about three hours.

The jury in the case of the state of Minnesota against Peter Moran, alleging statutory rape, was charged by Judge Grindeland immediately after the noon recess today and a verdict is expected within a short time. Defendant is accused of having committed the crime of rape upon the person of Jessie Phelps, a mentally deficient minor residing with her parents in Smiley township. The alleged crime is claimed by the girl and her parents to have been committed during the night while she was in bed with a younger sister. It also developed at the trial that a light was burning in the room and that a door leading to another room in which other members of the family were asleep was open throughout the night. The case has been prosecuted by County Attorney Theo. Quale, while H. O. Chommie appeared for the defence.

Verdict For Auto Injuries.

Bertine Gysland of Ada, was given a verdict of $2,500 against Oscar Carlson and Joseph Johnson, who were held responsible for injuries sustained by the young woman in an automobile accident near Holt last spring. Miss Gysland claimed that the men were driving the car while in an intoxicated condition and because of this fact the machine was upset. Plaintiff sustained serious injuries besides being permanently disfigured about the face.

Rapid progress is being made with the civil calendar. The Thief River Falls Iron Works was awarded a verdict for $300.81 against Axel Nelson. The following actions were settled out of court: Rose F. Penn vs. Tellef P. and Rose Estelle Anderson; K. A. Sundahl vs. G. C. Shannon. The action brought by the Security State bank of Pipestone vs. H. P. Sanden and H. P. Green was settled by stipulation, as was that of National Candy company against C. S. Simonson. A divorse was granted in the case of Nora Gunderson against Gunder Gunderson. In the case of Perl W. Mabey vs. William Rulien there was no appearance on the part of the defendant and judgment in the sum of $258 was entered for plaintiff. John Farmen was given a verdict in an action brought against him by M. J. Lysbakken, in which were involved the commissions on a land deal. O. A. Naplin, as executor of the last will and testament of G. L. Leisner, was given a verdict for $95.15 against Henry L. Sande. The personal damage case of Emelia Erickson against the Soo railway was continued, while an action by the Crookston Times company against Howard E. Gessel was stricken from the calender.

Lived in Three Counties Without Leaving Old Farm

Mike O. Ault, Jr., prominent farmer of Pennington county, passed through Crookston Saturday, on his return from Big Timber, Mon., where he was called by the death of his father, Mike O. Ault, Sr., says the Crookston Times. Mr. Ault has been a subscriber of the Times for a considerable number of years, and in calling at the office to renew his subscription, the rather odd fact was brought out that although never having lived anywhere than on the old farm, he has been a resident in three counties. First in Polk, which embraced all of what is now three counties; then in Red Lake, the first sub-division; and now in Pennington, which was again divided off from Red Lake county.

Leaves For Convention.

H. W. Protzeller leaves this evening for Atlantic City, where he will attend the meeting of the grand lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks as delegate from Thief River Falls lodge. Mr. Protzeller expects to be gone about two weeks.

Sojourning on Vermilion.

Word has been received from Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Rapacz, who are spending their vacation on Lake Vermillion near Tower. They expect to put in the greater part of the summer up there.

Famous College Concert Troup Here Tuesday Night

Tuesday evening, July 11, the Manitou Concert company of St. Olaf college, will appear in a concert at the Trinity Lutheran church. It is given under the auspices of the Dorcas society and the proceeds will go to the benefit of the society and church work. The admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. Tickets will be on sale by Dorcas members and at the Thief River Music Company's store.

The company is composed of the following artists: Hillord Langlie, violinist, an instructor of violin in the School of Music at St. Olaf college; Benjamin Edwards, pianist and accompanist, musician of rare ability; and Mr. Clarence Jacobson, baritone, who has sung the incidental baritone solos in the famous St. Olaf choir for the past three years. During the last two or three season's the group has been giving concerts very successfully and is again making an extended tour during this summer.

The program consist of a great variety of numbers, all rendered with excellence. The organization is endorsed by the college authorities as being fully worthy of the standard which the college has acquired in the musical world.

The following is a comment by the Caledonia Journal:

"One of the most splendid concerts given in the city of Caledonia - - - - Mr. Langlie played his part as violinist with fine technique, sympathy, and feeling. Especially worthy of high comment is the number composed by himself, "A Gypsy Serenade. - - - - Mr. Jacobson, who sings the baritone incidental solos in the famous St. Olaf choir, paid high tribute to his membership."

COUNTY FAIR WILL BE BEST EVER, SAY THOSE IN CHARGE

President Herbert Fuller of the Pennington County Agricultural society, is authority for the statement that the fair to be held during the first week of August will in many respects be the best ever attempted here. The amusement attractions are particularly interesting and it is certain that there will be a larger general display of products than ever before in the history of the association.

Assurance have already been given of a larger livestock display than at any previous fair in this section. This will be particularly true of cattle and sheep, while the hog exhibit is expected to overshadow all previous records. A more liberal premium allowance has been made for all classes of exhibits and the whole thing planned on a scale greater than ever before.

The amusement features of the fair will be the best ever presented. The The great spectacular fireworks display, "Scrapping the Navy," will be the feature of August 2, while on the following evening "Huckleberry Finn" will be presented in fireworks. On the 5th there will be a sham battle in which the American Legion will take part and in which much of the spectacular peraphernalia of war will be shown. Fireworks will illuminate the battle, including, rosettes and barage fire.

In the way of races some good features have been provided. On August 3 there will be two running races while the same number of trotting races will be held on the day following. There will also be a race against time by a lone pacer every afternoon and evening during the fair. Trained mules, goats and monkeys, educated horses, ponies and dogs will be among the free attractions in front of the grandstand daily. John's Comedy, an aerial act, is sure to please, as it is one of the best of its kind to be found. There will also be three new riding devices and many other features for entertainment and amusement.

As will be seen by an article in another part of The Times tody, the Pennington county fair is the most popular event of its kind held in the Northwest. It excells in every department and is the intention of officials and management that it shall this year still further out-distance all competition.

The new premium lists will be issued from the job department of The Times within a few days.

Hearing on Clearwater River Project Postponed

The hearing on the Clearwater river drainage project of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy district, which was to have been held at Gonvick, July 11, has been postponed until Tuesday, August 8, at 1 p. m., by order of the district judges, according to E. G. Buse, clerk of court of Red Lake county. Judges Watts of Crookston and Stanton of Bemadji are expected to conduct the joint hearing for the 14th and 15th judicial districts, respectively.

Win Two and Lose One; Engelstad's Nine Active

During the past week a local aggregation called the Thief River Falls Seconds, of which Ole Englestad is manager, has been unusually active and have succeeded in adding two victories to their enviable record, but losing one game to Warren—the first defeat since the organization of the team.

Friday afternoon the team motored to Warren, where a fast and snappy 7-inning game was played with the result that the home team won by a score of 4 to 6. A consistent game was played throughout with only two errors and few hits. Sterns and Thompson formed the battery.

The Warrenites were here Thursday of last week but owing to the approaching shower the game had to be called off.

On Sunday afternoon the Goodridge aggregation were taken into camp on the local diamond with a final score of 16 to 7. The game was not as well played as that at Warren, which can be seen by the final score. The same battery was in action against Goodridge as in the preious game.

One of the attractions of the day at the Fourth of July festivities at Rosewood was the contest between the seconds and the Rosewood nine. The rain however, marred the completion of the game but the locals were holding a heavy lead when it was called off. Herron occupied the box in place of Sterns, who is spending his vacation in the southern part of the state.

FINE ATTRACTIONS WILL FEATURE BIG CHAUTAUQUA MEET

Foremost Instructors and Entertainers of Country Will Be Seen and Heard Here.

Chatauqua attractions for Thief River Falls during the five days beginning July 19 and continuing to the evening of July 23, are among the finest and best offered on the circuit this year. The sale of tickets, which have been placed at the low price of $2 for the entire series, is progressing in a highly satisfactory manner and there is every indication that the meetings will be a big success. The program is varied, containing the very highest class of musical offerings and lectures. There is also a particularly good three-act play and a wonderful fantastic pageant, "The Conquest of Peace," put on by the kiddies of the Junior Town Stunts. Other offerings are:

Edwin Taylor Franks of the Board of Vocational Education—a big message by a big man; Bagdasar Baghdigian, an Armenian scholar with a new and stratling lecture on Americanism; Joymakers' Quartet—who are all their name implies and then some: John E. Aubrey, who can do more to boost a town and community than anybody; Hon. Alex Miller, who shows up the fine side of Main street and makes you love your home better.

This is the first time in many years that chautauqua programs have been offered in Thief River Falls and there is considerable interest in the subject. No other such opportunity for enjoying entertainments of such high order will be presented during the coming summer and there should be a big turnout every evening.

GENERAL OUTLOOK FOR CROPS BETTER; COOL WEATHER AID

Drought and Weeds in Dakotas Retard Progress; Minnesota Generally Good.

Spring wheat is favorably affected by cool temperatures and the outlook continues promising over most of Montana, North Dakota, and Minnesota according to the general summary of the fifth regional crop district issue by J G. Diamond, statistician.

There are some light stands due to semi-drough conditions in South Dakota the report said and weedy fields is causing concern in sections of North Dakota.

The crop is heading generally accept in Montana where it is reported two weeks late and needing rain in the central localities. Winter wheat continues satisfactorily in Minnesota. Winter wheat on the whole "continues above the average and is approaching maturity under favorable conditions." the report said.

Harvesting has started in South Dakota and is about to start in Minnesota and will be under way in North Dakota the middle of July. Oats and barley were damaged in southwestern Minnesota by lack of rains and drough has damaged oats in South Dakota. The hay crop runs from "good to excellent" with alfalfa and clover cuttings under way.

County Fair Exhibitors Asking For Reservations

Exhibitors in the Woman's building at the fair grounds this year have already been making reservations for space, according to Scott Laird, who has charge thereof this season. These includes some who had very good displays last year during the fair.

With the fair only four weeks away no time should be lost in seing Mr. Laird and arranging for suitable booths, and then completing the proper display for installation. The booths in the balcony will be in charge of Mrs. E. M. Stanton this year and she is afraid she will have to turn away several as there has been considerble talk of increasing the displays made by various organizations last year.

It is said that radium gives off particles of itself and yet never grows less. We know men who are like that colloquially.

PROCEEDINGS IN JUDICIAL NO. 1 ARE DISMISSED

Judge Grindeland Holds That Cost of Project is Greater Than Indicated Benefits.

Final Hearing at Warren July 25 at Which Time Dismissal Order Will be Signed.

Residents of Mud Lake Section Can Start Separate Proceedings, if They so Desire.

After having been the subject of heated controversy for more than three years, the drainage project known as Judicial Ditch No. 1 in Marshall and Pennington counties, has been definitely abandoned by order of Judge Andrew Grindeland of the district court, who has just issued his final findings after a number of hearings have been held and still more had been ordered. Judge Grindeland finds that the expense of making the improvement is greater than the land owners can at present stand, and, while he admits the need for more drainage in the district involved, says that the project under consideration should be dismissed.

A hearing dated for July 18 in Thief River Falls has been set aside, but a final hearing on the matter at Warren on July 25 will be held according to schedule in order that any person opposed to the action taken by the court at this time may appear and enterpose objection before the order is signed.

All Lands Not Involved.

While Judge Grindeland's order is general in its application, he points out that a certain section of the proposed ditching project might be undertaken as a separate enterprise. This applies to lands in the reclaimed Thief Lake district, which, the court holds, are perhaps able to stand the added cost because of the fact that no assessments against these bottoms have ever been made, while the territory in the immediate neighborhood is already heavily burdened by such taxes.

Judge Grindeland does not close the door upon all attempts to secure drainage for those who actually are in need of it and feel they can stand the expense. Regarding this phase of the matter the court says:

"When the court sits at Warren on July 25, 1922, the court will make its order that all that portion of Consolidated Ditch No. 1 lying south of a straight line drawn east and west and which would intersect the section line between sections 5 and 8 in the township of Whiteford be dismissed and that the proceedings as far as that territory is concerned be eliminated from these proceedings and forever at an end as far as this ditch proceeding is concerned. If the petitioners or others interested in the territory lying north of this point desire to take further proceedings in this ditch matter the court will order that the report of the engineer and viewers be referred back to another engineer and another set of viewers. J. H. Baugh, the engineer now serving on said ditch will be removed and some other engineer appointed in his place. This will only be done if the petitioners or others interested therein shall furnish to the court within 60 days thereafter a bond sufficient to protect the county in making such resurvey of the viewers, and if such bond is not furnished then the proceedings will be dismissed in their entirety."

Value Increase Not Apparent.

Continuing the court says: "The court in conclusion will say that while apparently this ditch proceeding has dragged out for some time, yet it is not a small matter and was deserving of the most serious consideration by the court, both from the standpoint that it involved the expenditure of between one and two million dollars, if established, and would perhaps entail a loss of $35,000 to the petitioners and bondsmen if rejected in its entirety and most of the petitioners and bondsmen are farmers residing in the territory affected; the court has also thought that the financial ability of the people who have to pay for such an improvement should be of very high consideration, and has so considered it, and in fact that is one of the controlling facts which induces the court to take the position set forth in this order. The court is of the opinion, and I do not think it can be disputed, that no matter how worthy the enterprise is or how necessary it is to the community, the people are in no position to pay for it, and their prayer that the proceedings be dismissed should be granted as herein set forth as to the south portion of said ditch.

"It will not be necessary for either attorneys or clients or people assessed to be present at Warren or River Falls on the dates set, as the court will make its orders as herein set forth without any further evidence being offered and before any hearing is had upon that portion of the territory in the vicinity of Thief lake is had another published and mailed notice will be given to all parties interested therein, as provided by law.

"In view of the present financial stringency and in view of the already heavy taxation in the south territory the court is of the opinion that the market value of the lands in this territory will not be increased in the sum found by the viewers as benefits and for that reason the court will make a finding as a matter of fact under the present report of the engineer and viewers the benefits do not exceed the cost of construction of the ditch at this time as to the entire territory, but that certain portions thereof, to-wit: The Thief Lake bottoms, by reason of the fact that the lake bottom has never been assessed for any ditch improvements and the territory adjacent thereto is not now as heavily taxed for ditch construction as the territory herein dismissed from these proceedings, such as Thief lake bottoms, and territory adjacent thereto may be benefited to an amount greater than the cost of the construction of a ditch which would afford relief thereto, the court is of the opinion that if the conditions of this order as to the giving of the bond referred to herein is complied with, it would be justified in referring that portion of said ditch back to another engineer and another set of viewers for amended reports with respect to said Thief lake bottoms and the territory adjacent thereto.' "

Music Festival at Fertile Local Chorus Takes Part

The annual Summer Concert of the Northwestern Singers Association was one of the most important features of the Polk County Fair held the first part of the week at Fertile. The Brage Male Chorus of this city, the members of which are also members of the association, journeyed to Fertile Monday and took in the grand concert here there that evening. In the neighborhood of 100 singers participated in the rendering of a very elaborate and well received program. The choruses from Crookston directed by Mrs. L. J. Gavin, McIntosh by C. M. Berg, Fertile by T. W. Thorson, Thief River Falls by Dr. P. L. Vistaunet, Ada by Leonard Nelson and the Lowell by Rev. B Schwanfelder, rendered splendid individual and combined numbers. The Fisher-Bigland Male Octette, under the direction of Alfred C. Lindon, and Uggen Orchestra from Crookston, directed by Elmer Uggen, also rendered several selections. The orchestra accompanied six of the chorus members. Solo parts were taken by Miss Myrtle Hovland of Crookston, O. W. Peterson, also of Crookston, and N. A. Thorson of Fertile. Mr. Thorson took the place of Dr. J. N. Nesse, the latter not being able to render the solo because of the unfavorable condition of his throat. The piano accompaniment was furnished by Miss Elvara Peterson throughout the concert.

The music festival was under the directorship of Dr. P. L. Vistaunet of Thief River Falls as chief, and T. W. Thorson of Fertile as assistant. Mr. Thorson is also president of the association.

The personel of the Brage Male Chorus of this city, who went to Fertile were: Dr. P. L. Vistaunet, director, S. Karl Sundahl, Dr. N. J. Ness, Bernhard, Knudsen and G. H. Sandum, first tenors, Dan Bjorkman and Leonard Hanson, second tenors, E. O. Iverson and Nels Olson, first bases and E. N. Bennes, G. Halverson, C. C. Gulrud and Allen Fossum, second bases.

Those who attended report that they had a splendid trip and feel greatly indebted to the Fertile people for heir hospitality during their stay there.

Successful Young Peoples' Luther League Convention

A Successful Y. P. Convention.

"It was a splendid meeting," seemed to be the general opinion of those who attended the Young Peoples Luther League convention, which was held at Middle River on Saturday and Sunday, July 1 and 2. Great enthusiasm was shown, and besides being interesting and enjoyable, the meeting did much to stimulate organizing, growth, and effectiveness of Luther Leagues in this section.

Among the prominent speakers on the program were Rev. N. M. Ylvisaker of Minneapolis, national secretary of Young Peoples Luther Leagues, and Prof. J. A. Aasgaard of Concordia college, Moorhead. Their addresses were enthusiastically received and supplemented by discussions and addreses by the attending pastors and delegates; also by appropriate musical selections, both vocal and instrumental. The officers of the organization in the Thief River Falls circuit are as follows: President, C. M. Grimsrud of St. Hilaire; Vice-president, Prof. John Nystul, Goodridge; secretary, Miss Magnhild Heyerdhal, Roseau; treasurer, Mr. Stefferson, Strandquist.

Favorable weather and good roads permitted visitors to auto to the convention from a distance. The royal manner in which the citizens of Middle River entertained the guests is worthy of praise. To make room for the hundreds of visitors arrangements had been made for conducting the Sunday sesions in the open air. Those who did not bring lunch baskets could secure lunch near the grounds during the noon recess. The final session Sunday evening was almost wholly devoted to music. The Choral Union, composed of choirs of the circuit, directed by Dr. Vistaunet of Thief River Falls, rendered a concert, during the intermissions of which pleasing solos and a duet were sung.

The fine spirit which pervaded the convention, combined with the united efforts of all concerned, made it a great success.

ONE STRIKE APPROVED.

Dawson Sentinel: The coal miners are striking for a chance to work more than 330 days a year. That is the kind of a strike we are in sympathy with. When a man tries to get more work, he is entitled to all the help the public can give him. Most strikers want to do less work for more pay. These men want more work for more pay. We hope they get it.

THE DAIRY

CO-OPERATIVE BULL SOCIETY

Saunders County, Nebraska, Winner of Offer by Breeder of Pure-bred Cattle.

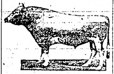
(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The bull offered by a breeder of purebred cattle near Lincoln to the first co-operative bull association to be organized in Nebraska was won by Saunders county, where an association has been formed, through the efforts of the county agent and a state dairy extension specialist, assisted by a field man of the United States Department of Agriculture.

As in other associations of this character, the members will be arranged in several groups or blocks, those in each block having about the same total number of cows and all using the same bull. This association has five blocks to start with, and as many more are planned. The separate blocks do not own the bulls, but the animals are joint property of the association, and every two years they are shifted from one block to another.

It is planned to have a novel feature in this association. The blocks will be arranged in two or more circuits, each circuit made up of three or more blocks, and paying for the bulls it uses and owning them; the biennial exchange of bulls will also be confined to the circuit; but there will be one set of officers and board of directors for the whole association, the secretary-treasurer keeping record of the receipts and obligations of each circuit. The circuit system seems to combine the advantages of small associations and a large association all in one.

When the Saunders County Bull association is ready for business, it will be given the prize bull. The association will have to pay for its other bulls, but it can well afford to do so, for this method of co-operation has been found highly profitable in many other parts of the country. Its advantages are: (1) Providing high-class bulls at low expense, and thus proving the character of the dairy herds; (2) keeping proved bulls in service for many years; and (3) making financial interest and public sentiment combine to sweep a community entirely clean of inferior sires.



Only Purebred Bulls Should Be at the Head of Any Herd.

The United States Department of Agriculture has given a good deal of effort to the introduction of co-operative bull associations, and stands ready to supply information thereon to anyone desiring it.

ABNORMAL TASTES IN MILK

There Are Several Factors That Impart Peculiar Flavor Besides Grazing Crops.

There are a number of plants which when eaten by the dairy cow, will transmit an unusual taste to her milk. Some of them are fed to her injudiciously by the dairymen, and others are eaten by the animal while grazing. Plants known to possess such properties are beet and turnip tops when fed in large quantities; excessive feeding of chopped roots; garlic, rape, lupines, orchids, kale, rutabagas, chicory, sorrel and pasturage on areas which have been inundated.

There are many other factors sometimes responsible for a peculiar taste in milk, such as improper sterilization of utensils, spoiled foods, brewers' grains, potato slops, fish meal, rape cake, flaxseed meal, poor straw, and, occasionally, medicinal agents administered to the animal.

CARING FOR SPRING CALVES

Necessary That Youngsters Be Kept Thrifty and Free From Disease and Sickness.

The good dairy calves born this spring are needed as milk cows two years from now, so the dairyman should do his part by giving these animals a chance to live and develop. Spring calves are usually harder to raise than fall calves, and since the dairyman has less time usually during this busy season to care for the calves, it is very necessary that the attention given be that most needed to keep them thrifty and free from disease and sickness.

Salt Improves Appetite.

Salt improves the calf's appetite, so keep a box with clean salt in a sheltered place where the calf may eat of it freely.

Keep Youngsters Separated.

Never allow the calves or yearlings to run with the herd.

Satisfactory Cow Ration.

It is quite difficult to make a really satisfactory ration for dairy cows without using either clover or alfalfa hay.

Do you remember when young gentlemen wore watch-fobs woven from some fair maiden's hair? That was before the general bobbing of hair made the material so easy to procure. And, by the way, did you ever see a red watch-fob of that kind?

Sure.

It costs a lot to live these days,
More than it did of yore;
But when you stop to think of it,
It's worth a whole lot more.

The Week's Sermon

(By Rev. E. H. Kreidt, Pastor St. John's Lutheran Church, Thief River Falls.)

"To Everything There is a Season."
Eccl. 3, 1.

Thus Solomon the Preacher begins his third chapter of sermons. There is a time for everything, for birth, for death, for planting and reaping, for killing and healing, for weeping and laughing, for sorrow and rejoicing, for getting and loosing, for keeping and casting away. To everything there is a season.

In our scheme of living the summer months are the season of vacations, rest, and play. For a few weeks the business and professional men, the men and women back of the counter and at the office desk leave their work in the restless city to seek rest and recreation in the calm and quiet of the mountain, the lakes, the woods, or the seashore. Work and care are cast aside; the moments are given to joy and pleasure. 'Tis well. There should be a time for play in every person's life.

So often, however, this time of play is made the time of forgetting God. That should not be. Experience teaches us that the vacation months are also the time of vacated churches. The pews are occupied by but a scattering few. Is that necessary? Should and could not the Sunday of the vacation be given to the House of God? No matter where you spend your vacation, you can generally find a church. Perhaps the following poem by Folger McKinsey in Soux City Journal will touch forgotten memories and lead your steps into—

The Little Country Church.

Far from the splendor and grandeur of things,
The roar of the cities, the throng of the street;
Under the trees where the glad robin sings,
It sits like a mother whose smile is so sweet.
There's a yard all around it with carpet of green
And graves in the rear, and a willow and oak,
And the peace of God's love seems to hallow the scene,
The old country church where faith lifted our yoke.

A structure so plain and so simple and straight;
But it glows in our dreams like a temple of gold,
With no watchman to guard it at door or at gate;
For it stood at the crossroads, a haven of rest,
A refuge from sin and the care of this life
For all who came by, on whatever strange quest,
The old country church, far away from all strife.

There were sheds for the teams on the side hid away
From the wind and the rain, and a long hitching rail;
And how they drove up on a sweet summer day
From the hills in the distance, the farms in the vale.
There were mothers and fathers and children together,
And sweethearts and lovers, the aged and the young—
And the angel spake to them in all sorts of weather
In the old country church, where the old lamps were hung.

Ah, sweet generations have passed through its door,
And the moss on the flagstones is deep as 'tis soft,
And the ivy clings close where the house martins soar,
And the old bell is swinging up there in the loft;
So quiet and gentle in its far green retreat,
The old country church, where our fathers received
The oracles sent on love's messages sweet
In the days when none doubted and all men believed.

There's a song through the windows, an old mission tune,
And the queer organ rattles a bit as they play,—
But the old country church by its crossroads of June
Is guiding the old and the young the right way;
It is clasping them all to its bosom again,
The weary that wander to seek the world's Prize,
The evil and good of the earth's brood of men,—
The old country church, with its tender, sweet ties.

When you weigh the advantages of a place to spend your vacation, a deciding factor should be the presence or nearness of a church, be it a grand cathedral or a humble "little country church," just so that God and His Word dwells there. Your vacation will be the richer for so choosing.

MANAGEMENT OF THE GROWING YOUNG CHICKS.

The direct object in feeding and care of all chicks, from the time they are hatched to maturity, according to H. E. Hoberg, poultryman at the Northwest Experiment Station, Crookston, is growth. The slightest check is a loss that cannot be made good. Therefore, if success is wanted one must apply the best of care throughout the growing season.

The chicks should be put out on range as soon as possible, as the best growth and most vigorous chicks can only be realized by giving the growing chicks an abundance of free range. Many large farms have tried limited range for growing chicks and in most cases it has proved a failure and the practice has been abandoned. Abundance of free range not only means more vigorous stock, but also a great reduction in the feed bill, as the birds will have access to insects, worms and stray seeds.

Green feed is absolutely essential for the growing stock. If the birds are on free range they are more apt to get the required amount of succulent food. The colony houses should be moved into a fresh place as soon as the grass around it has become badly soiled from the droppings. Be sure that the birds have an abundance of green feed to run in. Alfalfa makes an excellent pasture for growing chicks. It also provides a good breeding place for insects and worms. If the growing stock cannot have access to green pasture, green feed must be supplied from an outside source in the form of cabbage, beets, grass clippings, or sprouted oats.

Shade is absolutely necessary for a normal healthy development. Growing plants furnish the most desirable shade as it is much cooler and gives off considerable moisture. This cannot be obtained from shade provided by a shed or dry branches. Fruit trees provide an excellent shade. Where no trees are present, it will be advisable to plant sunflowers and corn.

A house 6x8 feet, if properly ventilated and managed, will accommodate fifty growing birds. These houses should be placed on high spots that are not damp during wet weather. If they are some distance apart, there will be less danger mixing in their houses. As soon as sex can be distinguished, the males should be separated from the females, as they will grow much faster and stronger if given separate range.

The roost and interior of the colony house should be cleaned and sprayed once a week. If this is practiced, there will be no danger of mites or germs. Clean, bright wheat straw should be kept on the floor. The house should be provided with a trap door, so the birds can be kept in during rainy weather, also during the early morning. Any rainy weather or heavy dew may bring about a bad cold (roup) in the flock which will result in a great loss.

Pure, fresh water is essential and should be kept before the growing stock at all times. Skimmilk is an excellent food and should be fed whenever there is a supply on hand. A moist mash consisting of the following mixtures in weights is a practical feed: ground corn, 50 lbs.; ground oats, 50 lbs.; flour middlings, 50 lbs.; bran, 50 lbs.; and beef scraps, 20 lbs. This moist mash should be fed mornings, in long troughs. A scratch feed consisting of equal parts: cracked corn, whole wheat and oats should be fed at noon and night. Where the birds have good range, the noon feed can be eliminated. Grit, oyster shells and charcoal should be kept before them constantly.

The Question.

"Teacher whipped me because I was the only boy who could answer a question she asked the class," cried Freddy.

Freddy's mother was angry. "I'll see the teacher about that! What was the question she asked you!"

"She wanted to know who put the glue in her ink bottle."

Juris-Prudence.

An alien who was trying to be excused from jury duty said to the Judge: "I can't understand good English."

"Never mind," snapped the Judge. "You won't hear any in this court."

Epilepsy

Epilepsy, or falling sickness, is according to Dunglison a cerebro spinal disease, occuring at irregular intervals. The disease itself rarely destroys life. In rare cases where it does, death from exhaustion follows, a condition brought about by too many convulsions where the patient did not get time to recuperate. In children, where this disease was not yet of long standing, I have seen rapid recovery, but in cases where the disease has had years of progress, results are usually slow and I have found in my experiences that adjustment must be given very carefully; X-Ray must nearly always be used at the start. Any misunderstanding of the condition of the vertebrae and there will be no results there, for knowing the very minute details is what counts.

AT THE THEATRES

"The Prodigal Judge.

"The Prodigal Judge," which will be shown at the Lyceum theatre on Sunday and Monday was adapted from Vaughan Kester's famous novel of the same name. Jean Paige, whose success in "Black Beauty" brought her into the limelight, is featured in the production and heads an all-star cast under direction of Edward Jose.

In this production Vitagraph has produced one of the greatest pictures in its long and notable career. Scenically it is a feast for the eye. With the action laid in Tennessee in 1835, there were splendid opportunities for costuming. The Southern scenery, with its moss-covered trees, its broad stretches of the slow moving Mississippi river and great vistas of plantations afford colorful and picturesque backgrounds for the wonderful story of the love of Betty Malroy for Bruce Carrington, the riverman, and the Damon and Pythias friendship between Slocum Price Tuberville, the prodigal but lovable judge, and Solomon Mahaffy, his dour but equally lovable companion. These two types, new either to the screen or the stage, undoubtedly rank with the best known characters of stage tradition. There is a tear and a laugh; exciting spectacular scenes interspersed with quiet humor—everything that goes to make the perfect picture. "The Prodigal Judge" is more than a mere picture story—it is the Rembrandt of the screen.

"The Prodigal Judge" was produced under the best conditions. Locations were sought and used as far north as the Canadian side of the St. Lawrence river, where some wonderful scenes were made on the Cedar Rapids, the most dangerous and treacherous on the river, to as far south as Savannah, Ga. The large and notable cast was selected with a view to both ability and type. It is headed by Jean Paige as Betty Malroy and included Maclyn Arbuckle as Judge Price, Ernest Torrence as his friend Mahaffy, Earl Fox as Bruce Carrington, the riverman who loves Betty; Arthur Carew as Colonel Fentress, the "heavy;" Horace Braham, Charles Kent, Charles Eaton as the boy Hannibal, Robert Missasch, George Bancroft, Peggy Shanor, Lillian Van Arsdale, Mrs. Mary Curren and the six Curren children, and many others.

Highlanding Man Says He Was Wrongfully Accused

Anton Johnson of Highlanding township, says he was wrongly accused by the Thief River Falls newspapers a short time ago when these stated that he har been arrested for permitting a minor to remain in his dance hall after he had been warned not to do so. Mr. Johnson says that he was brought before the municipal court in this city on such charge but that he was released as soon as the facts became known that no fine was assessed against him. He says that he would allow no girl to remain in the hall if there were objections raised to her doing so, and would not even wait for such objections to be voiced if she were unaccompanied by elder persons.

GOOD ROADS BRING FAME AND WEALTH TO ENTIRE STATE

Increased Prosperity Evident Because of Improved Highways—Work Near Here.

Big benefits and profits from good roads already show on reports from many sources. The state highway department this week issued a bulletin briefly listing operations to keep the ways smooth and to extend permanent improvements on every section of Minnesota's 7,000 miles of trunk routes.

Quick returns from the one-year-old highway program here and in all other localities are reflected in record-breaking tourist traffic, in car, gasoline, and tire savings for motor vehicle taxpayers, in big advantages for the farmer; in increasing prosperity for cities and towns and in the countless other ways in which "good roads pay for themselves."

"Minnesota is gaining some idea of the benefits and advantages of more adequate roads," said Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner. "Other states are reaching a like appreciation, however, and good roads advocates here must continue to give active support to the movement if Minnesota is to maintain its advanced position. Early results are fulfilling the claims made for better roads and demonstrating that larger investments will increase the profits."

The highway bulletin covers 18 districts and indicates that the program is being speeded as rapidly as available funds will allow and betterments fairly distributed. In this section the listings include the following.

Trunk Highway No. 33 between Thief River Falls and Warren. Special maintenance is planned for this season and is to include extra surfacing on the Thief River Falls end.

Trunk Highway No. 32, running from Trunk Highway No. 8 to Greenbush route has been extensively improved and is now in good condition.

Several big permanent improvements on the Red Lake county section of Highway No. 65 are being pushed to completion.

Line Forms on the Right.

Just before the service the minister was called into the vestibule by a young couple who asked that he marry them. He answered he had not time then but that if they would wait until after the sermon he would be glad to accommodate them. Accordingly, just before the benediction, he announced:

"Will those who wish to be married today please come forward?"

Thirteen women and ont man stepped up.

Prestige and goodwill, reputation and influence, hopes, dreams, programs and ideals are mighty sweet and handy to have about, but after all it requires something more tangible than good wishes to keep the wheels turning.

The reason there are so few good husbands is that the test is so severe. A really good husband will register something which looks like genuine grief on learning that the household's favorite fern has died in spite of everything that could be done for it.

403 Out of 410.
(Bemidji Pioneer.)

Man can win no higher compliment than the confidence and esteem and goodwill of his neighbors.

At the primary election, William T. Noonan, publisher of the Baudette Region received 403 votes out of a total of 410 cast for the nomination of representative to the legislature. He had two opponents, one a former representative.

Most small towns, and large, have their factions and cliques and their Main Street squabbles over prunes and politics, dances and dandelions, roads and religion—with a goodly share of the population ready and willing to jump with both feet on any member of the opposing contingent who might dare to poke his ambitious nose above the political horizon.

Few citizens, no matter how much they may admire their own sweet self, except to come out of an election without having a considerable number of home folks get out the hammer when they go into the election booth.

A candidate who can quiet the anvil chorus on election day has done something most extraordinary.

Add to that neat accomplishment the fact that the candidate in this instance prints a newspaper, and has printed it for a long time, and the vote given Billy Noonan becomes the eighth wonder of the world.

No matter how generously disposed a newspaper may be, it can not always and forever please all its readers Making a newspaper is unlike any other business. Its stock in trade is personalities. Its errors are recorded in cold type where all who look may see. It may try ever so hard to be accurate and honest and sincere and progressive and useful, and yet in the necessary hurry of its preperation, offensive mistakes will creep in, and, being human, its judgment is not infallible. Hence, of all business institutions, printing a newspaper is the most likely to create a degree of opposition.

Yet at Baudette we have the spectacle of a newspaperman as a candidate for political office polling practically a unanimous vote, an achievement probably unequalled in American politics.

Twin Guernseys Incorporated.
(By Edson Washburn in Bemidji Pioneer.)

On the 8th day of June, Mr. E. M. Sathre attended a Guernsey sale at Thief River Falls where he was the fortunate purchaser of a beautiful Guernsey cow, the owner of which offered $150 for her calf, if a heifer, when a week old. We now learn Mr. Sathre is the proud owner of not one heifer, but twins. That gives him the immediate return of his investment of $300 of 100 per cent and with a valuable cow free. This was done in the short space of one week. Can you compare any wildcat mining or oil well that can compare with this as a return for a good investment?

Let us suppose this cow will produce twin heifers next year; she will then be producing a $300 offspring each year, besides her dairy products, which, at the rate of 400 pounds fat, would be worth approximately $175, making a total earning of $475 less the expense in care of, say $75, leaving your cow with a net return of $400. Would we not all of us like to buy stock in a concern of this kind?

This is but a comparison in products in the actual livestock game and "wild-cat" stock game, and of the two I'll put a bet on the livestock end. Returns are not always so, but they will come nearer doing it than the average stock proposition. If one were to follow these figures through it would run into a maize, which we would not be able to fathom. With the interest on your returns with an added increase each year, it would make a "King Midas" of every possessor of such an animal.

Bj. Bjornaraa Re-elected President of Satesdalslag.

Several local people attended the annual gathering of the Satesdalslag, a National Norwegian society, at Grand Forks last Thursday and Friday and report that it was one of the best conventions held in the history of the "Lag." It was estimated that about 700 delegates from all parts of the country, particularly from sections of the Red River Valley, were present. An audience of about 1,200 attended the Friday evening sessions.

The Violinist Forbund also had its convention together with the Satesdals, one of the features of their program being he contest beween several vitolinists who play the Norwegian national folk music, largely on the Hardanger instruments. Gunleik Smedal of Albert Lea, and Olav Ormbeck of Oregon, received first prices.

Prominent speakers who took part in the program at the convention were: Gov. R. A. Neston of N. D., Rev. Thorgrimson and Simon Johnson, editor of "Normanden," both of Grand Forks.

Bj. Bjornara, who resides in the eastern part of the county, was elected president of the society for the eleventh succesive year, and Olaf Neset, local jeweler, was again elected secretary. Other officers elected at the business session were: P. B. Olson and John Brokken, vice president, and Arne Gunderson, treasurer. The directors forthe coming year are: Thor. Rygnestad of this city, Tallak Aakhus, McIntosh, Knut Brokke, Buxton, N. D., and Gunder Nesland, Grygla.

Definite plans for next years meeting were not made but it is expected that it will take place in this section of Northern Minnesota at some point arranged for by the management.

Dan Maue Heard From.

Ivanhoe Times: "Dan Maue, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. C. B. Maue of Monticello, Minn., and Mrs. Alice Peterson of Des Moines, Iowa, called at the Times office Tuesday afternoon while in Ivanhoe on a short visit. Mr. Maue is the young man who conducted a subscription contest for the Times a few years ago and who made many friends during his short stay here. He was in the service overseas and was a victim of mustard gas, the deadly poison used by the enemy on the war front. He says he has recovered fairly well from the effects of it and is now working his way through school. He leaves in a few days via auto route for New York city, where he spent the past school year, the first of a course of four years, taking journalism at Columbia university."

The above will be of interest to the many friends of Mr. Maue in Thief River Falls. Just before leaving for Columbia university he was employed in a reportorial capacity on The Times in this city and made many friends.

FORMING PUREBRED BULL ASSOCIATIONS TO IMPROVE HERDS

Coincident with deversified farming in northwestern Minnesota is the interest in livestock development. More attention is being given to the production of a better quality of stock, according to O. M. Kiser, Northwest Experiment Station, Crookston, which is giving farmers more profitable returns from livestock.

Most of the inferior stock seen on our afrms is the product of the poorly developed sire and the sire of scrub breeding. The 1920 livestock census report from the office of the Minnesota Department of Agriculture shows that in the eleven Northwest counties of Minnesota only 22 per cent of the bulls used are purebred. This fact alone—one purebred to every 3.5 scrubs—is evidence enough that if any great progress is to be made in cattle breeding, the first step is the elimination of the scrub sires.

Co-operative cattle breeding rests on the forming of a co-operative bull association in a community where the farmers are interested in the improvement of some one breed of cattle. These co-operative bull associations are formed by farmers for the joint ownership, use and exchange of high class, purebred bulls. The bulls are purchased by the association from among the best herds of the breed that the community has selected to improve. These bulls are used on the herds of the members of the association regardless of whether the cows are purebreds or grades. By the continued use of a purebred sire the most common cow within two or three generations becomes the foundation animal of high grade offspring. The association bulls used on what pure bred females that are owned by individual members, soon increases the number of purebred females of a quality that will be desired by other members of the association or will find ready outside buyers.

Co-operative bull associations have existed in Denmark since 1874. In 1906 the number there had grown to 1095 with a total membership of 26,200, owning 1396 dairy bulls. The first bull association in the United States was started in 1908 by the Michigan Agricultural college. On July 1, 1919, there were 78 active associations in 27 states, with a total of 2978 members, owning 371 purebred bulls.

The typical cooperative bull association as organized in this country is composed of 15 to 30 farmers jointly owning 5 bulls. This divides the territory of the association into five "breeding blocks" and assigns one bull to each block. As many as 50 to 60 cows may belong to the farmers in each block.

A bull is kept in its block until its heifers are old enough to breed. A general shift of the bulls is then made. No bull of the association is eliminated; all are retained for breeding purposes. A sire becomes known by the value of his get. Many a sire has been sent to the butcher before his real value became known. The bull association makes it possible to try out good sires through years of service. A good sire should be useful until he is at least 10 to 12 years old, provided he does not become diseased or physically disabled.

Only high class bulls are owned by the association, as collectively it is possible to buy a better sire. The individual farmer without the means is often compelled to purchase a cheaper and inferior bull. Over a period of years the individual member of a bull association will have less money invested in sires than if he, as a non-member, is compelled to in making a new purchase on the average every three or four years, besides having the full expense of the care of the animal.

The greatest care should be taken in selecting bulls, as inferior bulls will completely defeat the purpose of the organization. Some farmer centrally located in each block, should be selected to take care of the bull and each farmer should pay his share of the purchase price. In addition each farmer pays his share of all other expenses, including the support of the bulls. His share of these expenses should not exceed $10 to $15 annually.

In order to avoid mistakes in organization, operation and selection of bulls, a community interested in such a project should get the assistance of the county agent or livestock department of the Northwest School of Agriculture.

OBSERVATIONS
(W. T. Noonan in Baudette Region.)

Wage earners are making good money this summer, but the trouble is they are not making enough of it.

An honest man's the noblest work of God unless he happened to vote against you.

Be neighborly. Spend July first at Rainy River and the fourth at Spooner.

The mean part about winning in the recent election is that we are now classed as a politician.

As you may have suspected, the Region is supporting Noonan for representative. We would appreciate your support also.

It won't be a public calimity if we get licked Monday, but we think we can be of service to you at St. Paul. Your support will be appreciated.

All men are said to be liars, but we take off our hat to a few of the politicians who are running this month.

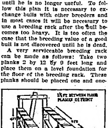
He prepared the reply at the minimum fee and her answer, therefore, had to be limited to ten words. SERVICEABLE BREEDING RACK Useful Device When Bull Becomes Heavy Is Not Difficult to Build —Must Be Braced.

A bull that is a good individual and that has excellent breeding back of him should be kept in service at least until his daughters come in milk. If he transmits his breeding to his daughters he should be kept in service until he is no longer useful. To follow this plan it is necessary to exchange bulls with other breeders and in most cases it will be necessary to use a breeding rack after the bull becomes too heavy. It is too often the case that the breeding value of a good bull is not discovered until he is dead.

A very serviceable breeding rack can be made as follows: Take two planks 2 by 12 by 9 feet long and place them on a level foundation for the floor of the breeding rack. These planks should be placed one and one-half feet apart in the front part of the rack and two feet in the rear, inside measurements. Each side of the breeding rack has three posts made of the same material as the floor which are four feet high in front and one and one-half feet in the wear. The posts are nailed to the floor and a plank 2 by 12 by 9 feet long is nailed on the top of the posts. Two-inch strips are nailed across the top of the breeding rack at intervals of ten inches to prevent the bull from slipping.



Durable Breeding Rack for Bull.

The breeding rack must be well braced with 2 by 4's as indicated in the diagram. Four pieces 1 by 6 are nailed across the front end to prevent it from spreading. A 2 by 4 is nailed across the floor plank just back of the middle posts. A stanchion is placed in the front end of the breeding rack which is so constructed that it can be moved backward or forward.—The Prairie Farmer.

TESTS DETECT REMADE MILK

Necessary That Some Method Be Devised That Natural Product Be Distinguished.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The increased use of remade milk and cream—that is, milk and cream made from powdered or condensed milk and sweet-cream butter—has made necessary some method by which they may be distinguished from the natural products. Such a test has been devised by chemists of the United States Department of Agriculture, and it is now possible to detect as little as 10 per cent of remade milk in a mixture with natural pasteurized milk. If milk powder has been used in making the mixture, the amount that can be detected will depend on the degree of heat used in its manufacture.

The test for both milk and cream is based upon the color produced when the washed curd made from them is dissolved in sodium hydroxide. When this curd solution has stood for several hours a characteristic yellow color develops in the samples taken from remade milk and cream or mixtures containing them; samples of the natural products or only slight mixtures do not show it.

Remade milk and cream are wholesome foods if made properly from good, natural milk, but should be sold for what they are, and this test makes it possible for food officials to determine whether or not the consumer is being deceived.

GREAT RECORD OF TEACHER LEAGUE

Geo. M. Gunderson, Co. Supt.

(From The Minnesota Teacher.)

In November, 1919, rural teachers were assembled in a teachers' institute at the county seat. The teachers were reminded by one of their number of the importance of organizations and the work they accomplish. The State Department of Education recommended the re-organization of the Teachers' Patriotic League which had been organized the previous year. The teacher who addressed them was a firm believer in teachers' organizations for the elevation of he rural schools to a higher standard of efficiency, which would create a demand for better rural teachers and encourage the payment of better salaries. Re-organization was proposed and a publicity campaign relaive to public health, citizenship, pariotism of the public schools and educational improvement of the teachers.

Several instances of poor citizenship and especially poor health of school pupils were pointed out. It was shown that teachers could enter upon a new and great field in their career in co-operating with other professional people. A re-organization was effected at which officers, consisting of president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer were elected. Committees were appointed and instructed to improve existing conditions of health, patriotism, citizenship and education. The country was divided into sections of so many schools to the section, each presided over by a section chairman. This chairman was made a member of the executive board and instructed to hold monthly meetings with the members of his section to pursue reading circle work. He should also hold one general meeting for the parents and teachers of his section.

The general sectional meeting was the means through which the teachers' league did the most good. The committee chairman, had, with the co-operation of the country superintendent, conferred with and secured the city doctors as speakers on health. The doctors also followed their lecture with a health clenic held at a time recommended by the teachers of each section. The committee chairman secured the services of the city attorneys to lecture on citizenship and school laws; the country agricultural agent, on patriotism, including boys' and girls' club work; the high school faculty, on educational improvement. These people donated their services and as a result, a better community spirit arose between country and city people. During that school year the State Department proposed the minimum salary schedule affecting all teachers of the state, rural as well as city. Rural school officers expressed their desire to hold a county school officers' meeting for organizing similar to the teachers. This was done and a school officers' association effected. They wished to hold a committee conference with the teachers of the county to arrive at a county teachers' salary schedule. The teachers expressed their approval by appointing a committee to meet with the school officers' committee. These committees decided to "split the difference," both as regarded the salary schedule and their arguments advanced at this conference. In due respect to both organizations, it may be stated that this schedule, after adoption, was not broken by either side until the Legislature of 1921 annulled all state teachers' salary schedules. It is also of interest that this schedule was ten dollars higher per month than the state adopted schedule.

The results derived from the work of the Teachers' League were many. A few are given:

1. Created a demand for a county nurse who was supplied through the county senior Red Cross chapter.
2. Resulted in the organization of boys' and girls' clubs and the preparing of school exhibits for our county fair through the co-operation of the county agent. The county took first prize at the State Fair for language booklets.
3. Teachers' reading circle clubs are now maintained in every section.
4. Building three new modern school buildings, replaced the old "box car" type.
5. Through the efforts of our league, Pennington County had the largest enrollment of rural elementary teachers of any county of its size at our last N. M. E. A. convention.
6. School attendance has increased since the organization began to function. As a whole, the League has lived up to its name of making rapid progress in every direction concerning the welfare of our rural elementary schools. Mention should be made of the work of Miss Dora C. Perry of the Thief River Falls Normal training department, and Miss Ida Legvold, who for two years acted as president. Miss Perry must be credited for the excellent response from the county's teachers as regards reading circle work. Miss Legvold was instrumental in getting the services of a film demonstrator, who, for a small admission fee to cover his expenses, entertained every section through showing films on health and good morals. During her term, every section held an annual general sectional meeting.

At the last semi-annual meeting of the executive board, section and county play days were recommended. The chairman of the School Offices' Association promised to attend the play days as a "story teller." In this capacity he has already proven his worth at school entertainments. A woman teacher of the county consented to lead community singing. Two of the men teachers of the county will assist the county superintendent in teaching games at these play days. We believe it is healthier for the boys to kick a foot ball than each other and that play days will create a new interest in schools through competition, not only as to volley ball, foot ball and basket ball, but in all general school work.

The Pennington County Teachers' Progressive League has supplied the missing link between teacher and teacher, teachers and pupils, teachers and parents and city and country people. For this county, its school system, and its people in general, the League spells co-operation in the full sense of the word.

NEW ROAD PROGRAM LISTS NEARBY JOB

Highway Betterments as Rapidly as Funds Are Forthcoming Aim of Department.

Between Dugdale and North, seven miles of state trunk highway No. 8 will be graveled at an estimated cost of $16,000 during the present construction season, according to Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner.

A call for bids on this and 28 other projects will be made at once, it was officially announced, following action by congress toward providing additional federal highway aid. The new allotment, however, will be only half that of each previous year and the cut costs the Minnesota trunk highway fund nearly $1,500,000. Highway officials said that the new funds will be put on the roads without delay that early benefits may be given the highway users.

Nearly all the new money will be used for grading and graveling sections of the state trunk routes, according to the program announced today. The totals are more than 120 miles of gravel-surfacing and 96 miles of grading, and the total of estimated costs approximates $1,440,000. Proposed improvements are widely distributed over the state under the continued policy of spreading betterments to the largest possible number of localities.

Commissioner Babcock will open bids July 10, the earliest possible date under the law, on the first lot of projects on the new program which follows: T. H. No. 2—Moorhead east, 13 miles grading and two bridges, $90,700; T. H. No. 6—In Hallock, .5 mile grading, gravelling and tiling, $6,600; T. H. No. 8—Crookston east, 10 miles gravelling, $12,000; T. H. The well digger got down a little below 40 feet with his drill when up the casing came a rush of wind so cold that it would freeze the hand if held in the air for any length of time. The power was sufficient to lift the 900 pound drill.

Fenton Found Not Guilty of Murder at Second Trial

Following a trial which was continued for seven days, the jury in session on the Robert Miller murder case at Brainerd returned a decision of "not guilty" Tuesday morning. The jury went into meeting at 2 p. m. Monday, but did not agree until 1 a. m. Tuesday. At the hearing Graham Torrence, prosecutor of Beltrami county, represented the state's interests, while M. J. Daly of Perham, handled the case for the defendant. Judge B. F. Wright presided. Miller had previously received a sentence of life imprisonment at the Stillwater prison from the Beltrami court. His plea for a new trial was at first refused, but later he was granted a change of venue to Brainerd. Miller was held in connection with the shooting of Archie Fenton near Carp, about two years ago.

Miller was a resident of Thief River Falls some years ago and is remembered by many here.

Finding of Bones Proves Mystery at Red Lake Falls

Matt Nerva, while plowing on his farm, the E½ of the NE¼, section 31, Garnes township, plowed up the bones of a man buried in a shallow grave, evidently many years ago.

The first discovery of the bones was when the plow turned over what appeared to be the soles of a man's shoes, which were in the sod. Little attention was given this until after a little deeper plowing the forearm bone was turned up. Just when or how the body was buried will probably never be known.

Some of the older settlers recall the disappearance of a man who had made arrangements to visit his old home in Europe, and before starting on his journey came up missing and was never heard from again and at that time it was thought that he had met with foul play, as he was supposed to have carried large sums of money.

Big Scale Industry Has Made America Rich

AMERICA is the richest country in the world because of its great natural resources, and because it has utilized large scale organizations to develop them. It has done big things in a big way. Other nations have had more workmen, cheaper labor, more densely settled areas, yet America has outstripped them all. Why? Because of "Big Industry"—vast, centralized organization.

The measure of this big-scale organization is service. The big unit is constructive—far-seeing—resourceful—permanent. It can be depended upon to provide essential commodities in times of stress.

A big organization should be judged by the service it renders.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a big organization, built squarely upon service. It has grown and prospered because of the need for its service. It is doubtful if a smaller organization could give the service rendered by this Company.

Because of its size and efficiency, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) can manufacture on an economical scale. From one natural resource it produces hundreds of useful products at a minimum cost, thus enabling the Company to sell each of its long line of products at a lower price than would otherwise be possible.

Because of its thorough distribution service, resulting from its great volume of business, it is possible for the man living in the remote corners of the 10 Middle Western States served to get such petroleum products as he needs with facility almost equal to that of the man living in the city.

The forecast for 1922 is for a heavier demand for petroleum products than this nation has ever known. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has keyed its entire organization to meet this demand. Regardless of the emergencies which may arise, the Company believes that its organization will be able to meet the situation.

COUNTY'S TAX RATE LOW AS COMPARED WITH NEIGHBORS

Has More Than Doubled in Ten Years, However—Interesting Figures Presented.

Taxes on lands in Pennington county have more than doubled during the past ten years but the reader should look around before deciding that his rate is too high. When compared to neighboring counties, Pennington has very little kick coming, according to the figures just made public by J. G. Armson of the Minnesota tax commission.

The average tax on a farm in Minnesota this year is 70 cents an acre, while in Pennington county the average tax is 48.11 cents per acre. The average for the state on a quarter of land is $112.14 per acre. St. Louis is the only county in the state on which the tax is lower at this time than it was ten and twenty years ago. In every other instance there has been an increase, this in certain cases reaching a ten-fold rate.

The following figures show the upward trend of taxation in the Ninth district, which does not represent the greatest advance in the state by any means. The amount of the tax is expressed in cents and hundredths of cents:

	1901	1911	1921
Kittson	11.18	22.29	51.09
Roseau	6.43	16.03	29.15
Marshall	11.41	24.48	48.43
Pennington		21.19	48.11
Red Lake	10.51	21.58	61.21
Clearwater		14.92	41.62
Polk	13.86	22.69	65.93
Norman	10.73	21.87	61.77
Mahnomen		19.26	60.81
Clay	12.98	27.76	77.37
Becker	13.00	19.19	4981
Ottertail	11.83	27.33	63.41
Wilkin	13.63	28.00	62.84

Pennington, Clearwater and Mahnomen counties were not organized 20 years ago and there are no figures available for that period for these three. It will be seen that only two counties in the district—Roseau and Clearwater—have a lower tax rate than Pennington.

It is in the southern part of the state that the great advances have been made. A few comparisons with the figures of 20 years ago will prove interesting at this time:

	1901	1921
Pipestone	15.77	116.15
Murray	14.14	96.48
Rock	17.21	111.56
Nobles	18.17	112.32
Faribault	19.20	114.82
Freeborn	19.19	110.67

NEW REPORT SHOWS PENNINGTON FAIR BIGGEST AND BEST

Is Most Important Event of Its Kind Held in Northwestern Section of Minnesota.

Preparations are under way for making the coming fair, which will be held during the first week of August, the biggest and best show of its kind in the history of the county. President Herbert Fuller and his aids and associates are busy framing up the program and have already contracted with some of the best known attractions in the country. The premium list has been revised and brought up to date and will soon be in the hands of exhibitors.

The Pennington county fair is one of the most important in the state, both in point of attendance and the number and quality of exhibits. The annual report of the State Fair association, just issued, shows that last year only 12 county fairs in the entire state showed a larger attendance.

St. Louis and Lake are the only northern counties which can boast of larger crowds than Pennington. For the benefit of those who are inclined to doubt this statement the official figures for all counies ranking over Pennington are herewith given.

Cottonwood	16,000
Dodge	16,000
Fillmore	20,000
Freeborn	16,221
Kandiyohi	80,000
Lake	15,272
Martin	25,000
Otter Tail	50,000
Redwood	24,000
St. Louis	30,000
Steele	30,000
Wright	18,500
Pennington	14,000

This attendance is twice as great as that of the county next in line in the northern part of the state. Following is a table showing the total number of persons attending the different fairs in northwestern Minnesota:

Beltrami	5,930
Clay	5,000
Clearwater	1,510
Kittson	4,450
Marshall	7,200
Polk (Fertile)	4,605
Polk (Crookston)	3,897
Roseau	3,110

The total gate receipts last year were $4,295.24 and the total receipts from all sources $10,582.02. The entertainment programs cost $3,441.08 and the total disbursements footed up $10,928.02. The association is practically free from debt and starts the year with a surplus in the treasury.

POULTRY

MARKET FOR YOUNG GUINEAS

Best Season Is During Latter Part of Summer and Fall—Sell Best With Feathers On.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The marketing season for guinea fowl is during the latter part of summer, and throughout the fall. At this time the demand in the city markets is for young birds weighing from one to two pounds each. At about two and one-half months old guineas weigh from one to one and one-half pounds, and at this size they begin reaching the markets in August. As the season advances the demand is for heavier birds.

The usual practice in marketing game birds is to place them on the market unplucked, and in most markets guineas are sold this way. They appear more attractive with feathers on, and sell more readily. Dressed, the small size and dark color of the skin are likely to prejudice the prospective customer who may be unfamiliar with the bird's excellent eating qualities. For hotel and restaurant trade, however, guineas should be dressed in the same way as common fowl. Better ask the dealer, before shipping, whether he wants the feathers on or off.

In Most Markets Guineas Are Sold With Feathers On.

The Department of Agriculture has learned that if the feathers are to be left on the birds all that is necessary in preparing for market is to bleed them by severing the principal blood vessels of the neck, allowing them to hang head downward until bleeding is complete.

If the feathers are to be removed, it should be done by dry picking. When the brain is pierced after severing the blood vessels in the neck the feathers are loosened by a convulsive movement of the muscles and can be removed easily.

TO AVOID POULTRY DISEASES

Health of Fowls Depends Almost Entirely Upon Clean Quarters and Right Feed.

Many people who raise poultry spend money for remedies for ailments in their flock which they could prevent if they would realize that the health of poultry depends almost entirely upon clean quarters and proper feeding.

Few poultry diseases are caused by anything but lack of precaution. A leaky roof causes damp litter. Lack of litter under roosts causes a damp and foul house under a good roof. Cracks in the floor or sides mean drafts. Lack of clean scratch litter means lack of exercise and reduced vigor.

Lack of balanced rations means a tendency towards digestive troubles. No grit helps to keep feed from being properly digested. Too tight quarters cause them to become damp, foul-smelling and unhealthful. Lack of ventilation causes poultry to lose in vitality. Colds are caused by dusty houses and exposure to moisture and cold.

POULTRY NOTES

Put your eggs in cold storage via the waterglass route.

• • •

Keep the baby chicks hungry at all times. Never feed too much.

• • •

Pinches of sodium fluorid in the feathers will rid a hen of lice.

• • •

Scatter air-slaked lime freely about the houses and yards; it will go a long way towards preventing disease.

• • •

Alfalfa meal and wheat bran are, perhaps, the most common "bases" for chick growing mashes and they are hard to excel.

• • •

Alfalfa meal should be in all mash rations and it will pay to encourage the chicks or fowls to eat as much of it as possible. It makes for greater capacity.

• • •

Don't sell the hens because the price of eggs is low and prices for the hens high. Keep plenty of hens to lay eggs for home use and to sell next winter when prices are up.

One sweet lady of this county asked the writer if she could put off her washing until the town was furnished with current. Ye editor advised her that she could if the neighbors and the board of health had no objection.

He raged and kicked with all his might,
His eyes lit up like stars at night—
He couldn't get a 34-inch tire on a 36-inch rim.

Skarnings Coming Again.

The famous Skarning Concert company, which has appeared several times in this city, will again be hereto favor the public with their usually entertaining program. The troupe compose of Prof. Thorstein Skarning, accordion vertuoso, Mrs. Anna Skarning, soprano and pianist, and Martin Hendrickson, an accomplished accordion player, will be at the city auditorium Wednesday evening, July 12, at 8:30. The musicians and the quality of their numbers are known to a large number of people here who have heard them previously. They are meeting with the approval of even the most critical in respect to musical entertainment. Prof. Skarning is able to produce music from his $700 instrument almost equal to that of a large orchestra, and has unusual skill and power in manipulating it. Music lovers should not fail to hear them.

On another page will be found the complete announcement of the concert.

Goodridge Defeated.

A bunch of local boys brought home the bacon last Tuesday, when they defeated the Goodridge aggregation on the Highlanding diamond 18 to 9. The ball game was one of the main features of the celebration of Independence day at that place. It was an interesting game but throughout the contest the visitors had the score in their favor.

The local invaders were lined up as follows: Roy Brown, pitcher; Derby Anderson, catcher; Roy Kiland, first base; P. Larson, second; H. Eide, third; Luke Bourque, shortstop; Jorgenson, center field; Stanton Dahlen, right field, Harold Arneson, left field.

Girl Injured Climbing Tree.

Mrs. G. A. Falness and children returned from Detriot last evening, after having spent a few days visiting and outing there.

Katherin, a young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Falness, had the misfortune of getting a severe cut in the leg in an attempt to climb a tree. It was necessary to take several stitches in the wound but it is now improving rapidly although it causes the girl considerable pain in walking about.

HARDING LAUDS FARM BUREAUS

President of United States Comments on Federation's Hold on Public Confidence.

The Pennington county Farm Bureau office has received a copy of a letter written by President Harding to James R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, in which the chief executive of the United States gives outspoken praise to the Farm Bureau organization.

"Almost from its earliest beginnings I have been quite intimately appraised of the developing work of the Farm Bureau Federation," says the president's letter. "It has taken its place in an astonishingly brief period among the most important and influential factors in behalf, not only of the best agricultural development but also of shaping the community sentiments of the country.

"Its policies have been directed with a uniform wisdom and breadth of understanding which have well earned the high place which the federation holds in the confidence of the country. I feel that it has been worthy of especial commendation by reason of the broad view it has taken of national problems and industrial relationships. This liberality of vision has been particularly illustrated in its broad and comprehending interest in behalf of an adequate merchant marine, and its favorable attitude toward the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway project.

"No particular department of industry or commerce will in the long run be promoted by an attitude, on the part of those immediately concerned for it, which excludes an accurate view of the common interest among them all. Being thus convinced, I have especial satisfaction in expressing my commendation of the federation's work and attitudes, and my sincere hope for its continuing and increasing prosperity."

American Legion Corner

The American Flag.

(By Larry Hodgson, former Mayor of St. Paul.)

The American Flag is no mere fabric of silk or bunting—no mere beautiful cloth woven by human hands. It is a living thing, pulsing with the throbbing ardors of humanity, glowing with the fervor of immortal hopes, leading out in estacies of love and dream. It is an altar fragrant with sacrifice. It is a heaven wherein the sanctified are gathered. It is the home where freemen dwell. It is the battlefield whereon Honor strikes its blow for the cause of God. It is a flame springing up to consume injustice and wither the hosts of wrong. It is a voice that speaks with the eloquence of the graves where sleep those heroes who died to make it mean purity and righteousness. He who looks upon the Flag with ransomed eyes beholds within its folds the wind-swept faces of boys who died alone on the thunder-smitten hills of France. The Flag of the United States is the Glory of God shining in the face of those who dream of a world made clean enough to be the dwelling place of God. For such a flag true men will always gladly die—for such a Flag good men will always nobly live.

A Melody of Service.

(By Stafford King, Minnesota Legion Adjutant.)

When the American Flag was created, God, in His infinite wisdom, blessed it as a symbol of freedom, inspired it as a thing of beauty, and wrote it deep within His Book, "A Melody of Service." It is fashioned with the gold and the gleam of the stars against the vaulted azure of a summer sky. It is spaced with the sheer of a silvered moon upon the pure sweet snow which gleams from the lily's petals, and striped with the crimsoned flame which leaps and glances from the ruby's heart. Within its blue and white and red is enfolded all there is of liberty, justice and democracy, sanctified to us by blood and tears; mothers' tears, which shine thru sacrifice like glistening pearls beneath the softly undulating waves of southern seas and blood of men who died as One has died upon the Cross, that other men might live. To such a Flag Americans can say: "Whither thou goest, I will go, and whither thou lodgest, I will lodge: thy people shall be my people, and thy God, my God."

Fall in, Buddy!

In more than 11,000 communities the world over your old Buddies are, through the American Legion, still in action, fighting at home for the land that was good enough to fight for abroad.

There are vacant places in the ranks that can never be filled—blank files dedicated to the memory of old shipmates and tentmates who went West when death rode in the air and sea.

But there's your old place in the line, Buddy, waiting for you, and the bugle of duty sounds "Fall in." There are no written orders or commands except those of your own conscience and bunk-fatigue brings no excited top-kicker.

Just the same, Soldier, the American Legion needs you and you need the American Legion. That's fifty-fifty. Hold up your end and become a member. Your honorable discharge is your eligibility ticket. Your Legion button will tell the world you have such a discharge.

Legion Headquarters in the Old State Capitol, at 532 Boston Block in Minneapolis, at 312 West Superior street in Duluth, or the Adjutant of any of Minnesota's five hundred hustling Legion posts will give you the glad hand and stand by you later, should you need a true friend. And so will any of the thirty thousand buddies who form The American Legion of Minnesota, best and livest Legion department in America.

The Motive is to Serve.

When a buddy with the American Legion emblem in his buttonhole calls at your home and inquires if a former veteran lives there, do not think that he is after a donation. What he wants is to assist a comrade of the great war in any way possible. The Legion Service Census campaign is in full swing throughout Minnesota. Every city, town and township is being canvassed to locate veterans with a view to adjusting any claims they may have against the Government, such as re-instating lapsed insurances, obtaining vocational training, back pay, allotments, compensation, medical treatment, victory medals, discharge papers, and so on. Many a veteran has a wrong conception of the American Legion and its purpose. It is the earnest wish of every well informed Legionaire to give reliable information about the organization. Every live outfit wants to stand right with the buddies its members fought with and respect; every live Legionaire wants to see the Legion grow and prosper, so that it may be strong enough to render still better service to country and comrades. The questionaires carried by the Legion Service Census workers are confidential. No buddy need hesitate about answering the inquiries contained therein. Your buddies of the Legion are at your service.

Former Pennington Man Making Good in Timber

The following, taken from a recent issue of the Grand Rapids Herald-Review, will be of interest to former neighbors and friends of the family referred to:

"Alfred O. Valtinson; a qualified farmer a great asset to the new community, a fine neighbor and a man of indisputable honesty, are the general expressions you hear in connection with the name of Valtinson. There are a goodly number of hard-working, honest, progressive settlers in these parts, but it is agreed that none have accomplished more or gone ahead faster in this vicinity, considering time and help, than Alfred Valtinson has. He came here two years ago this spring and located on an 80-acre farm in the Jessie Lake county, and in order to have both lake and road frontage he bought an additional four acres. Mr. Valtinson was not smiled on by good fortune. Hardly had he become established before he was visited by sickness, ending in the death of his father, which created a heavy drain on his already limited deposits. Nevertheless, Mr. Valtinson, with true pioneer spirit, weathered the storms of adversity. With willing hands reinforced with tenacity and a deficit, he set out to clear up land to make a farm hime for himself and family. At the end of the first year he could show 25 acres cleared, some stumped, three acres of which was in squash, the rest sown to tame hay. Late last fall he was assisted by three brothers, one of whom remained with him all winter.

"This spring Mr. Valtinson's clearing is well past the 45 acre mark with several acres stumped and awaiting the plow and the spuds. Mr. Valtinson is an active member of the Jessie Lake farm club, a firm believer in co-operative methods and a careful selection of farm stock. Mr. Valtinson came here from Thief River Falls, where he had farmed for a number of years."

A St. Louis family has named the baby Radio. It is probably adept at broadcasting.

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING FOR DISTRICT NO. 18

Tax Levy to be Voted and Two Directors to be Elected Saturday Eevening.

Friends of T. L. Melgaard Present His name to Fill One of the Vacancies.

Others Mentioned are M. C. Harlow, E. M. Bennes and A. M. Langseth.

The annual meeting of the voters of school district No. 18 will be held at the auditorium Saturday evening. At this time, in addition to voting the annual tax levy, the voters will have two vacancies to fill on the school board.

Mellby and Backe Retire.

The terms of Dr. O. F. Melby and Judge Lars Backe expire at this time and both men refuse to be candidates for re-election. Judge Backe has served on the board for twenty-two years and Dr. Mellby has been a member for thirteen years. Both feel that it is now time for others to take their places.

T. L. Melgaard A Candidate.

The friends of T. L. Melgaard have advanced his name to fill one of the vacancies and it is understood that he has consented to serve if elected. Mr. Melgaard's friends feel that he will make a particularly strong man on the board.

It is pointed out that he can admirably serve the district at this time when the affairs of the schools need the directing force of progressive but hard headed business men. Mr. Melgaard answers the qualifications in every particular and would be a strong addition to the board.

Others Mentioned.

Others mentioned as possible candidates are E. M. Bennes, A. M. Langseth and M. C. Harlow. Any of these men will undoubtedly consent to serve if elected and all are well qualified by years of successful business experience.

Should Attend Meeting.

Every voter in the district should attend the annual school meeting. It is one of the most important events of the year and should interest every taxpayer. The schools require the largest amount of taxes of any department of the city and the annual meeting is the proper place to discuss these matters and determine the amount to be expended for the coming year.

Skogerboe Child Saved from Auto.

The following is a clipping from the Erskine Echo telling how a small child of Rev Skogerboe, formerly of this city was nearly crushed under an automobile:

"On July 4th, what might easily have been a fatal accident, was averted by Mayor Cringstad. Miss Cringstad was returning home from the village when she spied the little child of Rev. Skogerboe playing in the middle of the street and coming from the south was a racing automobile. She threw up her hands and made a swift jump for the child grasping it and jerking it to safety just before the car passed."

Gudge Grindland Disposes Of Rowan Divorce Case

At the term of district court which closed last Saturday, Mae Rowan was granted a divorce from Thos. J. Rowan, by Judge Andrew Grindeland.

The action for divorce was brought by Mrs. Rowan as the result of a quarrel which occurred at their home last August, when she alleged that Mr. Rowan attempted to eject her from the house. The complaint alleged cruel treatment and inability of the two to agree in their domestic relations. The divorce was granted by Judge Grindeland solely on these grounds and it was particularly brought out at the hearing by Mrs. Rowan that no other cause existed.

Under the terms of the court's decree Mrs. Rowan is given the custody of the one child, Thomas J. Rowan Jr., during nine months each year and the remaining three he is to spend with his father. Mrs. Rowan was allowed alimony for support of the boy.

Nora Gunderson was granted a divorce from Gunder Gunderson. She was also given alimony in the amount of $15 per month for the support of herself and children.

Return From Long Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Dalquist, arrived here Saturday evening by car from Alexandria, where they had visited for a couple of weeks. They expect to remain here till the latter part of the week. Mr. and Mrs. Dalquist, and Miss Laura Stople have made an extended tour thru the western states during the last year. They made the whole journey by car, spending the winter in Los Angles. They report that the tour was exceptionally pleasant in every respect, and they are not tired of traveling yet.

Mr. Dalquist says that all of the various localities through which they passed were attractive and had many desirable advantages but that Minnesota leads them all as a desirable place of residence twelve months out of the year. He also says that he is more firmly convinced than ever before that this particular section of the state offers the greatest opportunities of any that he has seen.

Red Lake Retains County Agent.

The county commissioners of Red Lake county at a meeting here Tuesday decided that the farm bureau work should be continued in the county and voted three thousand dollars to carry it on from July 1, 1922 to July 1, 1923.

L. M. Bond who has been county agent there for some time, will continue in his present position.

The board had formerly decided that the farm bureau work should be discontinued but protests from farmers over the county and the apparent need of keeping up the work of certification of seed potatoes and cow testing prompted the commissioners to reverse the former decision.

IMPLEMENT MEN TO MEET HERE NEXT THURSDAY

Farmers and Business Men Urged to Attend Meeting at Auditorium in Evening.

The annual district convention and community welfare rally of the Minnesota Implement Dealers association will be held in Thief River Falls Thursday, July 20th. The local committee in charge of the arrangements is working hard to make this one of the banner events of the year. Two sessions will be held, one in the afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock and the other at 7:30 in the evening.

Farmers Urged to Attend.

It is particularly desired that a large number of farmers attend the evening session as this will be in the nature of a community rally and many things of mutual interest will be discussed. President Reed of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation will be here for this meeting and will have an interesting message. Other speakers will be O. M. Thurber of Owatonna, assistant secretary of the state organization, and M. L. Seder of the Market Extension department of The Farmer. Mr. Seder's subject will be "Wipe Out the City-Farm Boundary Line" and every farmer and business man in the county should hear what he has to say. Mr. Thurber will also deliver a strictly community address, using as his subject, "Two Out, Two on a Home Run." The meeting will be held at the auditorium.

Noper to Lead Singing.

Community singing will also be a feature of the evening meeting. This will be lead by V. C. Noper and he promises that it will be one of the livliest affairs of the season. Many old and patriotic songs will be sung.

VISITORS DAY AT PEAT EXPERIMENT STATION JULY 22

Public Urged to See Result of Experiments at Golden Valley Farm.

Saturday, July 22 has been decided upon as visiting day for 1922. All farmers and others interested in the cultivation of peat soils are urged to attend and inspect the plots on that day to see what can be done on the high-lime peat soils of northwestern Minnesota. Those who cannot visit the plots on July 23 are invited to do so at their convenience.

The experimental field is located one mile east of the Golden Valley post office and sixteen miles east of Holt.

Signs along the roads from Holt, Grygla, and Goodridge will guide visitors to Golden Valley.

University guides will conduct visitors around the plots between 10 and 12 o'clock and after the program in the afternoon.

The crops are very promising this year. The winter rye and clover are particularly good. Every farmer with unclaimed peat soil should see the clover on the plots this season.

There will be a picnic dinner at 12:30 in the grove on the Dahl farm just southeast of the post office. Those who cannot bring their dinner will be able to secure refreshments. A short program will be given at 2:00 o'clock consisting of brief addresses. The experiments will be explained and the points of special interest will be called to your attention. Any who wish information concerning peat soils are invited to ask questions during the program.

Miss Akre Improving.

Miss Avis Akre, daughter of City Clerk and Mrs. A. H. Akre, who was operated on July 4th at the local hospital for tumor, is improving very rapidly and will soon recover completely.

Road Work Under Way.

Work has been started on the Red Lake road by the contractors and it is expected that the first ten miles will be completed by August 15th. The clearing is well under way now and will probably be completed within another week.

THIEF RIVER FALLS AND PENNINGTON COUNTY

Introduction to a Series of Fifteen Articles Setting Forth the Resources and Possibilities of This Great Section

This is the first of a series of fifteen industrial articles which will be published in The Times, one each week for the next fifteen weeks, for the purpose of outlining to Northwestern Minnesota and the outside world the vast field of resources and opportunities existing here for advancement and success and for the promotion of optimism and the right psychology. The facts contained in these articles are based absolutely on reliable facts and gathered by an expert publicist who has had many years experience.

The Times throughout this period, will make an effort to show that there is not a section of the country in the west or the northwest that offers a wider field of endeavor than Pennington county and the trade territory of Thief River Falls. Every phase of industrial life and business activity will be covered in a thorough and constructive manner.

The carrying out of this campaign has been made possibe by thirty of the progressive business institutions of Thief River Falls, the leading distributing and commercial center for the entire Northwestern part of the state. After reading this article turn to the two inside industrial pages and see who these progressive firms are who so willingly have come to the assistance of this enterprise.

Every reader of The Times can assist very materially in this campaign by sending his own copy of the paper to a relative or friend in some other section of the country after he has completed reading it, that this relative or friend may learn of the opportunities in this splendidly productive section.

TIMES PRINTING & MFG. COMPANY

(By R. KENNETH EVANS.)

The diversified and natural resources of the state of Minnesota makes it one of the richest in the union. It now ranks high and is destined to be even greater not only as a dairying, agriculture, stock raising and mining state, but as one of the great manufacturing states of the Northwest. It is indeed a land of golden opportunities with equal rights for all who desire health and prosperity.

The eyes of the entire business world are centered on the west and the northwest because of the vast field of resources which are open for development and the demand which is occasioned for production along all lines.

Publicity is necessary to acquaint people in other sections with the possibilities in Minnesota. It is for this purpose that The Times is today inaugurating a campaign to exploit these resources. The period of depression felt over the entire United States, brought on by the curtailment of speculative money following the greatest war in history, has been keenly felt. Various phases of propoganda have been circulated which have had a tendency to discourage the non-thinker and those not familiar with cause and effect.

Optimism Is Big Essential.

In order to show the vast field of resources existing in Northwestern Minnesota, adjacent to Thief River Falls, in the true light is bound to have a stimulating effect, coupled with the radical change in the economic conditions brought about by the substantial increase in agricultural production. Any man who feels depressed, if shown what his possibilities are for the future, will gain new courage and forget temporary troubles. He can well be likened unto the almost exhausted swimmer, who sees a haven of refuge just a little further on. No matter if he be almost completely exhausted he will strain every atom of energy he possesses to reach this safety zone.

Ready cash at this time is not nearly so essential as a store of optimism, coupled with the possibilities for the future which exists in Northwestern Minnesota. Cash will jingle, and good and loud, if the citizens of the county will do as the drowning man—struggle just a little harder to reach the goal ahead, which is generally conceded to be in existance.

Complete Industrial Survey Planned.

Instead of getting out the usual "Big Edition," which at this time would contain so much material that the average reader would not have the time or inclination to read, The Times will publish an extensive industrial article, exploiting some one individual phase of industrial life and business activity in Thief River Falls and Pennington county, which will be an apocalypse to even the residents of the county.

The old comparison that one blow on the head of a nail will not bury it in the wood, but successive blows will accomplish that purpose is very applicable in the getting out of publicity under the present economic conditions of the entire counary. To persistently exploit the resources of the community, dealing with just one phase of activity at a time is bound to be more effective than just one big edition.

Taking up some one individual topic each week, when the campaign is completed it will show every phase of industrial life and business activity and will be the first complete industrial survey that has ever been made in the history of the county and the only constructive publicity work which has been done for twelve years.

The stockraising industry, showing the number of purebreds, dairy animals, dairy production and cattle raised for beef; hogs, poultry, etc., schools, churches, retail and financial conditions, construction work, wholesale and distributing, public utilities, agriculture and other industries, including the New Settlers association will be taken up until every phase of industrial life and business activity has been exploited.

Thief River Falls Business Center.

The capital of Pennington county, Thief River Falls, like a gem in a crown is resplendent in its physical panorama. The true metropolis of the entire Northwestern section of the state of Minnesota, surrounded by live commercial centers, and on every hand by rich treasures of agriculture, dairying and unlimited opportunities for stock raising, sits as a mistress of a vast territory of wonderful resources, through which, from both a retail and wholesale standpoint, a wide range of territory is supplied. In her lap is poured, with a prodigality that knows no ending, the enormous output of all this section. The sturdy farmer seeks this city to find a market for his produce. The stockman graviates this way as naturally as the rivers flow to the soundless seas, while progressive professional and business men find Thief River Falls to be their logical habitat.

Nowhere in the limitless west is there a city of finer environment or more progressive forces which make for a good living and permanent prosperity. Thief River Falls is distinctly a city of fine homes, substantial business blocks, excellent schools, good business men and loyal citizens. Its streets and avenues are wide, paved and graveled. Its ever increasing foliage adornment serves to lend dignity and pleasing appearance. With its splendid electric light and power system, water works, public utilities and general conditions, here is found a thriving growing city.

Community Has Enduring Wealth.

Its past without a peer and its future without a fear, with the immeasurably rich and extensive agricultural and dairying possibilities to promote a "Contented family on every farm," that nature has placed in this entire country, Thief River Falls is blessed with a source of wealth as enduring as the eternal hills and as susceptible of conversion into cash as any treasure which yields to the magic touch of man and machinery.

From a social standpoint the city is filled with a class of God fearing people. Churches of twelve denominations including the Salvation Army have been established and enjoy an extensive membership. The various congregations work faithfully for the upbuilding of a higher standard of moral influences. Various clubs and auxiliary church organizations are diligent in their efforts to assist in the providing of good, clean amusements and entertainments. Beautiful homes and clean environment are contributory forces which make for a good living in Thief River Falls.

Live Stock Industry Important.

Agricultural possibilities in this county will attract the younger farmers in the more congested sections looking for new fields to conquer. Acreage is available. Adequate markets are maintained. Climatic conditions and soil content are conducive of success along this line and every possible advantage is offered to the skilled farmer. It is conservatively estimated that there is ample room for 1,000 more farmer families in this section of the state.

The stockraising industry is another of importance and while this industry in going through a process of reorganization, with more feeding for finished animals in the future and the breeding of dairy stock, it is today one of utmost importance. Thoroughbreds are being imported and raised. The dairyman is the leader of the county and has long ago come into his own. There are many raisers of pure bred hogs and chickens, yet the field is open for those who understand the dairying and stockraising business and who wish to make a living in keeping with their efforts.

To Be Tourist Center.

A system of good roads traverses the entire county making travel pleasant. Roads are constantly being built and repaired and thousands of dollars are expended on them annually. Thief River Falls without a question of doubt will develop into a tourist center, being located on The Jefferson Highway and several important state highways which lead to the playgrounds of the northwest and Intermountain region, and with many local attractions to bring the tourist this way.

The Times wishes to appeal to every reader to assist in this campaign by mailing his paper to some friend in some other section of the United States to acquaint him with the field of resources. The work necessary to make this campaign possible has been diligent, hard and expensive. The citizens of this city and country should take maximum advantage of it and herald to the outside world the hidden advantages, environment and possibilities of the Northwestern section of Minnesota. Extra copies of papers of the Feature-Industrial series can be secured by notifying the publisher.

With its many resources being steadily developed the beautiful metropolis of the Peerless county of Pennington, an empire within itself will continue to grow and prosper and keep pace with the rapid settlement and reclamation of the grandest and most picturesque commonwealth of the sisterhood of states and those living here and enjoying these privileges and possibilities extend a welcome to everyone to locate in Northwestern Minnesota.

Next week's article will deal with a general survey of the state of Minnesota. While this survey of necessity will be more or less superficial, as it is impossible to cover completely every phase of resources of the state it will show Thief River Falls and Pennington county to be located in one of the most productive and growing states in the union.

SPLENDED LIST OF ATTRACTIONS FOR FAIR THIS YEAR

Directors Change Admission Prices—Will Charge 35c Afternoon and Evening.

Arrangements are rapidly being completed for the best and most successful fair in the history of Pennington county. The display of products is certain to be better and larger than ever before and the amusement features are paricularly strong.

Admission Price Reduced.

At the meeting of the directors of the fair association held last week it was decided to make a readjustment of the admission charges. General admission will be 35 cents, children 20 cents and autos 25 cents. The same prices will prevail for both afternoon and evening and a full program will be given in the evening as well as the afternoon.

Races and Fireworks.

Horse races will again be a feature of the fair this year. They will take place in the afternoon on August 3rd and 4th. A fine list of entries has been secured and President Fuller states that the races will be the best in years.

The fireworks for the evenings will be even better than last year. For August 2nd this feature will be "Scrapping the Navy" and for the 3rd, "Huckleberry Finn." For the 4th, a sham battle by the Legion with field guns and army rifles in use will be an attraction.

The free attractions are also of a particularly high order this year.

Large Class Confirmed at Trinity Lutheran Church

A large class was confirmed last Sunday morning at the Trinity church by Rev. T. E. Sweger, in the presence of an attendance that packed the church to the doors, some not even being able to enter but were turned away. The church was appropriately decorated with roses and peonies, the altar being clothed in a color scheme of pink and white. Two special songs were rendered by the choir.

The class was organized with the following officers: Millicent Sweger, president; Arrin Storholm, secretary; and Hilda Ness, treasurer.

At each meeting every member of the class put a nickel into a class fund, out of which $5.00 was given to the Russian Relief. They are also presenting each room in the local hospital with a Bible and the balance of the funds will be given to charity.

MERCHANTS OFFER PRIZES FOR BEST EXHIBITS JULY 19

Stock Judging and Calf Exhibits Features of Market Day Attractions.

Next Wednesday, July 19th, promises to be a busy one in Thief River Falls. This is the date for the market day of the Merchants association and in addition to the usual bargain offerings of the business houses, a number of special attractions will be given.

A stock judging contest and an exhibit of calves will be features of day. Substantial premiums are being offered by the Merchants association for the best exhibits and all boys and girls in the county are urged to make exhibits.

Class A will be for men and women residing on farms and Class B for boys and girls under 20 years of age. The premiums will be the same for Guernsey and Holsteins—First, $5.00; second, $3.00; third, $2.00 and the next three $1.00 each.

It is stipulated tha boy and girl exhibitors shall not previously have taken part in any state or district contest in stock judging.

This action on the part of the Merchants association is in line with the decision to do everything possible to encourage farm development of all kinds, particularly stock raising. Later in the season a similar plan will be followed as regards beef calves, but these will not be included among the prize winners on this occasion. The plan may also be extended so as to include sheep and hogs if interest in the matter proves sufficient to warrant such move.

There will be the usual band concert in the evning and the stores will hold out exceptional market day inducements.

Railways Present Figures For Public Information

The attention of the readers of The Times is called to the advertisement of the railroads appearing on page two. The advertisement deals with certain elements of the strike of railway employees that is now in progress and statements and comparative figures relative to wages paid during the past five years are presented to give the public some idea of the railways' side of the controversy.

County Agent on Vacation.

County Agent and Mrs. J. J. McCann left Monday morning for Rock Elm, Wis., where they will visit with the former's folks for some time, expecting to return during the first part of August. They were accompanied as far as Minneapolis by Miss Edna O'Brien, who will be the guest of her sister, Loretta, for a while during her vacation.

Filling Station to be Erected.

H. E. Vance, president and manager of Peoples Oil company, with headquarters at Bemidji, was in the city last week. The company, which has stations in various towns in this section of the state intends to put a service station in Thief River Falls, and it was in the interest of this proposition that Mr. Vance was here. He stated that the station would be installed in the very near future, and according to present plans it will be located on the west side of Main avenue at Fourth street and Main.

Express Gets Novel Shipment.

One of the many freak shipments hauled by the American Railway Express company was received recently, when a fawn for the city park arrived at the local office. The young deer was sent here by state Game Warden, Carlos Avery, from Two Harbors and is at the present time in temporary custody of Ole Ihle. Mr. Ihle states that it is rapidly adapting itself to local conditions and will soon be one of the attractions of the city, when a proper keeping place has been secured.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Hicks returned last Saturday to their home in Minneapolis after a few days visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Hicks. They made the trip by auto.

Andy Williamson, William Morevec, George Mostue and Fred Holden, spent the week end outing near Tenstrike, making the trip in Williamson's car. They also visited at the home of Alvin Johnson, a graduate from the local high school and now residing near Tenstrike. They report a very enjoyable trip.

Borry's Return From Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Borry returned Saturday evening from a month's tour of the western states, the coast and parts of Canada. They left the first part of June by way of Salt Lake City and San Francisco. At the latter place they spent a few days visiting relatives. From there they took a steamer to Portland and other coast cities, where they enjoyed sight seeing and calling on relatives in Portland. On their return they came thru the Canadian Rockies by way of the Canadian Pacific railway. They state that the scenery of the Canadian Rockies in their judgment excells anything else that was seen on the journey. A great part of the return trip was made in an open observation car, which gave them ample opportunity to view the wonderful landscapes as they passed along. The tour was in every way pleasant, and Mr. and Mrs. Borry both express praise of the accommodations afforded the tourists on their travels.

ROSEWOOD

Child Welfare Meeting.

There will be an infant and child welfare meeting at the Congregational church at Rosewood on Wednesday afternoon and evening, July 19 under the auspices of the Marshall county Red Cross chapter. The afternoon session will be devoted to lectures and questions and answers on infant and child welfare and will commence at 2:30 p. m. The principal speaker will be Miss Sylvia Westehoff, Minnesota Public Health Demonstration nurse, and assisted by Miss Loretta Neuman, Marshall county Red Cross nurse. To this meeting are invited all mothers and girls over 15. The evening session to which the general public is invited will commence at 8 p. m. and will feature short addresses, and the day's topic will be fully illustrated by moving pictures. Both sessions are free and will be both entertaining and educational, and should be attended by all and especially the mothers of growing children. On Saturday, July 15 a children's specialist from Minneapolis will be at Viking from 9 to 12 a. m. and from 1 to 5 p. m. and will examine free and give medical advice concerning all children brought to him. Mrs. O. S. Hellerud is chairman of the Marshall county Red Cross at Rosewood, and extends a personal invitation to all mothers to attend these meetings.

AT THE THEATRES

When Joseph Hergesheimer finally allowed one of his stories to be translated into screen reels he entrusted the task to Richard Barthelmess. The result has justified his judgment for "Tol'able David," the First National attraction which opens its run at the Lyceum theatre Sunday and Monday ranks far ahead of the season's offerings.

The production marks Barthelmess' first appearance as a star. His role as David Kinemon is one that calls for sympathetic acting and the capable handling which it receives from Barthelmess makes the character an outstanding one. The star registers high in the role of the mountain youth whose unwavering ambition is the keynote of his character.

"Tol'able David" is one of those appealing stories of the Virginia mountains that calls for red blooded manhood, appeals with its smooth simplicity, and at the same time tugs with genuine heart throbs.

The story is a simple one. David Kinemon, the baby of the Kinemon family, suddenly finds himself its head. David's elder brother Allen, has been crippled by the Hatburn trio, outlaws from another state, and David's father is seized with a fatal stroke as he is about to go out, gun in hand, to avenge Allen's injury.

Obituary

Tina Brayland.

Tina Brayland, a six-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Brayland of Kratka, died Sunday, July 10. The cause of her death was some form of spine disease. The funeral took place in Mayfield township, at the Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Tallak Dahle.

"Mrs. Tallak S. Dahle passed away last Thursday morning, June 22nd after being confined to her bed for several weeks previous. Cause of death, old age and other complications. Mrs. Dahle was one of the pioneers in the town of Highlanding, having resided there since 1905. Mrs. Dahle immigrated to this country about 40 years ago, landing at McIntosh, where she resided for several years, and later removed to the town of Garnes, where she also remained about 12 years before taking up her present residence where she resided at time of death. Pioneer life on the frontiers must have agreed with her as she lived to reach the ripe old age of 75 years.

"Mrs. Dahle was the mother of three children, two in her first marriage, namely, Ben Kreste of Highlanding, and Mrs. Birget Danielson of Erie, one daughter in her last marriage, Mrs. Edwin Syversrud also of Highlanding. Mrs. Dahle was laid to rest in the Oak Park cemetery, where many friends and relatives gathered to pay their last tribute to the dead." —Goodridge Banner.

Kiewel Products Company

(By R. KENNETH EVANS.)

THE Kiewel Products company has been an important factor in making of Thief River Falls the center of supplies for a wide range of trade territory because of their extensive wholesale business in ice cream. They have made the Puritas Brand famous over this entire trade territory as well as adding fame to the reputation of the city as a wholesale and distributing center.

The Kiewel Products company was first established in Thief River Falls in 1919 when the present modern building was constructed and machinery installed at a cost of more than $30,000.00. The building of the institution not only added one more firm to the already large mercantile establishment of the city but gave an added business attractions as well as a market and source of supply to local stores handling ice cream and confections.

The Kiewel Products company is a corporation and under the management of E. L. Helgeland, who has had many years experience in this class of business and who takes a vital interest in making this institution not only a financial success but a credit to the city and county wherein it is located. The corporation since its inception has always been behind every move of meritorious nature inaugurated for the further development of resources in Thief River Falls and Pennington county.

All the milk and cream which goes into the manufacture of the products turned out by the Kiewel Products company is sweet and handled in a thoroughly sanitary manner. A pure bred dairy herd is owned and maintained by the company on a farm near Crookston and all the milk and cream used here is shipped from that city owing to unsatisfactory marketing conditions and source of supply here. They are in hobes that at a future date all milk and cream can be bought here.

The machinery installed in the plant is the latest design for the manufacture of ice cream and confections. All is motor driven and a capacity of 800 gallons of ice cream a day has been provided. Every store in the city handling ice cream and confections gets its supply from this company on account of the high grade product manufactured and because of the satisfaction it always gives. A large quantity is shipped daily to all sections of the Northwest including many accounts in North Dakota. Prompt deliveries have been one of the assets which has enabled this company to develop its wholesale business and this branch of the business is growing constantly.

The plant maintains a payroll of more than $1,000.00 a month. Eight people are employed steady and extra help is secured during rush seasons. In the manufacturing department none but experienced help is employed and all under the direct supervision of Mr. Helegland.

The products turned out in the main consist of ice cream and sheberts. These are manufactured in all flavors and a specialty is made of filling orders for any special occasions. Ice cream can be made into designs and colors to suit any special parties that may be held and the management takes pride in being able to fill such orders.

Delivery service is maintained for the city and to the railroad stations for shipments. An auto truck is employed in this branch of the service and service is one of the paramount features in the management of the business.

The plant throughout is metropolitan in appearance from the front office, with its metropolitan fixtures, desks and bookkeeping departments on through the plant with its modern machinery, sanitary measures and systematic method of handling the work.

Taking all in all Puritas ice cream and the Kiewel Product company have a bright future and promise to be even a more important factor in the future development of this section of the Northwest.

Winton-Nichols Lumber Company

(By R. KENNETH EVANS.)

ONE of the pioneer firms of Thief River Falls to which can be traced directly much of the credit for the extensive building campaigns which were inaugurated while the city was still in its infancy from a development standpoint is the Winton-Nichols Lumber company.

This firm was established under this name twenty-five years ago acquiring the interests of the Thief River Falls Lumber company, which had been operated hre since the city was first established in 1882.

The Winton-Nichols company has grown in this territory with the city and Northwestern Minnesota, always keeping abreast of the times and always working for extension of trade territory and development of local resources. One of the largest stocks of building materials to be found anywhere in Nothwestern Minnesota is carried at the yard here in addition to doing a general retail business, this yard also does an extensive wholesale business supplying the smaller yards in this section with lumber and other building materials..

The wholesale feature of the yard has been developed because of the extensive lumbering interests controlled by the company in the lumbering districts of the north and northwest. This is also a very attractive feature from a retail standpoint and this company owns the controlling interest in three of the largest saw mills in Idaho and two of the largest saw mills in Canada. This extensive supply connection naturall enables the company to get the choicest of lumber and to always be assured of having ample stock on hand to supply either any wholesale orders or to supply materials for the largest or most pretentious building which might be constructed in their territory.

The yard maintained and operated in Thief River Falls is one of nine yards owned and operated by the company in the northwest. The entire system of yards owned by the company also receives their stock of lumber and building materials from Thief River Falls and the wholesale offices are maintained here as well as retail offices, being maintained and operated separately however.

To augment the building possibilities of this city and trade territory and to give par excellence building service this company maintains up to date at all times three different systems. These systems have designs for any class of building with accompanying blue prints and specifications. The company maintains six employees, all experienced in the lumber business in various departments and men who are capable of figuring with a prospective builder and giving him valuable advise on the class of buildings to construct.

This company maintains pretentious yards and offices in Thief River Falls on Bridge street on the bank of Red Lake River The buildings were constructed in 1912 and are both convenient and attractive in the city. They are always well painted and neat in appearance.

The local yard, both from a retail and wholesale standpoint is under the general management of Mr. C. A. Nason, a man of many years experience in the lumber business. Mr. Nason has always taken a vital interest in the development of resources in Thief River Falls ever since he has been located here. He has handled the business of the company both from the standpoint of making it a financial success to the owners as well as a credit and asset to the city and trade territory.

The company handles a general line of lumber in large quantities and building materials including brick, cement, lime, tile, sand etc. A stock of more than 1,000,000 feet of lumber is carried on hand at all times in the city. One delivery truck is operated to facilitate delivers in the city. This is the oldest institution of its kind in Thief River Falls.

It has always been the policy of this institution to come in personal contact with its patrons and handle every item of business with as much care and consideration possible. We respectfully invite you to make our bank your bank.

Distribution Service and Agriculture

OVER 10 great agricultural states of the Middle West, the far-flung distribution system of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is rendering an essential service to 30 million people.

The immense value of this service may be visualized when it is known that more than one-half of the farms in the states served are equipped with automobiles. The Census Bureau report on this point is as follows:

Indiana	46.4%
Illinois	53.0%
Michigan	40.2%
Wisconsin	49.6%
Minnesota	57.1%
Iowa	73.1%
Missouri	31.0%
North Dakota	56.7%
South Dakota	69.4%
Kansas	62.0%
Average	53.8%
Average for U. S.	30.7%

In other words, the need for gasoline and lubricants, in percentage per farm, in the states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is nearly twice that of the United States as a whole.

On the farm, petroleum products are an absolute necessity. The farmer is preoccupied with his task—the mighty task of raising food for the world. He must have petroleum products when and where he needs them.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is prepared to give a dependable, always-on-the-job service which the exigencies of farming demand. 6600 tank wagons are in operation this summer of 1922. These tank wagons make deliveries to the farmer's door. When necessary they serve him in the field—at his work. They reach him at dependable intervals and serve him with dependable products. Only a vast, centrally administered organization could render this effective type of service.

Half Rates
After 8:30 P.M.

Station-to-station service from 8:30 P. M. to midnight costs about one-half the day rate; from midnight to 4:30 A. M. about one-fourth.

The station-to-station rate, which is considerably lower than for person-to-person service, applies when you will talk to anyone who may be at the telephone called.

At a special meeting of the city council held Friday evening, L. P. Wolff of the firm of Wolff & Shepard of St. Paul, was engaged to prepare plans for the construction of a filtration plant in Thief River Falls.

The large 500,000 gallon reservoir built by the city three years ago will be used as a part of the system as well as the intake pipes which now provide the supply from the Red Lake river. LARGE CROWDS OUT FOR MARKET DAY ATTRACTIONS HERE

In the boys' and girls' stock judging contest the prizes were awarded as follows: Natalie Woolson, first; Marion Hunt, second; Orton Olson third and Gordon Hunt, fourth. Gordon Hunt carried off first honors in the Holstein section of the calf exhibit, with Marion Hunt second and Isabelle Rosendahl, third. SPECIALIST WILL CONDUCT CLINIC HERE NEXT WEEK

To Be Held at Commercial Club Rooms Saturday, July 29th.

Parents are requested to bring their babies to the Infants' and Children's Clinic to be given by the Pennington County Public Health Association at the Commercial Club on Saturday, July 29, from 9 to 4 o'clock.

Each child is given, free of charge, a thorough examination by a prominent children's specialist. These specialists are members of the Northwestern Pediatric Society, which is co-operating with the Minnesota Public Health Association in conducting Infants' and Children's Clinics thruout the state. The specialist will tell you the exact condition of your child, suggest the diet, make the diagonosis, and leave to the parents the choice of any doctor they may desire to do any prescribing or give treatment that may be necessary for the child.

The clinics are established for the purpose of keeping well babies well and for discovering slight physical imperfections which, if not corrected in time, might become permanent defects. Only about 20 per cent of all babies are perfect, and during infancy, we are told, is the best time for the correction of their defects.

The specialist will also examine children of school age. The child's weight for his height and age is the best index of his general health. For every child of a certain height and age there is a normal weight. Any child who is from seven to ten pounds below the normal weight is called malnourished.

Malnutrition brings lack of vitality and loss of ambition. It often makes an ill-tempered and lazy child of one who could be cheerful and active.

If your boys and girls are below the standard weight for their height and age, bring them to the Infants' and Children's Clinic and hear the physician explain what each particular child must do to bring up his weight and grow to be strong and happy. No fees are charged. It is through the sale of Christmas Seals that the clinic is made possible.

Annie Mostrom Has Leg Broken in Auto Accident

Miss Annie Mostrom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Mostrom of Hickory township near Neptune, had the misfortune of having her leg broken, it being fractured above the knee in an automobile accident. The accident occurred Sunday morning as a party of young people were returning from a dance at Rhoda. The car, an old Ford, was driven by Arnold Haugan, who was accompanied by Miss Ella Mostrom and Daniel Steinlie besides the young lady who suffered the fractured limb. As they drove a short distance north of the store, the car got into a rut or mud hole and the speed at which the car was going caused the driver to lose control of it. The front wheels suddenly "jackknifed" and the car wheels suddenly turned turtle. The top of the car was down and both the boys were thrown out.

Annie Mostrom was pinned to the ground with such force that her leg was broken. The other occupants however, sustained only lesser injuries such as a few scratches and bruises.

Dr. Adkins of Thief River Falls was called immediately to the scene of the accident. Miss Mostrom was then rushed to the local hospital, where here injuries were properly cared for. The leg was successfully set the next day and the young girl is now faring well under the circumstances, altho she will be forced to remain in the hospital for some time.

Strong Addition to Board.

In the election of Mr. Melgaard and Mr. Barzen the patrons of the district are particularly fortunate. Both men are admirably qualified and will bring to the board a wealth of business and educational experience. They replace O. F. Mellby and Judge Lars Backe; whose terms expire. Both of the retiring members of the board have given liberally of their time for the educational advancement of the schools and are deserving of a vote of thanks from the patrons of the district. Judge Backe has served as a director for twenty-two years while Dr. Melby has been in the harness for thirteen years.

Budget Reduced.

It was announced at the meeting of the members of the board that it would be possible to reduce the budget for school expenses this year to the extent of at least $10,000. This is made possible by a reduction of about $7,000 in operating expenses and approximately in the cost of text books and supplies.

FOUR MILES OF WEST ROAD TO BE BUILT SOON

Commissioner Babcock Announces this as Part of Long List of Small Projects.

Will Improve Part of Highway That is Now in Very Unsatisfactory Condition.

Some Changes to be Made in Trunk Highway South to Red Lake Falls.

The Thief River Falls west section of Minnesota trunk highway No. 33 will be improved with four miles of re-shaping at a cost of $2,400 according to the latest highway betterment plan.

Under fixed policies to extend road improvements to all parts of Minnesota as fast as incoming road dollars permit, Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, this week announced a new list of comparatively small undertakings to be constructed by maintenance forces.

Special maintenance improvements, highway officials said, will add nearly 750 miles of new gravel surfacing, 300 miles of grading or re-shaping, and many other betterments to swell the big mileages of contract construction already made public. Provision is made also to continue the patrol service over the entire system and otherwise carry our established maintenance routine. The upkeep this season, however, will be mainly on roads which have been built by counties before taken over by the state, whereas during the first year under Babcock plan much new mileage was covered by shaping and graveling forces.

The list totals $426,125 and will be increased by $175,000 when complete, maintenance superintendents in several districts having still to submit recommendations. A balance of nearly $2,000,000 set aside for 1922 maintenance operations will pay the army of 1,000 patrolmen, make bridge and other repairs and cover many miscellaneous items of road upkeep.

A surveying crew working under the direction of Engineer Schulze, of the Highway Department, has been working out of Red Lake Falls for several days on the re-location of the improved Babcock highway running to the south of this city. When St. Hilaire is reached, the crew will transfer their headquarters to this city. The work now being done is preparatory to taking the kinks out of the road between this city and Red Lake Falls, and perhaps some distance beyond the latter town.

Hall Bros. Have Radio Concert.

Undoubtedly Thief River Falls is following the modern advancement in methods of communication, a Radio receiving apparatus having been installed by Hall Bros. at their store 317 Horace avenue North. A Westinghouse short wane regenerative receiving set is used and a magnavox enlarges the tone or sound so that it can be heard by a large audience. They have operated successfully since Sunday, having received complete concerts broadcasted by the Winnepeg Free Press at Winnepeg Tuesday and last evening. The music could be heard very distinctly, altho the static in the air marred the clearness to a slight degree. Hall Bros. are local distributers of Radio supplies, the receiving set of which ranges in price from $160 and up.

"FREE AIR" TO BE SHOWN AT LYCEUM THEATRE TWO DAYS

Special Attraction Secured By Manager Brumund for Sunday and Monday.

Speaking of appropriate names for motion pictures, the Hodkinson released feature, "Free Air," which comes to the Lyceum theatre next Sunday and Monday, is one of the most appropriately named pictures of which this newspaper has any knowledge.

"Free Air" is a picture adapted from the Sinclair Lewis story of the same name which ran serially in the Saturday Evening Post. It was directed by E. H. Griffith, and every inch of the picture, from the opening scene to the final fade-out, was made in the "free air" of Montana, Minnesota, North Dakota and Wisconsin.

The company was formed in New York and left on a special train for St. Paul, where the opening scenes were made. From that time on, until the company reached Glacier Park, where the concluding scenes were shot, the company lived out of doors and worked out of doors for a period of more than eleven weeks.

Everywhere the troupe was received with enthusiasm and cordiality by the people of the various towns, and types and extras were as easy to secure as they were to find. Out in Montana the director needed a special type to play the part of a native farmer. More than a score of townsmen responded and Director Griffith finally selected a man who was sheriff of Fargo when Fargo was a wide open town, the wildest community in the then wild and wooly west.

Some of the scenes in the picture were taken at an altitude of more than 10,000 feet above sea level, and on one occasion the company was caught in a blinding snowstorm. By morning the ground was covered with more than ten inches of snow and the actors were obliged to postpone outside work for more than a week. Many of the locations were found by aeroplane The 'plane was piloted by Lieut. Becker, an extensive flier who was locating oil for one of the new western oil companies.

SURVEY OF STATE OF MINNESOTA SHOWING EXTENT OF RESOURCES AND OPPORTUNITIES AVAILABLE

This is the second of a series of fifteen industrial articles which will be published in The Times, one each week for the next fifteen weeks, for the purpose of outlining to Northwestern Minnesota and the outside world the vast field of resources and opportunities existing here for advancement and success and for the promotion of optimism and the right psychology. The facts contained in these articles are based absolutely on reliable facts and gathered by an expert publicist who has had many years experience.

The Times throughout this period, will make an effort to show that there is not a section of the country in the west or the northwest that offers a wider field of endeavor than Pennington county and the trade territory of Thief River Falls. Every phase of industrial life and business activity will be covered in a thorough and constructive manner.

The carrying out of this campaign has been made possibe by thirty of the progressive business institutions of Thief River Falls, the leading distributing and commercial center for the entire Northwestern part of the state. After reading this article turn to the two inside industrial pages and see who these progressive firms are who so willingly have come to the assistance of this enterprise.

Every reader of The Times can assist very materially in this campaign by sending his own copy of the paper to a relative or friend in some other section of the country after he has completed reading it, that this relative or friend may learn of the opportunities in this splendidly productive section.

TIMES PRINTING & MFG. COMPANY

(By R. Kenneth Evans.)

Writer's Note:—As announced last week it is impossible to go deeply into detail in the exploitation of the resources of the state of Minnesota because of its extensive activities, but this story is published to show in what a progressive state the city of Thief River Falls and Pennington county are located. The subsequent articles of this series will deal strictly with Pennington county and Northwestern Minnesota and their growth and development.

Minnesota was admitted to the union as a state May 11, 1858. The present population is approximately 2,300,000 or almost one-third of the entire population of Canada. The land area is 80,858 square miles while the water surface is 3,824 miles. Its length from north to south is 480 miles, while its width from east to west is 349 miles. Minnesota is sometimes called the Star of the North (L 'Etoile du Nord.)

The Mississippi river drains over half of the state, while the rest is drained by the Red and Rainy rivers and Lake Superior. The Mississippi, Red and Rainy rivers can be navigated. There are boat lines on several of the larger lakes.

The lowest point of the state is along the shores of Lake Superior, 602 feet above sea level. The Mississippi river, in the southeastern corner of the state has an elevation 616 feet. The highest points in the state are the Misquah hills in Cook county and the Mesaba range being 2,400 feet in elevation.

The valley of the Mississippi river from Lake Pepin southward is is several miles wide being enclosed by bluffs several hundred feet high. The basin of the Minnesota river is slightly undulating valley about 1,000 feet in elevation. The broad and flat Red River valley is about 900 feet in elevation. The Coteau des Prairies in the southwestern part of the state have an elevation of about 1,900 feet and at Pipestone is located the second highest point of observation in the state for the United States weather bureau.

The Climate Attractive.

Owing to its northern location, the winters are rather cold, without thaws, but with plenty of sunshine, the precipitation being rather light. The summer days are long with the rainfall varying from over 30 inches in the eastern part to 20 inches in the western. The lakes, forests and northern location combine to give Minnesota cool summers and delightfully cool nights.

About one-half the surface of the land in the west and south of the state is rolling prairie interspersed with frequent groves. The soil is a fine, black loam mostly derived from lime stone and is very fertile. The state is covered with glacial drift, the many lakes being formed by glacial moraines. The Red River valley produces large wheat crops. The swamp lands are being drained and form rich agricultural lands. More than three-fourths of the state can be cultivated and one half of the state is in farms. The lands which cannot be cultivated lie mostly in the iron regions. Much reclamation work has been done in the agricultural sections through drainage and much otherwise wasted land has been made productive by this method. The approximate yearly production of some of the crops is: Corn, $80,000,000.00; wheat, $75,000,000.00; oats, $50,000,000.00; barley, $40,000,000.00; rye, $10,000,000.00; buckwheat, $200,000.00; flax seed $5,000,000.00; potatoes, $30,000,000.00; hay $30,000,000.00.

First In Mineral Production.

In iron mining, Minnesota holds first place, producing over one-half the iron ore of the country. The ore is mined in the Cuyuna, Vermillion and Mesaba ranges, the latter having the largest output and supporting many large cities. The value of the yearly production of iron ore is $50,000,000.00, including both specular iron and hematite.

The clay products of the state amount to considerably over $1,000,000.00, while the production of lime and mineral waters amount to over $200,000.00. In this connection it can be said that in Pennington county and the northwestern part of the state clay and sand have been found which are believed to be commercially valuable and analysis of these products are now being made from the standpoint of building manufacturing plants to put the products on the market in the form of tile, brick, pottery and glass.

The manufactured products of the state are flour, lumber, mill products, butter, cheese, condensed milk, packed meats, linseed oil, boots, shoes, farm implements, etc. Dairying being the principle industry of the state the manufacture of dairy products brings in a huge revenue. The butter produced has gained such a reputation, being made of sweet cream in almost every instance, that the supply for the entire United States Navy comes from this state and is paid for at a premium. This production for the state is its principle source of income, aside from the things mentioned above and many counties have an annual income well over $2,000,000.00 annually. Poultry also plays an important part in bringing cash into the state, running as high as $1,000,000.00 in some of the counties, all being extensive producers.

The principle fish caught and in

EXTRA EFFORTS NOW BEING PUT ON GREAT FAIR

Every Detail Given Attention in Providing for all Departments of Big Exhibit.

Sham Battle by Legion on Third Night Promises to be Big Attraction.

Other Features Include Fireworks, Horse Races and Open Air Stunts.

Wednesday morning, Aug. 2, the gates to the twenty-first annual Pennington county fair will be thrown open to the public. From present indications the coming exhibition will far surpass previous fairs both in the matter of number and quality of exhibits and also in the matter of entertainment to be furnished visitors.

With the new building completed last year, a much better opportunity is given for the display of all exhibits than ever before. All of the departments will this year be housed on the grounds in good buildings instead of being crowded and scattered about as has heretofore been necessary.

Agriculture a Leader.

Primarily the fair is an agricultural proposition and its chief purpose is to set forth the agricultural possibilities of Pennington county. Some of the finest livestock in the state is owned by Pennington county farmers and a large number of the best animals will be placed in public view during the fair.

Grain, grasses, vegetables and other products of the soil, also have their place at the fair, and the fair management has assurances that an exceptionally fine display of these will be brought in for exhibition.

And then the thousand and one other samples of handiwork; art, school work, culinary dainties, fancy work, needle work and other things of particular interest to the ladies. These exhibits will be there in greater abundance than ever and will be displayed to greater advantage.

Free Attractions.

The free attractions will rank with the best that have ever been offered by the association and these together with the horse races, fireworks and sham battle by the Legion, will make the amusement end of the fair a topnotcher.

Elaborate Sham Battle Plans.

Plans are being made for the sham battle to be put on by the local post of the American Legion on a very elaborate scale. About one hundred ex-service men will participate in this event to be given on the last evening of the fair and it promises to be a hair-raising spectacle. Trenches, barb wire entanglements, sand bags, field guns, machine guns, bombs, helmets, gas masks, rifles, rockets, and many other instruments of war will be used.

The action of the fair directors in changing the admission price to 35 cents for both afternoon and evening performances is meeting with popular approval and this will undoubtedly be a strong factor in making the attendance greater than that of any previous fair.

MANY PLAN TRIP TO PEAT FARM ON SATURDAY

Will See Results of Scientific Experiments With Soil at Golden Valley.

Saturday has been designated as visitors day at the Golden Valley peat experimental fields and a large number from this section are planning on making the trip that day to see the results of scientific experiments with the peat soil.

The experimental field is located one mile east of the Golden Valley post office and sixteen miles east of Holt.

Signs along the roads from Holt, Grygla, and Goodridge will guide visitors to Golden Valley.

University guides will conduct visitors around the plots between 10 and 12 o'clock and after the program in the afternoon.

The crops are very promising this year. The winter rye and clover are particularly good. Every farmer with unclaimed peat soil should see the clover on the plots this season.

There will be a picnic dinner at 12:30 in the grove of the Dahl farm just southeast of the post office. Those who cannot bring their dinner will be able to secure refreshments. A short program will be given at 2:00 o'clock consisting of brief addresses. The experiments will be explained and the points of special interest will be called to your attention. Any who wish information concerning peat soils are invited to ask questions during the program.

Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Larsen returned Monday night from Duluth, Superior, Wis., and points in Michigan, having been gone about three weeks.

The County Fair.

The near future's most important event, as far as Thief River Falls and Pennington county are concerned, is the county fair, which will open on Wednesday, August 2, and continue for three days. The Pennington county fair is strictly a local institution and for this reason every resident of the county should be vitally interested in its success. The fair has grown from a very humble beginning twenty years ago, until of late years it has come to be recognized as the banner fair of Northwestern Minnesota.

Two things are necessary for the success of a county fair. In the first place, the fair must receive the loyal support of all concerned, and in the second—it must be staged in a community which has the agricultural and other products to make a reasonably good showing.

Pennington county has both of these—the resources and the booster spirit of its citizens backing the fair. All that remains to be done is for everyone to do his part in the furnishing of exhibits, and the forthcoming fair will have the finest display ever shown at a similar institution.

The matter of entertainment for visitors to the fair is largely in the hands of the fair management. The programs to be furnished this year are far above anything ever before attempted here, the officers of the association having spared no effort in securing the very best to be had in all lines.

But, unfortunately, entertainment features alone cannot make the fair a success. More than there are required. In order properly to serve the purpose for which it is intended, there must be on display generous exhibits showing the resources of the county and the handiwork of its citizens. This is the point at which the general public must come to the aid of the fair management. In the matter of generous exhibits everything rests with the people of village, city and county, and each should appoint himself a committee of one to see that he does his share.

State Auditor Chase Here.

State Auditor Ray P. Chase was in Thief River Falls yesterday and today. He is accompained by Mrs. Chase and children and they are enjoying a trip through this section of the state in their car. Mr. Chase is one of the most popular officials at the state capitol and his numerous friends in this section are always glad to see him.

Yesterday the Hipple Concert company appeared afternoon and evening and their splendid entertainment was the cause of much favorable comment by the small but appreciative audience. In the evening Hon. Edward Taylor Franks spoke on "National Development Through Vocational Education." He gave a splendid address, one that should have been enjoyed by a capacity audience. Mr. Franks had a wonderful message and delivered it in a masterful and entertaining style.

A Correction.

The advertisement of Johnson's Millinery in The Times last week referred to their "early fall showing of hats" whereas it should have been "midsummer showing of hats." The mistake was made in this office and we take this opportunity of correcting any wrong impression that the public may have gotten from the advertisement.

Newfolden Man Injured.

Halvor Strandberg, an elderly farmer residing near Newfolden, had the misfortune of tipping over with his car while driving near Middle River Sunday, with the result that he received an ugly gash near the eye. He was taken to the local hospital immediately where he was given medical attention and is now improving rapidly from the bruises and the general shake-up.

Grygla Boy Cuts Hand.

Waldemar Levorson, aged 14, of Grygla, was brought to the Physicians hospital Thursday having had the misfortune of cutting his hand in a mower. While operating the mower the lad had gotten his fingers between the sickle teeth, with the result that three of them were removed from the hand. He was rushed to the hospital immediately and given medical aid so he is now doing nicely.

Benjamin Edwards, Hillard Langlie and Clarence Jacobson, members of the Manitou Concert company of St. Olaf college, who gave a concert here last week, arrived here Tuesday from Crookston. They left Wednesday for Northwood, N. D. While in the city Mr. Edwards was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Sether and Mr. Langlie and Mr. Jacobson, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Weeks.

Suffers Bloodpoisoning.

While laying pipe for the Colleth Bros., contractors, George Desmond, foreman of the pipe-laying crew, bruised his left arm which later developed into blood poison. Altho suffering considerable pain, he is improving and expects to be out of the hospital within a short time.

Voelz Sells Out Interest.

A deal was closed Friday by which F. L. Christianson purchased the interests of his partner, Farnk Voelz, in their hardware store. Mr. and Mrs. Voelz and daughter left Saturday by car for their former home at Aberdeen, S. D. Mr. Voelz will resume work in his former position as district manager for the Singer Sewing Machine company, with which he was connected for many years previous to his residence in Thief River Falls.

Locals Lost 10-0.

In a loosely played game on the local diamond Sunday afternoon the Thief River Falls Seconds were handed a defeat by Warren, not being able to make the circuit once, while the visitors succeeded in running in 10 scores. The regulars battery was not in action Sunday, being out of the city. Their positions were filled by Bakken and Lane, pitcher and catcher respectively. A large number of errors on the part of the locals made it an easy matter for the Warrenites to [illegible] The local aggregation however, is determined to win over Warren yet before the season is ended.

Opening 59 New Stores.

The J. C. Penney Company, which has operated a very successful store here for a number of years is opening 59 new stores throughout the county. When this has been accomplished the nation-wide organization will have 371 stores in all. The present expansion policy of the company contemplates still more stores next year.

The growth of the company has been remarkable. The first store was opened twenty years ago, 1902, doing a business of $28,898.11 Last year, 1921, it had 312 stores and the gross volume of sales amounted to $46,641,-928.20.

Mr. J. C. Penney, the founder of the company, is still alive in the affairs of the organization, being chairman of the board of directors.

Two Pennington county boys, Gorman Thompson of Goodridge, and Donald Hardisty of Thief River Falls, are going to attend the Minnesota State Fair, Twin Cities, September 2 to 9, as guests of the management, it was learned today.

The boys are enrolled in boys' and girls' club work, and the trips are prizes offered by the state fair to the two boys who made the best record in club work in this county last year. Both these boys excelled in dairy calf club work.

Two boys from each county in the state will be guests of the fair management at the Tenth Annual Farm Boys' Camp this fall. R. C. Coffin, of the Minneapolis Y. M. C. A. is in charge of the camp.

All expenses of the boys, including railroad fares, lodging and meals, will be paid by the State Fair. The Farm Boys' Camp will be located on Machinery Hill.

To enable the boys to get the most good out of their visit, educational trips will be taken each day. The boys will be divided into small groups, in charge of competent instructors, and they will study exhibits in a systematic and intelligent manner. They also will be taken on sightseeing tours of the twin cities.

H. S. Dahlen, Dr. O. F. Melby and E. K. Ansen left yesterday, Wednesday, for Crookston as delegates to the annual convention of the First District of the Sons of Norway lodges held in that city yesterday and today. The first district comprises the states of Minnesota, Iowa, South Dakota and each lodge in the above named state has its representation at the meeting at Crookston.

Following the Crookston convention a grand lodge convention will be held at Grand Forks tomorrow and Saturday, which will be attended by the local men also. Elaborate arrangements for program and entertainment have been made for both meetings.

The local delegates expect to return on Saturday or Sunday, accompained by the Grand Lodge officers and others, who will partake in the festivities here Sunday, the occasion being the laying of the cornerstone of the new Sons of Norway lodge building, which is now under construction.

Local Girl Plays Ball at College.

Miss Martha Fallness, member of the graduating class of '22, and now attending state teachers college, at Moorhead, has received considerable comment because of her fine exhibition of baseball in various games played at the college. The following clipping tells the story of a game between the Ottertail county girls and the Becker county girls. Miss Fallness was a member of the Becker team, there not being a sufficient number of girls from Pennington county to make up a team.

"The different counties represented by their teachers at the State Teachers College in Moorhead have each organized a girl's baseball team.

Recently the Otter Tail county team challenged the Becker county girls to play a game of baseball and the contest was staged on the south campus of the college and resulted in a score of 32 to 7 in favor of the Becker county bunch.

Only four innings were played but they were spirited ones and Becker county girls carried off all the honors. Martha Fallness, the Becker county catcher, made the first score, striking the first ball pitched to her. Florence Swick, Becker county pitcher, made the only home run of the game.

The lineup was as follows:

extensive quantities are Lake Herring, Carp, Buffalo, Bass, Pike, Pickerel and catfish. Every one of the 10,000 lakes for which the state is famous, are well stocked with fish and much game fishing is enjoyed.

State A Tourist Center.

There are many points of interest in the state and just now much attention is being called to the northern part. It being conceded generally that it vies with the Yellowstone National Park and the Intermountain regions for attractions. The cool summers, the forests and thousands of large and small lakes make Minnesota famous as a summer resort. Minnetonka lake, owing to its proximity to the Twin Cities, is especially popular, while many others are almost, if not quite as popular and furnish boating, canoeing, fishing and hunting. Within close proximity to Thief River Falls is Red Lake, which is the only lake in the world, inland, which has an ocean beach and a surf and which is a source of enjoyment to residents of this section as well as other lesser lakes close in.

The Itasca state park, just a short distance from Thief River Falls, is located at the head waters of the Mississippi river, and is largely timbered with evergreens and deciduous trees, some portions being heavily timbered with Norway pines. The game is protected. Many wild deer are to be seen, also a beaver colony. There is fine fishing.

The Interstate park is located at the Dalles of the St. Croix at Taylor Falls, being situated in both Wisconsin and Minnesota. It includes the grand and picturesque rock gorge called the "Upper Dalles of the St. Croix," where the river, for the distance of the two-thirds of a mile flows through a chasm, walled by cliffs of rock 75 to 150 feet high.

In Mencopa State park, near Mankato, the Minecopa river dashes over a ledge 60 feet high to a gorge below. There are two falls but a few rods apart. The falls are seventy-five feet wide and are surrounded by towering hills, the canyon below is picturesque.

The famous Minnehaha falls, located in Minnehaha park, Minneapolis, are unrivaled for picturesque beauty. The falls are fifty-four feet high and twenty-four feet wide and are maintained in their pristine beauty.

Other falls in the state are at St. Cloud, Little Falls, Vermillion Falls at Hastings and St. Anthony Falls at Minneapolis, the latter furnishing power for many of the Minneapolis flour mills. Many of the water falls furnish abundant water power.

Great Forests In State.

Originally all of the state was covered with timber, except the treeless prairies in the west and southwest portion. North and east of the center of the state is located the "Big North Woods" in which oak, elm and maple are found. From lake Superior westward to the western shores of Red Lake is the great Pine belt, while along the northern border the forests include tamarack and dwarf pine. In the prairie regions trees are only found along the streams and in groves planted by settlers. The lumber produced in the state is mostly white pine, the rest being spruce, tamarack and hemlock.

The forests of the state contain pine, hemlock, spruce, tamarack, oak, maple, elm, and other trees.

There are two national forests in the state, The Minnesota and the Superior. Within them trails and portages have been cleared out, canoe routes opened up, camp sites prepared and sign boards placed where needed in the bewildering maze of trees, lakes and islands. Fish abound in their waters, wild creatures inhabit the woods; while the national forests have a wild and never ending grandure. Tourists may camp, fish, and make canoe trips in the wilds.

There are two large indian reservations in the state, the Red Lake, which adjoins Pennington county and the White Earth. 11,777 Indians reside in Minnesota, located as follows: 1,056 Chippewa at the Grand Portage school; 1,779 Indians at the Leach Lake school; 607 Chippewa at the Net Lake school; 230 Pipestone Indians, 1,094 Indians at the Red Lake school and 6,871 at the White Earth school.

Educational System the Best.

Educational advantages of the state are recognized to be excellent. State wide institutions of all kinds are maintained and operated at a high standard. Every community including the most remote rural districts have established and maintained adequate common school advantages. State educational institutions have been so distributed as to put them comparatively close to every locality. A magnificent system of institutions is provided for the care of education for those less fortunate in life.

Good roads are among the attractive features of Minnesota and it is but a question of a few years time until the state will rank ahead of all others in the matter of road construction with its 7,000 miles of trunk lines being builded under the Babcock amendment for which $120,000,000.00 is available to paid by automobile tax. National highways traversing many sections of the state make travel pleasant.

Minnesota's resources are such that an imaginary large stone wall could be constructed around it and those within its confines be prohibited from going outside the wall and without imports of any kind, could enjoy most of the privileges and advantages of the other section of the United States.

The Jung Quality Bakery

(By R. KENNETH EVANS.)

EMPLOYING twelve people, engaging in both a wholesale and retail business, and establishing a reputation for "Victory Bread" over Northwestern Minnesota, the Jung Quality Bakery has been an important factor in the development of Thief River Falls as a commercial and distributing center, since its establishment October, 13, 1915.

Located in the heart of the business district with a modern plant for the handling of all bakery products, and operating a neat and attractive lunch room in conjunction with the retail department of the institution this plant has enjoyed a growth which is little short of phenomenal.

The plant is under the management of C. H. and Walter Jung, two of the younger business men of the city, who have always identified themselves with every move for advancement and development in the community and who have spent many years in the bakery business. They have caused to be installed in the plant the most modern equipment for turning out in large quantities bakery products, preserving the vitimines in the food stuffs, and the flavor which goes with home baked products.

The shop is equipped with mixers, flour sifters, dividers, rounders, proofer, molder, steam proof room, modern Peterson oven, and all equipment which eliminates to the smallest degree the handling of any of the products by human hands. Sanitation is an important feature in the conducting of this business and the baking room proper is as clean as it is possible to make any baking room.

The capacity of the plant is 12,500 loaves of bread every twenty-four hours if working full time on bread but at this time is turning out 1,700 including rolls and pastry. The plant was originally installed to keep pace with any growth that the city might make and to make it possible to supply the entire trade territory with these high class products as rapidly as the business can be developed.

The pastry department is also handled along the line of efficency and "home baking" methods. This includes rolls, pies, cookies, French pastry, cakes etc., and in this connection the bakery makes a specialty of filling special orders for special occasions. It but recently baked the mammoth cake which was displayed in the Loken store window on the occasion of their anniversary and large orders, no matter how large, can be filled on short notice.

In choosing the ingredients to go into the products turned out at this bakery experience plays an important part. Vivo flour is used throughout the plant and the recipes followed have been gathered after years of study and experience. "Victory Bread" the name under which this product is marketed has come to be known as the acme of perfection and now takes the place of the home baked product in the majority of the homes in the Thief River Falls trade territory.

For the purpose of augmenting deliveries a wholesale and retail wagon is operated, being an automobile truck. Local retail establishments have the advantage of always carrying in stock the freshest of bakery products and the retail store operated by the bakery is always stocked with the freshest of toothsome products.

The light lunch room maintained gives the citizens of the city the opportunity of getting these bakery products for lunches just as they come hot from the oven. The same high standard of serving the best food stuffs the market provides is maintained in this department.

Taken all in all this is an institution of which the citizens of this trade territory can be proud and will very materially encourage the "patronage of home industry" by demanding of their local retailer that he handle "Victory Bread" and Jung Quality products.

Oen Mercantile Company

(By R. KENNETH EVANS.)

WHEN R. Oen constructed his mammoth business block on one of the principal business corners of Thief River Falls in 1908, he decreed for all time to come just where the heart of the business section was going to be and today all business activities of the city are directed from this corner in all directions.

The Oen store is one of the largest mercantile establishments in northern or northwestern Minnesota. Six large departments are maintained with each department a large store within itself in charge of a competent manager, and stocked with a heavy line of merchandise of the highest quality. The departments include a clothing store, a ladies ready to wear store, a dry good store, a hardware store, a grocery store and a furniture store, all combined under one roof which makes shopping pleasant and convenient.

In fact there are very few shoppers coming to Thief River Falls for their supplies that cannot get everything they want without ever going out of the store once they have entered it. The extensive business enjoyed also makes it possible for the management to establish extensive buying connections in all the markets of the nation, which enables them to sell merchandise of quality at lower prices.

In the clothing store a complete line of clothing for men and young men is carried which includes everything the well dressed man could want from hat to shoes. The nation renowned Kuppenheimer line of clothing is carried as well as Style Plus. These are both nationally advertised lines and manufactured in the largest tailoring establishments in the United States. The Copeland and Ryder shoes for dress are also stocked. The furnishings includes the Imperial line of shirts, Crofutt and Knapp hats, as well as McKibben hats and caps, North Star underwear, Golden Rule neckwear and a line of standard baggage including trunks, traveling bags and suitcases. A substantial line of tailored clothing is also represented with an extensive assortment of patterns to choose from, fit and construction guaranteed satisfactory. A small boys department is a part of this store with suits, shoes, underwear and furnishings for the small boy. It is truly a store classed as outfitters to men, young men and boys.

In the Ladies' department the same high standard is maintained. This is indeed the Ladies' store. A complete line of ready to wear garments in suits, dresses and coats is carried with standard hose and the high grade Val Duttenhoff and Sons shoes. This stock includes everything the well dressed woman could desire, in standard and stylish merchandise.

The Dry goods store is complete in every detail with an extensive line of piece goods in all grades as well as a line of notions, patterns, etc., which are essential to an exclusive well stocked dry goods store.

"Marry the Girl and we will finish the home," is an axiom of the Oen furniture store. This stock includes high class and period designs of all home furniture. The stock includes rugs, draperies, furniture, linoleums and other floor coverings and is recognized as the largest diversified furniture stock to be found in the city or Northwestern Minnesota for that matter.

The hardware store is also one of the largest in the county and includes a complete line of heavy and shelf hardware, implements, stoves, cutlery and all standard lines of merchandise one would naturally expect to find in an up-to-date store of this kind.

The grocery department is large and well stocked with standard staple and fancy merchandise. The extensive patronage enjoyed in this department makes it possible to turn the stock frequently which insures every patron of receiving the freshest and best of groceries on the market. Competent clerks, obliging and anxious to please are in charge of this department. Such standard lines as White House Coffee, Heinz line etc. are a part of this stock.

In the management of the institution Mr. Oen and his assistants have worked ardently to make this institution one which would truly be an asset to the city and Northwestern Minnesota. The management has always stood for advancement and progress in the city and is deserving of all the patronage that can possibly be accorded.

The Thief River Falls first team motored to Red Lake Falls Sunday afternoon where they crossed bats with the Indians and were unfortunately trimmed by a score 12 to 1. The main course of the defeat being the undue number of errors made by the locals. The battle for the locals consisted of Brazil and Stenhoff while Skye and Yost performed for the victors. The local aggregation made nearly as many hits as the Indians, getting 5 hits during the fracas while 6 hits were taken off from Brazil, the local twirler. Lawrence, who made the only score during the game, hit a single and was driven in by Stenhoff who hit a two-bagger.

ARE D. B. C. GIRLS JUST "LUCKY"?

"You're lucky," Edna Merriam was told when she stepped into a fine position at the First National Bank of Edmore. But Miss Merriam knows it wasn't luck—she was trained at Dakota Business College, Fargo, N. D. This school encourages its young women students to take responsibility (as well as dictation.) No wonder that 40 of them have become bank officers. No wonder the Government, Standard Oil Co., etc., are paying them high salaries.

Depleting Gasoline Reserves

"It is a matter of common knowledge that this year will see a revival of (gasoline) consumption which will tax the physical reserves of the oil industry to the utmost," says Petroleum Age in its issue of April 15, 1922.

Present conditions indicate that the prediction of April 15 will be fulfilled. The estimated increase of automobile regristrations in the states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) for 1922 will approximate 500,000, making a total probable registration of 3,850,000 cars.

Reports show that during the spring of 1922 large stocks of gasoline were accumulated, due to two principal factors, both transitory; first, the sensational production of the Mexia and Haynesville fields, a production which, however, has already fallen below half its peak and is diminishing rapidly; and second, the heavy and prolonged rains which made touring almost impossible.

These reserves of gasoline have served to keep the market steady. Nevertheless, the vast increase in the number of automotive vehicles and the extraordinary average mileage per car are depleting the reserve stocks rapidly.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana), following its established practice of anticipating the needs of the people in the territory it serves, has increased its facilities to an extent which enables it to guarantee that it will be in position to supply its patrons wherever they may be located.

The entire organization, realizing that it is dealing in a commodity essential to the happiness and well-being of all the people is bending every effort to keep the supply ahead of demand, that the obligation of the Company to the consuming public may be discharged completely.

BANNER FAIR OF NORTHWESTERN MINNESOTA O[illegible] DOORS WIDE WEDNESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 2

Every Indication Points to Record-Breaking Attendance and Facilities are Provided by Fair Management to Care for Huge Crowds.

Exhibits in All Departments Promise to Excel Both in Quality and Number Those of Previous Fairs Held in Pennington County.

Long List of Free Attractions Gives Assurance That All Visitors Will be Furnished With an Abundance of Clean Amusements.

Free Attractions.

The free attractions will rank with the best that have ever been offered by the association and these together with the horse races, fireworks and sham battle by the Legion, will make the amusement end of the fair a top-notcher.

Elaborate Sham Battle Plans.

Plans are being made for the sham battle to be put on by the local post of the American Legion on a very elaborate scale. About one hundred ex-service men will participate in this event to be given on the last evening of the fair and it promises to be a hair-raising spectacle. Trenches, barb wire entanglements, sand bags, field guns, machine guns, bombs, helmets, gas masks, rifles, rockets, and many other instruments of war will be used.

The action of the fair directors in changing the admission price to 35 cents for both afternoon and evening performances is meeting with popular approval and this will undoubtedly be a strong factor in making the attendance greater than that of any previous fair.

Women's Department.

Elaborate plans are being made for the women's department and splendid exhibits are certain to be in their building. The following are in charge of this department.

Superintendent, Mrs. E. M. Stanton.

Culinary, Mrs. Anna Kretchmar, Mrs. Bert Walker, Mrs. Fred Beerbauer.

Fancy Work and Sewing, Mrs. Geo. Biddick, Mrs. H. O. Loken, Mrs. Beatrice Heiber.

Crochet, Knitting and Weaving, Mrs. Daniel Shaw, Mrs. Wm. Korstad, Mrs. A. W. Swedenberg.

Plants and Flowers, Mrs. Scott Laird, Mrs. F. F. Haynes, Mrs. Nels Christianson.

Art, Mrs. Ila Reynolds, Mrs. J. M. Bishop, Mrs. W. J. LaBree.

Children's Department and Education, Prof. I. T. Simley, Superintendent; Geo. M. Gunderson, J. J. McCann, Miss Emma Tandberg, Miss Maude Frissell, Miss Vaughan, Miss Theresa Giefer, Miss Ann Tharaldson.

Just a few more days and the Pennington county fair will be on in full swing. Next Wednesday morning is the opening date of the greatest argicultural fair and industrial exhibition ever attempted in Northwestern Minnesota, and indications are that attendance will break all previous records.

The fair management and others responsible for preliminary arrangements have been hard at work for many weeks and everything, to the minutest detail, has received the most careful attention. With the unusually large list of entries in all departments and the exceptionally fine list of amusement attractions, nothing but a seige of extremely unfavorable weather can possibly keep the fair from being an unprecedented success.

Many Unusual Attractions.

On another page of The Times today will be found an advertisement giving in detail the list of attractions to be presented during the fair. A perusal of the advertisement should be sufficient to convince the most skeptical that the local county fair will this year be in a class by itself. There will be something doing every minute of the three days, the attractions being so varied and numerous that it is doubtful if visitors can make the rounds in a single day.

Narrow Escape When Car Smashes Into Tractor

C. A. Nason, manager of the Winton-Nichols Lumber company narrowly escaped serious injury last Saturday night when the Dodge roadster which he was driving struck a large tractor on the road two miles from Lengby. As a result of the accident, Seth Smith, owner of the tractor, sustained four broken ribs and was seriously bruised otherwise. Mr. Nason escaped with a few bruises.

The accident happened about nine o'clock in the evening. The tractor was traveling down the road without any rear lights and Mr. Nason couldn't see it in time to avoid the smash. When within a few yards of the tractor Mr. Nason saw Mr. Smith, owner of the machine run from the rear of it to the left side of the road. As there was just room for his car to clear the tractor on the left side, Mr. Nason saw that he must either hit the man or the tractor and he turned his car into the tractor and jumped. Smith confused by the lights, must have just at that moment rushed back to the rear of the tractor and been hit by Nason's car.

Mr. Smith was taken to Shevlin for medical treatment and the latest reports are that he will recover.

FARMERS WATCH FOR "BLUE SKY"

State Federation Urges County Bureaus to Foil Worthless Investment Schemes.

Establishment of a farmers' "blue sky" committee by every county Farm Bureau which has not already formed such a protective body will be urged by the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation in an official communication to county Farm Bureau boards, according to information received here.

A recent decision of the state supreme court, the warning will say, has pulled the teeth out of the state "blue sky" law, by exempting actual owners of securities from jurisdiction of the state securities commission, declaring that stocks once sold can be sold again by the purchaser without the commission's approval, and even in spite of its disapproval.

In several Minnesota counties, the Farm Bureau has maintained a "blue sky" committee, composed of three or four leading farmers. Farm Bureau members have been urged to decline to put any money into securities, oil lands and leases, or similar promotion schemes, until the salesman had submitted his proposition to the Farm Bureau "blue sky" committee. Such committees have issued warnings to farmers against manifestly unsound schemes, and in some cases, Farm Bureau officers say, have blocked stock selling schemes in counties where the farmers' "blue sky" committee believed the securities offered were worthless.

STATE ADVISES FARMERS NOT TO CONTRACT CROP

Deal With Concerns That Have Established Headquarters And Under State Bond.

Deals Made With Any Other Parties are Certain to be Against Farmer's Interests.

Potato Growers Should be Careful in Making Arrangements to Dispose of Crop.

The Minnesota State Department of Agriculture desires to call the attention of potato growers or other farm products to a practice which is unfair and substantially dishonest.

In previous years it has been a common thing for men representing themselves either under the name of some commission firm, usually from out the state, or else operating directly in their own name, to go among the farmers and enter into contract for the purchase and delivery on track of potatoes or other farm products of similar character. The essential fact about this agreement is that it binds the grower to deliver his produce to the buyer at a certain fixed price, and this contract is against him enforceable. The buyer is similarly bound to buy at a certain fixed price, but when marked conditions bring the price below that gauranteed in the contract he fails to show up and the grower is unable to recover; in some cases delivery has been made on a consignment basis, and the grower, having lost possession of his crop, has extreme difficulty in recovering, if in fact he gets any return at all.

Growers are advised that such transactions are unbusiness like and undesirable unless the dealer making such a contract has an established place of business within the state, is licensed as a commission merchant by the state, and is bonded to the state for the performance of his contracts. Otherwise the growers has no way to enforce the fulfillment of the sales agreement. On the other hand, the buyer can enforce such a contract whenever it is to his advantage to do so. So far as the farmer is concerned a contract of this sort amounts to a gaurantee to deliver whenever he will lose money by delivering.

When approached by anyone desiring to enter into such a contract, find out by writing or wiring the State Department of Agriculture whether he or his concern is a licensed commission merchant and whether he can and will gaurantee to carry out his share in the transaction. State exactly in such request for information what the terms of agreement are, the name and home address of the company, and the name of the contracting agent.

PEAT LAND WILL BE RECLAIMED IN NEXT FEW YEARS

Dr. F. J. Alway, Head of Agricultural Department Makes Prediction.

Experiments at Golden Valley Farm Prove Possible Development of this Soil.

Large Number of Farmers and Business Men Hear Address at Farm Visitors Day.

Several hundred thousand acres of peat lands in northwestern Minnesota will be reclaimed and made over into productive farms within the next few years.

That was the substance of a prediction made by Dr. F. J. Alway, head of the division of soils of the Department of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, to a group of peat land farmers on visitors' day at the Golden Valley Peat Land Experimental fields in Marshall county Saturday, July 22.

To those who have known something of the slow development of these lands, the prediction came as a joyful announcement, for there are from 400,000 to 600,000 acres of such lands in Marshall, Beltrami, Roseau, Kittson, Pennington, Polk, and Clearwater counties. But Dr. Alway's work at Golden Valley has shown the way, and Dr. Alway was speaking by the book of actual experiment; he was not trying to encourage the farmers present, "to kid them along," as the saying goes. Neither was he trying to say a word for the farm-land men who have peat to sell. He was merely announcing the results of the experimental work done and the logical conclusion to be drawn from them.

And the secret of the reclamation of the lands in question is about 125 pounds of treble super-phosphate applied to each acre, the burning off of the peat in favor of the phosphate at a cost of about $3.30 an acre. The reasons in favor of the phosphate are that it is quickly applied and certain of results, whereas burning is a difficult art, depending on whether conditions—wind and absence of rain — and on much labor, and manure is not produced in sufficient quantities owing to the absence of livestock.

The Golden Valley type of peat has an advantage over peat lands in some other parts of the state in that it does not require the more costly potash, which some other peats require in addition to phosphate.

The evidence as seen by the farmers last Saturday was convincing. On one side of a road through the fields were plots of crops which had not been fertilized. On the other side were plots which had been fertilized. The latter showed crops from five to twenty-five times as large as those from the former. For example, from the unfertilized plots a crop of clover about as large as a good-sized sofa pillow was the total result; from the fertilized plot the crop made a very respectable small haystack about as large as a ten-by-ten wall tent. The same kind of grain was seen in other crops—potatoes, rye, oats, barley, etc. Flax, indeed, was about the only crop which showed little improvement. Flax alone seems to do well on the peat without fertilizing.

Improvement in the crops is not only marked for the first year after application, but for succeeding years, though Dr. Alway says that the proper way to get best results is to apply a dressing each year, about large enough to effect the fertility taken out by the crop just preceding.

Dairy farming, with the growing of forage crops, is the system recommended for the region, and here are some of the things Dr. Alway told the farmers inspecting the fields:

Red and alsike clover for hay. These may be seeded without plowing. Such seedings on phosphated lands give a crop of from two to three tons to the acre the second season, whereas such seedings on unfertilized land given less than half a ton. If a crop is desired the first year, the land should be plowed. Clover should be pastured down close in the fall on peat lands. There is no benefit to the soil from plowing under.

Rye should be seeded early—by about Augest 26.

Wheat is a poor crop on peat, and is not to be recommended.

Flax should be seeded about the second week in June. Earlier seeding exposes it to special dangers from late frosts.

Potatoes have yielded 300, and more, bushels to the acre.

For the growing of peas the land should be inoculated.

A good rotation for the peat lands is peas, oats, clover, and rye in succession, the clover being seeded with the oats.

Farmers should try new things on a small scale on their home farms before venturing on large seedings or the adoption of new methods.

Sunflowers should be considered for silage as corn cannot be depended on owing to its susceptibility to frost.

The results achieved, Dr. Alway says, justify the farmers in sticking to their farms so as to reap the benefit of the development work already done. The solution of the problem lies in right cropping and the introduction of more cows. Some one will be present at the Golden Valley fields every Saturday afternoon and Sunday for the rest of the summer to give more detailed information.

FUTURE OF PENNINGTON COUNTY OFFERS UNLIMITED OPPORTUNITY FOR DEVELOPMENT OF DAIRYING

This is the third of a series of fifteen industrial articles which will be published in The Times, one each week for the next fifteen weeks, for the purpose of outlining to Northwestern Minnesota and the outside world the vast field of resources and opportunities existing here for advancement and success and for the promotion of optimism and the right psychology. The facts contained in these articles are based absolutely on reliable facts and gathered by an expert publicist who has had many years experience.

The Times throughout this period, will make an effort to show that there is not a section of the country in the west or the northwest that offers a wider field of endeavor than Pennington county and the trade territory of Thief River Falls. Every phase of industrial life and business activity will be covered in a thorough and constructive manner.

The carrying out of this campaign has been made possibe by thirty of the progressive business institutions of Thief River Falls, the leading distributing and commercial center for the entire Northwestern part of the state. After reading this article turn to the two inside industrial pages and see who these progressive firms are who so willingly have come to the assistance of this enterprise.

Every reader of The Times can assist very materially in this campaign by sending his own copy of the paper to a relative or friend in some other section of the country after he has completed reading it, that this relative or friend may learn of the opportunities in this splendidly productive section.

TIMES PRINTING & MFG. COMPANY

(By R. Kenneth Evans)

Pennington county farmers have had one of the most convincing demonstrations of the value of dairying and poultry production as an auxiliary farm occupation during the recent period of adversity, which has prevailed over the entire United States as a result of the greatest war in history. Those farmers who milk cows and raise chickens have always had ready cash for their necessities and have come to know that this is a very important industry to the future of the agricultural sections of the United States.

There is no one factor that has played a more important part in the bringing of this section of Minnesota to the front during the last twenty years than the dairy cow. And throughout this period of re-organization and the curtailment of speculative money the dairy animal is carrying many a Pennington county farmer through.

Pennington county had a dairy production last year of $65.00 for every man, woman and child in the county, or a dairy production of $650,000.00. It is conservatively estimated that the money brought into Thief River Falls, from this territory, which includes much of this section of Northwestern Minnesota would aggregate more than a million and a quarter of dollars.

Dairying is the chief industry of Pennington county and much of this section of Northwestern Minnesota, although there is much room for advancement and development along dairying lines.

Annually there is brought into the county through the sale of dairy products more than a million and a quarter of dollars.

All dairy products in Pennington county are marketed through the farmers' Co-operative creameries, of which there are four. One milk products company operates in Thief River Falls, the Kiewell Products company. There are no condensaries, cheese factories, or evaporated milk factories and no centralizers. The skim milk is converted into live stock such as hogs, calves and poultry. The co-operative creameries are located at Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire, Goodridge and Hazel.

The co-operative creamery in Thief River Falls markets on an average of three carloads of butter every month which means that from 600,000 to 700,000 pounds are manufactured yearly. The other three co-operative creameries in the county

RAILROAD RATES PERIL WOODLOTS

Minnesota Should Save Millions On Fuel, Increase Farmers' Income, Says Forester.

Minnesota could conserve its forests properly, could keep inside its borders millions of dollars spent every year for coal and for freight to haul it many hundreds of miles, and could add large sums to the income of its farmers, if railroads would cut rates on wood fuel enough to make its use on a large scale possible, according to William T. Cox, state forester.

"In some Minnesota counties which are considered fairly well settled," Mr. Cox said, "half the land is woods and wooded pastures. There is no reason for considering woodland as waste land. It can and should be made nearly as profitable as fields in crop.

"The threatened fuel shortage, if as bad as feared, may not be an unmixed evil. It may direct attention to the farm wood-lot. A million cords of wood are cut annually in Minnesota, to be used mostly on farms and in the smaller villages. But several times this amount should be cut every year to improve the farm woodlots by taking out the dead, dying and inferior trees. There is enough dead timber on farms between the twin cities and Iowa to go a long way toward heating our homes and places of business for a year.

"The railroads of this state probably could reduce their rates on fuel wood considerably and make more money hauling wood than coal."

Short Session of Council.

Another block of sewer and water mains was petitioned for at the meeting of the city council Tuesday evening, and the same was favorably acted upon and the work will start within a short time. This block is on Tindolf avenue south and between Bridge and Gulf streets.

The Great Northern railway was ordered to install a crossing on Duluth avenue south, where at one time a crossing was formerly in use but long since discontinued.

The only other business disposed of by the aldermen was allowing bills, and the disbursement of $336 to the band as its share of the June apportionment of the tax levy.

Judge Tarrant has Giant Rose.

If anyone doubts that Pennington county can produce roses that will even rival California home products tell him that he's off his base entirely. To convince the doubtful about it, send them to Judge Tarrant's home on 221 Knight avenue South, and let them take notice of the crimson rambler which, supported by lattice work along the wall, has reached the height of at least twelve feet and is only about three years old. The Judge says that he thinks it has even still higher ambitions.

PROMINENT MEN HERE FOR SONS NORWAY EVENT

Grand Lodge Officials Participate in Ceremonies at Laying of Corner-stone.

Local Men Assist in Making Day Success With Addresses Songs and Music.

A large delegation of prominent out-of-town visitors were brought to this city last Sunday, the occasion being the laying of the corner-stone of the new lodge home for the local order of the Sons of Norway. The convention of the Supreme lodge having been held in Grand Forks the day previous, practically all the officers of the Grand lodge were secured for the occasion, including Judge T. O. Gilbert, president; L. Stavnheim, secretary, and others, all of whom came here from Grand Forks by car Sunday noon.

The ceremonies and program took place in the yet incomplete home, with Bernard Knudsen, formerly president of the local Snorre lodge, presiding, who opened the program with a hearty welcome to the visitors. He introduced as the first speaker, Supt. I. T. Simley, who in a spirited way, recounted the various characteristics and accomplishments of the Norse people and why they should be made our own and retained in America, our country by right of birth or adoption.

Judge T. O. Gilbert of Willmar, president of the Supreme lodge, officially laid the cornerstone, inclosing the various documents concerning the local order, and made a splendid address in the Norwegian language. He highly complimented the Snorre lodge for their progressiveness in erecting this new home and stressed on its significance to the order and the whole community. "It is not the presence of the Supreme lodge officers that makes this occasion great, but the purpose for which this has been built, and the ideals for which the lodge stands," he said. He also reviewed the accomplishments of the lodge; how in about a quarter of a century it has grown to 190 orders, with a membership of 15,000 and a capital of about half a million. He showed how the order had as its principal object the making of better American citizens. He was followed on the program by L. Stavnheim, of Minneapolis, secretary of the Supreme lodge, who gave his impressions of Norway on his recent visit to his mother country. He stated that it has made wonderful progress during the last few years and that conditions were very favorable. He particularly pointed out the immense potential value of the numerous waterfalls.

Brief addresses were delivered by Consul Olaf I. Rove of Milwaukee, a trustee of the lodge; J. B. Bauman of Carlton, regent; Hon. H. J. Myrland of Madison, Wis., who is a member of the Tax Commission of Wisconsin; Consul Obert Sletten of Boston, Mass.; and Michael Rosness of St. Paul, Judge of Supreme lodge.

Other prominent members of the delegation who attended were: Gustav Schelbred of Duluth, vice president of the First district; Hans J. Anderson of Buffalo, N. Y., Trustee of Supreme lodge; Consul M. M. Nelson of Seattle, Wash., secretary of Second district; Arne Richstad of Seattle, Wash., vice-president of the Supreme lodge; Prof. A. T. Felland of Maddock, N. D.; Olof Vaksvik of Grand Forks, Judge of Fourth district; Oscar Erickson of Minneapolis, Trustee of Supreme lodge, Mr. and Mrs. Krogerud, Mrs. T. O. Gilbert and Mrs. M. Rosness.

During the course of the program Roy Prytz and Annar Myhre rendered several splendid solos and duets which added greatly to the spirit of the occasion. H. O. Chommie furnished the accompaniment.

After the program the majority of the audience motored out to Jorgen Eide's grove where a picnic was enjoyed as a conclusion of the exercises. Picnic supper was brought by the members of the party. A humorous talk by J. B. Bauman and singing by a quartette formed the entertainment at the grounds.

It is only to be regretted that the audience was not larger, but owing to the short notice given before the event, many had made plans for other diversions. The management of the local order announce that a grand opening and dedication of the new home will take place some time in October.

The Snorre Lodge No. 70 was organized in 1907 by 37 charter members with John Sworo as president of the order. Now it has a membership of 122. Of the membership only two have died.

Present officers are President, Ed. Ness; vice-president, Haakon Grindahl; Judge, former president, Bernhard Knudson, secretary, T. Relerson; finance secretary, Ed. Iverson; treasurer, L. H. Larson; directors, E. K. Aasen, C. C. Gulrud and Jorgen Eide; Marshal, Olaf Sorenson, and guardsmen, G. Storhaug and Wm. Parbst.

Are Quite Badly Injured In Auto Accident Sunday

Miss Liv Vistaunet, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. P. L. Vistaunet, had the misfortune of having her hip dislocated and suffered a severe cut in the ankle, and Miss Isabelle Richter daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Richter, had her hand bruised in an automobile accident which occurred Sunday evening, when J. J. Richter's car backed into a ditch about 15 miles east of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Richter, their daughter Isabelle, and son, Eugene, accompanied by Miss Liv Vistaunet, were on their way to the farm home of Mike Connelly, east of town and had almost reached the place when the car stalled on an incline just as they had crossed a low culvert and were going upon the grade on the range line between Kratka and Smiley. The brakes not functioning caused the machine to slide back into the ditch, and as it came to the edge, tipped over. The boy jumped out before it turned over but the others followed the car into the ditch, the girls being pinned under in the mud with the above results. Mr. and Mrs. Richter escaped serious injuries, although they were badly bruised. Mr. Richter was thrown against the steering wheel and received a hard blow against his side.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Connelly, who were riding in a car a short distance ahead, were hailed by Eugene, who had jumped out, and came to the rescue immediately although it took some time before the two girls were brought out from under the car. They were taken back to the city immediately in Peterson's car and two stitches were put in the cut on Miss Vistaunet's ankle and her hip set. She is now improving very rapidly under the circumstances. The rest of the party are fareing well although still from the sudden jolts.

The car was not damaged very much in the tip over, only the top was crushed and the windshield broken.

Miss Weeks to China; Farewell Reception Sunday

Miss Helen Weeks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Weeks has decided to enter the foreign mission field in China, and expects to leave this city the latter part of next month, about the 30th. She sails from Vancouver September 7, on the "Empress of Russia" to Shanghai from where she will go by rail to Peking, China. During the winter Miss Weeks will attend the North China Language school to familiarize herself with the Chinese language and Chinese life. Next summer she expects to be placed in evangelistical work in Honan and Hupeh provinces, where the Lutheran church has several mission stations. From Vancouver Miss Weeks will be accompanied by a number of missionaries, who are returning to their work after a visit in the United States.

Miss Weeks is a graduate of the local high school, graduated from St. Olaf college in the 1921 class and during the last year engaged in teaching at the Lutheran Normal school at Canton.

She is a charming and able young lady and will undoubtedly make a success of her work.

Farewell services will be held at the Trinity Lutheran church Sunday followed by a reception at Squaw Point.

See "Partners" Every Evening at the Fair

Dad is a rather unprogressive farmer in Minnesota. He has a herd of scrub cattle. Joe, the son, because of his father's slipshod methods of farming, has no interest in home affairs. Joe says to dad, "Farming is nothing but drudgery. I'd rather do something interesting." Polly, the daughter, knows of plans for "something doing" because—well her nose itches. She asks her mother what it is a sign of. Ma replies, "Don't be silly. It means you're going to kiss a fool." Just then along comes Maynard Coe, the county club leader and the school principal, Rory McLeod, and proceed to start something by announcing the plan to organize a baby beef club at the next Farm Bureau meeting. Joe gets enthusiastic. The club is organized. Joe joins; borrows $50 from a bank and buys a good, high-grade calf. He feeds and cares for the calf; studies bulletins, goes on tour to visit the homes of club members and the farms of prominent breeders who talk to the boys and girls about stockraising. After the tour, club members have a picnic where the little love affair between Polly and Rory is advanced. Joe wins a prize with his calf at the county fair and qualifies to enter his animal in the Junior Live Stock Show at South St. Paul. Later Joe, Dad, Ma and Polly go to the Junior Livestock Show. Joe exhibits and sells his calf and returns home and figures up the handsome profit he has made. Dad is so impressed by what Joe has done that he takes him into partnership. As they finish the job of tacking up the new sign, "Wm. Wollan & Son," they look toward the old hayrack under the cottonwood tree and espy Polly and Rory closing another partnership arrangement. "Polly," says Rory, "I suppose I'm a fool to think you could care for me in the way I do for you but—." Polly for the answer rubs her nose again and ? ? ? ? Ma Wollan at the door is overwhelmed to see her cherished hopes consumed; Dad and Joe working together to make the old farm pay and Polly and her principal laying plans for a life of usefulness and happiness.

Annual Bureau Meeting Dec 11.

The fourth annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau federation will take place in Chicago, Dec. 11 to 14, according to word received by the county Farm Bureau.

Farmer delegates from every state in the union will attend the fourth national convention of the Farm Bureau organization.

In number of organized farmers directly represented by elected delegates, and in the decisions it makes on agricultural questions, it probably will rank as the most important gathering of farmers ever assembled.

Dablow Boy Operated On.

Richard Dablow, the nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dablow, underwent an operation for appendicitis Sunday and is now improving very rapidly.

Red Lake Falls Wins.

The Red Lake Falls second team defeated the local Junior team last Sunday by a score of 5 to 1. It was a well played game throughout, with few errors on either side.

Obituary

Jacob Thill Dies Suddenly.

Jacob Thill passed away suddenly as the result of heart trouble yesterday afternoon at about 1 o'clock at his home on 109 LaBree avenue South.

For nearly two years he had been in poor health but his condition was not considered serious, he being up and around until about ten minutes before his death. As soon as the family noticed that something was ailing him Dr. Froehlich was called but death came a few minutes after he arrived.

Mr. Thill was 68 years of age at the time of his death and a native of Belgium but came to this country at the early age of three to live with his parents at Fond Du Lac, Wisconsin, where he spent several years. He married and resided at Wylie for about 15 years, after which he came to this city with his family eight years ago. Before he retired on account of failing health, Mr. Thill was engaged in grain buying.

Deceased leaves to mourn his death, a wife and four daughters, Mrs. J. J. McCann, Marie, Madeline and Margaret. He is also survived by two brothers, Peter Thill of Chilton, Wis., and John Thill of Charlton, Mont., and two sisters, Mrs. Henry Hilt of Spokane, Wash., and Mrs. Anna Nett of Milwaukee.

Mrs. McCann is expected to return from her honeymoon trip tomorrow and Peter Thill will arrive tonight from Minneapolis.

Definite arrangements have not been made for the funeral at the time this goes to press, but it will be held at the Catholic church, interment to be made at the Catholic cemetery. It will probably take place on Saturday.

The Future of Pennington Offers Dairy Opportuniies

market about three-fourths the amount handled by the Thief River Falls creamery which makes an approximate total production of butter for the county, shipped to New York and St. Paul of five carloads per month. This makes an approximate county manufacture of 1,225,000 pounds of butter a year or 122 pounds of butter for every man, woman and child in the county and if it was necessary to consume this butter within the confines of the county, every man, woman and child would be forced to eat an average of 10 pounds per month.

There are few counties in the United States that produce as much creamery butter, for its size, as Pennington county, and the quality of the butter produced is very high. This condition exists here because the farmers are willing to deliver their cream frequently and of the very highest quality so far as sanitation is concerned. The natural sequence of this condition is that the co-operative creameries of the county are in a position to pay more for butter fat than will be found in other states.

The reader may get some idea of the quality of butter produced in Minnesota when it is stated that Uncle Sam comes to this state to purchase butter for his navy. Last year five creameries in one county alone had contracts to put up 500,000 pounds of butter for the navy and were paid 11.1 cents above the New York market quotations.

The butter manufactured in Pennington county which is in the main made from sweet cream is sold on the market at a premium from one to two cents over the market price. The majority of the butter goes to New York and St. Paul markets and is delivered to the consumers in the fanciest of fancy cartons because of its high quality.

The predominating breeds of cattle in the county for dairying purposes are Holsteins and Guernseys. Approximately twenty-six breeders are raising pure bred Holstein and ten breeders of Guernseys. The next popular breed of cattle is the Shorthorns. Twenty-five established breeders are promoting this breed. Pennington county is noted for its milking Shorthorns, having some of the most noted milking Shorthorn cattle in the world. The Jersey breeders are not so numerous.

There are 582 pure bred cows in the county, while the total number of dairy cows in the county is approximately 10,482. Twelve of these are imported sires.

The following men of the county are breeding Holstein cattle: Herman Jepson, St. Hilaire; Ben Rosendahl, Thief River Falls; V. C. Nopper, Thief River Falls; M. T. McFarland, Thief River Falls; Casper Wiener, Thief River Falls; Hans Anton, St. Hilaire; E. F. Dann, Hazel; H. P. Rued, Thief River Falls; Fred Beerbower, Thief River Falls; Clarence Roese, Hazel; Oscar Evenson, Mavie; O. Johnsrud, Erie; Christ Odegaard, Erie; Gordon Olson, Kratka; T. K. Rynestad, Thief River Falls; F. T. Satre, St. Hilaire; C. Jenson, Highlanding; Augustine Roese, Plummer; Oscar Wilson, Plummer; Gust Wilson, Plummer; C. L. Rud, Viking; C. G. Johnson, Kratka; S. E. Hunt, Thief River Falls; S. J. Steinberg, Mavie; Bennie Rustad, Erie.

The following are Shorthorn breeders: Ed. Grundhaus, Thief River Falls; Mike McAndress, St. Hilaire; J. S. Roy, St. Hilaire; Christ Bothman, St. Hilaire; Jens Letness, Thief River Falls; Halvor Fodstad, Thief River Falls; J. B. Johnson, Rhoda; Bjorn Tveitbak, Wanke; S. M. The following are Hereford breeders: Fred Duchamp, Goodridge; William Shannon, Thief River Falls.

It has long been known that the dairy cow returns for human consumption a greater portion of the food value for what she consumes than the beef animal. The importance to any country of a good dairy herd as a means of making a home is an essential factor that always must be taken into consideration and never should an opportunity to improve the herd be passed. Every transportation company in the State of Minnesota is giving careful and special attention to the dairy industry and assists in every possible way to acquire good dairy stock. They work through all possible channels for its encouragement and make liberal provisions for the hauling of the products between railroad stations and consumers in the cities.

Very fortunate indeed is that part of the country which can name dairying among its chief industries as can Pennington county. The history of this and other nations shows that dairy products perform an important function in maintaining a permanent prosperity. As in the old days when a patriarch counted his wealth in his cattle and his sheep, so today a state or county can boast of its dependable wealth by pointing to the good dairy cows within its borders.

We harvest wheat, corn and potatoes once a year but we milk cows two times a day.

In Pennington county, with plenty of pure water, the rich soils produce strong feeds in wonderful abundance. In many sections can be found pastures of the very best kind and even without grain feeding, much milk will test 4.5 butterfat showing the rich and nutritious properties of the grasses. The sun shines bright and warm fully 250 days in the year and the nights are generally cool. When restful nights, cool day breezes, super-abundance of feeds in protein are provided the dairy cow is given every opportunity to yield large returns to her owners.

It is properly quoted, "A cyclone once took everything a man had but his cows and his separator. He never missed a bank deposit."

When one sells butterfat he is selling sunshine, but when grain is sold he is selling fertility of the soil.

The honor of the establishment of the first modern co-operative creamery of the state belongs to Freeborn county in the southern part of the state. This was organized at Clark's Grove in 1890. Because of the success, others have been started thruout the state.

Today, while the proceeds from dairy products are enormous, as stated in the opening paragraphs of this article, the income to the farmers of the county is not confined to the check received from the creamery for milk or cream. Dairy breeders have succeeded in creating a growing demand for their surplus dairy stock and it is not uncommon to hear of dairy animals being sold for several hundreds of dollars for breeding purposes. This class of business is sure to continue to grow, as there is an unlimited demand for better dairy stock. The man who has stock for sale and is able to prove that the quality of his stock is all that he claims for it, will experience no trouble in finding a ready market.

A little over ten years ago one of the most encouraging steps in the development of the dairying industry in the state was made when the state legislature appropriated $25,000.00 to be spent during 1912 and 1913 in the establishment of a model state owned creamery, which was established for experimental purposes at the city of Albert Lea, in the southern part of the county. The use to which it has been put has been to solve the practical problems and distribute the information generally and gratiously.

The keeping of proper breeds of milking cows is one of the most intensive forms of agriculture requiring more labor, yet the returns are in keeping with the effort.

The business of dairy farming as conducted in Pennington county is the ideal one for the working family, for each member may be provided with healthful, profitable employment, suited to the years and strength of each and of a nature to train every faculty in keen oversight and kindly service.

Minnesota is prominently in the front rank of states in the matter of true co-operation, for by it alone can be built up such strength of the individual, of community and state that the day of landlord farming may be indefinitely postponed and ours remain ever a state of farm homes on home farms.

Thief River Co-operative Creamery

(By R. KENNETH EVANS.)

NO matter how profuse may be the production of any commodity unless there is an outlet market for it, the production is of no value, therefore marketing facilities play an important part in the development of the commercial possibilities of any city and in the Thief River Co-Operative Creamery Association, this city has a valuable institution. It is one of four co-operative creameries in the county through which the entire dairy production of more than three-fourths of a million dollars income is handled. The other three co-operative creameries in the county combined, do about three-fourths the business handled by the Thief River Falls institution.

The Co-Operative creamery was purchased by the present association in 1906 from the Prichard company, paying $4,500 for the lots and plant, including the buildings now used in its operation. Since 1910 P. Englestad has been secretary of the association and under his management the influence and business of the company has made an almost phenomenal growth. Seven men and five girls are steadily employed, with a payroll averaging $1,500.00 monthly. Approximately 23,000 pounds of Extra Brand butter is manufactured weekly and the creamery ships on an average of three carloads monthly to St. Paul and New York markets.

The reader may get some idea of the importance of this institution to the dairying industry of this section of Northwestern Minnesota when it is stated that during the month of May alone, the company paid out to the farmers for cream and whole milk $21,130.00 which pro rated is more than $2.00 for every man, woman and child in Pennington county.

The Co-operative creamery buys all its produce direct from the farmers, who maintain stock in the institution and by marketing through it get a higher return for their production as they are given the benefit of the earnings of the creamery besides the market price of their commodity. A cash market is constantly maintained and never does the sun set on an unpaid can of cream.

A very extensive retail business is maintained in Thief River Falls and surrounding territory; in fact the Co-operative creamery is the source of milk and butter supply for the city. In placing milk on the market very drastic sanitary measures are adopted to insure the purest commodity possible being distributed. The milk passes through a pastuerizing process and clarifying which under the latest modern methods insures every piece of foreign matter being extracted from the milk before being placed on the market for consumption. The retail business alone enjoyed in Thief River Falls and surrounding territory last year was in excess of $70,000.00. One automobile truck is operated for the retail business and deliveries and prompt service is a feature of this business.

The machinery installed in the plant is modern and up-to-date in every respect and is all operated by electricity. Today the plant has a physical valuation of approximately $18,000.00 which shows conclusively that the company has kept abreast of the times by the installation of machinery and improving of the working conditions since it has been under the present management.

The Creamery management takes a vital interest in the development of the dairying possibilities of this section of Minnesota by encouraging the upgrading of native herds and the importance of pure-bred dairy animals. Educational campaigns are conducted and every dairyman has the opportunity of discussing to his advantage the possibilities of the dairying industry in this section.

Taken all in all from an industrial standpoint, there is no one institution that plays a more important part in the development of resources of Pennington county than the Thief River Co-Operative Creamery Association.

The Northwestern Auto Company

(By R. KENNETH EVANS.)

EVER since the automobile has played such an important part in the commercial world there has constantly been a demand on the part of users of auto-motive transportation for dependability.

To make cars more substantial and to eliminate experiments has been the paramount issue with the manufacturer until today the "freak" car has been relegated to the background. Substantial cars, with less parts augmented by universal service is today the feature-attracting attention. No longer is it necessary to explain the working features of the car. Almost every man, woman and child in the United States knows the principles upon which a good automobile works. It merely remains to show that the manufacturer has eliminated the chance features of unsuccessful experiments to place his car on a favorable plane.

One of the most substantial cars on the market and one which has given satisfaction throughout the experimental stages of automobiles is the Overland and the same can be said of the Willys-Knight. Today they stand the acme of perfection in the cheaper priced cars. The owner of an Overland or Willys-Knight finds a service station in every little city or village as well as large distributing agencies and service stations in the larger cities. Year by year has chronicled improvements, strengthening of weak points, until now Overland or Willy-Knight will perform as it was never believed possible to make gasoline driven conveyances perform. With added refinement and ease of operation this year the Overland and Willys-Knight are cars which will appeal to the taste of the most exacting as to service.

The Overland and Willys-Knight are distributed in Thief River Falls by the Northwestern Auto Company, who also maintain and operate one of the largest service garages in Northwestern Minnesota. This institution was established in Thief River Falls in 1911 by K. A. Sundahl, who has built it up to one of the most substantial and successful business institutions of the city. It was originally established in a small building on Second street and was moved to its present large building in 1918. It is today one of the substantial structures and institutions, adding to the reputation of Thief River Falls as a commercial and distributing center.

One of the largest stocks of automobile parts and accessories for Overland and Willys-Knight cars is carried in stock, which means that the owners of these two makes of automobiles are never put to the inconvenience of waiting for parts from some central distributing point or the factory.

The service department is another attractive feature. With a well-equipped shop, employing expert mechanics who have made a thorough study of the automobile business, this plant is in a position to handle the most complex repair job that might be brought to them and while their plant is primarily established for service on Overland and Willys-Knight cars they are in a position to do work on all makes of automobiles and do such work in a thoroughly satisfactory manner. The latest improved machinery, including lathe, drill press, welding outfits, drills, etc., has been installed to facilitate the handling of this class of work.

Another important branch of this business is the Willard battery and service station. A complete line of parts are carried for the Willard battery and experienced repair men are employed, capable of doing high-class battery work. The Willard is a nationally known battery and one of the first successful batteries to be put on the market and maintained to a high standard of efficiency. This is the only authorized distributing service station for the battery in this section.

The tire department of this large institution is maintained up to the same high degree of efficiency and the Fisk and Michlien lines are carried in all sizes to fit any make of car.

The storage department, with a capacity of 60 cars, well designed so that it is easy to move cars in and out, is under the supervision of a competent man at all times. The fire-proof construction of the garage and the attention that is paid to every individual car by the management, makes this an exceptionally attractive place to store one's car.

In addition to the above mentioned features, this garage also has a complete stock of accessories of all kinds. In fact it is an institution that would be a credit to a city several times the size of Thief River Falls and important towards making this a tourist and automobile center.

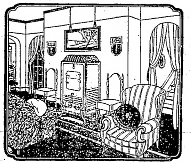
Have you joined our HEATROLA Club?



ONE TON of coal FREE to all who join before Aug 12th

This is our offer: To all who join our HEATROLA CLUB before August 12th we will give absolutely FREE ONE FULL TON OF COAL. The club fee is $2, which applies on the price of the Heatrola. The balance is payable in easy installments. Here is a chance to get one of these wonderful new-day heaters and a supply of fuel for the price of the Heatrola alone. Installation of the Heatrola will be made at any time specified by the purchaser.

All over the country, Heatrola dealers are making this offer on a limited number of Heatrolas and for the period from July 22nd to August 12th. Last year everyone waited until the last minute to order their Heatrolas and the factory was swamped with more orders than it could deliver. To prevent this congestion this year is the reason for this very attractive special offer.

The Estate Heatrola looks like a phonograph and works like a furnace. It heats three to six connecting rooms with warm, moist air—the most healthful heat known. It is in reality a furnace. Beautiful enough to grace any parlor, in its handsome form and rich grained mahogany enamel finish.

And how it heats! Come in and read the book of letters testifying to its heating capacity. Read—not claims we make, or the manufacturers make, but what people who have Heatrolas say about this new-day heater.

The Heatrola heats by circulating warm, moist air—not by radiation. It is just the thing for small homes, bungalows, stores, offices, etc.—with or WITHOUT BASEMENTS. And it is economical. With the fuel needed for one stove it will do the work of a furnace. It is easy to keep clean. No iron to black, no nickel to polish. Just rub it and dust it with a cloth, as you do your furniture.

Join our HEATROLA CLUB now. The number of Heatrolas offered is limited, and the club closes August 12th. So act quickly. On joining you pay $2 down. The balance is payable in easy installments. We then make an installation of the Heatrola when you want it, and we deliver to you FREE ONE FULL TON OF COAL.

WEED PROBLEM ON DITCH GRADES UP FOR ATTENTION

Suggestion Made That Best Solution is to Seed Down to Clover or Grasses.

The miles and miles of drainage ditches in northwestern Minnesota are developing a problem that is not pleasant to consider. When these ditches were made there was no consideration given to any problem except to move the water from the land and thereby render available for agricultural purposes a rich lot of lands that were more or less a farming liability due to excess water.

The ditches were dug, the dirt from the cuts being piled high along one or both sides of the cut. Unfortunately, these dirt dumps were not left in a condition that was conducive to use for farming purposes. As a result they have grown up to all manner and sorts of noxious weeds. Thereby, there is now a problem that must be solved if weed control work is to succeed as rapidly and in as full measure as it should. An occasional energetic farmer here and there is getting out with harrow, disc, plow and scraper to level the dump or smooth its surface and seed it down to clover, timothy or Bromus. Even the ditch banks in some places are seeded. Some of these dumps are used as public roads. This helps some.

It has been suggested that these dumps should be leveled somewhat, smoothed off and seeded down as rapidly as the ditch is dug. Whether this be done by the construction crew, the state, the county, the township or the parties owning the adjoining property, is a debateable question, but this does not in the least obscure the fact that for the general welfare of the public it will be a fine thing to have these dumps seeded down and not left in irregular, ugly appearing, useless, uneven piles of dirt. A suggested mixture of seeds for such places is as follows: Timothy five pounds, Bromus one pound, Blue Grass one pound, Alsyke one pound, Medium Red one pound, Sweet Clover one pound.

The same thing may be said with reference to the cuts and fills and other roadside features. Minnesota now has thousands of tourists in the state each summer. The impression they carry back to the rest of our states may help to settle our vast unoccupied lands and improve those already settled and in the making.

IN EQUITY

RESTRAINING ORDER

To each of the above named defendants, and to all other persons assisting them or aiding them, or combining, conspiring, agreeing or arranging with them:

IT APPEARS from the plaintiff's sworn complaint in this suit, which was, on the 19th day of July, 1922, presented to the Honorable Wilbur F. Booth, judge of the United States District Court for the District of Minnesota, Fourth Division, that the defendants, and other persons unknown, have unlawfully conspired against the plaintiff, and that the plaintiff is thereby threatened with the following immediate injuries: Wrongful and unlawful interruption of and interference with the conduct of plaintiff's business as a common carrier engaged in interstate commerce and as a carrier of the United States mails, with the effect of preventing plaintiff from performing its duties under the Interstate Commerce Act and other federal statutes and its duties to the United States Government, and subjecting plaintiff to fines and penalties for failure to promptly and safely carry the United States mails in accordance with the laws of the United States; loss of life and personal injury to plaintiff's employes; great loss and destruction of and injuries to plaintiff's property; acts of violence against plaintiff's employes and against its property; unlawful picketing about plaintiff's property, and interference with plaintiff's employes and persons desiring to become such employes, on their way to and from work, so as to intimidate them and threaten them and thereby prevent them from exercising their lawful right to work for plaintiff in repairing and maintaining its cars and engines and equipment in a safe condition to carry on its aforesaid business and discharge its duties under the laws of the United States and to the Government of the United States.

IT FURTHER APPEARS that such unlawful injuries to plaintiff and to persons desiring to exercise their lawful right to work for plaintiff, will be irreparable injuries and will cause irreparable damage, for the reason that defendants are not so financially responsible that adequate judgments could be collected from them, and that the threatened acts will be so numerous and will be committed under such circumstances that many of the guilty individuals cannot be apprehended before the acts are committed, and that the threatened injuries will be of such character that they cannot be adequately compensated for in money damages.

IT FURTHER APPEARS that such threatened injuries will be immediately committed before a hearing can be had in this suit unless a restraining order is issued forthwith without notice to defendants, and that plaintiff has filed a bond in the penal sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000.00), to protect the defendants against damages resulting from the issuance of this restraining order.

IT IS, THEREFORE, ORDERED, that the above named defendants, and all persons engaged in the present so-called "strike" of the members of the so-called "Six Federated Shop Crafts," formerly employed by plaintiff, all persons assisting or aiding them, or acting, combining, conspiring, agreeing or arranging with them, and all other persons within the District of Minnesota, having notice of this order, be and are hereby ordered and enjoined as follows:

(1) Not to picket the buildings or property of the plaintiff, or the streets, alleys, paths, or roads leading to such buildings or property, except that one single representative of all said defendants may be maintained at each regular and established entrance to plaintiff's buildings and property for the sole purpose of announcing the strike and peaceably persuading employes and would-be employes of plaintiff not to work for plaintiff;

(2) Not to loiter, assemble, congregate, or trespass, upon, about or near the shops, roundhouse, depots, tracks, yards, or other buildings or property of the plaintiff, at Shoreham, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth, Glenwood, or elsewhere in the District of Minnesota, thereby intimidating, threatening, coercing or inducing by the presence of numbers, plaintiff's employes and would-be employes so as to tend to prevent them from working for the plaintiffs;

(3) Not to interfere in any manner with the employes of the plaintiff in going to or from their daily work, or in remaining at such work;

(4) Not to interfere in any manner with persons desiring to go into or upon the buildings or property of the plaintiff for the purpose of working for the plaintiff;

(5) Not to go to the homes of plaintiff's employees, either single or collectively, for the purpose of intimidating them, or coercing them, or any of them, to leave the employment of the plaintiff;

(6) Not to threaten or intimidate, by letters, telephone, telegram, noise, personal conversation, or in any manner the wives and families, or property, of plaintiff's employes or would-be employes;

(7) Not to injure in any manner any of the cars or locomotives of plaintiff, or any of the safety appliances, air hoses, brakes, or other attachments thereof, or any other property or buildings, or machinery or equipment whatsoever belonging to or used by plaintiff or its employes;

(8) Not to interfere with, hinder, obstruct or stop any of the business of the plaintiff carried on by plaintiff or its officers, agents or employes in the operation of plaintiff's railroad, or any department or part thereof;

(9) Not to make any threats, or suggestions, of danger, violence or personal injury of any kind against employes or would-be employes of plaintiff or the members of their families, and not to commit any act of force or violence or any injury against any such person, or the members of his family, or his property;

(10) Not to protect, aid, or assist any person or persons in doing any of the things hereby forbidden;

(11) Not to do any act or thing whatsoever to obstruct or interfere with plaintiff, its officers, agents or employes in the operation of its railroad and the conduct of its business;

(12) Not to deface, tear down, or in any manner mutilate any copy of this order.

Service of this order shall be made by serving copies thereof on the aforesaid defendants. A copy thereof shall be published in one or more daily newspapers published in the city of Minneapolis, and in such other newspapers published in this state as may seem advisable. Copies of this order shall be posted at public places in close proximity to each regular and established place of entrance to each of plaintiff's repair shops in the District of Minnesota, and at such other places near or upon plaintiff's buildings or properties as may seem advisable. The marshall of this court is directed to immediately publish and post cards of this order as aforesaid, and he is hereby authorized and directed to commission a sufficient number of deputy marshals to promulgate and secure compliance with this order.

Plaintiff having given a bond in the penal sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000,000), according to law, let this order be immediately effective, and let it remain in effect until the 28th day of July, A. D., 1922, and to such further time as this court may hereinafter order in the manner provided by law.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, that the defendants appear before the District Court of the United States, District of Minnesota, Fourth Division, at a session to be held in the city of Minneapolis, in the state of Minnesota, in said district, upon the 28th day of July, 1922, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of the said day, and then and there show cause, if any there be, why the preliminary injunction prayed for in the bill of complaint should not issue.

This order signed and issued this 19th day of July, 1922, at 11:30 o'clock a. m.

WILBUR F. BOOTH, Judge.

FORTY-THREE IN RURAL SCHOOLS FINISH GRADES

Compared with previous years the results of this years state board eighth grade examinations are highly satisfactory in the rural schools. A considerable number of pupils took the examinations and a large average were given certificates in certain subjects or received a diploma, having completed all the required studies. This year there are 43 diplomas issued to eighth grade graduates of rural schools of Pennington county. This shows that an efficient staff of teachers has been employed in the county during the past year. We must then dispense with county graduation for this year. Some of the teachers have asked to hold individual school graduations. These will be held providing there are enough graduates in the school and that proper arrangements can be made by the teacher and school.

Notice.

We take this method of informing those who are using our milk that we have just recently had our herd tested for tuberculosis by a state veterinarian and all were found to be in perfect health. This makes six yearly tests we have had without one reactor. Our dairy is open for inspection at all times and if it is not convenient for you to call have your physician come for you.

A Full Measure of Service

THE First Quarterly Summary of Refinery Statistics issued by the Bureau of Mines (1922) states that 25% more gasoline was purchased by consumers in January, February and March, 1922, than in the corresponding period of 1921. Many well-informed marketers are predicting that there will be an insufficient supply of gasoline this summer in the Middle West.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has increased its facilities so largely that it feels safe in stating that it will be able to render to the people of the 10 states it serves that degree of service which the public has come to expect from this organization.

The manufacturing facilities of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) have a capacity of more than one billion gallons of gasoline per year. These facilities are being operated 24 hours every day that patrons may be certain of securing their requirements of petroleum products as they need them.

When the flood tide of demand occurs, car owners will realize that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has anticipated their needs fully and completely.

When a motorist fills his tank at a convenient service station in some remote corner of the Middle West, he may never stop to consider the vast and complicated machinery needful to put that gasoline where he wants it at the moment he needs it most. But he will appreciate that it is there.

He may never know that serving him involves experienced executives of trained initiative and resourcefulness; enormous expenditures for labor and raw material; great, modern refineries continuously operated; immense storage facilities; a magnificent distribution system; and the uniform effort of an organization of 25,000 men and women. All this is back of that small quantity of Red Crown gasoline which every summer tourist confidently expects to purchase and surely finds at all points in the territory served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

No. 163 Has Strange Experience.

A peculiar incident occurred to the No. 163 on the Soo line last Monday evening, when a violent crash and a jolt from below almost threw Engineer F. P. Green out of his seat. The cause of this strange occurrence was a pole which had been placed along the rail by a farmer crossing the tracks with a binder and which was caught by the spokes of the locomotive wheel and thrown up against the running board under the engineer's seat. The force was so great that the pole pierced the thick plank, pushing the seat entirely out of its way. The train had to be stopped and the timber chopped out with an axe.

Baby Killed in Tipover.

They expect to return to this city to give another concert some time during the fall or winter, when they hope to meet a greater patronage among the music lovers of this city.

Autos Collide.

Two automobile collisions occurred in the city Sunday; one at the opening and another at the close of day. The Fodstad car was shoved about 25 feet along the curb but was not damaged, except for a bad dent in the rear, while the other machine suffered a broken light, a misplaced radiator and minor damages.

"The Sting of the Lash."

There is a tremendous climax in Pauline Frederick's new R-C Picture Corporation production, "The Sting of the Lash," showing at the Lyceum theatre, Thursday and Friday, when Miss Frederick, playing the role of Mrs. Joel Gant, ties her husband's hands, throws the end of the rope over a beam, hauls him up until his toes are off the floor and flogs him with a mule skinners whip until he collapses from the punishment.

It is a whale of a punch in the picture, powerful because it comes so suddenly in the development of the story. Up to this moment in the denouement Mrs. Gant has loved her husband with undying devotion and has gone down loyally into poverty with him although she once lived in high estate.

But finally Joel Gant strikes his little sister and the act of cruelty arouses all the fury in the torn and twisted heart of his wife. Seizing a gun from a table in the room she orders her cowering husband to back himself against the wall. He starts for her but she fires a shot and the bullet shatters a mirror. Then the little sister is ordered to tie his hands with a rope and he is lifted bodily off the floor until he is helpless. Then he is tied in this position and his wife takes a whip and lashes him until big red welts appear on his back.

When the man is unconscious from the beating the wife cuts him down and mercifully ministers to his wounds. It is one of the biggest moments ever flashed upon any screen and will live long in the memories of those who see it.

Perhaps the most notable feature of the production, which was directed by Henry King, was his success in keeping it from being sordid or maudlin. The scene in which the wife whips the husband was a difficult one to develop but Mr. King has handled it in good taste.

This is but one of the mighty climaxes of a very thrilling production. From this point on the story is tremendously interesting with Miss Frederick doing quite the best work of her career.

Pennington county's twentieth annual fair is on in full swing, with every indication that it will surpass all previous records in attendance, number and quality of exhibits, and general excellence of free attractions.

Attendance for the first two days has set a new record, it being estimated that the crowds are by far the largest in the history of the association. The weather has been ideal and everything connected with the big exhibition is moving without a hitch.

Evening Crowds Large.

The evening crowds are proving to be almost as large as the afternoon. This is due to the splendid attractions that have been provided for this part of the days' program. The fireworks displays have been wonderful on both nights and the sham battle for Friday night promises to be the best of all.

One of the big features of Thursday night was the style show in front of the grandstand, put on by Loken Brothers. This was a decided success, every detail in connection with it being carried out splendidly. Twenty-four young ladies participated in it as models and thousands of dollars worth of wearing apparel was shown. The garments were all furnished by Loken Brothers and the hats by Johnson's Millinery.

Ordal of Holt will deliver the sermon

Boy Drowned in River.

Joseph Paul Deschane, 7 year old son of Mr and Mrs. Peter Deschane of Argyle Minn., was drowned in Snake Creek, near Argyle Saturday afternoon, July 29, 1922.

The funeral was Monday at 2 o'clock from the Rose De Lima Catholic church, at Argyle, the body was laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery.

Those left to mourn his death are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Deschane; one brother, James; two sisters, Lucille and Mary Jane.

Mrs. L. J. Cerny, Mrs. Lillian Tyer, and daughter, Dorothy, motored over on Saturday evening. Mr. Cerny following on Monday.

Mrs. Deschane is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Cerny of this city.

Have Narrow Escape.

Supt. I. T. Simley and family narrowly escaped serious injuries last week on their way to Otter Tail Lake on an outing trip. They were making the tour in a Ford Sedan and met with the accident about two miles east of Erskine, when Mr. Simley attempted to pass an oil truck and in so doing got into loose sand with the result that the machine was thrown over into a small ditch. Luckily the occupants were fortunate enough not to sustain severe injuries except that Mr. Simley cut his wrist with broken glass as he was working with the machine to set it right again. He went to the nearby village, where he was given medical attention and it was found that five stitches had to be taken in the wound. The Sedan was damaged very little considering the spill that it made. Only the top and a window were broken, the machine being in good condition otherwise. Mr. Simley and his family continued their journey to Mahnomen and Ottertail Lake, from where they returned Monday.

RATES ON FUEL WOOD LOWERED

Temporary Order by State Commission Issued to Supply Farmers Better Market.

Orders lowering the freight rate on fuel wood approximately 20 per cent were issued last week by the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse commission. The order is temporary, effective August 1 to April 1. Its immediate purpose is to give farmers a better market for cord wood and to serve the larger cities in the event the fuel shortage becomes more desperate.

The Interstate Commerce Commission several weeks ago issued a general order reducing cord wood rates 10 percent. This gave farmers of western Wisconsin an advantage in putting wood on the Twin Cities market, due to the fact that sections of that state where wood is cut are closer to the market than those in Minnesota. The Minnesota reduction serves to equalize this situation.

On shipments moving 250 miles, the rate has bee reduced from 11 to 9 cents; on 200-mile shipments, 9½ to 8 cents; on 50-mile shipments, 6½ to 4½ cents.

The railroads, of course, have an opportunity to contest the order, but in view of coal shortage, such action is not expected, especially as the order is temporary.

Judge Grindeland Grants Citizenship to Number

Seven men and five women were granted citizenship by Judge Andrew Grindeland at a special session of court held Friday of last week at the local court room. The examinations were conducted by Examiner R. K. Doe. Those who were given their citizenship papers were as follows: Charlie Langer and wife of Thief River Falls; Carl Christopherson and wife of Thief River Falls; Sigurd Aanstad and wife of Thief River Falls; Tennes Skatberg and wife of Highlanding; Anton Presby and wife of Hazel; Iver Austad of Thief River Falls and Erling Presby of Hazel.

Hans Prestby and wife of Hazel were dismissed on the grounds that Mr. Prestby claimed exemption from the draft as being an Italian. He may file application again and his case herd in five years. Arne Vik and wife of St. Hilaire were denied citizenship and have to wait for a re-hearing. The case of John Loken and wife of Thief River Falls, Route No. 3, will also be continued at the next session.

The next examination for citizenship, will be held March 31th.

Duplex Nearing Completion.

Workmen are this week putting the finishing touches on a new duplex which M. V. Evenson is erecting at the corner of Bridge street and Tindolph avenue. It is a splendid structure, equipped with every kind of modern convenience and a credit to the city. It is to be occupied by the W. A. Barnard and Nels Christianson families. Mr. Evenson says he could readily secure tenants for a dozen such homes if he could build them. He is probably the best posted man in the city in the matter of residence property and has certainly had a vast amount of experience in the building line. He is to be commended for his enterprse.

Prevailing Farm Wages Now Being Paid in Minnesota

Farmers in Minnesota are paying harvest hands an average daily wage of $2.40, according to the monthly farm labor survey conducted by the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation in co-operation with county Farm Bureaus.

Prevailing rates of pay of farm laborers in every section of the state are tabulated every month by the state federation, to guide farmers in hiring help, and to prevent violent wage fluctuations and consequent drifting of farm labor from county to county, which in the past has resulted in loss to both producers and laborers.

General work per day	$ 1.90
Haying per day	2.20
Harvesting (shocking) per day	2.40
General work per month	40.00
Harvesting per month	40.00
General work per month	37.00

Seventeen percent of the counties reported the demand for farm labor large, while 67 percent reported an average call for help. Only 15 percent reported a small demand for farm hands.

PRODUCERS TO DISCUSS SALES AGENCY FRIDAY

Conference in St. Paul to Map Out Course in Case Other Agency Unable to Act.

Farm Bureau Federation Makes Move in Order to Assure Farmer Protection.

Large Number of Delegates will Attend to Hear Plan Outlined.

The farmers' elevators of Minnesota have been asked to send representatives to a co-operative marketing conference in the Old Capitol, St. Paul, at 9:30 a. m. Friday, August 4, to discuss plans for handling the present grain crop co-operatively, in case the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., is unable to function.

The call for the conference was sent out by J. E. Reed, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation. In 700 letters to officers of co-operative elevators, he urged that representatives of the elevator, and all "farmr friends of co-operative grain marketing" attend the conference," to determine whether arrangements cannot be made to market the present crop co-operatively even if the U. S. Grain Growers is not able to establish a sales agency in time to handle it."

There is no intention of conflicting with the work of the U. S. Grain Growers in any way, the call says.

At the last meeting of the executive board of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, a committee of three was appointed to investigate the possibilities of co-operative handling of the present crop, in the event that the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc. does not furnish this service. This committee consists of Mr. Reed, Thomas E. Cashman of Owattona and J. D. Pyle of Madison.

Peat Experimental Fields.

Owing to the condition of the roads many, who wished to do so, were unable t visit the experimental tract on Saturday, July 22nd, the regular visiting day.

No doubt many will wish to visit the fields at some other time during the season. For the benefit of such it has been arranged to have a guid at the field Saturday afternoon and Sundays, except during the hours of services at Golden Valley.

DISTRICT HOLDS GOOD AUXILIARY MEETING HERE

Officers Elected and Committees Named to Handle Year's Activities.

The convention of the American Legion Auxiliary of the Ninth district which was held in this city Thursday of last week was in every respect successful and met with the hearty approval and satisfaction of visiting delegates and local members. The business part of the meeting was promptly done away with according to schedule during the afternoon session due to the efficient management carried on throughout. A number of prominent women thruout the district were in the city for the occasion.

The election of officers which took place during the afternoon session held at the American Legion Club rooms, resulted in the following choices: President, Mrs. E. J. Masterson of Barnesville; vice-president, Mrs. W. A. Swedenburg of Thief River Falls; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. E. O. Qualey of New York Mills; executive committee, Mrs. Herman Spjut of Stratchona, Mrs. J. L. Townley Jr. of Fergus Falls, Mrs. C. Merriam Stephens of Crookston and Mrs. E. O. Qualey of New York Mills; Mrs. W. W. McDermett of Detroit, historian. Mrs. Albert Johnson was appointed to present the colors and Mrs. L. H. Lawrence acted as sergeant-at-arms. The rule that no one shall act as officer for more than one consecutive year in either district or state organization explains the fact that there was a complete change.

Barnesville and Crookston extended invitations for next year's convention, Barnesville being selected.

The convention went on record as in favor of the Curtis-Rogers Bill, giving separate citizenship to women.

The following were appointed, Finance:—Miss Johnson, Moorhead, Mrs. Mary Johnson, Detroit, and Mrs. E. O. Qualey, Yew York Mills; Next meeting time and place:—Mrs. L. M. Norby, Barnesville; Mrs. Chandler, Erskine and Mrs. Bradshaw, Erskine.

Resolutions—Mrs. M. Stephens, Crookston; Mrs. K. O. Standy, Mahnomen, and Miss Sophia Wieber, Barnsville.

Constitutions and by-laws—Mrs. J. T. Townley, Fergus Falls, Mrs. R. J. Murray, Moorhead and Mrs. Alice Lynch, Barnsville.

Unit activities—Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. McLean, Crookston, and Mrs. Edna Johnson, Moorhead.

Americanization—Mrs. L. C. Weeks, Detroit, Miss Sophia Weber, Barnesville and Mrs. O. F. Melby, Thief River Falls.

Rules—Mrs. E. O. Qualey, New York Mills, Miss Sophia Welber, Barnesville, and Mrs. W. W. W. McDermett, Detroit.

Credentials—Mrs. Alice Lynch, Mrs. R. J. Murray, Moorhead, and Mrs. Bradshaw, Erskine.

At five o'clock, following the business meeting, the American Legion Post furnished automobiles for a ride around the city and vicinity to all the delegates to the convention. The automobile ride was followed by an elaborate banquet at the Brumund hotel, tendered by the local unit.

The evening session held in the auditorium was well attended and proved to be very intertaining and educational in every detail. Excellent addresses were delivered by Mrs. Sandy Hamilton of Minnapolis, state president; Mrs. L. C. Weeks of Detroit, who spoke on Americanization, and R. A. Rossberg of Crookston who talked about "the needs of the Ninth District."

Dr. Rodwell of Mahnomen also gave an interesting address. Stafford King was not present as was planned for. The singing of Mrs. Merriam Stephens of Detroit and a quartette consisting of Miss Eileen Arneson, Mrs. Helen Brink, Carl Sundahl and Guy Johnson of this city, added greatly to the fine numbers of the program.

The visiting delegates were very enthusiastic about the accommodation given them in this city during their stay, and complimented the members of the local unit. The state president stated that the convention could not have been better.

HARVEST IN FULL SWING IN COUNTY

Early Threshing Reports Show Rye Yielding 26 to 32 Bushels.

Threshing operations are now in full swing in Pennington county and grain is already being hauled to the local elevators. The rye crop is a big one this year and the yield promises to be very good. Approximately 25,000 acres in the county are devoted to this grain this year and it is generally admitted that the yield will average at least 25 bushels to the acre.

Several farmers have already reported yields ranging from 26 to 32 bushels. Smith brothers, who farm northeast of the city, marketed the first grain of the season here Friday. They report a yield of 32 bushels. A. E. Anderson in Rocksbury township was another to thresh last week. His field of rye went 26 bushels.

The greatest difficulty that the farmers now have to face is the matter of price and shipping facilities. With the strike still unsettled grain dealers are of the opinion that the available supply of cars will be exhausted in a short time.

GOVERNMENT TO TAKE RAILROADS IF NECESSARY

Announcement Made From Washington and Plans Outlined for Emergency.

Action Follows Failure of Roads to Accept President's Peace Plan.

Strikers State that Blame for Continuation of Strike Now With Roads.

If any railroad fails to function in carrying off mail and necessary commodities, as provided in the federal order, the government will take over and operate that road.

This is the next move planned by President Harding, it was learned on high administration authority today.

At the same time it was made plain that the government does not contemplate doing this immediately. For a while, at least, the President will keep hands off and let the two factors fight it out.

The Department of Justice, it was learned, has worked out a complete procedure for taking over the railroads. As soon as unpardonable congestion occurs for the movement of mails or for food and fuel, district attorneys will ask that a receiver be named on the legal ground that the officers of the railroad are no longer able to operate it.

With a receiver named the road is literally in the hands of the United States government. This procedure may be carried out without any interference except the possibility of restraining orders from the rail officials. The restraining orders, the President has been advised, could be on more than temporary in nature. The first railroads likely to fall within this decision, should the strike develop serious angles, will be the coal carrying lines, it was declared.

Railway executives on Tuesday rejected the proposal of President Harding that striking shopmen be reinstated without forfeiting seniority rights, but accepted conditionally the other two suggestions made by the White House for settlement of the nationwide strike.

The reply to President Harding was put on the wire to the White House as soon as it had been drawn up by a subcommittee headed by Robert S. Lovett of the Union Pacific and approved unanimously by the general conference.

The proposals conditionally accepted were that wage decisions rendered by the railroad labor board should be accepted by all and that lawsuits reresulting the strike should be withdrawn by both sides for settlement by the board.

Employes Accept.

Full acceptance of the peace proposals submitted by President Harding was voted Wednesday by leaders of the striking railway shopmen who, however, gave their own interpretation of each of the three suggestions.

"We accept reluctantly, it is true, but commit ourselves to carry out the terms of settlement in utmost good faith and in aid of the general welfare," said the message of acceptance which was sent to President Harding tonight. "If these proposals fail to bring about the results which you desire, the responsibility of failure will not rest upon representatives of the organized employes."

On the proposal to restore unimpaired seniority rights to the strikers, which was rejected by railway executives at a meeting yesterday in New York, the message declared:

Wholesale Injustice.

"It would certainly be a wholesale injustice of unparalleled extent if hundreds of thousands of experienced men who have given four to 40 years service and whose value to the transportation industry is proportioned to the length of their service, should be placed in a position of inferiority to a limited number of men who have been employed as substitutes for these experienced railroad workers."

(By R. KENNETH EVANS.)

Note: The statistics contained in this story were secured through the farm bureau, federal census reports and personal interviews with stock raisers in Northwestern Minnesota and are as reliable as it is possible to obtain and can be relied upon generall.

The history of the stockraising industry in Pennington county is all centered around the dairying industry from a cattle standpoint. Unlike many of the western states Minnesota never was a cattle country although stock has been raised very extensively for the dairying industry. The feeding for finished beef never was followed by even the early day pioneers who were resorting to all the inexpensive methods of a livlihood. Today there is a great advantage to be gained in the stock raising industry but again it is the raising of pure bred dairy stock from the cattle standpoint and the production of hogs, poultry and some sheep.

To give the reader an insight to the conditions as they bear on the stock raising industry of northwestern and western Minnesota it is well to revert back to some early day history. The first settlers who came here after the great influx of population in 1857 engaged in wheat raising almost exclusively, and the virgin soil yielded from 20 to 30 bushels to the acre year after year. The wheat decline started in the early eighties over the entire state and coincident with the drop in wheat prices at that time caused the farmers to turn their attention to diversified farming, stockraising and dairying. Progress in the direction of dairying, however, was slow. The early settlers brought with them a few milk cows for milk and beef production for home consumption but it was not until after the wheat failure that stock raising was considered a leading factor in farm endeavor. Following this failure shorthorn and native cattle were bred, and a portion of the former large wheat fields were turned into pastures and meadows. However, large herds were the exception rather than the rule and dairying was conducted on only a small scale.

At that time agricultural experimenting was only in its infancy and the modern scientific methods were unknown. Corn brought from more southern states and planted here was an uncertain crop owing to the late springs and early falls. It was believed that only tame grasses such as timothy and clover could be raised. Without corn and grasses Pennington county beef could not compete with the better class of stock sold on the market nor extensive dairying flourish under the circumstances. The average farmer owned four or five cows. A few herds were gathered and shipped annually from this county to the western plains and ranges for grading. Horses were raised to some extent and sold for a time at a profit in the Northwestern markets, principally the cities. Cattle raising however, under such disadvantages, brought little if any profit and the market value of the horse soon fell. Then came the heavy production of corn, oats etc., the finding of the proper class of crop products, which would grow and develop profusely here and the development of the dairying industry on a large scale which brought about a great impetus in the stockraising industry in the production of cattle

Today Pennington county has 39,683 head of cattle with practically fifty per cent of this being range stock. These cattle are used in the production of the three-quarters of a million of dollars of butter produced annually throughout the county and consists in the main of Holsteins, Guernsey, milking Shorthorns, and some Herefords. There are approximately 65 pure bred herds throughout the county and a ready demand is always found for the dairy animal which the owners will sell for breeding purposes.

The cattle industry is growing rapidly from the dairying standpoint and some stock is fed out for beef purposes, this latter industry being augmented by agricultural production. At this time it is conservatively estimated that the Pennington county farmers cannot supply one-tenth of the demand for their surplus cattle as the reputation of Minnesota cattle has traveled far and wide.

With the process of the tubercular testing and cow testing work the future of the live stock industry is assured, coupled with the good price always received for dairy products. The creameries want the butter fat and the hogs and calves need the skimmed milk and the public in other sections are constantly demanding the over supply of breeding stock. Thus it can readily be seen that there are many advantages to the stock raising industry in this section of the state from a cattle standpoint but not in the sense of the production of beef animals.

Many people in asking about the cattle possibilities refer to it from the standpoint of producing large herds for beef or for feeders on the various markets. There is more money being made today in the cattle business in Pennington county than in any of the western cattle sections in the sense above referred to but it is through the medium of production of pure bred animals and dairy products.

There are a few large ranches in Pennington county that is to say large compared to the average dairy farm in Minnesota. These are owned by G. W. Wilson with 1,400 acres; E. F. Dann, 800 acres; G. McGill, 800 acres. An average of fifty pure bred animals are being shipped in to the county annually to be used in the upgrading of the native herd.

Hogs in the County.

Hog raising besides being a business in itself is a very profitable sideline especially in this section of the state where an ample supply of corn is raised and much skimmed milk is available for feeding. The hog will give better and quicker returns on the investment than any other animal where he is given the many advantages to be found in this county. During the past year of low priced corn many farmers in this county have been able to realize as high as sixty cents per bushel for their product by putting it in a "pig skin." The hog should have a prominent place on every Pennington county farm.

Generally speaking, pork is the cheapest source of home meat supply. Intelligent care, proper feeding and manageing is as important here, however, as in any other section where hogs are grown as a business. Today there are 7,520 head of hogs in Pennington county and a steady increase in the industry is indicated by the general economic conditions of the livestock business and the upward tendency of the market. This number includes splendid herds of Durocs and Poland China. Clover and alfalfa pastures are used very extensively and most farmers follow the policy of feeding their corn in preference to shipping it. They find this a very profitable way of disposing of their corn crop. It is estimated that the hog raising industry will be increased more than fifty percent in Pennington county within the next five years.

The hog raising industry as an auxiliary farm occupation is netting the county a substantial income annually at this time. While it is not considered as one of the main occupations more than 2,500 head of hogs were marketed during the past year at South St. Paul and brought an income of approximately $50,000.00.

Sheep Raising.

Sheep raising in the county is a minor activity, yet of importance from a financial standpoint, their being approximately 2,465 head of sheep in the county. Markets are maintained for purchasing of wood.

The horse breeding industry, also of minor importance. There is approximately 5,780 head of horses in the county.

Poultry Production.

This section not only offers great opportunities in dairying, hog raising and general activities but also offers

Former Editor Here.

H. L. Dudley, at one time editor of the Theif River Falls Press, was a visitor here Friday and Saturday. Mr. Dudley is now in the employ of the Fargo Forum in the mechanical department, where he has been for the past ten years. He made the trip to Thief River Falls by auto.

Carload of Potato Diggers.

Hall Brothers company this week received a carload of potato diggers to supply the wants of spud growers in this section. This is probably the largest single shipment of these implements ever received in Thief River Falls. Manager W. A. Hall says that the demand for the diggers is exceeding his expectations and he anticipates that every machine he now has will be sold within a week. This is certainly a good indication as to the extent of the potato crop here this year.

Ford and the Presidency.

The current issue of Pipp's weekly, published at Detroit, Michigan, is devoted entirely to Henry Ford and his boom for the presidency that is already under way. Ford's wonderful business organization, consisting of seven thousand agencies throughout the United States is cited as being an advantageous foundation upon which the automobile manufacturer may construct a powerful political machine and the public is warned that Ford and his aspirations to become president should be properly squelched from the outset.

The article gives Ford full credit for having developed the greatest business organization in the world and for having an inteleet along business and mechanical lines unsurpassed but it holds him up to redicule in every other respect. He is classed by Pipp's as being an enemy of labor while posing as the benefactor of the working man and it is cited that employes of the Ford Motor company lose any initiative they might ever have and become mere cogs in a gigantic machine. It is also announced that the adoption of the six hour day in the Ford factory will be one or Henry's first bids for the labor vote of the country.

All of these statements will be consumed by the public and will react either to the benefit or detriment of Ford. That a strong effort is going to be made by Ford and his followers for the presidential nomination is an admitted fact in political circles. Whether he will attempt to make the race under the republican, democratic or a third party is another question and one that none would attempt to forecast at this time.

Potato leaf hoppers have been found in widly separated fields of Norman and Polk counties according to a report made by T. M. McCall, horticulturist at the Northwest school and station. Mr. McCall states that leaf hoppers have not been considered a serious potato pest in the past in the Red River valley. However, hoppers did considerable damage in other sections of the state last year.

Leaf hoppers differ from other potato insects in that they are not leaf-eating pests and also in the fact that wherever they puncture the leaf or leaf stalk the tissue becomes poisoned and affected part wilts and dies. The injured leaf or leaf margin dies forming tip burn or hopper burn.

The insect flies readily and for that reason is not easily seen. However, it can generally be found on or near wilted or injured leaflets. The insect is green, angular or boat shaped on the underside of the body. The wings are lacy at their tips and give a gray-green and gray-brown color effect.

The best remedy for the leaf hopper is the bordeaux mixture spray. The spray applied as liquid should be put on at high pressure and should be sprayed on the insect. To accomplish this result a three nozzle to the row sprayer is best for the outside nozzels cont the under sides of the leaves. Three or four applications are necessary for control. Bordeaux mixture applied with the ordinary four-row sprayer will be of great benefit in that the spray has a tonic effect on the vines and controls leaf diseases and is a repellant to flea beetles. However, with a low pressure sprayer, bordeaux mixture can give only partial control of leaf hoppers. Bordeaux mixture can be mixed with the poison for the potato bugs and both can be applied at one application.

The Northwest station is experimenting with various liquid and dust sprays to find the most satisfactory means of control of the serious potato pests.

The twentieth annual fair of the Pennington County Agricultural society is about to pass into history. It is another milestone along a long line of splendid achievements and another demonstration of the excellence of this annual event. The Pennington county fair surpasses any similar undertaking in this section of the state and ranks with the best in Minnesota. This accomplishment has not been made without hard work and strenuous effort on the part of a number of the citizens of the county. It is, of course, a fact that the entire population contributes toward the success of the fair but the actual work and carrying out of the plans must fall on the shoulders of a few, as is the case with all undertakings of a public nature. In this connection it is doubtful if there is a man in the county who has given more freely of his time and worked harder year after year for the fair's success than President Herbert Fuller. All honor to him.

As elections in state after state bring about the downfall of one veteran after another in the United States senate, the public shows more interest and begins to ask more questions. Can it be possible that November will bring about any surprises in Minnesota?

vast possibilities in poultry farming. Recent investigations show that the climate is very favorable for the production of poultry. The commercial poultry man soon realizes the advantage of adjacent markets for the disposal of his products where fresh eggs, chickens and broilers are always in good demand and good prices prevail at all times of the year. None of the drawbacks prevail that are found in the eastern and southern states. One of the main features in poultry production is feeding and Pennington county is most fortunately situated in this regard.

The value of eggs and chickens produced in Pennington county last year is given as $80,700.00. There were 325,250 dozens of eggs produced and of this amount 205,979 were sold on the market. There were 48,150 chickens produced and of this amount more than 15,000 were sold. Much of this produce was sold through the Peterson-Biddick company of Thief River Falls, this company maintaining a very extensive and reliable cash market at all times.

Bees in the County.

For the amount of capital invested there is probably no agricultural persuit that brings greater returns with less expense than the raising of bees. It is the best paying investment for the ordinary farm. Where clover and alfalfa are so prominent crops little trouble is experienced in producing generous returns of honey. Bee culture in this county is in its infancy yet produces a considerable financial return. Approximately 4,000 pounds of honey was produced last year there being 400 colonies of bees in the county.

Special Price Made on Tickets to State Fair

For the first time in the history of Minnesota State Fair, advance sale coupon tickets at reduced rates are to be offered for this year's fair, September 2 to 9.

Each ticket will contain six admission coupons and will sell for $3.00; or at the rate of 50 cents an admission. The tickets will be transferable, and may be used by any adult or party of adults, for admission at the outside gate, or to the unreserved sections of the grandstand or horse show.

All of the banks in the state will be given an opportunity to handle these tickets. The sale will close August 19. A purchaser of a ticket will save $1.50 on the six admissions, since the regular charge of 75 cents, which has been made by the fair the past two years will be made again this year. Without this ticket, six admissions to the fair at fair time will cost $4.50. The biggest purchasers of coupon tickets will be families and groups intending to visit the fair as a party.

Until August 19, advance sale coupon tickets may be purchased of W. H. Honebrink, Treasurer, First National Bank, St. Paul, in case a local banker has none for sale.

The advance sale plan put into operation by the fair has been used successfully by the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, Canada, for years. The Minnesota Fair is a leader in introducing the plan in the United States. Fair officials believe it will stimulate an early interest in the fair and help to increase total attendance at the big exposition.

Another important change in admission rules has been adopted this year in permitting children to visit the fair free on the opening Saturday, as well as Labor Day, when accompanied by an adult member of their family. Children will also be admitted free to the fair each evening after 6:00 o'clock under the same condition.

Automobiles will also be admitted free to the grounds each evening after 6:00 o'clock, except on Labor Day.

Only Two Months Gasoline Supply Actually Stored

MUCH has been said during the past few weeks respecting the vast amount of gasoline in storage, and many have drawn conclusions from these statements which are not justified by the facts.

It is true that there is a fairly large storage on hand but when this storage is set against the consumption its relative size diminishes rapidly.

Between January 1 and June 1 the storage of gasoline was increased about 270,000,000 gallons, while the monthly consumption increased but 224,000,000 gallons; but during June the consumption was largely increased while the storage remained stationary.

During the past six weeks storage has decreased, as was to be expected, and this decrease will continue until late in the fall. Here are the most recent statistics taken from the reports of the U. S. Bureau of Mines:

Gasoline Consumption, Jan. 1922 - 274,844,808 "
Gasoline Consumption, May, 1922 499,242,343 "

The June consumption figures compiled by the Bureau of Mines are not yet available but we know from our own records that consumption is making heavy inroads into stocks.

Even at the present rate of consumption there is not to exceed 60 days supply in storage, which for this time of the year is abnormally low. Reports from refining areas indicate that refineries all over the country are being run to capacity, and we do not anticipate a gasoline shortage though predictions to that effect are being made.

It has always been the practice of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to operate its refineries to as near capacity as possible during the months of low consumption in order that it might have on hand adequate supplies during periods of great consumption.

Only a large and efficiently organized company can provide facilities which insure service regardless of demand. It is because the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) always is working, months in advance, that it can promise at all times a steady, constant, dependable service.

If Andy Gump

were to lecture to Chester on tires it would probably go something like this: "My son, when you get out into the world and have to face the responsibilities of life, you will learn to be thrifty, saving and economical; to make every cent count and to get the biggest value for your money. When you purchase tires, think not so much of the original cost, for cheap tires are usually built to sell, not to give service. Buy tires that are backed up by a good, reliable concern; that are guaranteed to give you satisfaction; tires that can stand the wear and tear of roads under all conditions. Buy Diamond Tires, my son—they contain the qualities that combine to give you more service and greater satisfaction." End your tire troubles—use DIAMOND TIRES

Northern Woodwork Company

(By R. KENNETH EVANS.)

MAINTAINING a monthly payroll of $1,000.00 and doing all classes of high grade mill work, Thief River Falls is especially fortunate in having here the Northern Woodwork company, an institution that would be a credit to any city several times the size of Thief River Falls, and managed by practical woodwork men, who operate the institution both from the standpoint of being an asset by turning out high grade work, and a success financially.

The future growth and development of Thief River Falls from a building standpoint centers around such institutions as the Northern Woodwork company which is equipped to construct any special built-in furniture, mill work, doors, windows and the other necessary woodwork to the construction of substantial as well as pretentious buildings.

The history and development of the Northern Woodwork company shows conclusively what can be accomplished in this section of Minnesota by practical business men who understand their business and who apply this understanding in its operation. The company was originally established in a small building on the east side of the river but in 1919 was moved to its present location, incorporated and the present building constructed at a cost of $13,000.00. The latest improved machinery of all kinds for the construction of mill and cabinet work was installed and no expense was spared in the equipment, the management realizing that the success of their work depended upon having the proper equipment to turn out good work. This machinery consists of a moulder, sander, rip-saw, joiner, plainer, cutoff saw, band saws, frame saws, mortising machines, sash sticker, shaper and other machinery essential to a well equipped institution of this kind. All machinery is operated by electricity and conforms strictly to the factor laws of Minnesota.

The matter of sanitation is taken care of by a dust collecting machine, which deposits the dust from the saws in the fuel room. In fact from every standpoint the men planning this business provided an environment which would be conducive to excellent work and have in their employ only expert men. The majority of the men working in the plant supervising the construction work are stockholders and officers of the company. They work from the standpoint of building up the reputation of the company and this is one of the strongest features of securing excellent work as there are no lax employees to turn out the work the easiest way possible. Personal interest is given to every piece of contract work which comes into the plant and when it is stated that there is no class of cabinet work or mill work that cannot be done to the satisfaction of the most oarticular, it means just that.

The officers of the company consist of E. O. Iverson, president; O. R. Revdahl, vice president; G. Olson, secretary and treasurer and E. J. Rustad, general manager. In addition to the officers named above, the board of directors is composed of Andrew Stone and H. M. Grendahl. All men take a vital interest in the company as well as always being behind every meritorious undertaking inaugurated for the development of the vast field of resources existing in Northwestern Minnesota.

The plant is located on the Great Northern tracks. All lumber which goes into construction work at this mill is shipped in from the western forests and is carefully chosen, onl ythe very best grades of lumber being used. As lumber is received the pieces with knots or other blemishes are immediately cast aside.

Every piece of work turned out from this shop is guaranteed to give satisfaction. The prospective builder has but to tell this progressive company what he wants and it will be constructed and built according to his dictations.

Minneapolis Bridge Company

(By R. KENNETH EVANS.)

WITH the demand for good roads as the connecting link between the producer and the consumer, and coupled with the advancement in the automotive world and the development of the tourist industry comes the establishment of special companies designed to do the construction work demanded on such highways.

The building of roadways plays a far more important part in the general scheme of business today than it did a few years ago when farmers and business men met on the roads to put in the few required hours as prescribed by law. The road business was more or less of a joke.

One of the institutions which has played an important part in road construction in the entire state of Minnesota is the Minneapolis Bridge company, which maintains head offices in the Twin Cities and operate branch offices in the centers where road building is in progress.

This company maintains one of their principle offices in Thief River Falls and from this office do much of the bridge construction which is used in the road building program.

The company does a general steel and concrete construction of bridges. The bridge foremen employed have had years of experience in construction work and every job that is handled by the company is handled from the standpoint of making it the very best job possible and in keeping with the reputation being established by the state of Minnesota as the most progressive state in the union from a road building standpoint.

The company does not confine its operations to Minnesota but the entire Northwest including the states of Wisconsin, North and South Dakota, Montana, and handle much private construction work for railroads, townships and under state contracts. One of the largest bridge jobs handled in the state was handled through this company and consisted of a bridge 670 feet long near Kelley, Minnesota. This is of steel and concrete construction. They have also constructed the bridge across Thief River near Squaw Point and have constructed many bridges from 200 to 400 feet long.

This company maintains one of the most extensive payrolls in this section of the state. Approximately 200 men are employed by the company out of the main office and their payroll amounts to approximately $16,000.00 monthly.

The office in Thief River Falls is under the management of Isak Helseth, who is also vice president of the company. Mr. Helseth is experienced in bridge construction work, having spent many years in this business. He has always taken an active interest in every move inaugurated in this section of Minnesota for its further development and is especially interested in road construction work. In fact the company takes a vital interest in road construction, not alone from the standpoint of building bridges, but because the management realizes how important good roads are to the advancement of any community. The company was established and incorporated in 1917.

AT THE THEATRES

Manager H. A. Brumund of The Lyceum has one of the best pictures of the season booked for Sunday and Monday. It is the latest Constance Talmadge release, "The Primitive Lover.'

The theme of "The Primitive Lover" is a ready made foundation for any comedy. Two rival suitors, one built along Beau Brummel lines and the other reminiscent of original man in his forceful tactics. The caveman kidnaps the object of his amours only to find that, in the fastness of the mountains, he is utterly incapable of caring for her comfort. Not so far away the brewing coffee of his, more practical rival drifts lazily into his cabin with agonizing persistency.

It is the sparkling personality of Miss Talmadge that makes such a role as that of the romance-seeking wife distinctive among the many screen attempts to penetrate such a character in a manner that is both interesting and amusing. The star has done nothing better in her entire screen career, and Phylis Tomly, her role in "The Primitive Lover," stands out as a humorous tribute to womanhood chafing at his shackles.

Sydney Franklin, who directed, has scored splendidly and has led his company into some beautiful California exteriors.

The story is an original by Edgar Selwyn which was adapted to the screen by Frances Marion. Harrison Ford and Kenneth Harlan are the two leading men and the remainder of an unusually cimpetent cast includes Joe Roberts, Charles Pino, Chief Big Tree, Matilda Brundage, George Pierce and Clyde Benson.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.

The Clearwater congregation will hold a harvest festival at the Theo. Olson farm, five miles north of Plummer, four miles south East of Hazel, on Sunday, August 13. There will be a forenoon and afternoon program with special music. Dinner and refreshments will be served. You are all heartily welcome.

Defeated in Ninth Inning.

Air-tight baseball was played last Sunday afternoon when St. Hilaire came over here and defeated the local "Pick-up" team with a final score of 2 to 3. The outcome was in favor of the local aggregation until the ninth of the local aggression until the ninth inning when the score stood 2 to 1 in their favor. The visitors, however, succeeded in making two complete runs in the last inning and thus won their day. The local battery consisted of Stenhoff and Lane, who performed in good style.

Plays for Broadcasting Station.

Word has been received from Mrs. C. O. Erickson, who has just completed her course at McPhails, where she studied piano under Prof. Gunn, that she has been engaged on several occasions to play for broadcasting Radio stations. On July 27th Mrs. Erickson played at the Radison hotel for the Journal station and on the 28th for the General Electric station. She also rendered numbers Monday. It was heard very distinctly in Washington, D. C. This is evidently the first time that Thief River Falls home talent has been heard in the National capital.

Purse Stolen.

Following is a clipping from the Polk County Leader in regard to Mrs. Emil Griebstein of this city losing her purse at the Great Northern depot at Crookston.

"Mrs. Emil Griebstein of Thief River Falls, was relieved of her purse at the Great Northern Depot Wednesday morning. Mrs. Griebstien laid her purse on a bench with her hat and coat covering it and walked a few feet away, finding the purse containing some small change and tickets, gone when she returned. Police officers were unable to find any trace of it. Mrs. Gribstein was just returning from an extended visit with friends and relatives at various points in Iowa."

Jacob Thill Laid to Rest.

The last remains of Jacob Thill, who passed away suddenly last week, were laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery last Saturday forenoon. The funeral services were held from the Catholic church, Father Noesen officiating. A large number of friends and relatives were present.

The following acted as pall bearers: Robert McGinn; P. Keating, W. B. Fuller, Frank Burgraff, Peter Giefer and William Mulry.

The out of town people who attended the funeral were: James McCaffery of Crookston, Paul Uselinger and family of Euclid, Jerry Phalen of Euclid, Peter Hansel and family of Red Lake Falls, Henry Thill of Childon, Wis., brother of the deceased, Jake and John Salentine of Euclid.

L. M. Mitchell Killed.

"L. M. Mitchell, who operated a cafe here until two years ago, when he and Mrs. Mitchell left to make their home at Churches' Ferry, N. D. met accidental death last Saturday when his auto overturned near that city and he was crushed to death beneath it. Mrs. M. McAndress, sister of Mrs. Mitchell, received word of the unfortunate occurrence Saturday noon and left the same day to be present at the funeral which was held Sunday under auspices of the Masonic lodge of which Mr. Mitchell had long been a member. Interment was made at Minto where father and mother of Mr. Mitchell are buried. During their years of residence here Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell made a number of warm friends who will be pained to learn of the tragic death of Mr. Mitchell. Deceased is survived by his widow, and two daughters, the latter being, Mrs. Englehorn at Churches' Ferry, and Miss Harriet of Minot. Two brothers, one at Minot and the other at Bismark, also survive."—St. Hilaire Spectator.

MANY OPPOSED TO CLEARWATER RIVER PROJECT

Indian Department Objects to Assessment Against Lands on Red Lake Reserve.

Mayfield, Dear Park and Hickory Township Land Owners Among Those Iuterested

At the conclusion of the hearing on the Clearwater river project of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy board held at Gonvick on Monday, an adjournment was taken to Oct. 3 at the same village. Large delegations of farmers were present from all parts of the district affected by this particular project and the testimony showed that there is considerable opposition to the undertaking as at present planned.

The Indian department was represented by an engineer and an attorney who interposed objections to the assessment levied against Indian lands on the score that the amount of territory included is too great and that the costs placed upon these lands are not justified by the benefits.

Chairman C. G. Selvig and all members of the board were present to explain the work undertaken thus far. It was decided that a reduction of 20 per cent from the original estimate might be possible on the Clearwater providing a 40 foot width was decided upon instead 50 feet as at first contemplated. This would make the total cost of this particular project about $386,000 instead of $537,000.

A number of settlers from the eastern and northern end of Clearwater county objected to being assessed in any sum as the proposed drainage system would make a large amount of hay meadow of no use to them. These lands are for the most part of bog formation, it was claimed, and hay is the only crop which they are capable of producing. Draining the water from this class of lands will simply result in its being dried up so that not even hay can be secured, they stated.

It was decided to have the viewers make another trip over the lands affected and adjust the assessments where such action seemed advisable.

Farmers in Mayfield, Deer Park and Hickory townships of Pennington county were represented by Attorney Theo. Quale of this city. They objected to being assessed for this Clearwater improvement, claiming that their lands are in the Red Lake river basin and that the damage by flood to their property is caused by the overflowing of the Red Lake river. When this stream is in flood the water breakes over the banks and across their farms, finding its final outlet in the Clearwater, the streams being but a short distance apart at this particular point. It was proposed that the assessment against lands in these three townships be reduced about 50 per cent on an average but the farmers object to being included in this particular project, contending that they come naturally within the Red Lake river division of the work.

The hearing was held before Judges Andrew Grindeland of Warren, and C. W. Stanton of Bemidji.

Sham Battle Spectators Moved From Line of Fire

A number of autoists and others who were ordered to move off the Jefferson highway, which runs along the north side of the fair grounds, on Friday night, no doubt feel that they were rather badly treated. As a matter of fact they had no business witnessing the sham battle and other entertainments without buying a ticket, but this was not the main reason for heir being ordered away.

It was found that blank cartridges for the machine guns could not be procured and the solid bullet was used. The guns were pointed into a sand bank and there was no danger to those on the grounds or in the grand stand. The danger even to those on the highway might not have been very great but the fair management preferred to take no chances and therefore ordered those spectators away. It was done as a measure of safety rather than for the purpose of preventing those who had not paid from witnessing the show, altho the management would have been clearly within its rights had this permission been refused. There has been some criticism of the action and The Times has been asked to make this explanation.

Preliminary Tournament of Golf Club on Sunday

The Thief River Falls golf club is planning a sort of preliminary tournament for next Sunday. There will be two teams chosen, one under the captaincy of W. A. Barnard and the other in charge of R. M. Sheldon, each of which will contain 20 players. The contest will be carried out under the foursome plan which will provide ample time for all to make the rounds. The captains will notify those selected of their appointment within a day or two and every person called upon is expected to be on hand in order that there may be no delay in getting play under way.

Those participating will also be expected to bring their lunch and make an afternoon's outing of the occasion.

This contest will serve as a preliminary to a regular tournament to be pulled off in about two weeks at which prizes in the way of golf paraphernalia will be offered for the best scores.

The golf club is coming along in fine shape and there is much interest taken in its doings. President Barnard announces that in order to make it easy for unattached ladies who may wish to finish out the season as club members it has been decided to reduce the membership fee for such to $5.00 for the balance of the year. There are a number of ladies in the city who will be glad to take advantage of this liberal offer as it means cutting the cost exactly in half.

NO BREAK AS YET IN RANKS OF RAIL SHOP CRAFTSMEN

Local Road Officials Admit Men Are Not Returning—Strike Now in Sixth Week.

While the claim is made that in a number of localities the striking railroad shopmen are returning to work, such is not the case in Thief River Falls. Railroad officials admit that to date there has been no defection in the ranks and that so far as a settlement is concerned the prospects are no better than at the time of the walkout six weeks ago.

The suggestion of President Harding that the question of seniority rights be left to the labor board is not meeting with much favor on the part of the union officials. The president has signified his desire to have the house reconvene next Tuesday for the purpose of considering legislation which may be necessary in order to prevent a general rail tie-up, this action being no doubt prompted by the attitude of the four big brotherhoods among railroad workers. There have been indications during the past week that a general rail strike is not outside the bounds of possibilities and this has had the effect of speeding up efforts on the part of the authorities to reach some kind of an agreement.

Possible legislation which it is suggested the president might have in mind includes authorization to take over the railroads in event of their failure to operate to the point that the country demands.

The question of a settlement now hinges on the restoration of seniority rights. The road officials have point blank refused to take back the old men if it means a restoration of their former standings as regards priority and pension rights while the unions refuse to consider any other basis of settlement. The strike has now been in progress for six weeks and the loss in wages has been enormous. In Thief River Falls the shop crews were very small at the time of the walkout, not more than 65 men being employed. The average loss to these men in wages to date is $200, which means that $13,000 has been taken from the channels of trade during the six weeks. It is therefore evident that business men of all kinds have a decided interest in the early settlement of the difficulty.

Norse Scholar Returns After 35 Years Absence

Torleif Homme of Satesdal, Norway, made a brief call on S. Dahl of the Central hotel and Dreng Bjornarna of The Times, Tuesday, enroute to Wanke where he will spend an indefinite period visiting at the BJ. Bjornarna home. He arrived in the United States about three weeks ago and has been visiting relatives at Granite Falls since then. After having been in this country for fourteen years and educated at the Lutheran Seminary, Decorah, Iowa, he returned to Norway 35 years ago, where he has been engaged in literary work, the ministry and teaching. Altho over 70 years of age he enjoyed the trip immensely and is very enthusiastic about the development that Minnesota has passed thru since he first came here 50 years ago. Great changes have also been brought about in Norway during the last few years and he thinks that the industrial and commercial problems of that country are quite similar in nature to those we have here. This summer, however, has shown signs of improved conditions in various lines, altho in many places industries have been closed for a time and the state is furnishing the laborers with work. Mr. Homme stated that there is a great political unrest with about seven or eight parties or factions attempting to gain control which can not help but insure government by a minority. The prohibition laws of Norway seem to work out quite satisfactorily; "moonshining" is gradually decreasing and is becoming less of a popular sport.

Mr. Homme intends to tour various parts of this country before he returns to Norway some time this fall.

SCHOOL COSTS FOR PAST YEAR REDUCED $7,000

As a Result Board of Education Finds it Possible to Cut Levy to $75,000.

Dr. Froehlich Re-elected President and Mrs. Larsen Again Selected as Secretary.

Many Former Instructors to Return; Supt. Simley and Prin. Rapacz Retained.

At the organization meeting of the school board of district No. 18 for the season of 1922-23, held last Saturday, Dr. H. W. Froehlich was reelected president and Mrs. L. G. Larson secretary. L. M. Rayson was chosen treasurer to succeed Lars Backe, who together with Dr. O. F. Mellby terminated his official connection with the board. Judge Backe has been a member continually for 23 years and Dr. Mellby for 13 years. Both these men have given the public service of the very highest order and their work has left an indelible mark on the educational history of the district.

The re-election of Dr. Froehlich was a merited compliment as he has proven himself a most competent and painstaking official. The excellent record as secretary of the board made by Mrs. Larsen during her first term made her re-appointment a foregone conclusion. E. O. Mogensen was elected to the post of vice president, a promotion merited and satisfactory to school patrons, while Mr. Rayson is by training particularly equipped to look after the treasurer's post.

Math Barzen and T. L. Melgaard, recently elected members of the board, entered upon their duties at this meeting. The new members are business men of a high order who have always taken a keen interest in educational matters and will make highly valuable successors to the veterans whom they replace.

Levy is Reduced.

When it came to taking up the matter of finances it was found that the district had managed to cut $7,000 from the expenses as compared with the previous year. It was decided to reduce the levy by $5,000, making it $75,000. This was made possible by an increase in the amount of state aid received. A greater reduction in the levy would have been possible had not the board deemed it advisable to get onto a strictly cash basis as well as establish a sinking fund.

It was decided to make somewhat extensive repairs in the Washington and Central buildings, both as regards the structures themselves and the interior equipment. This will put these older schools more in the class of the new Northrup and Knox buildings.

Former Teachers Appointed.

Teachers for the coming year were appointed by the board at this meeting. Two-thirds of the members of the faculty taught here last year or at some previous time. Supt. I. T. Simley will have charge of the schools, having been re-appointed some time ago; while M. L. Rapacz returns as principal of the high school. Other high school teachers are: Head science, M. G. Horner, Cloquet; head commercial, S. W. Powley, Flint, Mich.; assistant commercial, Marrian Miller, city; history, Mildred Thompson, Mahnomen; language, A. C. Matteson, city; music, Maude L. AUGUST 23 TO BE BIG BARGAIN DAY IN THE OLD TOWN

Merchants' Association Planning For an Event of More Than Usual Interest.

The next big sales day event of the Thief River Falls Merchants' association will be held on Wednesday, Aug. 23, further announcement of which will be made in The Times next week. This will be a regular old-fashioned Market Day with special amusement features thrown in for good measure.

It will pay all bargain seekers to look for The Times next week. A large part of the paper will be devoted to featuring the special bargains offered for this event by Thief River Falls business houses and perusal of these advertisements will mean dollars and cents to the careful buyer.

The Market Day committee has not yet completed the program, but it will be one of unusual interest. Something new in the way of entertainment is being figured out for the visitors while the price reductions will be greater than for any previous Market Day.

Now that the harvest work is well advanced farmers will have more time to devote to matters of this kind. It is also the time of year when people are thinking of their fall requirements in all classes of merchandise and this Market Day will provide an excellent opportunity for securing what is needed at greatly reduced prices.

Watch for The Times next week. Its columns will contain the greatest array of bargain offerings ever announced in this section of the state.

Olaf Neset and family started yesterday on an extended tour thru Itasca State Park and other points of interest that afford favorable outing accomodations. They expect to be gone about two weeks.

BOARD REVISES TAX LISTS FOR ENTIRE COUNTY

Commissioners Order Advances in Valuation of Many Classes of Property.

Purebred Cattle in One Instance Increased 500 Per Cent. Dogs Are Hit Hard.

Reduction of 5 Per Cent Ordered on Structures in City of Thief River Falls.

Some rather startling changes were made in the tax assessment lists of Pennington county by the commissioners, sitting as a board of equalization last week. As a general thing it was a case of revising the figures upward, particularly as regards the personal property list. One of the most noticeable facts connected with the board's report, which is published in full in another part of The Times this week, is the tendency to increase the assessment on purebred cattle. In practically every township in the county the figures pertaining to this class of property were boosted, the increase in one instance, that of Hickory township, amounting to 500 per cent on purebred cattle under one year of age. In Kratka township the same class of property was increased 300 per cent, while in the most cases the advance over the assessors figures was around 100 per cent. The only class of animal faring worse than the purebreds were dogs. The valuation of canines was generally placed at 400 per cent over the figures of the assessors. Horses over 16 years of age also proved unpopular with the board, the high point of increase on this class of property being reached in the village of St. Hilaire where it is placed at 200 per cent.

In the city of Thief River Falls purebred cattle two years old and under were decreased 60 per cent while purebred cows were increased 125 per cent. Dog owners will be asked to pay 40 per cent more than was figured by the assessor. Decreases in this city were ordered as follows: Grade cattle under three years, 60 per cent; grade cows, 40 per cent; grade bulls, 20 per cent; farm tools and machinery, 40 per cent; harness goods and saddles, 30 per cent. Goods and merchandise in the hands of retail merchants were increased 10 per cent. No changes were made on real estate valuation in the city except that unplated lands were increased 30 per cent and a reduction of 5 per cent was allowed on structures.

Quite a number of changes were made in the land valuations of the county, the most notable being in the townships of Deer Park, Sanders and Star, where the increase is 50 per cent. Real estate was increased 40 per cent in the townships of Goodridge and Reiner. Lands in the village of St. Hilaire and town of Norden are decreased 20 per cent and in Numedal, River Falls and Wyandotte 10 per cent.

Increases in the valuation of structures were made as follows: Kratka township, 125 per cent; North, 20; Norden, 60; Numedal, 30; Rocksbury, 20; Sanders, 15, Wyandotte, 25.

In the townships of Reiner, Sanders and Wyandotte all changes made were in the nature of advances except in one class of property for each town. In Reiner sheep values were decreased 80 per cent; hogs were reduced 40 per cent in Sanders and household goods 25 per cent in Wyandotte.

In the town of Mayfield the valuation of household goods was doubled and in Rocksbury the same rate of increase was applied to farm tools, machinery, wagons, carriages and sleighs. The value of harness and saddles was also increased 125 per cent in the last-named township.

DECREASED SPUD YIELD PREDICTED; WILT AND BLIGHT

Crop in all Northwestern Counties More or Less Affected, Say Observers.

Reports from Clay county and other potato centers in northwestern Minnesota are to the effect that there will be a decided curtailment in the crop, caused by early blight. Other sections also report loss in the potato production from this cause. An inquiry directed to County Agent J. J. McCann as to the situation in this immediate section has brought forth the following reply:

"The potato yield in Pennington and Marshall counties will be somewhat decreased by the prevalence of early blight and wilt. The early blight shows in diseased spots on any portion of the leaf with concentric ring markings. The wilt shows the stems affected and browned internally, especially in sap tubes. Sometimes the whole lower stem is browned; the tubers showing brown rings or rot at the stem end.

"Rhizoctonia disease is also showing in some patches, the stems showing rot in definite areas, brown but not slimy. Tubers are affected with black spots on surface. These diseases are more common this yaer than last and many fields will be decreased in yield at least 25 per cent.

"The leaf hopper, a small bug working on the underside of the leaf has shown up in some fields but is not doing very much damage. The leaf hopper can be driven off by the use of Bordeaux mixture."

COUNCIL ASSURED FILTRATION PLANT PLANS SOON READY

Engineers Will Have Specifications Here For Consideration at Next Meeting.

Plans and specifications for the proposed filtration plant in this city are expected to be on hand for the council meeting on August 22, according to President H. A. Brumund of the council. The engineers required certain information not previously furnished before they could make their estimates and this was sent this week.

The steps taken to secure for the city a pure and permanent water supply are generally approved. The cost of such undertaking will not be known until the engineers make their report, but it is certain no bond issue will be necessary in order to carry out the project. There are sufficient funds on hand to the credit of the water and light department to meet the cost of a filtration plant which will definitely settle a question that has annoyed the residents here for years. While it is doubtless true that no great part of this fund can be credited to the water division, this condition will never be different so long as no water fit to use is provided. Council members are of the opinion that the revenue from this source will be greatly increased when water which it is safe to use for any purpose is secured.

At the meeting on Tuesday evening the council authorized the mayor and city clerk to renew for a term of years the contract for the rental of the quarters in the auditorium now used by the Northwestern Telephone company. This was practically the only business outside the regular routine coming up at the meeting.

2,400 Names on Petition Asking Beltrami Division

Twenty-four hundred names have been secured on petitions asking for the establishment of Lake of the Woods county, the petitions having already been forwarded from campaign headquarters at Baudette to Governor Preus.

The assessed valuation of the proposed county is $2,700,000. The new county, if established, will be carved out of the northern part of Beltrami county.

SMALL FARMS, MORE INTENSIVE CULTIVATION WILL SOLVE MANY DIFFICULTIES OF PRESENT DAY

This is the fifth of a series of fifteen industrial articles which will be published in The Times, one each week for the next fifteen weeks, for the purpose of outlining to Northwestern Minnesota and the outside world the vast field of resources and opportunities existing here for advancement and success and for the promotion of optimism and the right psychology. The facts contained in these articles are based absolutely on reliable facts and gathered by an expert publicist who has had many years experience.

The Times throughout this period, will make an effort to show that there is not a section of the country in the west or the northwest that offers a wider field of endeavor than Pennington county and the trade territory of Thief River Falls. Every phase of industrial life and business activity will be covered in a thorough and constructive manner.

The carrying out of this campaign has been made possible by thirty of the progressive business institutions of Thief River Falls, the leading distributing and commercial center for the entire Northwestern part of the state. After reading this article turn to the two inside industrial pages and see who these progressive firms are who so willingly have come to the assistance of this enterprise.

Every reader of The Times can assist very materially in this campaign by sending his own copy of the paper to a relative or friend in some other section of the country after he has completed reading it, that this relative or friend may learn of the opportunities in this splendidly productive section.

(Writers Note:—The statistics used in this story were secured through the county farm bureau, the federal census bureau and interviews with local farmers. They are reliable and dependable.-

Searching the great undeveloped areas of the Western states for possible locations for reclamation enterprises the federal and state governments, railroads, enterprising individuals and corporations have joined forces in the conquest, scientifically, of the plains and have brought about an epoch in the development of the West.

Millions of acres which for Millions of acres, which for centuries have bleached in the burning sun, barren and forbidding, have been transformed into farms and orchards. Thriving communities have sprung up where the wheels of industry now hum, under the busy hands of ambitious, happy and contented people. Great rivers which for countless ages have crawled sluggishly to the sea have been conquered by the ingenuity of the man and put to work creating and maintaining life; the flood waters which have wasted through deep crevices of the parched and thirsty plains have been stored and made to give succor to the soil of the land, while tens of thousands of people have risen from the humble employment to the full measure of independant existence, producing the necessities of life from the soils of the earth.

"Back to the farm" has grown to be a national slogan, and wherever transportation has made easily accessible the areas reclaimed by irrigation or drainage and other projects, as well as scientific farming, the lands have been fruitful and profitable to the satisfaction of the most enthusiastic. Westward has swept a great army of industrious home making people who have swarmed to these reclaimed areas and are building substantial and lasting agricultural communities. Along with other states Minnesota has received a portion of this westward immigration, But the portion has been altogether too small in view of the inducements the state has to offer, and especially Pennington county and Northwestern Minnesota, from an agricultural standpoint, as subsequent reliable statements in this article will show.

Minnesota is pre-eminently a dairying and agricultural state and as such is destined to be one of the leading

ATTENDANCE AT FAIR EQUAL TO RECORD SEASON

Fourteen Thousand Persons in Three Days See Pennington County Products Exhibited.

Total Receipts Will Reach $6,000, Which is High Mark For Show Up to Date.

Native Cow Carries Off Grand Championship Against Famous Outside Exhibitors.

The twenty-third annual fair of the Pennington County Agricultural association closed with the staging of a sham battle by members of Elmer J. Eklund post, American Legion, on Friday evening. The closing number on the program proved one of the most interesting and exciting features ever put on at a fair in this part of the country, being something entirely new and novel.

The weather during all three days of the fair was ideal and the attendance a great deal better than expected. The number of people passing through the gates totalled 14,000, thus keeping even with last year's record breaker in this respect. The evening attendance was larger than for any previous fair, a fact due in a considerable measure to the unusually fine fireworks display presented.

While President Herbert Fuller of the association, who also looked after the secretary's office, is not in a position at this time to give the exact figures, he announces that the total receipts will foot up $14,000, while the concessions brought in about $1,800 more. The grand stand was entirely sold out on the afternoon of the second day and on the evening of the third. This is something that has seldom before happened. Automobiles filled every available place of the enclosure. In spite of the great crowds there were no accidents worth recording and very few complaints of any kind were heard. The grounds were adequately policed and all arrangements of a kind which has brought forth the highest praise. The management was somewhat annoyed by one or two individuals concessionaries who attempted to operate gambling devises on the grounds, but these were ordered off as soon as discovered and it is probable there was less of this kind of thing going on than at any county fair in this section.

Outsiders are Favored.

The livestock parade at the opening of the fair failed to give the right impression as a number of exhibitors had not gotten their entries into the proper shape for display. In fact the parade was largely made up of entries by outsiders and these were given every advantage by the management in the hope that they might be induced to again bring their stock here for exhibit. Some very fine herds were shown. J. D. Bacon of Grand Forks, exhibited a number of the best individuals in his famous Holstein herd, while W. J. Campbell of Jessup, Iowa, created a large amount of interest with his exceptional herd of Jerseys. These exhibits were judged the same as native stock but were barred from participation in the premium money.

For some reason a number of the best herds of Holsteins and Guernseys in the county were not represented at the fair. This is to be regretted as there is at the present time a greater interest in good cattle among the farmer than ever before. However, a considerable number of excellent animals were shown, a Holstein cow exhibited by Hans Rude of Silverton township, carrying off the grand championship prize even when pitted against the famous Bacon herd.

Other local breeders whose exhibits carried off numerous prizes were M. T. McFarland, Hans Rued, Fred Beerbower, S. E. Hunt and Casper Weiner in the Holstein division, while Albert Johnson, H. C. Woolson and F. B. Conklin showed a number of purebred Guernseys of the very highest quality. One of the surprises of the show was the high scoring of the three-year-old cow, Diamond, owned by Mr. Conklin, who was placed above her own mother, the famous Kit, who has won first prizes all over the Northwest.

Grain Exhibits Good.

The showing of grains was not as large as at some previous fairs but the quality was excellent. The season is not sufficiently advanced to make a display of potatoes and corn possible, but the alfalfa and other grass specimens shown were the best in many years. The vegetable, fruit and flower display was fully up to those of former years and the same may be said of the household and school exhibits.

Grand Pyrotechnic Display.

While the free amusement attractions were perhaps up to the standard of such things, there were few features of any outstanding excellence. The crowds were there to be amused, however, and voiced their appreciation of everything. The Municipal band, under the leadership of M. J. Sorflaten, was on the job all the time and the excellent music

THE TWENTY-FIRST FAIR.

Whether or not the county fair which closed last Friday evening was the best ever held by the Pennington County Agricultural association is largely a matter of opinion. That it was the best fair held in this section this year is certain. County fairs, the same as everything else, are influenced by conditions and circumstances, and this is not a particularly good year for enterprises of this kind. The fair was a success from a financial point of view, this being something that few communities can brag of just at this time.

It should be remembered that it takes a lot more to satisfy the public in this year of 1922 than ever before. Holding a three day fair of such general excellence would have been an impossibility in a county like Pennington a decade ago and an entertainment of much less pretention would have satisfied the public of that day and date just as well. Every year calls for advancement and improvement in what is offered the public in the way of entertainment. The demand for new stuff is far greater than the supply of new ideas and this puts fair managements up against it. The officials spend a large amount of time and work trying to find something that will appeal to the crowds and are not always as successful as the local board has been. It is easy to criticize and suggest that things might have been done differently with better results, but it is to be noted that the fault-finders almost invariably have no time for giving a helping hand to those who are in charge.

President Fuller and his associates on the fair board are entitled to a lot of praise for the manner in which this fair was conducted. They have been handicapped in many directions but managed to hold an exhibition that would have been a credit to a city and county twice our size. It took work to accomplish this—lots of work.

Another thing for which these men should be given credit is the manner in which they prevented grafters from taking advantage of fair visitors. Gambling of all kinds was shut down on as soon as discovered, although it must be admitted that nothing much along this line was attempted. The policing was excellent throughout and the big crowds handled in the most approved manner. Everything considered, the people of the county have a right to feel proud of their fair and its management.

MOTORING MANIACS.

When traveling over the main trunk roads, one ceases to wonder why terrible accidents occur, says the Winamingo Progress. The wonder is that these accidents are not multiplied ten-fold. Speed maniacs seem to be increasing in number and one can never tell when these imbeciles will pull some fool stunt that threatens the safety of others as well as themselves. The Progress editor saw one of these feather-brained individuals pass three cars in a strip of newly-laid gravel and get away with it, but the lurching movements of the car showed plainly how close he came to a spill. It seemed a pity to find this specimen on the road with the lunatic asylum only a few miles distant.

Reopen Grygla Hospital With Dr. Adkins in Charge

The reopening of the hospital at Grygla is now assured, the directors having met and agreed upon plans for the future.

Repair and improvement work now being done will be completed before October 1, the date set for the opening.

Dr. C. M. Adkins of Thief River Falls, who for a number of years successfully conducted the hospital at Grygla, will return to that village for the purpose of becoming medical director at the institution upon its re-opening. The people of Grygla and surrounding territory have been working toward this end ever since the hospital was closed about three years ago.

Chas. Lieberman Moves to Former Giller Building

Charles Lieberman, clothier, this week finished the moving of his stock and is now comfortably settled in the former Giller building a few doors north of his old location. The new store gives him considerably more floor space and there is also a much better opportunity for the display of goods.

Mr. Lieberman has been in business for himself for about six years in this city, while his merchandising experience here extends over a considerably longer period. His principle aim in dealing with the public has been to handle the most dependable goods to be found and he has built up an excellent business on this principle. His staple lines are Michaels-Sterns clothes, Bostonian fine shoes, original Chippewa work shoes, Stetson and Lanpher hats, Cooper-Kenosha underwear, Wilson Bros. shirts. In boys goods he has always featured Best-Ever clothing, K. & E. blouses, shirts and wash suits, Black Cat stockings for boys and the Krieder boys' shoes. Recently he added the products of the famous Oregon City Wollen Mills to the list of goods handled by him. The output of these mills is recognized as being of exceptional quality and Mr. Lieberman stands ready to guarantee every article leaving his store to be virgin wool taken from sheep raised in the immediate vicinity of the mills.

The larger quarters will give Mr. Lieberman an opportunity to serve his customers in a manner more satisfactory than ever before while the lines handled will be of the very best under any and all circumstances. He invites his friends and neighbors to visit the new place of business and assures them of square treatment and full values always. His announcement on another page of The Times today will prove of interest.

Small Farms, Intensive Farming is Solution

producers along this line in the entire United States. While there has been a wonderful development in the past, there are wonderful possibilities for the future. No state in the union provides better opportunities or is more suitably located for persons seeking a permanent home with favorable surroundings. The price of lands, while advancing, is gradually reaching a substantial basis and those who invest in lands in Minnesota today are the independant ones of tomorrow. Government financial aid under the War Finance corporation has been largely responsible for much advancement under the period of reorganization. Money is loaned by the government to farmers at a low rate of interest and on long time. A system of highways traversing the entire state is maintaining, placing the rural sections in close touch with marketing points. Adequate marketing facilities, railroad connections and every possible facility has been provided to augment the agriculturist in tilling the soil in Minnesota.

The cilmate of Minnesota is mild, invigorating and very healthful. The winters are reasonably dry and seldom severe to a point of inconvenience. Frequently for weeks in the mid winter the sun shines warm and bright, heavy wraps and overcoats being discarded even when driving. The average number of days which are not even cloudy is in the neighborhood of 250. The springs are early and usually spring work can begin in the middle of March or the first of April. The summers are very delightful with frequent showers which mature crops early, so that the frost does not seriously enter into consideration in farm operation.

Strange as it may seem, agricultural production in Pennington county, and the entire Northwestern part of the state for that mater, is far from the maximum. To the reader living in the more developed agricultural sections it can be said that with the many opportunities offered here condusive to successful farming only about one half the lands available for cultivation are properly tilled. This is due to the fact that the farms are too large. It is conservatively estimated that there is room in Pennington county alone for at least 1,200 more farmer families, who have adopted scientific methods in an agricultural way. Of the 291,341 acres in Pennington county only 174,804 are under cultivation. There is approximately a total acerage in the county available for cultivation of 276,773, this including 101,969 acres now used for pasture and meadows and graizing land. In the county there are 14,567 acres that are neither available for agriculture or pasture land and represents a great deal of the water area of the county or swamp lands not as yet reclaimed.

Pennington county is classed as an agricultural county pre-emiently and will produce profusely all the crop products which are native of the temperate zone. Rye, alfalfa, potatoes, corn and oats are classed as the major crops of the county with hay an important one. The acerage of wheat is rapidly decreasing while oats, corn and alfalfa are increasing. There was a time in the history of Minnesota when wheat was the major crop but scientific and diversified TWO— farming as well as general economic conditions have proven that the major crops, listed above are the most satisfactorily.

There are 41,000 acres in hay in Pennington county with 24,640 planted to rye; 1,812 in alfalfa; 3,462 in potatoes; 5,420 in corn and 16,212 in oats. The average acre production of these crops is rye, 23 bushels; potatoes, 115 bushels; corn, 30 bushels; oats, 38 bushels and barley, 27 bushels, while alfalfa will produce an average of 2½ tons to the acre. Alfalfa is a crop which is at this time attracting much attention and it is frequent that a crop of alfalfa can be produced in one year which will equal the value of the land at its present market price. Other crops grown in the county other than those named above are barley, 1,816 acres and buckwheat, 2,120 acres. Buckwheat will produce an average of 21 bushels to the acre and wheat will produce 11 bushels to the acre.

The rainfall listed for Pennington county as per the government reports is 24 inches on an average. One decided important fartor in the production of crops is the fact that approximately 18 inches of this rainfall falls during the growing season, which gives the young crops the advantage of it as well as sufficient moisture falling later in the season for maturing of the crops.

The soil of Pennington county is especially adapted to agricultural production as outlined and followed by the average farmer today. The soil is generally a rich loam with a small percent sandy and small percent peat. Throughout the county generally the soil depends in the main on the nature of the glacial drift which covers the entire county and a large per cent of the state. The materials of which the soil is composed have been transported perhaps several hundreds of miles. The subsoil is of gravelly clay. Good water is found throughout the county at a depth of from 40 to 160 feet and every farm is supplied with its well and some times two or three. The water found throughout the county is uniformly good. There are few artesian wells. The altitude of the county is 1,186.

The average size of farms in Pennington county is 207 acres and in this respect it might be well to state that those who have studied the situation are free to state that in many insances the farms are too large and therefore the county is not properly cultivated from the standpoint of bringing about maximum production. It is conservatively estimated that this county at this time, by taking up lands reclaimed by drainage and spliting the larger farms up into smaller tracts and farm them more intensively, that there is room here for many additional farmer families as stated above, increased production thereby and all farmers have a source of income even greater than it is now and in keeping with their efforts. The class of improvements to be found on the farms of the county are generally conceded to be far above the average for agricultural communities and the same can be said of the class of machinery to be found generally, much of the work being done by tractors for power.

One of the best indications of the stability of the county and to show that it is populated by a class of people who intend making this their future home for an indefinite period is shown by the fact that seventy-five percent of the farms in the county are farmed by owners while twenty-five percent is farmed by tenants. In the majority of localities in the state and more developed agricultural sections this ratio is more a fifty-fifty situation.

There is some truck farming carried on and a ready market is always found in Thief River Falls and other marketing centers for the production. Some melons are raised for domstic consumption. This class of farming is gaining in popularity every year. Fruit is raised only for home consumption and almost every farmer has his own orchard.

The Pennington county farm bureau association, one of the prominent organizations in this section of the state, was instituted several years ago. J. J. McCann is director, maintaining offices in Thief River Falls and working in conjunction with the farmers in solving the practical problems. Lands can be purchased in the county for $60 to $100 per acre for agricultural purposes while the unimproved lands can be purchased as low as $25 per acre.

Fair Attendance Equal to Highest in History

added greatly to the enjoyment of those in the grandstand. The fireworks display is deserving of special mention, being without exception the best ever seen here.

The racing program was very good and some fast time was made. Automobile and motorcycle races, which have been given an important place in recent fairs, were eliminated altogether and were not missed.

Boys and Girls in Contests.

One of the most interesting departments of the fair was that devoted to the work of boys' and girls' club members. In the dairy judging contest there were seven entries, the following being the percentage award of each: Nataline Woolson, 447; Julia Malmquist, 431; Orton Olson, 420; Thomas Belland, 360; Hjalmer Liden, 321; Marion Hunt, 315; Gordon Hunt, 300.

In the dairy calf exhibit the grand champion award was won by Pearl Conklin, who exhibited a Guernsey calf. Other awards were made in the following order: Ruby Conklin, Francis Conklin, Vivian Olson, Eleanor Fosse, Natalie Wolson. There was but one entry in the Holstein calf division, that of Gordon Hunt.

Francis Conklin heads the list in the sheep division, the other exhibitors being: Helen Satre, Wallace Benson, Charlotte Korstad, Lenning Aubol, Bernice Woolson, Marion Hunt, Pearl Conklin, Ruby Conklin.

Pearl Woolson and Gordon Hunt will get a free trip to the state fair, while Frances Conklin, Helen Satre and Wallace Benson will have their expenses paid to the junior livestock show at St. Paul.

The woman's building proved one of the interesting places on the grounds. It was in charge of Mrs. E. M. Stanton and had been most artistically arranged. The school exhibits were housed here as was also the horticultural display.

Management Grateful

On behalf of the management, President Fuller wishes to extend thanks to the people of the county and neighborhood for the excellent patronage accorded the fair. Taken as a whole it was a decided success from all viewpoints. The association finds itself in greatly improved financial condition and this will mean that an even better fair will be held next year.

The Times hopes to be able to give a complete list of the premium winners next week.

AT THE THEATRES

VIOLA DANA STARS IN SLOW MOTION PICTURE

Slow motion photography has been applied to certain scenes of Viola Dana's new Metro picture, "Glass Houses" which will be seen at the Lyceum on Saturday. The action so photographed is that of a Russian dance the star does. According to the director of the production, Harry Beaumont, this was the only satisfactory mechanical recourse, for Miss Dana's movements during the number are so rapid that the regulation camera fails to record them suitably.

So far as is known this is the first time in the history of the screen that this device has been utilized in the straight narrative of a story in motion pictures. In a Douglas Fairbanks picture the slow motion lens was brought into play to give the desperate straining sensation of a man in a nightmare, but this was a vision scene. The results in "Glass Houses" have been pointed out as one of the chief reasons for the picture's success. Miss Dana, whose dancing has been compared to that of Pavlowa, is given in this picture one of her few opportunities to display this phase of her talent.

SIX REEL COMEDY FEATURE FOR SUNDAY AND MONDAY

"Too Much Business," a straight comedy in six reels, adapted from Earl Derr Bigger's original story in the Saturday Evening Post, "John Henry and the Restless Sex," will be shown at the Lyceum theatre on Sunday and Monday.

This production, called the greatest six-reel comedy of the past four years was made on the Pacific coast under the personal direction of Jess Robbins. It is unique in motion picture entertainment, as it is not comedy in the sense usually ascribed to motion pictures. There is not the slightest touch of slapstick about it, although the comedy action occasionally borders on the farcical. It is, really, more a parallel of the four-act stage comedy of the successful sort which has run so frequently on Broadway, New York.

The plot of "Too Much Business" is clearly defined, following closely the inimitable Earl Derr Bigger's story in the Post, with an engrossing love story intertwined. The all-star cast is headed by Tully Marshall, who starred on the stage in such notable successes as "Paid in Full" and "The City".

Tully Marshall has a character comedy role, that of a cantankerous employer, which is strikingly unusual. Ethel Grey Terry appears as "the Girl" and Edward Horton as John Henry Jackson. John Steppling, Carl Gerard, Mark Senton, Tom Murray, Elsa Lorimer, Helen Gilmore and other well-known players round out the carefully balanced cast.

"Too Much Business" has been given a lavish and painstaking production. It should prove a real film novelty, and most refreshing entertainment.

CHAS. LIEBERMAN
Clothing - Shoes - Furnishing

Thief River Falls, Minn.

The end of the present week will see us comfortably settled in our new quarters—the former Giller place on LaBree avenue. This building gives us a much larger floor space than we formerly had and we consider the location in many ways better.

We invite the general public to visit our new store and ask leave to call attention to the class of goods carried by us. During the six years we have been in business in Thief River Falls it has been our constant aim to give the public the best to be had for the money spent. We have therefore decided on certain well-known lines for every department of our store and have selected such as we have no hesitancy in guaranteeing in every detail. In the list will be found the following:

Michaels-Stern Clothing.
Bostonian Shoes.
Cooper-Kenosha Underwear.
Wilson Bros. Shirts.
Stetson and Lanpher Hats.
Best-Ever Boys' Clothing.
Kaynee Blouses, Shirts and Wash Suits.
Black Cat Boys' Stockings.
Kreider's Boys' Shoes.

In addition to the above we have just added to our regular line the woolen goods of the Oregon City Woolen Mills, among the most famous in the entire country. The line manufactured by these mills consists of Overcoats, Shirts, Stags, Mackinaws and Bathrobes. These are made from the virgin wool right where the sheep are raised. For the outdoor man in winter we are convinced that these goods have no equal.

We shall be pleased to have you make an inspection of our store and stock. You will be assured of courteous treatment and will not be urged to buy.

Yours truly,

CHAS. LIEBERMAN.

NORTHERN WOODWORK COMPANY

Thief River Falls, Minnesota

Rambeck & Stone Co.

(By R. KENNETH EVANS.)

ALTHOUGH but little more than two years old as a business institution of the city of Thief River Falls the Rambeck and Stone Implement company has been an important factor in the development of the commercial possibilities of the city and has taken an active part in fostering maximum development of the agricultural possibilities of Northwestern Minniesota.

This firm, composed of O. A. Rambeck, A. J. Rambeck, W. P. Stone and W. M. Stone was established in the spring of 1920 in their present location to engage in the general implement business. All kinds of farm machinery was stocked, including such nationally known lines as the Emerson Brantingham farm machinery, Moline Plow Co. products, threshers, tractors grain separators and a standard line of equipment so essential to the well equippd farm.

Realizing that the maintenance of high grade farm implements was on of the most important factors in the successful tilling of the soil, when this company was established the management made a very careful search of the markets to secure their various lines with the idea predominating of getting a class of implements which they could stand behind unqualifiedly and recommend to their trade.

All members of the firm take an active interest in Thief River Falls and this section of Minnesota. The firm has always stood squarely behind any meritorious move for the development of resources and has given its assistance to such undertakings. They have extended credit to farmers for machinery where credit was due and consistent with good business judgment and have truly been a factor in advancement during the last two years, which have been two of the hardest years of record for the success of the farmer due to adverse conditions over the entire United States.

The firm also handles the Keystone silo, Emerson wagons, T. G. Mandt wagons, Anker-Holth separators for the dairy farm, Fairbanks Morse gasoline engines and a complete line of accessories and parts for the Emerson tractor and for farm machinery which they handle. Space will not permit the enumeration of the many lines of articles handled but it can truthfully be said that at this institution will be found everything in the way of implements and equipment for the modern well managed farm.

Service on implements and machinery sold from this house is also an attractive feature. Every implement dealer who cares for his patronage as he should maintains a service. This company prides itself on its line of parts and accessories and maintains in its employ men who are competent to render the necessary service to keep the implements and machinery on active duty.

The exclusive agency for the International Motor trucks as well as a complete stock of Goodyear tires in all sizes to fit any make of car and truck is a part of the business of this institution. A stock of belting for power driven machinery is carried on hand at all times.

U. S. GRAIN GROWERS ELECT NEW BOARD; REED IS A MEMBER

Steps Taken to Serve Farmers in Disposing of Present Season's Grain Crop.

Reorganization of the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., under the direction of Farm Bureau leaders, representing creditors, was announced this week at Chicago. Essentials in the new program are:

First: A new board of directors upon which presidents of nine midwest Farm Bureau federations will serve. Among these, is J. F. Reed of Minnesota, who will give as much time to the work as his duties in the state farm bureau federation will permit.

Second: Reduction of overhead expense at national headquarters by by placing the Chicago office in charge of one person, a paid secretary.

Third: An advisory committee made up of eminently prominent financiers.

Reorganization was completed August 4 and 5. Resignation of all former officers and directors were accepted.

Presidents of the Farm Bureau federations in Minnesota, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Indiana, Iowa, Ohio and Wisconsin, the secretary of the Iowa Farm Bureau federation and ten other farm leaders, were elected to fill the vacancies. These men will serve for a per diem of $10.

Announcement of reorganization came shortly after a meeting in St. Paul called by Mr. Reed, to consider steps toward marketing the 1922 crop co-operatively, if the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., was unable to function.

The meeting resulted in appointment of a committte of five, headed by Mr. Reed. This committee was instructed to take all practical steps to put into the field a sales agency to serve farmers in Minnesota. This committee, made up of N. J. Holmberg, commissioner of agriculture; T. E. Cashman of Owatonna, member of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation's grain marketing committee; T. H. Hagen of Lakeville, and H. C. Lau, Minnesotan who had served on the U. S. Grain Growers' directorate, will meet this week to hear a report from Mr. Reed, who left for Chicago Monday evening.

New officers of the U. S. Grain Growers are: E. H. Cunningham, president; H. L. Keefe, vice president; J. M. Mehl, secretary, and Charles E. Gunnels, treasurer.

Mr. Mehl served as assistant to the president of the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., since its incorporation. Mr. Gunnels is treasurer of the American Farm Bureau federation. Secretary Mehl is to receive a salary of $5,000 a year. This is the only salaried position at the national headquarters.

The new board of directors elected an executive committee of thre—Cunningham, Cowles, and Reed—and vested in it broad powers.

An advisory executive committee of three was appointed to advise on questions of finance and marketing. The members are: Barnard M. Baruch, financier, New York; Alexander Legge, president of International Harvester company, Chicago; Frank O. Wetmore, president of First National bank, Chicago.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace and Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover have been invited to serve as ex-officio members of the new board of directors, representing the public.

The reorganization of the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., was effected through the recommendations of the midwest Farm Bureau creditors committee. This committee consists of Mr. Cunningham, secretary of the Iowa Farm Bureau federation; W. S. Hill, president of the South Dakota Farm Bureau federation, and J. W. Coverdale, secretary of the American Farm Bureau federation. It was authorized on May 13 in a conference of the midwest farm bureau presidents and secretaries.

On July 19 officers of the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., submitted to the committee a written statement saying arrangements for sales agencies had gone amiss. "We have nothing further to offer," the statement said.

1006 LABORERS SENT TO FIELDS OF NORTHWEST

Government Agency, Co-operating With Farm Bureau, Obtains Low Fare to Aug. 15.

Government employment officers in St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Superior, co-operating with the Farm Bureau, last week sent 1,006 farm hands to Red River Valley and North Dakota harvest fields. In one day the Minneapolis office sent out 391 men.

From August 1 to August 15, inclusive, farm hands are traveling from the twin cities or the twin ports to northwest harvest fields for a flat fare of $5.00 a man. This rate was granted by the railroads after conferences with state and farm bureau officials of Minnesota and North Dakota, who made representations showing that a drastic fare reduction was the only way in which the farm hand shortage could be satisfactorily met.

The railroads agreed to carry men to any point designated by the government employment agencies for $5.00, provided five or more travel together.

J. D. Williams, industrial commissioner, directing the free employment service, expects to supply farmers with 3,000 or more men during the 15-day period.

Additional data received by F. L. French, secretary of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, who is making a labor survey of the state, bears out earlier indications that the Red River Valley is the only section of Minnesota where there is a farm hand shortage.

Northern Minnesota Fair To be Earlier This year

The Northern Minnesota Fair this year at Bemidji is to be held earlier than it was last year, and will give the management an opportunity to provide better amusements and races. The permanent fair board has been active since the day the fair closed last year and assures those who attend that this year's efforts will surpass anything ever attempted in this part of the state. It is to last five days, August 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19, Tuesday, August 15, being the entry day, and Saturday, August 19, will be the big sale day, a great number of thoroughbred stock having already been listed for sale, and anyone who wishes to dispose of stock on that day may communicate with H. M. Clark, president of the Fair Board.

An added attraction for the evening shows will be a pageant of "The History of Beltrami County," which is to be staged in front of the big grandstand for three nights. This will be a wonderful spectacle and will be worth making arrangements to attend. Every effort will be made to care for the crowds that are expected to attend this year's fair at Bemidji.

Reduced fare for railroad travel on these dates has been granted by most of the roads to date, and the others are expected to do the same.

A great list of enteries have already been registered, coming from a long distance, and the exhibits are expected to surpass any other year.

The florist says "Say it with flowers"; the candy man wants you to say it with candy; the jeweler advises us to say it with pearls, but, strangely enough, Heinz doesn't suggest one ought to say it with pickles.

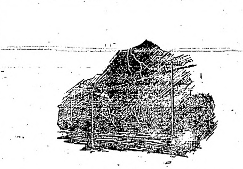
What?



Lightning!

Summer time is a trying period for telephone repairmen.

A stroke of lightning will sometimes burn off a long distance wire for several feet — occasionally it destroys a pole.

If lightning happens to strike a telephone cable it will usually put dozens of telephone lines out of order.

Should either your local or long distance service be cut off this summer by lightning or wind storms, you may be sure that every effort is being made to restore it as quickly as possible.

NORTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

Power Farming and Petroleum Products

LABOR and power represent 80 to 90 percent of the total cost of producing farm products.

This portion of the cost is reduced by the use of motor-driven machinery which enables each man to cultivate more acres and to cultivate each acre more cheaply.

The following figures, made on authority of the International Harvester Company prove the correctness of this statement.

1921 COSTS—DISCING
Double Discing (8-ft. disc) with horses—15 miles travel per day costs 85c per acre.
Double Discing (8-ft. disc) with 10-20 tractor—20 miles travel per day costs 66c per acre. (A saving of 22.3%)

1921 COSTS—DRILLING
Drilling with horses—15 miles travel per day; costs 53c per acre.
Drilling with 10-20 tractor—25 miles travel per day; costs 26c per acre. (A saving of 51%)

1921 COSTS—HARVESTING
4 horses with an 8-ft. grain binder can harvest an average of 15 acres a day at 65c an acre.
1 kerosene tractor with 2 8-ft. binders can harvest an average of 40 acres a day at 50c an acre. (A saving of 23%)

The increasing use of motor-driven machinery on the farm indicates that the practical farmer has come to realize that the use of such equipment is profitable.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in its endeavor to furnish a complete cycle of service is delivering its products to the farmer under the same conditions as for similar deliveries in the town.

Such service is possible only because of the complete system of distribution which has been developed throughout the 11 Middle Western States served by this Company.

Only a great enterprise, permanently organized, adequately financed, and inspired by a high sense of its social responsibilities could guarantee the farmer, and all those who consume farm products, that all essential needs for petroleum products will be cared for.

Peoples Auto Company

(By R. KENNETH EVANS.)

EVER since the automobile has played such an important part in the general commercial world there has constantly been a demand on the part of users of automotive transportation for dependability. To make cars more substantial and to eliminate experiments has been the paramount issue of the manufacturer until today the "Freak" car has been relegated to the background. Substantial cars, with less parts augumented by universal service is today the feature attracting attention. No longer is it necessary to explain the working features of the car. Almost every man, woman and child in the United States knows the principles upon which a good automobile works. It merely remains to show that the manufacturer has eliminated the chance features of unsuccessful experiments to place his car on a favorable plane.

"When better cars are built Buick will build them," has been a slogan used by the manufacturer of the Buick automobile since the day it was first placed on the market. A significant fact is that the factory has lived up to its slogan. Today it stands as the acme of perfection in the medium priced cars. The owner of a Buick finds a service station in every little village and hamlet as well as large distributing agencies and service stations in the city. Year by year has chronicled improvements, strengthening of possible weak points, until now Buick will perform as it was never believed possible to make gasoline driven conveyances perform. With added refinement and ease in operation this year Buick is having a car which will appeal to the taste of the most fastidious or exacting as to service.

The Buick is distributed in Pennington county and this trade territory by the Peoples Auto Company. This house was opened here in 1919 as a branch house of the Red Lake Falls and is a corporation organized in the latter city in 1917 with J. J. Helm as president, George C. Streeter vice president, Gilbert Huot secretary and O. Perreult as treasurer.

In addition to handling the Buick car this company also maintains the agency for the Chevrolet and Studebaker cars and carries a complete line of parts for all three makes of cars as well as a very extensive stock of all automobile accessories. In addition a close relationship is maintained both with the state distributors and the factories making these various cars, which means that special parts or adjustments are easily secured. All the latest models of cars are available here as soon as they are available elsewhere and this institution has been a valuable asset towards the maintenance of such an enviable reputation for the city of Thief River Falls as a commercial and distributing center.

A complete line of Pennsylvania, United States and Fisk tires and tubes are carried in stock, in all sizes to fit any make of car. A complete line of Mobil oils and greases with curb service for gasoline, water and air and a prompt attendant in charge at all times are some of the attractive features of this institution. In fact in handling accessories or service the management has always made it a point to supply their patrons with the very best.

The mechanical department is in keeping with the efficiency of the balance of the garage. Expert mechanics who have made a special study of Buicks, Chevrolets and Studebakers, yet equipped to handle work on any make of car, are employed at all times under the supervision of a mechanical engineer who has spent many years in the study of the automobile. The shop is equipped with the latest improved machinery for repair work.

A storage room for 45 cars. While this is a minor branch of the business, a competent man is constantly in charge of this department and it is always a pleasure to the management and employees alike to give satisfactory service in this department. Little attentions which appeal to the automobile owners are constantly given with the result that those who have had business relations with the firm are always high in their praises of it.

This branch house is under the management of Mr. Streeter. In addition to the commodities outlined above the firm also handles Case, Rumley and Sampson tractors, threshers and plows as well as the complete Russel line of threshers, tractors and plows.

THE BANK OF PERSONAL SERVICE

It has always been the policy of this institution to come in personal contact with its patrons and handle every item of business with as much care and consideration possible. We respectfully invite you to make our bank your bank.

On motion duly carried the Board of Equalization adjourned until Thursday the 3rd day of August at 9 o'clock in the forenoon.

A. W. HANSON, Chairman

T. P. ANDERSON, County Auditor
Clerk of the Board.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Aug 3rd, 1922

Pursuant to adjournment the County Board of Equalization for the County of Pennington met in the office of the County Auditor in the City of Thief River Falls, at 9 o'clock A. M. All members present.

In accordance with notice sent and by order of the County Board a delegation of farmers from the township of Black River met with the Board with reference to a certain per cent of raise on the real estate in that locality. Each individual was given a hearing and it was explained to them why the property was so raised.

In going over the statements of several banks in Pennington County The Board of equalization found that there appeared to be a great difference existing between the Real Estate value as carried by the First and Peoples State Bank and the Citizens State Bank as compared with the values given to the Assessors. Motion made and seconded that the County Board of Equalization recommend that the Minnesota Tax Commission adjust such real estate Assessments.

Motion Carried.

Having examined, compared and equalized the returns of the Real Estate and Personal Property Assessment of Pennington County, for the year 1922. On motion duly carried the County Board of Equalization adjourned Sine-die.

A. W. HANSON,
Chairman County Board of Equalization

Attest.
T. P. ANDERSON,
County Auditor, and Ex-Officio, Clerk of the Board.

ALFALFA, CORN, CROP LEADERS IN THE COUNTY

Rye Yield is Disappointing in Spite of Favorable Promises Early in Season.

Potato Situation May Yet be Saved if Late Varieties Get Sufficient Moisture.

Corn Looks Like Sure Winner and Sugar Beets are Flourishing in This Vicinity.

Indications are now that corn and alfalfa will be the banner crops of Pennington county this year, with clover a close second. Small grains are not yielding consistently although some very good fields of rye are reported by threshermen. This grain will probably yield between 20 and 25 bushels on an average, which is considerably short of what the early season promised.

As an indication of the ragged manner in which the crop is threshing out may be taken two fields on the Englestad place southeast of town. On one the yield was 28 bushels per acre while the other went but 18 bushels. Threshers state that in the region a short distance north of Thief River Falls the yield varries from 30 bushels in rare instances down to 10 bushels.

What wheat there is in the county looks good. The heads are well filled and the quality promises to be excellent. However, the acreage is only 50 per cent of what it was in former years.

Oats also promises to turn out well, although there are no reports from threshers on this cereal. Red rust will cut the yield somewhat.

Winter Wheat Best.

There is not the usual amount of barley in the county, this grain also having been to a large extent sidetracked for rye.

One is surprised at the amount of winter wheat put in by the farmers here last fall. This class of grain was given a good start the past spring and came through in every bit as good shape as the rye.

Corn promises to outshine everything as a yielder and there is besides a much larger acreage than ever before. On the A. A. Shoopman farm, southeast of the city there is a field of 15 acres of white dent that promises to yield 60 bushels to the acre. It is already beginning to harden and if weather conditions continue favorable will mature fully in a very short time. Mr. Shoopman is also cutting his alfalfa for the second time, the two cuttings yielding better than three tons to the acre. Mr. Shoopman says he is through with small grain and that the entire farm will be devoted to clover, corn and alfalfa just as fast as he can make the switch. He has one field of 40 acres of medium red clover which will be allowed to go to seed. About five acres of alfalfa will be treated the same way.

On the Englestad farm there is one field o falfalfa through which it is impossible to walk, while corn is easily the best grain crop. Among diversified farmers the same holds good throughout the county and Northwest generall.

Potatoes Disappointing.

The potato crop will be off from 20 to 25 per cent because of wilt, dry weather and early blight. That this is the situation throughout the Northwest is indicated by a letter from E. S. Wilcox of this city, who has had ample opportunity for observation. Mr. Wilcox says:

"I have been travelling the past two weeks in North Dakota and Minnesota and I find that the potato crop is very poor along the Red River valley from 10 miles north of Grand Forks to Breckinridge. I examined a good many fields and found very few potatoes and these were very small. In a great many fields the vines are affected by what I would call root rot. The vine is practically dead and under the ground, from one to two inches, the roots are all rotted away and the potatoes all soft and about the size of hens' eggs. Becker county will not have over two-thirds of a crop and around Park Rapids the potatoes are very poor. If Pennington county has good potatoes I think they will bring a pretty good price."

Rain is needed in this section in order to save over 75 per cent of the potato crop, but in case this comes soon the late varieties will be all right. Timely rains saved the late crop last year and everybody is hoping that these conditions will repeat themselves.

Sugar beets are in excellent condition in the vicinity of Thief River Falls but even as near as Steiner the weather has been dry too long to make a very good yield probable.

Rev. Orrock at Hospital.

Rev. J. A. Orrock, former pastor of the local Methodist church, together with his wife and daughter, Eva, arrived from Cass Lake Saturday evening. Rev. Orrock is now located at Pine Creek, but was at Cass Lake on a vacation, when the extraction of a number of teeth resulted in an inflamation. He was brought to the local hospital where he is as yet receiving medical attention but is said to be improving. Mrs. Orrock and Miss Eva are staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Jung, where they will remain until the condition of the pastor becomes such that he can return home.

Many Visit Red Lake.

About 15 autoloads of pleasure seekers from this city went to the Red lakes last Sunday, taking the Thorhult route. They found the roads in excellent condition except for about two miles right next to the lake, where the going is somewhat rough. They did not attempt any fast driving and made the trip easily in three hours.

Contractor Malm has about three miles of the new road cleared and grubbed and expects to put a larger force to work at once in order to rush the work through. The road camps are located on the ridge.

COMMERCIAL CLUB REMAINS NEUTRAL IN RAILROAD FIGHT

Placards Avowing Sympathy With Strikers Are Not Authorized By Organization.

A special meeting of the Thief River Falls Commercial club was held on Monday afternoon for the purpose of discussing certain phases of the railway strike situation. On Saturday a number of business houses in the city conspiciously displayed in their windows signs reading: "We are for the strikers 100 per cent." A number of the merchants in whose windows these signs appeared are members of the association and it was thought best to have it understood that the organization was in no way connected with the sentement expressed, being absolutely neutral. A short time ago a communication was received from the railroads requesting that an expression of sympathy with or approval of their course be voiced by the club, but this was turned down for the same reason that the stand of the merchants in whose windows these signs appeared was repudiated. The club has decided that the interests of all parties can better be served by a policy of "hands off" on the part of outsiders, inasmuch as very few not directly interested are sufficiently conversant with the underlying principles of the controversy to make any action on their part either safe or of any value.

There can, of course, be no questioning the right of any business man to display such cards if he so sees fit, but the club wishes to go on record as taking no stand in the matter either for or against any party. Since the meeting a number of the signs have disappeared from windows in the city, merchants stating that permission to place them there had been granted as a courtesy to the men making the request and without any serious thought being given to the impression such action might create.

Church Dedication.

Telemarken congregation, Kratka, Minn., will have its new church edifice dedicated Sunday, Aug. 27, at 11 a.m. Rev. H. Bjornson of Rothsay, Minn., will give the introductory address and Rt. Rev. I. T. Aasted of Detroit, Minn., will preach the dedicatory sermon.

An offering will be taken up for the building fund.

On Sunday afternoon and Monday a devotional meeting will be conducted. The theme for discussion is: "Menigheden og dens opgave," introduced by Rev. M. B. Ordahl of Holt. Providing this church building has meant a great deal of hard work on the part of the congregation and Rev. E. O. Sabo, the pastor.

FARMERS' AGENCY SELLS ALL STOCK SHIPPED LOCALLY

Pennington County 100 Per Cent Perfect in This Branch of Co-operation.

R. P. Roethle, general field man for the Central Co-operative Commission company, South St. Paul, was in the city Saturday and Sunday for the purpose of talking over business matters with County Agent J. J. McCann and Manager Emil Griebstein of the Pennington County Livestock Shippers association. Mr. Roethle stated that Pennington is one of the banner counties in the state from a co-operative point of view, running 100 per cent perfect. Records show that every head of stock shipped to market this season has been handled through this co-operative agency with the most satisfactory results to the farmers. During the first seven months of the present year a total 8,300 carloads of stock was handled by the commission company and the saving in costs has been approximately $100,000. At the present rate of increase, said Mr. Roethle, it will not be long before the agency is handling practically all the livestock shipped to this market.

Mr. Roethle spoke highly of the conscientious work being done by Mr. Griebstein in handling the stock during the time spent on board train and after its arrival at the yards.

"Pennington county is a leader in many lines of co-operative endeavor, as I understand it," said Mr. Roethle. "You have a wonderful stock raising section here and I look to see great developments, not only in the line of dairy production, but in beef, pork and mutton as well. You already have an excellent start in beef and mutton but I would like to see a greater interest taken in pork. With your ability to produce alfalfa, barley and rye and with corn almost a certain crop your farmers will find that hogs are one of the best paying products of the farm. Chickens and other classes of poultry work in as a natural sideline, but in this respect I understand you have already made rather remarkable strides."

Mr. Roethle said he intended making a trip to this section at a later date for the purpose of delivering an address to the livestock men.

Graduate From Local Hospital.

Misses Mollie Hermanson and Eleanor Harms complete two years courses at the local Physicians hospital this week. Miss Hermanson has lived in this city for a number of years and was graduated from the Lincoln high school in 1920 while Miss Harm's home is at Cologne, Minn. Miss Hermanson will enjoy a month's vacation which she expects to spend at her home here and with friends at Duluth, before entering the General Hospital at Minneapolis to complete her training. Miss Harms will spend her month's vacation with her mother at Cologne after which she will also enter the General Hospital for another year's study.

DURBIN'S ASHES AT REST ON BOTTOM OF LAKE MICHIGAN

Wish of Recluse Who Lived Here For 20 Years is Carried Out By James Curran.

The ashes of John Durbin, the somewhat eccentric recluse who died in this city about two years ago, was dropped into Lake Michigan from an airplane by James Curran, also a Thief River Falls boy, who is an instructor at Ashburn field, near Chicago. This was pursuant to a request made in the last will of Durbin. E. M. Stanton, attorney for W. B. Fuller, who was named executor in the will, accompanied the body to the crematory shortly after the death of Durbin and brought the little box containing the ashes back to Thief River Falls. Durbin, who in his younger days probably was a great lakes sailor, stipulated that this disposition should be made of his remains. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity and the carrying out of his wishes was entrusted to the two friends and lodge brethren mentioned above.

The last wish of the retiring and somewhat taciturn old man was carried out by Lieut. Curran, who had known the recluse since the former was a child. Durbin was a river man of some sort during the days when the Red Lake carried a considerable traffic and his last years were spent in a houseboat on the banks of the stream. This boat was anchored just below where the city water reservoir is now located and was a place to be pointed out with interest to visitors. Durbin was owner of some pieces of property in the city and the revenue from this sufficed to supply his simple needs.

Three airplanes formed the funeral cortage in the air, the middle one being occupied by Lieut. Curran with the little box. At an altitude of 3,000 feet it was dropped and now rests in the bottom of Lake Michigan and the last request of one of this city's pioneers as well as its only recognized recluse has been complied with.

Returns to Settle Here After 18 Years' Absence

Louis R. Ramsey, a resident of Colorado for 18 years and previous to that time a farmer near Twin Valley, this state, has purchased the southeast quarter of section 11, Star township, and will move onto the place at once. He paid $4,000 for the quarter section, this being one of the most important land sales reported from the astern end of the county this year. He said that while Colorado was all right under certain conditions, he prefers Minnesota as a whole to the country farther southwest and that he is more impressed with the possibilities in Pennington county than any other place he has been. Mr. Ramsey says that there are quite a number of farmers from the Twin Valley section intending to move here this fall and next spring as the lands are cheaper and fully as productive. Although he purchased 160 acres himself, he says that 80 acres is the ideal farm for this section and believes that when the farmers realize this they will be vastly better off. He intends to go into diversified farming and livestock.

STOCK JUDGING, LAMB DISPLAY, BARGAIN EVENT

Next Wednesday Will be Great Day for People of Northwestern Minnesota.

Merchants Offering Special Inducements to Visitors in the Way of Bargains.

Stock Judging Contest and Lamb Show for the Junior Farm Club Members.

Market Days in Thief River Falls are events looked forward to by the people residing in a large section of Northwestern Minnesota. When a bargain festival is announced by the merchants of Thief River Falls it means that there will be an array of money-saving opportunities all along the line and including every kind of goods and merchandise. Past experience has proved that all offers are genuine and mean a big saving in dollars and cents for those who take advantage of the situation.

Many cities have tried Bargain Days as a trade stimulant but most of them have given up the idea after a few months of trial. The reason for this is that after the first time or two merchants are liable to grow somewhat indifferent as regards the attractiveness of their announcements, depending on past performance to carry their plan along. Thief River Falls merchants are not making this mistake. They are as keenly alive to the importance of special offerings now as when the first Market Day was held over a year ago. Their announcements, covering two pages of The Times today, prove this assertion.

Merely to add interest and not because it has any bearing on the value of the bargains offered, the merchants of this city have always added something in the way of special attractions for these Bargain Days. Amusement features of many kinds have been tried, and while these will to a large extent be continued, yet the intention is to also provide something of more substantial value. Stock Judging contests and shows in which the products of boys' and girls' club members are featured have been found to appeal with particular force to the practical citizenry of this region. On July 10 a dairy calf show and judging contest of these animals was held. The event proved of great interest to grownups as well as children. It has therefore been decided to make a similar program the feature of the August Market Day.

The contest will be held at Fisher's barn and the animals judged will be Herefords, Shorthorns or any other beef type animal under one year of age. One of these contests will be open to boys and girls only, while in the other the older people may take part. In both events prizes of $5, $3, and $2 will be offered as first, second and third prizes respectively, and there will be special prizes of $1 each for the next five in line.

Lamb Show Also.

A lamb show will also be held at the same time and place. Any boy or girl who is enrolled in the sheep club is eligible as an exhibitor. Ten prizes are offered in this contest—$3 for the first, $2 for the second and $1 for the third and so on for the next seven highest. Besides these cash prizes the boy or girl winning the first and second prize will receive a free trip to the junior live stock show to be held in South St. Paul during the month of November with all expenses paid.

Concert and Dance.

There will be a band concert in the evening, followed by dancing on the pavement on Third street between LaBree and Main avenues. This will be free for all who wish to participate, visitors and townspeople alike.

While these last-mentioned attractions will no doubt appeal particularly to the younger generation, it is the unusual bargains offered by the merchants which will interest the grownups most. There is no need for enumerating them here as the advertisements contain full information on the subject. Read them all over carefully and then make up your mind to come to Thief River Falls next Wednesday. It will be a pleasure trip in all likelihood, you will have a good time and will above all be given an opportunity to save money in supplying your needs in merchandise of every kind.

JOHNSON, BOWEN TO BE SPEAKERS HERE; FARM-LABOR RALLY

Candidate For Governor and Star Orator Will be Heard at Princess on Aug. 28.

The first political rally for Thief River Falls following the primaries will be held at the Princess theatre on Friday evening, August 28, with Magnus Johnson and A. E. Bowen as speakers. Mr. Johnson, who represents Meeker county in the state senate, is the candidate of the Farmer-Labor party for the governor, while Mr. Bowen is perhaps the best-known speaker in the ranks of the Non-partisans.

Senator Johnson will particularly discuss "Why Taxes Are High," "The Soldier Bonus Bill" and "Dangers of the State Police Bill." The last-named measure is strongly advocated by Governor Preus, and it will be Senator Johnson's aim to show that the plan is not in the interests of those he represents. Mr. Bowen has been heard here before and is certain to have something of interest to offer, even for those who do not agree with him. His subject will be: "Railroad Ownership of Government." As the subject of railroads is just now one of particular interest to everyone, he is certain to have a large and attentive audience.

The committee in charge of this meeting extends an invitation to everyone to come out and hear these addresses. The speakers are the foremost exponents of their particular political faith in the state and what they say may be taken as the basis upon which the campaign will be fought.

IMPROVEMENT SEEN IN BUSINESS CONDITIONS THRUOUT NORTHWEST; PERIOD OF DEPRESSION FADING

This is the sixth of a series of fifteen industrial articles which will be published in The Times, one each week for the next fifteen weeks, for the purpose of outlining to Northwestern Minnesota and the outside world the vast field of resources and opportunities existing here for advancement and success and for the promotion of optimism and the right psychology. The facts contained in these articles are based absolutely on reliable facts and gathered by an expert publicist who has had many years experience.

The Times throughout this period, will make an effort to show that there is not a section of the country in the west or the northwest that offers a wider field of endeavor than Pennington county and the trade territory of Thief River Falls. Every phase of industrial life and business activity will be covered in a thorough and constructive manner.

The carrying out of this campaign has been made possibe by thirty of the progressive business institutions of Thief River Falls, the leading distributing and commercial center for the entire Northwestern part of the state. After reading this article turn to the two inside industrial pages and see who these progressive firms are who so willingly have come to the assistance of this enterprise.

Every reader of The Times can assist very materially in this campaign by sending his own copy of the paper to a relative or friend in some other section of the country after he has completed reading it, that this relative or friend may learn of the opportunities in this splendidly productive section.

TIMES PRINTING & MFG. COMPANY

(By R. KENNETH EVANS.)

The people of the United States are undergoing a readjustment from war conditions that have been alarming to many, disastrous to a few and not very pleasant to anybody.

There are still grave apprehensions for the future that the country is still facing a long period of financial depression. Conditions in the west have generally been considered bad and as a whole it is generally conceded that too much money has been loaned on livestock, farm production, automobiles and other business generally and the banks have been compelled to insist on radical liquidation.

Much blame has been attached by some to the federal reserve system for the high discount rates and consequent curtailment of credits, but it is doubtful if such criticism is merited even in a small degree. Drastic curtailment was imperative to prevent gold going to a premium in this, the only country in the world where a free gold market is maintained. Had gold gone to a premium, disaster would have been wide-spread and the damage incalculable.

Financial Conditions Sound.

Generally the financial conditions of the United States never were sounder or the outlook brighter. The foreign debt has been paid and the world today owes the United States more than was ever owed to any one nation before.

For the first time since the civil war the United States maintains a merchant marine for its export work. The annual outgo of $500,000,000.00 a year on foreign debt has been stopped. Prior to 1914 the balance of trade for the United States was never more than $600,000,000.00; the year of 1921 closed with a balance close to $6,000,000,000.00.

Consideration must also be given to the economic effect of prohibition in the country. However regretfully some persons may look forward to the Sahara outlook of the country, the fact remains that the nation is saving fully $2,000,000,000.00 a year that was formerly wasted and that it is also saving money actually spent for intoxicants, which is only a small part of the benefit. The great curse of intoxicating drink was the waste of energy, waste of moral fibre, and waste of spiritual vision. With prohibition in effect the economic readjustment of the country has been far more easily accomplished and the advancement will be more substantial than otherwise could be possible.

Some Comparative Figures.

Today the United States has six per cent of the world's population, seven per cent of the world's land,

Big Grain Yield.

Railroad men report that a farmer near Oslo, on the Minnesota side of the Red river, recently threshed a field of wheat that averaged 51 bushels to the acre.

GOVERNMENT MAY HAVE TO OPERATE ROADS, IS OPINION

Congressman Steenerson, Recovering From Illness, Sees No Other Solution.

Congressman Halvor Steenerson attended the opening session of the House on Tuesday. Mr. Steenerson has been ill in bed for several weeks but has sufficiently recovered to be able to attend to his duties. His illness has prevented him from returning home during the recess of congress as he had planned. Mr. and Mrs. Steenerson hope to return to their home at Crookston in two or three weeks when the congressman expects to make a tour of the district and meet the voters. He will make a special study of Secretary Wallace's new plan of grain grading and grain marketing.

Regarding the railroad strike Mr. Steenerson said: "The country is faced today with a very great calamity, the extent of which no one can foresee, and all because of bickerings over comparative trifles between capital and labor." The only solution now seems to be for the government to seize railroads with strong hands and force their operation."

Here in Interest of School.

Prof. C. B. Bjuge of the Evangelistical Bible Institute and Academy at Minneapolis, who has been in this circuit for about two weeks in the interests of the school, returned to Minneapolis Monday night. While in the city he was the guest of Rev. and Mrs. Bot Nyborg.

Guernsey Heifer Making Unusual Milking Record

Lady Bruse of Clovercrest, three-year-old Guernsey in the herd of F. B. Conklin, has started out to make a record for milkers in her class. She was started on test on Feb. 20, and if she maintains her average to date she will have produced 758 pounds of butterfat in the ten months during which the test is conducted. For the month of July this heifer produced 70 and 5-8 pounds of butter under ordinary farm conditions which would run her production up to in the neighborhood of 900 pounds of butter a year. This is a remarkable record for a Guernsey even under the most favorable conditions and is the best showing ever made by a cow of any breed in the country. Experts declare that given two additional years it should be possible to place this cow in the 1,000 pound class, which would come very near being a record. Among purebred Holsteins there are a number of 1100 pound cows, but such production even by the larger breed is uncommon.

Lady Bruce was purchased from L. Jensen of Clearbrook, at the sale held here last fall, the price paid for her being $260. She will prove a great addition to the already splendid herd of purebreds owned by Mr. Conklin and will probably head the list as a producer.

Warren Comes Today For Trap Shooting Contest

A trap shooting tournament between Warren and Thief River Falls experts will be held on the grounds here this afternoon beginning at 5 o'clock. It will be the first time this season that the local marksmen have been pitted against outsiders and there is considerable interest in the outcome.

Trap shooting has not been as widely followed during the past few years as formerly. One reason for this is the high price of ammunition. This handicap has to some extent been removed and the shotgun enthusiasts are again in evidence. To date neither Warren nor Thief River Falls has an organized gun club, anyone wishing to try their skill and luck simply turning out and sharing the expense. This means that each shooter pays for his shells while the ground expenses are divided pro rata.

SUSTAINS 2,300 VOLT CURRENT; BADLY INJURED

Stephen Woman Has Miraculous Escape From Death In Peculiar Accident.

Was Ironing Clothes When Entire Charge of Lead Wire Entered Building.

Terribly Burned About Body and Amputation of Three Fingers Found Necessary.

Mrs. Elmer Goar of Stephen, is at the Physicians hospital in this city on the road to almost certain recovery in spite of the fact that 2,300 volts of electricity passed through her body. From shock and burns she was in a precarious condition for some days but the doctors now have every hope that she will pull through.

Mrs. Goar was using an electric iron in the kitchen of her home on Thursday when in some manner a short circuit was formed and she was severely burned about the body. The lead wire of the Northern Power company, which furnishes current for Stephen from its Crookston plant, became crossed with the service wire and for some reason the fuse plug did not blow out. The cord was attached to an ordinary light socket. While having hold of the iron Mrs. Goar reached for a dustpan, thus completing a circuit. She was thrown against the handle of a pump nearby, receiving a serious wound in the abdomen and was severely burned about the body.

The injured woman was rushed to the hospital in this city where immediate amputation of the second, third and little fingers of the right hand was found necessary. She was in a serious condition from the shock and the injury to the abdomen also was of a dangerous nature, but she is getting along as well as could be hoped for, all things considered.

Mrs. Goar is a daughter of Mrs. Anna Wedmer of 411 Knight avenue north, this city, and is quite well known here.

Annual Picnic of Elks At Squaw Point Aug. 27

The annual picnic of Thief River Falls lodge, B. P. O. E., will be held at Squaw Point on Sunday, August 27. This is a yearly event of much interest to the members of the antlered herd and always brings out a crowd. All Elks and their families, no matter where located, are invited to be present. Because of the fine roads it is likely there will be a large number come from nearby towns and it will be the particular duty of the committee to see that these are properly looked after. Lunch will be served free to members and their families so it will not be necessary to bother with picnic baskets. Sports and games for old and young will be part of the afternoon program, while bathing, boating and water sports can be indulged in by those who feel so inclined.

The picnic is in charge of the following committee: J. T. Elsenpeter, Louis DeCremer, Julien Provencher, E. M. Korstad, M. T. McFarland, Oscar Paulson, E. L. Helgeland, Roy Belcher and Ed Hill.

Sons of Norway Picnic at Maple Lake Next Sunday

An invitation to the local lodge of Sons of Norway has been extended by the Bjarne and Varden lodges of Grand Forks to participate in a picnic which will be held at Maple Lake next Sunday. Not only members of the lodge are invited but anyone else who may wish to take part is welcome to do so. Delegates from Grand Forks, Crookston, Shelley, Fertile, Winger, Halstad, Hendrum and other towns in this section as well as from this city will be at the lake to enjoy the festivities of the day.

The principal speaker for the occasion will be Attorney H. O Chommie of Thief River Falls, and music and singing will be furnished by Bjarne and Varden choruses. There will also be a number of solo numbers.

Local people who wish to attend in a body are requested to meet at Oen's corner at 7:30 a. m. Sunday morning in order that an early start may be made.

Potato Growers to Offer Uniform Price to Pickers

A meeting of the members of the Pennington County Potato association will be held in the Farm Bureau office at 7:30 p. m. Friday, August 18. Potato grades will be discussed at this time, also the price to be paid to pickers, setting a uniform amount per bushel throughout the county. It will be to the advantage of all members to be present.

$18,000 SAVED TO CREAM PRODUCERS BY CO-OPERATION

First 100 Carloads Shipped to New York Proves Value of New Organization.

On the first 100 cars of butter marketed by the New York office of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries Association, Inc., net savings were $18,000, according to A. J. McGuire, general manager. This is at the rate of $180 a car.

The savings grow out of the association's plan to ship Minnesota's co-operatively-made butter in carload lots, instead of part-car consignments. The latter plan was the rule before the association entered the field.

Since June 22, the New York office has been receiving practically all the butter made by member creameries. A large per cent of the first 100 cars has been handled during the last two weeks.

"This $18,000 saving", says Mr. McGuire "is but an indication of what the association will do as it extends its activities. It, moreover, is dollar and cents proof of the worth of co-operating in marketing dairy products. At present our freight savings are 100 percent more than the entire cost of running the association."

Mr. McGuire is in Chicago this week, attending a final hearing which he expects will result in still further freight savings. He has been working for some time to obtain additional rate reduction on concentrated shipments.

Potaoes Drop in Price After Taking Big Spurt

Potatoe prices, which took a sensational jumb last week, have settled back again and are now bringing from 75 to 85 cents per 100 pounds after having reached a point of $1.35 to $1.50 a few days ago.

The sharp advance was no doubt caused by the reports of blight having injured the crop in the Red River valley and the general shortage of potatoes in other sections of the country. An even greater factor in the fluctuation is undoubtedly the refusal of farmers to dig potatoes at from 50 to 60 cents a hundredweight, which was the price prevailing just previous to the advance. With the higher price there naturally followed heavy shipments with the result that another decline set in. It is not likely the market will be flooded even at the prevailing price and growers may follow their former tactics of withholding supplies.

Not only are potato prices so low as t discourage the grower, but the market is fluctuating to such an extent that he does not know what to do. As the digging season advances conditions will become more settled, but until such time farmers generally are being advised to hold onto their stock.

New Species of Rustless Wheat Goes 45 Bu. to Acre

A. E. Lufkin, who with his son, Earl, has just completed a 600 mile auto trip through North Dakota, returning last evening, having had a most enjoyable vacation. Mr. Lufkin brought back with him a liberal sample of Black Kubauka wheat, a species that is being tried out rather extensively with great results in the neighboring state. The field from which the sample was taken went 45 bushels to the acre. It is rust proof and a crop is practically assured if if there is a good rainfall in June, no matter what the remainder of the summer may bring forth. The grain is small but very hard and has a stiff beard. The straw is slender and short but very strong. This has been a very good year for this kind of wheat and those who have any quantity on hand will be fortunate as it is in great demand for seed.

Mr. Lufkin says that from Grand Forks westward to Cooperstown the harvest is almost at an end while farther west there is still a good deal of cutting to be done.

All School Janitors Are Retained; Much Repairing

At a meeting of the school board held on Monday night all janitors at present employed in the different buildings were re-appointed for another year. They are: Lincoln and Washington schools, Fred Holzknecht and August Sortland; Knox building, Otto Geske; Northrup building, John Rietz; Central building, Nels Larson.

During the vacation period a great deal of repair work has been done on the different structures. Steel ceilings have been put in all rooms of the Washington and Central and all woodwork has been re-painted. The contract for reshingling the Washington with composition shingles was let to C. M. Carlson of this city. The cupalo which has been a distinguishing mark of this school, although very much out of date, will be removed. New blackboards have also been added in this building. All the schools will be in fine condition by the time the scholars assemble to begin the next term.

Many Teachers, Students Seeking Living Quarters

Supt. I. T. Simley asks anyone having rooms suitable for teachers to rent out during the school term to notify the secretary at his office, telephone 52. There is always a considerable demand for desirable rooms at the opening of the school year and it is likely a number of teachers will arrive without having made any previous provision for quarters. Those having rooms to let will confer a favor by calling the secretary, giving her the location and price of the accommodations they have to offer. Quite a number of high school students from out of the city will also be looking for quarters and not a few will wish to find places in homes and offices where they can secure board and room in exchange for services outside of school hours. Anyone desiring to secure a student upon these terms should also notify Mr. Simley's secretary.

Release Water in Effort To Plug Up Leak in Dam

The Red Lake river was on Monday at the lowest ebb noted for many years at this point. There was no shortage of water, however, the low stage being caused by the complete opening of the dam. Ever since the new dam was put in there has been a leak near the center and this has steadily grown larger until a considerable quantity of water was escaping without doing its share of turbine turning. W. A. Schrieter of Red Lake Falls, one of the owners, assisted by O. L. Legvold, superintendent of the water and light department, and a crew, decided to do something to stop the waste and let the water out in order to be enable to work to better advantage. Hay tied together with wire was first let down, this being followed by sacks of rock and sand. The leak was partially plugged but there is still too much water escaping, according to Mr. Legvold, and further attempts will be made to close it up.

Improvement Seen in Business Conditions Thruout Northwest

more than twenty-five per cent of the world's agricultural products, more than one third of the world's minerals, more than one-third of the world's manufactured goods. The nation also has more than one-half of the world's gold.

These facts are gleamed from statistics gathered by the National City bank of New York and government statisticians. Do they indicate hard times ahead? Is there anything here to view with alarm? Certainly there is much to which we can point with pride. But the sky is not cloudless. Foreign countries, particularly Europe, cannot continue to buy from us unless they can earn money with which to pay for out products and this is a plan that is now being worked out by the economists of all governments.

From a general standpoint the outlook for the summer and fall is bright. What is needed in the main is the right psychology. "As a man thinketh in his heart so is he," is potentially true. One may think himself into an era of depression, even unto sickness of the body. But if one conscientiously believes that things are going to be right, supported by the present economic conditions, they will be right. Business conditions of the country are sound at heart and an era of great prosperity should be ahead.

Radical Change Noticeable.

Agricultural conditions throughout Minnesota have been vastly improved by the increase in prices of corn and livestock in the last few months. Farmers have been encouraged to expect restoration of a normal relation between the prices of their products and the prices of things they have to buy. They are feeling optimistic over the outlook and their changed attitude is being communicated through business and industry. With hogs three dollars over the low point of last year, and corn selling in places at 50 cents per bushel compared to 20 cents and less a few months ago, an entirely new face has been put on the agricultural situation.

Some economists say that the degree of improvement can easily be over-estimated. They assert farm products are still selling below production cost, while factory goods continue to bring prices one hundred and one hundred fifty per cent over the pre-war level. There is entire agreement, however, that the upward movement in farm prices has reached a point at which it seems safe to conclude that the worst of the farmer's troubles are over.

Rise is First Substantial Increase.

The significant feature of the rise in farm product prices is the fact that it is the first substantial and sustained advance since the upward movement which succeeded the collapse in 1920. It thus appears as a belated recognition by the world's markets that agriculture was deflated too far and too fast in the slump, and thus is entitled to redress. There is in progress at the same time an opposite movement in the prices of many industrial products, the effect of which, of course, is to hasten elimination of the disparity between farm and city product values. There is a noticeable improvement in the very expression on the farmers' faces. The farmer who has plenty of good livestock to feed—and most Pennington county farmers have—has not been heard complaining about grain prices, since he has, in some cases, realized as high as sixty cents per bushel for his corn when it was selling around 20 cents on the market, by putting it in a "pig skin." The grain farmer is feeling decidedly improved after a long siege of international depression for the general business outlook is better.

An improved sentiment has appeared not only because of the increase in prices, but also because many farmers are just beginning to realize the extent to which other lines of business suffered during 1921. Financial statements of many large business concerns are showing large money losses, running in many cases into millions of dollars.

These losses are not confined to those directly connected with the agricultural sections, such as packers and manufacturers of farm implements and equipment, but extend to large business concerns in almost every other line of manufacture and distribution. Some of these suffering heavy losses have been in years past the most prosperous. The farmers conference at Washington has made those who attended realize that these concerns shared with the farmers the difficulties of 1921.

Exchange Rates a Factor.

A part of the increase in prices of farm products, especially hogs, results from the rise in foreign exchange rates, which began in the last quarter of 1921, and which was taken advantage of by foreign countries to make purchases from which they have previously held back.

The effect of government aid is beginning to be felt, especially in the western states and Minnesota. Advances approved for agriculture and livestock purposes by the war finance corporation have up to this time extended over $250,000,000.00. According to a statement from the corporation, orderly liquidation is reflected in repayments in connection with its export loans as well as those for agricultural purposes. All repayments have been voluntary and a considerable part of the total represents repayments before due dates.

Trend Towards Improvements.

The rise in the prices of farm products is a source of encouragement in the credit situation, not only to the strictly agricultural community such as Pennington county, but also to the manufacturers and dealers. A more clearly defined trend toward improvement is noticeable over the entire middle west than has been felt for some time. Confidence appears to be stronger. Buying orders are reported coming in more freely. At the same time, there is no great accumulation of materials or manufactured goods hanging over the market except in a few lines. The slowing down of production, in spite of the fair consumption has depleted stocks, while easier money assists dealers to replenish.

Spring settlements on farm land sales, leases and rentals were made without a tithe of the anticipated difficulty, as a result of these recent advances in grain and livestock prices, Minnesota bankers say. Few defaults were reported. Where loans must be obtained to make necessary payments, money is available in ample supply at lower rates than have ruled for some time.

Bankers were surprised at the fine shape in which the settlements were made. Early in February they were frankly uneasy over the prospects. It was feared that thousands of farmers would be unable to meet their obligations and that accomodations between debtors and creditors, if not actually defaults and foreclosures, would bulk large in the March 1 arrangements. This gloomy forecast has happily been unfulfilled. In most cases, sales of grain and livestock enabled the farmers to meet their payments in cash and those who have not been able to make payments in cash have been assisted by the changed agricultural outlook to get extensions of time for payments.

Prices Will Stand Up.
